DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A DIVISION WITH A GOVERNMENT MAJORITY OF 54.

On Mr. Cartwright's Amendment—Laurier and Foster Cross Swords in Debate—The Exodus and Reciprocity Were the Leading Issues.

OTTAWA, March 1.—On Sir John Thompson making the motion of which he had given notice, that the Government would take Thursday for Government business, Hon. Mr. Laurier objected at this stage of the session, when the order paper was now filled with notices of motions and other private business, to any day being taken permanently, but suggested that in view of Sir John Thompson's early departure for England and his wish no doubt, to settle up some department business before he left; that the Government should take next Thursday and leave the question of other Thursdays in abeyance for the present. After a short discussion this was agreed to.

On the orders of the day being called, Hon. Mr. Laurier asked if it was true, as stated in the Queen's Printer's order-in-council, had been passed referring the Manitoba school question to the Supreme Court, and if so, whether the order-in-council had council passed, would be brought down to-morrow. He would add that the order differs somewhat from the ordinary reference, as the Manitoba Government and the representative of the minority in Manitoba had been asked to confer with regard to the questions to be submitted.

Hon. Mr. Laurier enquired whether the Government was yet in a position to give any information respecting the treaty with France.

Sir John Thompson said he hoped to lay a copy of the treaty on the table by the end of the week.

Mr. Ferry then resumed the Budget debate, traveling over a good deal of the ground already traversed by previous speakers on the Opposition side, and was followed by Mr. McDougall, who performed the same feat from the Government standpoint.

After recess the debate was resumed by Hon. Mr. Laurier, who commenced by touching on the question of the exodus, holding that the natural centres of attraction for population were east or west, but with us it was to and from the south, and the only occurred in counties where there was too heavy taxation.

He next turned to the census, claiming that the statistics of manufacturers were untrustworthy and presented a distorted view of the case. The Government had refused a few days ago to give the names of manufacturers in some of the towns. This, he thought, proveds their unreliability.

He next touched on the condition of the farmer, claiming that the decrease of value in farm property was due to the National Policy. The farmer was subjected to intolerable taxation and the result was that to-day land was a drug in the market, which could not be sold. He admitted that the condition of the American farmer was little, if any, better than that of the Canadian farmer, but laid the blame for both on the policy of protection adopted by both countries.

When the National Policy was introduced it was represented to the farmers that they would get better prices on account of the larger home market, but he claimed that these promises had been broken to them, instead of a home market and Government prices they had a restricted market at low prices, while the taxation had been increased on every article he used.

He admitted that some new industries had been added by the National Policy, but held that manufacturers generally had not been benefited and would have been in a more healthy condition without the National Policy. He dealt with the duties on pig iron, which were imposed for the purpose of developing the iron trade, but which had proved a failure and had hampered the steel trade, so that numerous petitions had been presented for the repeal of the duty on pig iron.

Taxation, he claimed, was an evil which could never produce prosperity. He claimed that the policy of the Liberal party was a revenue tariff—to take no more from the people than was actually required for the purposes of government. He claimed that the American people by the result of the last election had decided for free trade, and that although the tariff would continue it would be so changed as to make it for revenue and not for protection.

He denounced the Canadian tariff as a fraud, and said that the Minister of Finance would never reform the tariff, because he would never dare to eliminate protection. Mr. McKinley bill was the last gasmodic effort of protection, and the American people had pronounced against it, and it would be repealed at the next session of Congress.

Turning to the question of reciprocity, he quoted from a speech of Governor Campbell of Ohio, to show that the Democratic party was disposed towards reciprocity with Canada.

If we had a commercial treaty with the United States, restricted or unrestricted, the political position of the two peoples must remain the same, and there would be no danger of annexation.

He quoted from Mr. Blake's West Durham letter the statement that unrestricted reciprocity would lead to annexation, and endeavored to show that Mr. Blake did not exactly mean what he said. With regard to discrimination against Great Britain, he claimed that Great Britain had practically admitted that there may be discrimination against her, and quoted from the speech of Hon. George Brown in 1825 in support of this contention. In 1858 England consented to our discriminating against nations with which she had treaty, and in 1874 she consented to our discriminating against her own manufactures, for although the Brown treaty was never signed it was consented to by Great Britain.

Hon. Mr. Foster, in rising to reply, was greeted with hearty applause. He said it was almost necessary to apologize for speaking again after a long 10 days' debate, but it was necessary to answer a few questions. The leader of the Opposition had been going about the country crying for free trade, but to-night he had talked small, and all his free trade was confined to one country, and for the sake of unrestricted reciprocity he was willing to build a Chinese wall against Great Britain and all other countries.

The cause of emigration of population was either land hunger or labor hunger. The former took people to the plains of the west, and the latter drew population to the centres of industry where work and wages were. People went west because they wanted land and they went south because they wanted work. If we had more factories there would be more work.

Referring to the census, he said that the honorable gentleman was willing to quote the census as supporting his exodus argument and say it was all right, but the way manufacturers were reached he doubted the accuracy of the census. He could not do that. The census must stand as a whole, as must the National Policy.

Dealing with the agricultural depression he said that the most depressed country in the world for the agriculturists was free trade England. If the honorable gentleman would go to England he would find it some places that the owners of land would give their land to be worked for nothing, but could not get farmers to work it. The reason why the price of wheat was low was because the supply of wheat exceeded the demand, but free trade could not possibly amend that.

The Conservative party did something for the farmer, but the Liberals did nothing but talk about him and hold him up as a poor, miserable creature. He went over a list of many of the articles used by the farmer to show that the greatest portion of those articles were produced in Canada, and there was not a cent of tax on them.

As things are this year the farmer pays less for his sugar than he would if there was no National Policy. Where is the country, he asked, where the farmer gets as much as a supply at so low a cost? There was no country in the world where the farmer paid less on the articles required by his daily life than were said in Canada.

He analyzed the amount of revenue collected to show that the larger part of it was not taxation, but merely the cost of service through the mails or by railways, and went on to refute the argument advanced by Mr. Laurier that all taxation was an evil which prevented prosperity.

After dealing with the question of assimilation of tariffs between Canada and the United States, he challenged the Opposition to show how there could be unrestricted reciprocity with the United States and discrimination against Great Britain without having an assimilation of the tariffs of Canada and the United States.

He took up the question of the Brown treaty with the United States in 1874 and claimed from the records of the negotiations to show that there was no discrimination against Great Britain ever contemplated and that all through the negotiations the greatest pains were taken to provide that there should be no discrimination against Great Britain.

In conclusion of this branch of his subject he said that the matter had been threshed out again and again, and it was ridiculous at this date to attempt to argue that any discrimination had been made in charges for Great Britain by the Brown negotiations of 1874.

In conclusion he reviewed the statements of policy made by various leaders of the Opposition, such as Mills, Cartwright, Charlton, Paterson, Tarte and others to show how little they agreed as to what their policy was. The only thing they seemed to be agreed on was the destruction of protection.

In a very brilliant peroration he said that he was perfectly content to leave the question of free trade or protection to the people, being perfectly confident of the result.

The debate was continued by Mills, Metcalfe, Edwards and Davin until 2.25, when the motion was unanimously and divided on Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment, which was defeated.

HE IS AIDING CANADA.

LONDON, March 1.—At the instance of the Dominion Government, the Colonial Secretary is giving strong support to Canada's case now before the British Board of Agriculture touching the schedule against Canadian cattle.

The Colonial Secretary urges that the doubt heretofore entertained that Canada was free from pleuro-pneumonia is no longer tenable, while the new 90 days' quarantine, at the Northwest, especially, should be a conclusive delusion, and to the free entry of cattle exported from the Dominion.

There is urgency in the matter, the memorandum adds, for both Canadian shippers and the British importers should, in common justice, be allowed to complete the season's plans early, and not be kept so long in suspense.

In view of this new factor in favor of Canada an early decision is probable.

THE INCREASE IN RATES.

Has Injured Immigration Prospects For the Whole Season.

LONDON, March 1.—The increase in the steamship immigrant rates to Canada continues to excite much talk in immigrant circles.

The steamers now leaving for Halifax are quite full, and will be for the next two months.

The steamship companies are inclined to point to this fact as justifying their increase, but this statement is met by the reply that while every other interest is making a sacrifice for the speedy settlement of the Northwest the steamship lines alone demand large profits.

There is no exaggeration in stating that the selfish action of the steamship companies must injure the emigration prospect for the entire season.

German Interests in Hawaii.

BERLIN, March 1.—The Coelnische Zeitung in commenting upon Robert Louis Stevenson's utterances in Auckland, says that he is an inveterate foe of Germany and that he purposes inciting the United States to treat Samoa as they have treated Hawaii.

As regards American interests in Hawaii the paper says that the relations of foreign interests are dictated by the population statistics, which show that the Germans there number 1600, the Americans only 1000 and the English 800. The annual imports from Germany, moreover, averaged 800,000 marks' worth.

British Naval Estimates.

LONDON, March 1.—Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, has published a statement of the naval estimates which indicate his intention to follow the program of the Salisbury Government and promote the construction of vessels with lighter guns. The general adoption of the new cordite powder is also foreshadowed.

The Behring Sea Case.

LONDON, March 1.—The British representatives before the Behring Sea Arbitration Committee have returned from Paris to London and are now further completing the line of argument to be followed. The case, as far as Canada is concerned, is regarded as impregnable. The court will reassemble on March 23.

Irishmen Thank Gladstone.

BELFAST, March 1.—At a meeting of the National Federation, Thomas Sexton, M.P., was elected president. The meeting adopted resolutions thanking Gladstone for his Home Rule Bill and condemning the attempt of Lord Salisbury to incite the Orangemen to outrage and riot in opposition to the Home Rule Bill.

Shorter Cutting Rates.

LONDON, March 1.—Arthur Stanley is slowly recovering. Although the nervous symptoms are still present and show no signs of lessening.

Cardinal Manning's Successor Honored.

ROME, March 1.—The Pope has invited Cardinal Vaughan, Archbishop Manning's successor, to remain in Rome and attend the 25th anniversary of the coronation, which is to take place on March 3.

A Gambler's End.

NICE, March 1.—Frederick Hardinger, a commercial traveler for a large English firm, lost all his money at the Monte Carlo Casino and this morning shot himself dead with a revolver.

A Man Made Happy!

GENTLEMEN,—For two years I had been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia. I paid a deal of my money in vain attempts to get relief, life only a drag to me. When I would get to bed I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as I could not get rest or night. But with the use of two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery the unhappy state has all been changed, and I am a well man. I can say to you, my case was a bad one, and nothing but the best could be the means of convincing others of its curative qualities of medicine. Pills are especially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. Any customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could receive no benefit, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I am glad success with your med cine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim.

Dangers in Delay.

If we were allowed to look at the future and see the fatal consequences that allow a slight cold, how different would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, or in consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some reliable remedy available for this complaint. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY MARCH 1.

THE TORONTO ELECTION.

The Mowat administration was pleased to have the opportunity of holding a bye-election upon the eve of a general election, particularly when the seat was captured at the last election by their candidate with a large majority. Had they won it would have been heralded as a forecast of the result of the pending general election. Their defeat yesterday was to them most disheartening. Only a short time has passed since they carried the seat by a rousing majority. With the prestige of a bye-election, with a government in power, with the weight of the whole liquor traffic in their favor and with the army of Sheriffs, Bailiffs, the Peter Ryans, the Tates, and the hundreds of other hirelings that worked for the cause that gave them fat salaries, it was discouraging to the Grit party to be thus snowed under. The fact is that the country is heartily tired of a Government that in the face of a boasted surplus, sells millions of dollars' worth of timber that is growing in value—that has undermined the entire foundation of the rights of citizenship. House the election yesterday, to the Grit party, is the handwriting on the wall."

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandruffine works quick and sure, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and sure cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

AFTER A TRUANT WIFE

WITH TWO REVOLVERS AND BLOOD IN HIS EYE.

J. W. Brooks of Elgin County Married a Woman in Toronto Through an Advertisement—She Has Skipped With a Hired Man.

Wyndsor, March 1.—A very angry man was J. W. Fellows of Springfield, Elgin County, when he arrived in Windsor yesterday. He is hunting for his wife and hired man, who were around Windsor all day yesterday and crossed on the ferry to Detroit last night.

Mr. Brooks claimed they took with them more than $800 of his money which he had in the house. He said his wife was about 30 years of age, and that they had been married only about six months.

He became acquainted with her through an advertisement he inserted in a Toronto paper. After several letters had been exchanged he went to Toronto and was married by Rev. Mr. Cooper.

He has now ascertained that a man named Herbert Peters, whom he had hired about five months ago, was her first husband and they had played a game on him.

He has two revolvers in his possession and swears that if he sees them a double murder will take place. Judging by the wild look in his eyes, it is believed that he will carry out his threat. He crossed to Detroit.

CHICAGO'S HORROR.

Chicago, March 1.—By the falling of the walls of John Yerkes' drygoods store at Halsted and Nineteenth streets, at 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning eight (and perhaps eight) persons were instantly killed and four others seriously injured.

The wall was shaken by the high wind last night, but no danger was apprehended until after midnight, when the cracking was heard by some persons on the street, but no alarm was given. When the fall came the frame buildings adjoining were crushed and covered by debris and those within had no chance to escape.

The crash aroused everyone in the block, and as the ruins took fire at once an alarm was turned in and ten engine companies began the work of attempted rescue. The ruins were crushed into the basement and now lie even with the sidewalk.

It is impossible to get upon the debris to attempt the work of rescue, and the fire men are compelled to throw water on the smoking ruins, knowing that their work might be ending the life of some unfortunate lying half dead in the wreckage.

In the building No. 761 was the family of John Kunze, who kept a jewelry store on the ground floor. The family consisted of the father, mother and son Frank, who was associated with his father in the store. The weight of the wall, which came down with the velocity of a shot, demolished the little frame structure, and they died in their beds without a sign. Their bodies are still in the wreckage.

The building No. 761 was occupied on the ground floor by the saloon of John Smith; with his family he occupied the second story. In this structure, which received the weight of the top of the wall, the greatest loss of life occurred. The family consisted of John Smith and his wife and their children—Dolly, aged 12 years; Faith, aged 10 years, and Hattie, 4 years; the servant Pauline and the bartender, George. All were crushed when the building became a mass of splinters, brick and mortar.

The fire which broke out from an overturned stove as soon as the wreck occurred, showed through the ruins in leagues of flame and masses of smoke, betraying the destruction beneath. After the fire was under control the work of rescue began. The first person taken out was Frank Kunze, the 21-year-old son of the jeweler. He was pinned down by a heavy door that had fallen across him. He was taken to a liquor store near by and cared for. Mrs. Smith was the next rescued. She will die. Nearly thirty feet from where Kunze was found the police heard groans and the debris was rapidly cleared away. In a bent position Mrs. Smith was lying beneath a section of the wall that was still held together by the mortar. This made it all the more difficult to extricate her, and it was 15 minutes before she was lifted out. She had lapsed into unconsciousness, and was carried into the drug store at No. 747 South Halsted-street in a dying condition. Her skull was crushed and her right arm broken.

Yerkes' establishment was burned out the morning of Jan. 11, entailing a loss of $285,000. During the conflagration the three-story brick adjoining owned by Mrs. C. R. Lott, was partly demolished by the falling of brick, mortar and timber from the south wall of the Yerkes building.

BOYCOTTING THE GIRLS.

Twenty Young Men Band Together as a Bachelor's Club.

Upland, Pa., March 1.—The girls of this town are considerably agitated. On Friday night about 20 young men met and formed a bachelors' club. Each member pledged himself to pay into the club treasury 10 cents for every time he shall be seen in the company of a girl. George McGowan is president; John Taylor, vice president, and Harry Seth, treasurer of the unique organization. With a score of young men abstracted from the swim, the girls will find themselves in an awkward majority on many occasions.

Riot in Pennsylvania.

Monogahela City, Pa., March 1.—There was a riot yesterday at the Cincinnati mines, where about 100 colored miners are working at reduced rates, and one was probably fatally injured. The trouble was started by the colored miners indulging freely in drink.

Her husband interfered and Russell smashed him with a brick, cutting a bad gash in his head. Love fired a revolver at Russell, but missed him. Russell picked up a shovel and struck Love with it, making a probably fatal wound. More trouble is anticipated.

The Suggestion Will Go Unheeded.

Paris, March 1.—M. Thiebaut lectured to an immense audience in the Cirque d'Ete on the Panama Canal. The speaker urged that the French Government should make an annual grant of from five to ten million francs for operations on the canal until the work should be completed. The audience, which included many members of the Panama Committee, applauded with great enthusiasm Thiebaut's suggestion.

Tariff Reduction.

City of Mexico, March 1.—An official decree has been issued by President Diaz making several important reductions in the tariff on horses, hogs, cloths, tobacco, soap not perfumed, liquor, drugs, seeds, cottons, lace and fibre.

A Glass Bottle Trust.

Pittsburg, March 1.—A big combination of glass bottle manufacturers has been formed, and nine factories in this vicinity will soon be abandoned. The combination will be known as the Pittsburg Glass Co. and the capital stock will be $1,000,000.

Another Brewery Combine.

New York, March 1.—An evening paper states positively that Attorney of Lawyer Samuel Untermeyer that another mammoth brewery trust is being formed in this city and Detroit. It will include 30 breweries, mainly in the States of Michigan and Ohio, and will represent property to the value of $20,000,000.

Dr. Ryerson Elected.

Toronto, March 1.—Dr. Ryerson, the Conservative candidate, was yesterday elected to fill the vacancy in the Ontario Legislature caused by the death of Mr. N. G. Bigelow, Liberal. His vote was: Ryerson, 7631; Ogden, Liberal, 7039 Thompson, Labor, 640.

ABOUT ARBITRATION.

Caprivi Says In No Case Would Germany Give Up Alsace-Lorraine.

Berlin, March 1.—In question of international arbitration came up in the Reichstag through a question asked by Dr. Barth, a leader of the Freisinnige party, who desired to know if the Government would join the Government of Great Britain and the United States in an effort to establish arbitration as the method of settling national disputes.

Freiherr Marschall Bieberstein, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that the Imperial Government was entirely willing to accept arbitration in special cases.

Herr Bebel, the Social Democrat, suggested that the nationality of Alsace-Lorraine should be submitted to international arbitration.

This suggestion brought Chancellor von Caprivi to his feet. The Chancellor declared that if that question was submitted to arbitration the arbitrators decided that Germany should surrender Alsace-Lorraine the nation would refuse to acquiesce in the decision. Rather than give up that country Germany would prefer to shed the last drop of their blood.

The Chancellor's statement was greeted with patriotic cheers.

THE WONCH CASE.

Collingwood, March 1.—Interest in the Wench murder case is still high. Yesterday four reporters visited the hut which is situated in a swamp and is a miserable hovel about seven feet square, six feet high at the front and four feet high in the rear.

In the shanty there was a rusty box stove, two chairs, a frame of an old bunge and a few pots and pans. The door was broken off and lying on the ground.

Last night Chief Lewis went to Meaford to arrest Jennie Wonch, the alleged murderess. He brought down his prisoner this morning and placed her in the lock-up, where her infant brother John is incarcerated.

To Chief Lewis she stated that she was guilty of no crime and was only working to get money to buy a coffin.

Constables are endeavoring to thaw out the bodies, in order to prepare them for the post-mortem examination, which will be held to-morrow by Dr. Aylesworth. The inquest will be held on Thursday morning.

PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

The Crushing of the Salt Combine And the Reduction on Binder Twine.

Toronto, March 1.—The second annual meeting of the Patrons of Industry convened at the St. Lawrence Hall yesterday afternoon, with President C. A. Mallory of Warkworth in the chair. Delegates from all the county lodges throughout the province, and several from the Provice of Quebec were present. The President congratulated the society on its growth and said that it had assumed large proportions. Among other things the address said: "The true aims of this association are to build, not palaces, but men; to exalt not titled stations, but general humanity; to dignify not idle repose, but assiduous industry; to elevate not the few, but the many." In the course of the year over 600 subordinate associations have been added. It says that the English portion of Quebec is nearly all organized and that the French portion is being canvassed with that view. Reference was made to the removal of the high duty on binder twine, and as the result of the order's petitions. Credit was also taken to the order for crushing the salt monopoly.

Dominion Grangers.

Toronto, March 1.—The 18th annual session of the Dominion Order of Grangers commenced at the Albion Hotel in this city yesterday. The chief business of the day was the reading of the president's address. Some 50 delegates from different lodges throughout the province were in attendance. President H. P. Hepinschale of the county of Huron presided. His address dealt with a number of subjects of interest to the order, such as the condition of the farmers and most of which would seem to be in a healthy condition. Patty government was denounced, annexation termed a "clap-trap," independence a dream; and it was further pointed out the country is over-governed and would fail with delight any feasible scheme that would reduce the burdens.

Fire in New York.

New York, March 1.—Four alarms were sounded at 5 o'clock yesterday morning for a fire in Munro's publishing establishment, an 8 story brick building at No. 22 Vandam-street. The damage will reach $100,000.

Rippey May Live.

San Francisco, March 1.—Rippey, Mackay's assailant, was still alive and in a somewhat improved condition last night.

EDITORS IN A DUEL.

They Exchange Shots From Their Pistols —Neither Hurt.

New Orleans, La., March 1.—At noon yesterday a duel was fought in Texas, near the Louisiana line, between Editor Chaelle of Baton Rouge and Editor Hicks of Shreveport. Pistols were used at 15 paces. After an exchange of shots, in which no one was hurt, a full reconciliation was effected.

A Mean Vengeance.

Johnstown, Pa., March 1.—Monday night the pipes of the Crescent Pipe Line Company were torn up at Avery's Mills, 30 miles from here, and 4000 barrels of oil poured out into the creek. The depredators chopped down a number of telephone poles, destroying communication and set fire to the oil.

The blazing oil destroyed a number of bridges and much valuable timber.

It is generally believed that persons living in the neighborhood who have done work for the company and whom they were not paid are responsible. These people have frequently threatened to destroy the company's property.

To Visit Irish Dynamiters.

London, March 1.—Home Secretary Asquith has granted permission to John Redmond to visit the Irish dynamiters, Daly and Wilson, in Portland Prison.

Crossley and Hunter Thanked.

Thorold, March 1.—The council has adopted a resolution thanking Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists, for their labors in this town.

Trouble in de Chair.

Montreal, March 1.—There is a great flutter among the church choirs over the recent performance of "The Gondoliers" by an amateur opera company. Members from nearly all the choirs in the city sang in the opera, and this coming immediately after the strong denunciation of theatres by the Protestant Ministerial Association has caused a good deal of curiosity to know what the different churches will do.

At the prayer meeting in one of the Presbyterian churches on Sunday the choir up for one of the leading lady singers and "her companions in sin," as they were called, and it is stated one of the Methodist churches has requested the resignation of a lady member because she sang in "The Gondoliers." Montreal has itself was a great serial and operatic success.

Hunting For an Old Man.

In the biography of Dr. Norman McLeod there is an amusing account given of a visit he paid to one of the Western Islands to see a man who was celebrated in the district for his great age. The doctor found an old man (we can only quote from memory) sitting on a bench outside the house, and give him the usual greeting: "I heard that you were a very wonderful old man, and I've come to see you." "It'll be my father you want to see," said the old man of the bench. So the visitor went inside, and there, sitting over the peats, was a very old man indeed, bent and doubled up, but still for all that with all his wits about him. "Good day to you," said the good doctor; "I have heard about you, as a very wonderful old man, and I've come to see you." Then he, too, declined the imputation and pointed with his stick to the "ben" of the house. "It'll be my father you want to see," said this old man of the fireside. So there, in the "ben," the original Simon Pure was discovered at last, a very, very ancient old man indeed, as may well be imagined.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Mr. R. Kyle, died this morning at his residence on Wharf street. The deceased has been for many years a resident of the city, having been in the employ of the Rathbun company. He leaves a widow and 3 sons and two daughters.

J. B. Morden of Adrian, Mich., arrived in the city last night to attend his mother's funeral. He was delayed seven hours by a snow blockade near the tunnel. His brother, Dr. Marshall Morden was four hour in crossing the Detroit river.

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

People troubled with sick and nervous headaches will find a most efficacious remedy in Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They strengthen the stomach, stimulate the liver, restore healthy action to the digestive organs, and thus afford speedy and permanent relief.

There has been considerable commotion of late among the clerks, drivers, messengers and other employees of the Canadian Express Co. The mandate of the directorate has gone forth that each and every servant of the company must furnish bonds for a specified amount, or quit the employ of the company forthwith.

A Barn Burned.

On Monday night a barn belonging to Mr. Thos. Sweeney, 2nd concession of Sidney, was destroyed by fire. The cause of the fire was the upsetting of a lantern, which was placed upon a fanning mill and knocked over by a cow. All the contents were destroyed. The loss will probably be about $800, partly covered by insurance.

MRS. BAKER IN COURT.

SHE SAID SHE WANTED MONEY TO PAY HER RENT.

The Private Prosecuter Said She Was Not Anxious to Prosecute—The Case Enlarged Until To-morrow.

The charge against Mrs. Wm. Baker of Caulfton for writing threatening letters to Miss Mary O'Hara of Montreal for the purpose of extorting money was taken up at 2 p.m. to day by Magistrate Flint. C. E. Lyons appeared for the accused and L. H. Henderson and A. A. Roberts for the crown. Following is a copy of the first letter said to have been written by Mrs. Baker to Miss O'Hara a couple of weeks ago:

I thought I would write to you to let you know that by pure accident I've stumbled on your secret and address, but do not fear me, as I will not harm you if you comply with my request, and that is that you will send me $10 within this week. I am a widow with two small children to support and I owe $10 rent, and if it is not paid in a week from to-day these me and my little ones must be turned out in the cold, and as a —— you will understand what that means to me to see my children without a home. You may wonder how much I know about you. I know that you have had ——. You see I know all about you although a stranger to all of yours. I have no relations or friends to ask help of, and I did not think that you would see us without a home for the sake of $10. Please to send your letter without being registered, as I would have to tell them where it came from and all about it before they would give it to me, and that would expose you, unless I told a falsehood, and I can never do that for I have tried to live a godly life. Help the widow and fatherless and God will bless you through life eternal. I will try to save a little at a time so that I can send it back to you. If you send me the money I pledge you my word of honor that you will never hear from me again only to send it back. You had better destroy this letter, as it might fall into other hands, and so expose you, and God knows I would not want that to happen after escaping so long.

MRS. T. G. MCFUDGE,
Belleville, Ont.

A P.S. was affixed to the note, the publication of which would serve no good purpose. The date of the letter was torn off, and several erasures were made in the manuscript. Certain parts of the letter were not fit for publication.

Receiving no answer to this letter the writer sent another, of which the following is a copy:

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 20, '93.

Miss Mary O'Hara—You did not think it worth while to answer my appeal for help, but you may be sorry for it. I have buried one of my children through exposure to cold, and at her death I turned your enemy. Now I want you to send me $10; I ask you for if you do not I will make it my business to write to your employer and tell him what kind of a woman he has in his house and I will tell your sister in Picton and your brother in Ogdensburg. I used to live in Picton before I was married and that is how I know them and you so well. Remember I will not write you again. The next time I write will be to your employer to expose you. It will be nice to have him know what you are, won't it? And not only him but your realatives, who have hitherto thought you purity itself. If I do not get an answer to this by one week from to-day with the money in it then look out for I will surely expose you. I can prove everything that I have said.

MRS. T. G. MCFUDGE,
Belleville, Ont.

The following letter in reply by Miss O'Hara will explain itself:

MONTREAL, Feb. 24, '93.

Mrs. McFudge—I was in the hospital when your letters reached Montreal. I did not get them until I had entirely recovered from an attack of la grippe. Do not think that I have money to spare, and I think you have acted very badly by trying to get money from me by threats. I must tell you that I am not afraid of them, and that the people whom I live with know all about me. I am thoroughly acquainted with them, and have been a true and faithful servant to them. The lady who has seen your letter and who writes this one, was the first to tell me to take this step and show you that your threatenings are of no avail to harm me in the family's eyes. You will have a letter from me on Monday, containing your request.

MARY O'HARA.

P.S.—Allow me to say that McFudge is no name at all.

The registered letter referred to was merely sent as a decoy to identify the writer. The private prosecutor said that she was not anxious to prosecute the defendant. The case was enlarged until to-morrow.

Surprise and Presentation.

The Rev. Mr. McDonald and family, of Lonsdale, were taken by great surprise on the evening of Wednesday, February 22. Between 60 and 70 members and friends of the Methodist church, from different parts of the circuit, quite unexpectedly assembled at the parsonage with well filled baskets, and took possession of the house. After a sumptuous tea was served, the rest of the evening was spent in a very enjoyable way; many remarking that they thought it the most enjoyable social affair of the kind they ever attended. At 12 o'clock the gathering was called to order, and an address was read. Mrs. McDonald was presented with a purse containing $17.60, as a donation, besides several other valuable articles. The pastor made a suitable reply, and after singing "The Lord be with you," and prayer was offered, the meeting broke up.

Farmers of East Northumberland.

WARKWORTH, Feb. 28.—The East Northumberland Farmers' Institute held two very successful meetings at Wooler and Campbellford on Friday and Saturday last. The principal speakers were Prof. McKeown and Messrs. T. G. Raynor, B.S.A., James Whitton, G. B. Boyes and A. E. Balloy. The subjects discussed were winter dairying, paying for milk according to the percentage of butter fat, the dehorned cow dairying, practical dairying, selection and cross breeding of animals, leakages on the farm, profitable pig feeding and breeding, care and management of the horse. The meetings were well attended by the farmers, many of them taking an active part in the discussion of the subjects. All evinced a lively and growing interest in the meetings.

One Way to be Foolish.

We have heard men grumble about hard times from early morning till late at night, week in and week out. Probably they have some reason, but in a great many ways they are to blame. For instance, those same men will go to a tailor and order a spring overcoat, paying for it $20, and a coat just as good in every way can be had at the Oak Hall for $10. They are just $10 out, but will be still talking about hard times. Do not be foolish any more.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

A very successful Sabbath School Convention was held at the village of Frankford, on Wednesday, Feb. 22. There were three sessions. The morning session commenced at 9.45, with prayer by Rev. R. Taylor and Rev. E. Farmer with. The following Superintendents reported: Jno. A. Holgate, Foxboro; Mrs. F. B. Prior, Town Hall; D. M. Ketcheson, 4th con., Stone church; Jno. Chapman, Frankford; Wm. Kelly, Front of Sidney; R. N. Bird, Marsh Hill; David Coon, the Rose appointment; Chas. Wright, Murray. On account of the bad roads, several Superintendents were unable to get there. A very profitable time was spent during the session. The afternoon session commenced with devotional exercises by Bros. McColl and C. Saylor. Rev. F. Faull gave an address on the qualifications of Superintendents, followed by the Rev. J. L. George, of Belleville, on the qualifications of a Sabbath School teacher. Both subjects were ably discussed, and a fund of valuable information obtained.

Mrs. Massey took up the subject of Sabbath School entertainments, quite a spirited discussion took place on the subject by several ministers and laymen, when the following resolution was submitted to the Convention and carried:

Moved by Rev. Rev. Henry Thomas and seconded by F.B. Prior and resolved, that whereas in the opinion of this convention the pressing need of raising the necessary expenses of our Sabbath schools by Xmas tree and other entertainments, wherein our children take part in exercises that neither elevate the mind nor purify the life, we do hereby place on record our disapprobation of all such entertainments and urge all Sabbath school workers within their townships to impress upon all concerned the great advantage of uniform liberality in behalf of our Sabbath schools so that they shall not depend on any kind of entertainment for their support.—Carried.

Evening session devotional exercises by Rev. J. Faull and Rev. J. McFarlane. The Rev. J. McFarlane took up the subject of three human personalities in teaching a Sabbath school class, followed by the Rev. Henry Thomas on the Bible and Bible helps. Both the rev. gentlemen were at home on the subjects, and quite a number of valuable hints were thrown out which no doubt will bear fruit in the near future. This closed one of the most successful conventions held in the township. The nominating committee reported the following officers for 1893: J. A. Holgate, pres.; F. B. Prior, sec.-treas.; P. W. Fairman, R. N. Bird, Warren Spafford, William Kelly, G. W. Potter, Charles Lott, executive committee. All resident ministers to be added to the above committee. Reports adopted by the convention. Votes of thanks were tendered to the people of Frankford for their kind hospitality in entertaining the friends and visitors, to the choir and also to the Rev. J. L. George, Rev. Jas. McFarlane, Rev. James Faull, Rev. Henry Thomas and Mrs. Levi Massey.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT.

Mr. Gilbert Parker Praised for his Literary Work.

In its issue of the 26th of February, the New York World says:

"Gilbert Parker has achieved a distinct literary success in the part of the world familiarly referred to as "the other side." Now that Mr. Parker has negotiated with an American publishing house, it is altogether likely that he will share the popularity obtained by other English writers, who have been properly pushed and advertised. It would be useless to dispute Mr. Parker's ability, even if the disposition were not wanting. He is a story writer of exceptional qualities, and will prove a worthy successor to Mr. Stevenson, whom in many important respects he resembles. Superficiality, sometimes a charm, is not a part of Mr. Parker's method. He gets into close communion with his characters, analyzes them thoroughly and omits no detail that may present them in the clearest light. In fact, he's away the connecting thread of the story and the reader still has a memory of character painting that cannot have failed to be interesting. As a story pure and simple, "The Chief Factor" would not be found altogether agreeable, for it is a story of deep shadows."

Mr. Parker, who is a Belleville boy, has many friends in the city, who will be pleased to hear of his success.

AMUSEMENTS

Gus Hill Specialty Co.

The above organization will appear at the Queen's opera house, to-morrow night. The Kansas City Journal says of its performance:

"At the Ninth street theatre, yesteday afternoon and last evening, large audiences laughed at the fun produced by the New York Vaudeville Stars, who held the boards and the audience, too, with complete sway. The troupe is composed of artists who deserve their enormous patronage. If yesterday's opening performances of "A Hot Pickle" are indicative. The merits of individual performers are so evenly and universally distributed that to mention any and not to mention all would be partiality, and to do justice to all would be injustice to readers in other departments of the Journal. The entire company is crowded with happy hits, new and with, and is well worth an afternoon or an evening to every one during this week."

Bringing Down the Estimates for 1893!

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT FOR THE PEOPLE. GOUGH'S CABINET FORMED AND A POLICY DECIDED ON!!

This is the month of clearing up. Gough has reorganized business for 1893, and starts out to clear off the slate for Spring. Trade for 1892 has been larger than our most sanguine expectations hoped for. Profits have been small. Gough has cut his prices to meet the low prices of wheat, and if wheat goes lower, down will go Gough's prices. He won't be undersold by the farmer or see the farmer undersold.

DEATH OF CAPT. PORTE.

Trenton Loses an Honored Citizen—A Well Known Mariner at Rest.

After months of suffering, Capt. Jonathan A. Porte, of Trenton, died this morning at 7 o'clock. By his death, our neighboring town loses a highly respected citizen, and his familiar form will be missed in this city and upon the bay, upon which he has sailed for a number of years. The captain was very genial and had all the requisites for making passengers feel at home and safe while under his care. He was born in the County of Wexford, Ireland, on the 25th of February, 1841. His father was a native of King's county, and occupied the position of head constable; and his mother, whose maiden name was Sparrow, was descended from an old military family. On both sides it will be seen, our subject comes of military stock. Capt. Porte came to Canada in 1855 and settled in Picton, Bay of Quinte. He was educated at P. E. County High School, and at the Grammar School, Belleville, and left school in 1859. He subsequently spent a few years in the United States as a clerk in a mercantile firm. In 1864 he ran a small steamer, the John Greenway, and continued to do so for six years, when she was burnt. He then built the Norfolk, but after running one season, he sold her. A few years later he built the steamer Utica, which he sailed upon the lake and bay for a number of years. In the years 1879 80 he built, along with another gentleman, the Mary Ethel, and in the winter of 1880 he built the Varuna, which vessel he controlled until his death. About the year 1882 the Mary Ethel was sold to the Trenton and Bay of Quinte Navigation Company, of which Captain Porte was a large shareholder. He was for some time President of the Bay of Quinte Navigation Company, and was a member of the first Council after the incorporation of Trenton as a town. For years he was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. In religion he was a Methodist, and in politics a Conservative. He was married in 1868 to Miss Garrett, whose family were residents of Prince Edward County. By this union one child—a daughter—was born. The widow and the daughter will have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends in this their hour of severe trial.

SPORTING NEWS

The star of the Kingston devotees stane and besom is again in the ascendant. They were "Waterlooed" in Belleville, our western suburb, but they have nobly redeemed their "lost glory." On Saturday morning two picked rinks met a similar aggregation from Montreal in a final struggle for the Caledonia medal. After a keen, exciting contest the Kingstonians defeated the Montrealers by a majority of ten shots.—News.

A man said last night that the backers of Frank L. were feeling a little bit sore over the result of the free-for-all. He also said that the backers of McRae's Minnie would give odds on her in a matched race with the first mentioned horse. A race between these two horses will probably yet be arranged, after a little more talking is done.—News.

The city hockey team and the bankers will play a match to-morrow evening.

The Port Hope curling clubs are anxious for two rinks of the local club to visit them. An effort will be made to send two rinks there.

A rink of the Campbellford "colts" are anxious to try conclusions with a rink of the Belleville "colts."

Play is still in progress among the "colts" for the pair of stones donated by the president. There are but 4 yet to play.

Endorsed by The Leaders.
When a remedy is endorsed by ministers, editors, merchants, farmers and leading men of all classes, it is strong evidence that that remedy has great merit and does what is claimed for it. Such a remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, its wonderful success as a cure for dyspepsia, bad blood, etc., is well known to both old and young.

Thomas Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes—"I have been afflicted with Rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief. I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and found it gave me instant relief. I would recommend it to all.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

By
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc, etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

London scarcely looked like itself, with the veil of smoke lifted away, and a fair blue sky, flecked with light silvery cloud, showing above the chimney tops.

Ethel was up at seven o'clock, busying herself with the last touches to her packing and the consideration of her toilet; for she was much too astute-minded to care for seclusion in which brides sometimes preserve themselves upon their wedding-mornings. Some people might have thought that it would no be a very festive day, for her brother was the only near realtive who remained to her, and an ardent suitor and aunt who had been, as Ethel phrased it, "routed out" for the occasion, were not likely to add much to the gaiety of nations by their presence. Mrs. Dunraven, a distant connexion, was to remain in the house as Maurice's housekeeper, and she had nominally the control of everything; but Ethel was still settlable manager of the day's arrangements. She had insisted on having her own way in all respects, and Oliver was not the man to say her nay —just then.

Mrs. Romaine had offered to stay the night with her and help her to dress; but Ethel had smilingly refused the company. "Every ship of her future sister-in-law. 'Thanks very much,' she said, in the light and airy way which took the sting out of the words that any other style would have hurt their utterer; 'but I don't think there's anything in which I want help, and Lesley Brooke is going to act as my maid on the eventful morning.'

'Lesley Brooke!' said Mrs. Romaine. She could not altogether keep the astonishment out of her voice.

'Yes, why not?' asked Ethel with just so much defiance in her voice as to put Mrs. Romaine considerably on her guard. 'Have you any objection?'

'Dear Ethel, how can you ask such a thing! When you know how fond I am of Lesley.'

'Are you?' asked Miss Kenyon lightly. 'Do you know I should never have thought it, somehow. I am exceedingly fond of Lesley, and so—with a little more color in her face than usual—is Oliver.'

Ethel as she spoke, there was something in the accent which told of effort and suppression. Mr. Romaine adduced her for that little piece of acting more than all she had ever studied her upon the stage. She was too anxious for her brother's prosperity to say a word to disturb Ethel's serenity, whether it was real or assumed.

'I am so glad, dear,' she said sweetly. 'Lesley is a dear girl, and thoroughly good and loving. I am quite sure you could not have a better friend, and she will be delighted to do anything she can for you.'

'I don't know about that,' said Ethel, with a little pout. 'I had a great deal of trouble to get her to promise to come. She made all sorts of excuses, one would think that she did not want to see me married at all.'

Which Rosalind thought, might be very true, she had so strong a faith in the power of her brother's fascinations that she could not believe that he had actually 'made love,' as he had threatened, to Lesley Brooke without success.

Ethel spoke truly when she said that she had had great difficulty in persuading Lesley to come. After what had passed between herself and Oliver, Lesley felt herself a traitress in Ethel's presence. It seemed at first impossible to talk to Ethel about her pretty wedding gifts, her trousseau and her wedding hour, or to listen while she swore fidelity to Oliver Trent, when she knew what she did know concerning the bridegroom's faith and honor. On the Sunday after the Brooke's evening party she had a very severe headache, and sent word to Ethel that she could not possibly come to her on the morrow. But Ethel immediately came over to see her, and poured forth questions, consultations and laments in such profusion that Lesley, half blind, and dazed, was fain to get rid of her by promising again that nothing would keep her away. And on Monday the headache had gone, and she had no excuse. It was not in Lesley's nature to simulate; she could not pretend that she had an illness when she was perfectly well. There was absolutely no reason that she could give either the Kenyons or Miss Brooke for not keeping her promise and sleeping at Ethel's house on the Monday night, and be present at the wedding on Tuesday morning.

So she wound herself up to make the best of it. It seemed to her that no girl had ever been placed in so painful a position before. We, who have more experience of life than Lesley had, no better than that. Lesley's position was painful indeed, but might in many ways have been worse. But she, ignorant of real life, and more ignorant even than most girls, because she knew so few of the pictures of real life that are to be found in the best kind of novels, had nothing but her native instincts of truth and courage to fall back upon, together with the strong will and power of judgement that she had inherited from her father. These qualities, however stood her in good stead that day. 'It is no use to be weak,' she said to herself. 'What good shall I do to Ethel if I give her cause to suspect Oliver Trent's truth to her? The only question is—ought I to tell her—to put her on her guard? Oh, I think not —I hope not. If he marries her he cannot help loving her; and it would break her heart—now—if I told her that he was not faithful. I must be brave and go to her, and be usual—take pleasure in her pleasure and try to forget the real but I will she were going to marry a man that one could trust, like my father, or like—Maurice.'

She always called him Maurice when she thought about him now.

It took all the strength that she possessed, however, to go through the ordeal of those hours with Ethel. She managed to keep away until nearly nine o'clock on Monday night, and then—just after her father had gone out—she received aper emptory little note from Ethel. 'Why don't you come! You said you would come directly after dinner, and it is ever so late now. Oliver has just left me; he has business in the city, so I shall not see him again until to-morrow. So come at once or I shall begin to feel lonely.

So Lesley went.

She managed to look at the wedding-cake the wedding-gowns, the simple little breakfast table. She sat up with Ethel until two in the morning, helping her to pack her things, and listening to her praises of Oliver. That was the worst of it. Ethel would talk of Oliver, would descant on his perfections, and always all his love for her. It was very natural to talk on Ethel's part, but it was indiscribably painful and humiliating to Lesley. Every moment of silence seemed to her like an implied lie, and yet she could not bring herself to destroy the fine edifice of her friend's hopes, although she knew that she could bring it down to the ground with a touch—a word.

'And I am so glad that there is to be no fuss,' Ethel said at last, when St. Pancras was striking two; 'for I always thought that a fussy wedding would be horrid. You see, Lesley, I have dressed up so often in white satin and lace, as a bride, a girl in a ballroom, or some other character not my own, that I feel now as if there would be no reality for me in a wedding if I did not wear rather every-day clothes, in a bride's conventional dress. I should only fancy myself on the stage again.'

'You don't call the dress you are to wear to-morrow every-day clothes, do you?' said Lesley, with a smiling glance toward the lovely gown that Ethel had elected to be married in, and then to wear during the first part of her wedding journey.

'I call it just a nice, pretty frock—nothing else,' said Ethel, complacently, 'one that I can pay calls in afterwards. But I could not dress the lovely lace that Maurice insisted on giving me; so I shall wear a veil instead of a bonnet—it is the only concession I make to conventionality.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, most so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm in curing Catarrh, Colds and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Hor & Co. Brock' ville, Ont.

News About Town.

It is the current report around town that Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs is making more friends each year with people who are troubled with Coughs, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Reduced to a Science.
The treatment of disease is now almost reduced to a science. A scientific product of unrivalled skill is the cure of all blood diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore, which has held poor sufferer for years and increases steadily in favor is Burdock Blood Bitters. It cures or costs nothing.

Chronic derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, are speedily cured by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and renewing life and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills.

INTENSE SUFFERING!
Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable. They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door, was applied to my head. It acted like magic. It saved my life. I am well and hearty, and have had no return of the trouble."
ST. JACOBS OIL
"ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

And Those Articles Will Not Be Placed on the Free List—Mr. Temple Votes Four Times on One Division and Creates Considerable Amusement.

In connection with this, the first vote in a full House since the formation of Sir John Thompson's Government, it may be interesting to give the composition of the House by provinces, there being two vacancies, caused by the death of Mr. Armstrong, Liberal, and Mr. Gordon, Conservative:

	Ministerial.	Opposition.
Ontario	60	31
Quebec	34	31
Nova Scotia	16	5
New Brunswick	14	2
Prince Edward Island	2	4
Manitoba	5	0
Northwest Territories	4	0
	140	73

Government majority, 67.

After last night's storm to-day's proceedings have been very mild and quiet, and a good deal of private business has been got through with.

Mr. Weldon moved the House into committee on his bill to disfranchise electors who have taken bribes.

Mr. Davies objected to the bill because it punished the poor devil who took a dollar for his vote but let off the man who bribed him.

Sir John Thompson approved the principle of the bill, which he considered good.

Mr. Jeannette made quite an amusing speech in French in which he ridiculed the idea of not buying votes. Everybody did it, he said; he had done it himself. [Laughter.] In conclusion he moved that the committee rise, which motion on a count was carried 33 for to 30 against, which has the effect of killing the bill for this session unless the House should consent to have it restored to the order paper from which it was so unceremoniously dropped.

The debate on Mr. Mulock's motion to put binder twine on the free list was resumed, and after several members had spoken, a division was had and the motion lost, 51 for to 91 against. Mr. McCarthy was the only Conservative voting for the motion.

A division was then had on Mr. Pope's motion to place corn on the free list, which was lost 50 for, 90 against. Messrs. McCarthy, Pope, Temple (York, N.B.), and White (Shelburne), voted for the motion, and Messrs. Colter and MacGregor (Liberals) against it.

A great deal of amusement was caused by Mr. Temple accomplishing the extraordinary feat of voting no less than four times before he got his vote recorded the way he wanted it. When the speaker called for those in favor of the amendment to vote, the assistant clerk turned to the Government side, as usual, and Messrs. McCarthy, Pope, Temple and White voted yea. When the Speaker called for those opposed to the motion to vote the assistant clerk again turned to the Conservative side of the House and Sir John Thompson and other Conservatives voted. When it came to Mr. Temple's turn he unthinkingly nodded his head and was at once recorded as voting against the amendment, amid a very audible smile from a few in his neighborhood, who saw his mistake, although he maintained that he had not voted the second time. When the vote was stated by the Clerk of the House as being 50 for to 91 against he also called the Speaker's attention to something on the division list, and Mr. Speaker announced that the member for York, N.B., had voted both for and against the motion.

This caused great amusement which rather flurried Mr. Temple, who rose in his place, and when Mr. Speaker asked, "Does the hon. gentleman vote for or against the motion?" answered amid a perfect storm of laughter: "I vote against it." Warned by the continued laughter that he had made another mistake, he remained standing until the Speaker again asked how he wished his vote recorded, and he answered that he wished to vote for the motion, thus voting in favor of free corn as he wished to do, and also accomplishing what is believed to be the unprecedented feat in the history of the Dominion Parliament of voting twice each way on the same question.

The house has not had so much fun in a decade, and poor Mr. Temple was so covered with confusion that when the House adjourned a few minutes later he was forced by some of his friends to accompany them to the restaurant and "set 'em up for the boys."

In reply to Col. Denison, Hon. Mr. Patterson said that a petition had been received from the Canadian Institute of Toronto praying that steps be taken to preserve the old French stone magazine in Fort George, said to be of La Salle's time, and that it was the intention of the Government to repair the magazine.

Hon. Mr. Foster stated in reply to Mr. Guillet that there was 7½ per cent. of alloy in Canadian silver coinage and 10 per cent. in the American silver coinage. The Government was not aware that it was proposed to largely increase the coinage of American silver.

Sir John Thompson said in reply to Mr. McKay that the Minister of Trade and Commerce was considering the question of bringing into operation the Labor Bureau.

Mr. McMullen moved "That, in the opinion of this House it is desirable that the gross amount of the annual expenditure of the Dominion should be reduced and thereby the drain on the people's resources lightened as far as possible; and that the act providing for the superannuation of civil servants should be repealed and the system of superannuation abandoned."

He attacked the superannuation system, saying that during the last 12 years there had been paid out in connection with superannuation $1,786,074 more than had been paid into the fund. The act was grossly absurd and should be repealed.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that, as the whole question superannuation would come up on his bill dealing with that subject, he thought it would be best if the motion was withdrawn, and on Mr. Laurier saying the suggestion was a fair one Mr. McMullen withdrew the motion.

After recess the following private bills were read a second time and referred to committee:

To revive and amend the act to incorporate the Moncton and Prince Edward Island Railway and Ferry Company;

To incorporate the Grand Council of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association of Canada;

To revive and amend the act to incorporate the North Canadian Atlantic Railway and Steamship Company;

The whole of to-day's session of the Senate was taken up by Hon. Mr. Boulton in discussing the following resolution: "That a select committee be appointed to enquire into the statistics of the country and its industrial progress, with the view of assimilating our commercial policy with that commercial policy that has increased the prosperity of the people of the United Kingdom, of Great Britain and Ireland in such a marked degree, with power to send for persons and papers and to employ shorthand writers."

Mr. McMillan of Vaudreuil just got in his vote in time on Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment, as at the sitting of the Supreme Court this morning his appeal against the decision of the trial court unseating him was dismissed with costs, and Vaudreuil is therefore again vacant.

At a meeting of the Railway Committee to-day a bill was reported ratifying an agreement between the corporation of Toronto and the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways as to the settlement of the long out-standing question regarding the Esplanade.

PRINCESS KIAULANI

She Makes a Strong Appeal To the United States.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Princess Kaiulani, niece of the deposed Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, arrived yesterday on the steamer Teutonic. With her were Theophilus Davies and Mrs. Davies, who are the English guardians of the Princess; Miss Davies and Miss Whartoff, companions to the Princess.

Princess Kaiulani has made this statement:

NEW YORK, March 1.

To the American People:

Unbidden I stand upon your shores today where I thought so soon to receive a royal welcome on my way to my own kingdom. I come unattended except by the loving hearts that have come with me over the wintry seas. I hear that commissioners from my land have been for many days asking this great nation to take away my little vineyard. They speak no word to me and leave me to find out as I can from the rumors of the air that they would leave me without a home, or a name, or a nation.

Seventy years ago Christian America sent over Christian men and women to give religion and civilization to Hawaii. They gave us the gospel, they made us a nation, and we learned to love and trust America. To-day three of the sons of those missionaries are at your capital asking you to undo their fathers' work.

Who sent them? Who gave them authority to break the constitution which they swore they would uphold?

To-day, I, a poor weak girl, with not one of my people near me and all these Hawaiian statesmen against me, have strength to stand up for the rights of my people. Even now I can hear their wail in my heart and it gives me strength and courage and I am strong—strong in the faith of God, strong in the knowledge that I am right, strong in the strength of 70,000,000 of people who in this free land will hear my cry and will refuse to let their flag cover dishonor to mine.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Provincial Legislators for Hygienic Measures in Session.

TORONTO, March 2.—The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health was held yesterday. Dr. Cassidy, the president, was in the chair. The other members present were Drs. McDonald, Vaux, Rae and Secretary Bryce.

A good deal of routine business was transacted. The report of the Committee of the Ontario Medical Association on vital statistics was received. Amongst correspondence were suggestions as to the amendment of the acts on registration and the public health. A committee was appointed to consider the suggested amendments to these acts. Reports as to outbreaks of disease in various portions of the province were received.

This was an elaborate document. It stated that the most striking fact in the sanitary world is the deep-seated and universal dread of cholera, both in Europe and America. Fortunately the people are willing to follow their sanitary advisers to the fullest extent. In Canada the Federal Government had taken a forward step by assembling at Ottawa a conference of heads of provincial departments and sanitary experts in order to consider the relations between Dominion and provincial sanitation and to recommend any necessary improvements in the quarantine of Canadian maritime and inland ports.

Dr. Cassidy then gave his report of the Ottawa conference, the proceedings at which have already been published.

The chairman continued: The Federal Government has already intimated what course it intends to pursue with regard to the recommendations of the conference. There is good reason to hope that nearly all of them will be carried into effect. A special meeting of the Provincial Board was held in September last in reference to cholera. Its recommendations were passed by order-in-council. Various amendments to these were now suggested. The committee on publication has revised the pamphlets on contagious and infectious diseases and the disposal of sewage. After referring to this the chairman referred to Toronto's water supply.

He said: "We cannot but look with positive dread at the condition of the city's water supply. Viewed in the light of the epedimic at Hamburg last summer one would almost say that the municipal authorities are trifling with the grave danger at their gates, instead of taking those well-known and efficient precautions by which an inferior may be converted into a first-class water. The condition of the people of Toronto during this winter in the matter of water supply has been positively pitiable. One does not require to be fastidious to object to drinking boiled sewage, and yet that is really the best water to be obtained in this city at present."

The chairman referred to its injurious effects in diarrhœa and typhoid fever. He said even if the pipe extending across Toronto Bay were made water-tight there was no guarantee that it could be kept so, and the Toronto water supply would therefore continue to be of a very uncertain or even dangerous character. Would it not be better for Toronto people to cease agitating for another supply and to devote their energies and their money to the filtration of that which they have?

At considerable length the chairman recommended the Hyatt filters. Many wells were in urgent need of cleansing. The water contains salt probably derived from neighboring privies, or else from the top-dressing used on the land finding its way into the source of supply. The services of the analytical chemist should be made use of.

Adverting to the smallpox outbreaks the chairman praised the beneficent results of isolation and disinfection. He maintained that if vaccination and re-vaccination were universally practised smallpox would soon cease to exist, and it would not be necessary to resort to expensive and often annoying means in order to prevent its epidemic spread in this country.

The address was, on motion of Dr. Bryce, seconded by Dr. Vaux, approved and ordered to be printed in the annual report.

At the afternoon session Secretary Bryce reported that the law in regard to the appointment of a local board of health by municipal councils had in past years been very generally carried out throughout the province, but there had been instances in which the provisions of the act had been overlooked. The secretary had written each municipal council: "In view of the great danger which exists of cholera making its appearance on this continent, and in this province, during the present year, the Provincial Board, with a view to having every preparation made to place the province in the best possible sanitary condition to minimize the dangers from this source, would urge, through the powers given it in sections 9 and 31-32 of the act, the appointment under section 47 of a Medical Health Officer and one or more sanitary inspectors as executive officers to carry on public health work in your municipality. It is trusted that the Provincial Board will have the co-operation of every municipal council in this matter, and that it may within the next few weeks have the pleasure of knowing that local Boards of Health, with executive officers, have been appointed in every municipality in this province."

In response to these circulars replies to the following effect had been received: That little more than one-half of the boards have medical officers of health. Those figures would have to guide the Provincial Board as to taking further steps to have the local boards in a position competent to deal with an outbreak of cholera or other infectious diseases. "We must see that the local boards are properly organized," said Dr. Bryce. "Not more than 50 per cent. have complied to the request of the circular and the recommendation of the Ottawa conference. Hence the Committee on Legislation has drawn up an amending order dealing especially with this matter of appointment of medical health officers. We likewise provide in this new order that inspectors of this board shall see that the local boards carry out their work."

The amended order-in-council was submitted, and the board, with Dr. Rae in the chair, went into committee on its consideration. This occupied the whole of the afternoon.

The committee rose and reported progress, and on the motion of Dr. Bryce, seconded by Dr. Vaux, these amended regulations re cholera of the order-in-council dated Sept. 17, 1892, were adopted. Except as regards the enforcement of the appointment of medical health officers and inspectors, no material alterations were made.

The board adjourned till this morning.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMINES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite tonic and regulator.

Not a Particle.

A feature worth noticing in regard to Burdock Blood Bitters is that it does not contain one particle of poisonous matter. It cures quickly and without the use of any injurious ingredients. B.B.B. is a purely vegetable specific for dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood, headache, biliousness and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

A Man Made Happy.

GENTLEMEN,—For five years I had been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only a drag to me When I would go to bed I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest day or night. But with the use of two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the curative qualities of this medicine, that are especially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with: and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrup & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim.

Dangers of Delay

If we were allowed to look into the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how different would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this complaint. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

As Parmelee's Vegetable Pills contain Mandrake and Dandelion, they cure Liver and Kidney Complaints with unerring certainty. They also contain roots and herbs which have specific virtues truly wonderful in their action on the stomach and bowels. Mr. E. A. Cairncross, Shakespear writes: "I consider Parmelee's Pills an excellent remedy for biliousness and derangement of the liver, having used them myself for some time."

MISSIONARY'S STORY

How He Suffered from Eczema. Doctors Failed. Grew Worse. Death Only Relief Expected.

I have been troubled with chronic Eczema on my limbs. The itching was very annoying and made me unfit for work. I had tried many remedies and consulted a good physician, but received no permanent relief. A friend told me of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I then sent for a copy of your book, more than a year ago, and now I wish I had read the book and begun to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES at once. But the doctor said the remedies, good in some cases, would be of no use to me, and continued to prescribe for me for nine months. I grew worse and worse. Death would have been a relief, and it was the only relief I expected. Just then my wife (I thank God for a good one) found the book you sent in some out-of-the-way place and read it through. She discharged the attending physician and said we would try the

A UNIFORM CUSTOM TARIFF.

Mr. Davies was indignant in his speech the other day because his party had been charged with advocating the commercial union of Canada and the United States. The cause of the indignation is obvious. In the form of commercial union the offensive features of the Liberal policy namely, its severance of the ties linking England and Canada together, its destruction of our commercial independence, and its tendency quickly to make us politically a part of the United States, are more clearly manifested than when stated in the form of Unrestricted Reciprocity. We showed recently that the Honorable Ed. Blake as the result of an exhaustive analysis of Unrestricted Reciprocity, declared it to be identical with commercial union. But further, the plan was originally that of Mr. Hitt, an American politician, who supplied the idea that was eagerly adopted by the Liberal party. Mr. Hitt author of this scheme, said, "What is commercial union with Canada?" It seems as set out in this resolution, the adoption by both countries of precisely the same tariff of duties or taxes to be levied upon goods coming from abroad; abolishing altogether our line of custom houses on the north by which we collect tariff duties on goods coming from Canada; abolishing their custom houses along the same line by which they collect duties upon goods we send into Canada; and leaving intercourse as unrestricted between this country and Canada as it is between the States. The line of custom houses would follow the sea and would include both countries." Such was the declaration of the author of the policy. But surely Mr. Davies forgot that Mr. Laurier, his leader, when speaking at the pavilion at Toronto in October, 1889, declared for a uniform standard of customs and tariff duties. Not only was this so, but when the movement first appeared, and at the time when Sir Richard Cartwright five years ago moved for the removal of duties on all manufactures and natural products of Canada and the United States passing from one country to the other, the Grit press of the country was full of denunciations of the customs line and of appeals for its abolition. On the stump also, the abolition of custom houses was a theme upon which the Grit patriot grew eloquent. In view of these well remembered facts, it would be astonishing to hear a man of Mr. Davies' prominence deny that commercial union had been the policy of the Grit party were it not that boldness and bounce are more conspicuous qualities in that gentleman's utterances than accuracy.—Ottawa Citizen.

THAT SUNDAY MEETING.

Mr. Vermilyea calls us hard names because we said that he held a political meeting in Tweed one Sabbath evening lately, in the interest of his friend Mr. Patrick Murphy. In justice to Mr. Vermilyea, we publish his explanation. He says that he drove to Tweed on Sunday, and after tea he found Mr. Lessarge in the sitting room of the hotel. This, he claims, was an accidental meeting, as he says he did not know "they were to be there." The they referred to embodied "two others," he tells us, who "drove over from Bogart." There were four of them accidentally present that Sabbath evening in the hotel. Now what were they doing? They were not holding a religious service, for Mr. Vermilyea says that "the Township Clerk had been sent for," and Mr. Lessarge, under oath, says that "there was a meeting at Claremont's hotel on Sunday night." It would be hard to convince the public that we did not use the proper terms when we said that he "desecrated the holy Sabbath day by driving to Tweed and holding a political meeting in the evening."

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

THE JENNIE WONCH CASE

SHE HAS CONVULSIONS DURING THE INQUEST.

Dr. Aylsworth is of Opinion That the Old Woman and Child Died From Burns and Not From Blows From an Axe Handle.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., March 2.—Last evening the inquest on the body of Mary Wonch was continued in the court room, which was crowded to the doors. The County Crown Attorney was present, and examined the witnesses on behalf of the prosecution. Detective Grier of Toronto was also present.

Dr. G. M. Aylsworth, who held the post mortem examination, was the first witness called. He said: I made the post mortem examination this morning, assisted by Dr. A. R. Stephens.

To the coroner he made the following written report:

1. That he found no evidence of violence having been done to the body by extensive burns, except a slight bruise upon the front of the chest, above and a little to the right of the left breast.

2. In my opinion the bruise would not cause death.

3. In my opinion the extensive burns referred to above caused her death.

He gave further evidence, substantiating the written report. While giving his evidence the witness was called to an adjoining room where Jenny Wonch, the accused, fell in convulsions.

James Wonch, a son of the deceased woman, was next called. After being sworn he said he had not seen his mother alive since last summer. The first place he saw her since her death was lying on a sleigh in John Rives. I know nothing of what caused her death. She is about 93 years old. My mother and daughter quarrelled occasionally.

Hugh Best, sworn—I know Jennie Wonch. Saw her on Thursday last cutting wood on the rail way track. I spoke to her there.

Jennie Wonch, the alleged murderess, was put in the box, but was not sworn. She said that by the advice of her counsel, John Birnie, she would not make any statement.

County Crown Attorney Cotter addressed the jury. In his opinion a further post mortem examination should be made. He asked for an adjournment of two weeks, and also that a further post mortem examination be made by Dr. Aylsworth, with another medical man.

Foreman Archer stated that the jury was unanimous in asking for an adjournment of nine days and that the body be exhumed and a further post mortem examination be held by Dr. Aylsworth and another physician.

The statement of the jury was agreed to, consequently the inquest will be continued on Friday, 10th inst., at 7.30 p.m.

The statement of the jury that he would order a post mortem examination to be held on the body of the child. It is probable that the same jury will be empanelled.

NO SENSATION.

Emperor William's Speech at a Special Banquet Was Very Mild.

BERLIN, March 2.—Emperor William failed to make the sensational speech expected of him at the banquet of the Brandenburg diet yesterday evening. He spoke with unwonted earnestness and animation, but gave utterance to no such surprising sentiment as that expressed by him a year ago concerning the emigration of all malcontents in the Empire. Part of his speech was as follows:

The living generation is fond of comparing the monarchical traditions of the past with the present regime, to the disadvantage of the latter. This is a fruitless task. Let us look back upon the splendid past without useless regret. Let us endeavor to become worthy of our ancestors' deeds. I myself hope to establish a state of things with which all Germans who desire to be content will be content. I hope that the good will of my people will strengthen my resolution, although I know that it will be impossible to satisfy everybody.

The Emperor made no direct reference to the Army Bill, but spoke emphatically of the hearty accord in which he found himself with his Chancellor, Count Von Caprivi.

A SAILOR'S BIGAMY.

His First Wife is Living in Toronto—He is Committed.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 2.—James Duffy, who was married in Toronto a dozen years ago and about three years ago duplicated that occurrence with a woman in this city, was up in the Police Court yesterday charged with bigamy.

Duffy claims that his first wife is dead, and was dead before he married the Buffalo woman.

Toronto police say Mrs. Duffy No. 1 is alive and living in that city, and the judge held that the evidence was sufficient to send the case to the grand jury. Duffy was admitted to bail in $500.

Harvard's Benefactor.

BOSTON, Mass., March 2.—It is stated on the authority of a Harvard professor that Gordon McKay, the millionaire inventor and manufacturer, is the man who has left between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 in trust to Harvard University.

Mr. McKay formerly lived in Cambridge and there he perfected most of his inventions, such as the McKay sewing machine, the heeling machine, the stitcher and the McKay metallic fastener. Much of his spare time was spent in the study of music, of which he was a great lover. He owned a rare collection of old violins.

An Ocean Steamer Overdue.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The White Star line steamer Naronic, which left Liverpool for this port on Feb. 11, is now nine days overdue, and it is certain she has met with some serious mishap, probably to her machinery.

Will Interchange Pictures.

HAMILTON, March 2.—The Photographic Section of the Hamilton Association has discussed a proposition from the Toronto Camera Club in regard to the various Canadian amateur photographic societies forming a lantern slide interchange for exhibition purposes. The members of the section heartily approved of the proposition, and it is likely that before long the Hamilton slides will be figuring in exhibitions in Toronto, Montreal and other places, while the members of the Hamilton Photographic Section will enjoy slides made by other clubs.

Talmage's Salary.

NEW YORK, March 2.—There was a rumor in Brooklyn yesterday that Rev. T. De Witt Talmage might resign the pastorate of the Tabernacle. The church is greatly in debt.

Dr. Talmage says that in three years and four months he has received $638 net from the church.

Lumber Combine.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—All lumbering companies of Lake of the Woods district have seen consolidated, eight large companies being in the deal. The aggregate output of these companies is 65,000,000 feet per year. D. L. Mather of Keewatin is president of the new company.

A Rare Edition.

LONDON, March 2.—At an auction at Sotheby's, Quaritch bought for $315 a rare edition of "Epistola Alfonsi Colonii," printed in Rome in 1493. This work is believed to have been the first printed account of the discovery of America.

And Still Lives.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 2.—Ferdinand Merrill on Tuesday shot five 44-calibre bullets through his head, two from right to left, coming out at the temple, and three in his mouth, coming out of the top of his head. Merrill is still living.

Shot Two Negroes.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., March 2.—At Trenton, near here, Bud Garth became involved in a difficulty with two negroes yesterday and shot them both. One is dead and the other is dying.

Wants Half of Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—The claim of Col. McLean of Ottawa to a portion of land comprising half the city of Winnipeg has just been published here and is much discussed. Some are inclined to think there may be something in the claim.

WANTED HER HUSBAND DEAD.

PARIS, March 2.—An extraordinary case, which will no doubt rank as one of the most interesting causes celebres of the year, is now being investigated by the police authorities at Lorient. The case is to be tried by the Morbihan Court of Assizes.

Mme. Berthe Crouan is accused of attempting to cause the murder of her husband, Octave Crouan, against whom she was engaged in a suit of separation.

The supposition of a crime rests on the declarations made by some street porters at Lorient, who were found to be possessed of a comparatively large sum of money, which they declared was transmitted to them as the price of killing M. Crouan in such a way that it would appear to be an accident.

The street porters declared that they had considered it more prudent not to do the deed, with a prudence no doubt similar to that which induced them to keep the money.

On the strength of these declarations warrants for the arrest of Mme. Crouan and her servant, Marie Tristen, were issued, but Mme. Crouan escaped to Switzerland.

At length, tired of living away from France, Mme. Crouan wrote to Count Geera that she intended to give herself up a prisoner. She has been, in fact, of her own free will imprisoned in Lorient jail.

Mme. Crouan is the daughter of a very wealthy contractor, M. Brian, who has accomplished an enormous fortune by his own efforts. A greater part of his energy characterized his daughter, who was, it appears, disappointed early in life about a marriage she wished to make. M. Brian lived about 20 or 30 years ago at the Chateau de la Madeleine, near Verades (Loire-Inferieure).

When the marriage on which Mlle. Brian had set her heart was forbidden and when put a stop to by her father she was affianced to Octave Crouan, an engineer, who was closely connected with M. Brian in his business relations.

Mlle. Brian announced to her future husband that it was dangerous for him to be the accomplice of her father in opposing her will. But the threat appeared to M. Crouan to be dus simply to the petulance of youth.

They were married and two children were born, for which the mother had a strong and unbounded affection.

Unhappily, this love does not appear to have extended to her husband, and in 1890 Mme. Crouan formed a liaison with M. Kerneur, who exercised the profession of teacher in a riding school.

For a time the liaison was kept secret, but at the expiration of a few months Mme. Crouan and M. Kerneur took the children of the former and fled to Paris. M. Crouan followed them, found them and after treating his wife with much leniency induced her to go and live with him again.

But in January, 1891, M. Crouan was deserted again and the guilty pair, traveling in great state as man and wife, visited Nice, Mentone and Monte Carlo. After much trouble M. Crouan found them and obtained the guardianship of the children.

During the last summer vacation M. Crouan stayed with the children at Belle-Isle-en-Mer and Mme. Crouan at Quiberon. The mother was to see her children every fortnight. They took the boat for Quiberon in the morning and returned to Belle-Isle at night.

On one occasion they did not arrive; they had missed the boat and had been obliged to stay at Quiberon all night.

M. Crouan was, however, not fully reassured by this explanation, and decided in future to accompany the children. While they were with their mother he used to pass the time walking about the cliffs. It was while thus engaged that the street porters say they were paid to see that he had a fatal accident.

The affair is at present being thoroughly investigated by the police. It is expected that many sensational revelations will be made at the trial with reference to the career of Mme. Crouan. It should be added that M. Kerneur is not implicated in the affair.

SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE.

Railroad Agent Shot in the Leg While in a Shanty.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The railroad strikers and their sympathising friends are getting dangerous. On Monday night, while John Rayborn, an agent for the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad, was sitting in a switch shanty at 46th street and Stewart-avenue, he was shot in the leg by some one on a Fort Wayne train that was passing at the time.

About the same time William Crothers, agent for the same company, was assaulted at Root-street and Stewart-avenue by unknown persons and was badly hurt.

Jacob Sells and Benjamin Recoryberry, two non-union switch tenders employed by the Wabash, Rock Island & Erie Line to take the places of strikers, were assaulted Tuesday night at Thirty-ninth-street and the Western Indiana tracks, while engaged in tending the switches at that point, by two unknown men who are supposed to have been union men.

Sells and Recoryberry applied to the police for protection, and two officers were sent out to Meekon to investigate. Neither of the assaulted men were badly injured. No trace of the assailants could be found.

Big Strike in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Nine hundred union carriage and wagon makers of Chicago went on strike yesterday morning. They demanded 9 hours for a day's work instead of 10, with the same pay, and that piece workers be given an increase of 10 per cent.

One hundred firms have granted the demands, and of the 150 makers in the city 600 returned to work.

Four of the largest manufacturers, Studebaker, Kimball, Sherman and Smith, still hold out against the workmen and say they will maintain their position. The four employed 600 of the strikers.

THE WINTER'S SNOWFALL.

Many Previous Winters Showed a Much Deeper Fall.

TORONTO, March 2.—The general impression that the snowfall (5 ft. 8 in.) of the present winter is something unusual in amount is not borne out by reference to the records of previous years.

Year.	Snowfall.
1854-5	5 ft. 8 in.
1859-60	5 ft. 6 in.
1865-1	5 ft. 6 in.
1864-5	5 ft. 3 in.
1866-7	5 ft. 3 in.
1868-9	5 ft. 11 in.
1870-1	7 ft. 2 in.
1872-3	7 ft. 5 in.
1873-4	5 ft. 10 in.
1882-3	5 ft. 5 in.
1885-4	5 ft. 3 in.
1886-7	5 ft. 8 in.

These are all up to the end of February of each winter, so that this January's heavy snow, prior to the steady low temperature of the winter, there have been only three days' thaw since the beginning of the year, the average temperature of which was considerably below zero. The absence of any well marked thaw and the small loss by evaporation.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

A Boiler In a Public Bath Explodes When the Building Was Crowded.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—The boiler in the Mahommedan baths in Baku exploded when the establishment was crowded. More than 30 women and children fled naked into the streets. Several persons were scalded to death.

Kicked a Crazy Man to Death.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 2.—The death of W. H. Culpepper, an inmate of the insane asylum, Sunday afternoon, attracted little notice until yesterday, when investigation indicated that Culpepper was murdered. Evidence taken in the case goes to show that two keepers deliberately beat and kicked the victim to death.

A Horrible Affair.

GREENVILLE, Ky., March 2.—The residence of Cyrus Lee, about four miles north of this place, was consumed by fire last night. The occupants, Cyrus Lee, sister and brother, wife and child, were burned with the building. There is no one left to tell the tale of how it happened.

FARMERS AND ARTISANS

RESOLVE TO UNITE FOR THEIR COMMON INTERESTS.

Fiery and Eloquent Speakers Declaim in Favor of What They Claim Are Their Rights and Appoint Committees for Combined Action.

TORONTO, March 2.—The Patrons of Industry and Dominion Grangers in conjunction with a number of the different labor organizations held a well-attended and enthusiastic meeting in the Lawrence Hall last evening. Mr. C. A. Mallory, president of the Patrons of Industry, occupied the chair, and on the platform also were a gentleman present in the different labor organizations throughout the province and in this city. The meeting was addressed by T. W. Bunton, President of the Trades and Labor Council, P. Ridgeway, President of the Dominion Grangers; John Miller, Grand Vice-President of the Patrons of Industry; A. Robinson, Dominion Organizer; A. F. Jury, A. Gifford, G. T. Beals, President of the Trades and Labor Council of Canada, T. O. Currie of the Patrons of Industry; D. A. Carr, K. of L. Organizer, J. Lowe and J. Kennedy. The keynote of the addresses was organization for mutual protection, politically, as if the enthusiasm evoked by the speeches may be taken as an indication of what the farmers can in store they will be mighty few professional gentlemen representing the constituencies in Parliament in the years to come.

Glass legislation and combines were severely assailed, and one speaker strongly advocated the adoption of the co-operative system. There was no end of eloquence, and the general culture manifested by the rural speakers must have indeed been surprising to those present from the city. One gentleman, a member of the Patrons of Industry, closed a very eloquent speech with the following eloquent peroration: "Let us, the common people, have our rights as well as those who are clothed in gilded halls."

At the conclusion of the meeting this resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Moved by J. Lowe, seconded by F. Kennedy, that the joint meeting of the formed trades and labor organizations represented here to-night appoint a committee for the purpose of effecting combination for the furthering of their common interest."

A meeting of the different orders was held at the conclusion of the public meeting when a committee was appointed for the purpose of carrying out the spirit of the resolution.

The Dominion Grangers

Yesterday morning was taken up by the Dominion grangers with the discussion on the practicability of amalgamation with the Patrons of Industry, and an address from Mr. Roger, Secretary of the Canadian Horse Breeders' Association. The feeling of the day was that the members was against union, and the matter was given into the hands of the Committee on Inter Societies. Mr. Rogers' address was full of good advice relative to the breeding problem. The Committee on Legislation reported in favor of free curb bill, and expressed satisfaction was expressed with the slight reduction in the coal oil duty.

A desire was also expressed to have a law passed with a view to the regulation of bicycle riding on country roads, as it is claimed that under existing conditions many accidents now occur.

The afternoon was devoted to committee work, reports of which will be laid before the meeting to-day.

Patrons of Industry.

The Patrons of Industry gave up the day to the discussion of matters pertaining to the financial side of this order. The directors' report was considered in the morning and most of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of their official organ, The Farmer's Sun, and the policy to be pursued regarding it in the future.

Japanese Dentistry.

"The Japanese use no instrument for extracting teeth, but lift them out with the thumb and forefinger," said Henry Baker to a guest of the Southern who was waving his jaw in a sling as the result of a pair of forceps slipping and getting more than they were sent for.

"While jolly Dick Hubbard was Minister to Japan I visited that country and spent a pleasant week with him. One day I was troubled with the toothache, and Mr. Hubbard took me to a dentist and explained to the saddle-colored operator that I wanted the grinder extracted. I was placed in a bamboo chair and tilted slightly back. The dentist examined my teeth, talking volubly meanwhile to Uncle Sam's representative. Suddenly his thumb and forefinger closed on the troublesome tooth, and before I had the faintest idea of what was going to happen, he lifted it out and held it up before me, smiling at the same time that vacant smile peculiar to the children of the Orient.

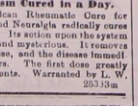

"You were waiting for the forceps, were you?" said Minister Hubbard with a laugh. "They don't use 'em here. Look at this. Here is a young Jap taking his first lesson in dentistry." A 12-year-old Japanese boy sat on the floor, having before him a board in which were a number of holes into which pegs had been tightly driven. He was attempting to extract the pegs with his thumb and forefinger. Mr. Hubbard explained that as the strength of this natural pair of forceps developed by practice, the pegs would be driven in tighter. After a couple of years of peg pulling the young dentist would graduate and be able to lift the most refractory molar in the same manner that he now lifted wooden pegs."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Chas. F. Yet there are blue ruinists down there who will tell you in all seriousness that the town is dead, and are mad if you seem incredulous."

Messrs. Gillen & Gillen, architects, of this city, have been asked by Haines & Lockett to furnish plans for the extension and enlargement of their Belleville store. An addition seventy feet long, two stories high, will be added, besides other alterations and improvements, which will make it the largest and best equipped shoe establishment in Canada. The business of the firm continues to extend, and this enlargement of the head office has become an absolute necessity.

A WORD TO YOU, YOUNG MAN.

THE EVIL OF KEEPING UP APPEARANCES.

An Essay Upon This Subject Read by the Rev. Mr. Dingman.

The following essay was read before the Belleville Ministerial Association on Monday last, and was by them requested to be published.

The evil of keeping up appearances arises from this: It is a betrayal of trust, a denial of our real condition, an attempt to deceive the public as to the independence and value of our possessions, and an effort to bribe society to bestow upon us greater confidence and admiration than our material substance and our intellectual and moral qualities ought to command, and our true worth in any given sphere deserves—and besides this, inoculating others with an insane desire to appear in the same fashion and display as we do, and also gives us a habit of being and acting wholly in reference to exterior things, and doing violence to our hearts and consciences, and thus defiling the inner temple of motive and thought which God alone has a right to possess and control. The reaction upon the person himself who aims at keeping up appearances, is most damaging and deleterious in every way, for while one is accelerated in every movement, prompted in every wish and in every ambition, by what estimation the public will put upon him, by what spectator is and society will think and say, it is impossible for him to entertain any ingenuous thought, or any patriotic feeling, or any noble or God like emotion or aspiration. All generous and independent thought is annihilated. He is the victim of the passing breeze of popular favor, the slave of shallow maxims and ever changing fashion, and a slave to the effeminate opinions of those who glide over the dusty surface of society, and never sink a shaft to where the true gold is embedded. There is no freshness, there is no stability, there is no action of independent genius, there is no chivalry and no manhood about the mere keeper up of appearances, but a shrivelled, dwarfed pantomime and empty show and imitation, which leave sensible people in doubt what the next metamorphosis may be.

2. In reference to the world's morals, in reference to the world's belief, in reference to the world's progress, and in reference to the ascendancy of christianity in its vitalizing grace, and in its ability to saturate all men with its equitable and healthy spirit, the mere keeping up of appearances is a burden, stumbling block and dead weight, and the sooner the image of virtue and progress is removed, the sooner will a waiting world bask in a light brighter than the sun.

It may be evidence of our immorality that, speaking in general terms, everybody would like to be thought to belong to the highest circle of society in his immediate neighborhood, town or city, and as the worldly, prosperous and wealthy, who enjoy special advantages, make the greatest display in costly equipments, the keeper up of appearances people imitate them even at the sacrifice of candor, equity, truth and honor, and every element of his moral and spiritual nature worth possessing. Most of the evils of society, uncleanness, gambling, drinking, and a very large percentage of bankruptcies can be traced to this inane, insane vanity. Multitudes of young men in our country, and of middle aged men not a few, are so crazy to be thought high toned and prosperous in worldly matters that they adopt a style of expensive clothing, house furnishing and house and personal decoration quite beyond their means, and are in consequence constantly under the hammer of their creditors, until utter failure in business follows, and as they see the collapse coming still out of what belongs to their creditors, lay in a store and secure a home in some one else's name in order when the crash comes yet to maintain what they call a respectable appearance. So universal does this evil obtain in our day that when I see a young man recently started in business appearing in this fashionable display I am almost invariably wonder whether the tailor or he owns the fine suit he wears every day, or the rich carpet and costly furniture which deck his newly furnished house are his or has he drawn upon some of his creditors for his somewhat luxurious carpets. As I have intimated this weakness is almost the universal tendency of the present age, and is fostering all manner of rash speculations, and worse than all is suspending the genuine peace and contentment, and even the happiness of life upon what is entirely exterior to the man and can never enter into the heart or aid in the creation and the strengthening of a noble soul, but on the contrary creates deception, false appearing, false measure, false actions, false ambitions, which are quite equal in turpitude and in their blasting power to false speaking.

As this keeping up of appearances is entirely unchristian and fraudulent and damning to citizens and to society at large, it ought to meet the often emphatic protest of the public. Even among our strictest and most orthodox and spiritual churches, every year in all our large cities and in many of our smaller towns and even the country places reproaches fall upon the churches because of this excessive vanity and expenditure in keeping up appearances. How much more manhood and nobleness are displayed in wearing a thread bare coat and doing with plain fare and a plain house and plain furniture and no debts than to follow the keeping up of appearances named with the sheriff at the door and frequent compromises. Teachers, preachers, parents and guardians of society ought not to give any uncertain sound on this matter. The Bible says all liars shall be cast into hell, and here they are in our churches deliberately acting lies and keeping men who in a worldly sense are honest sinners away from church and Christ by their glaring hypocrisies. When the great Mohammedan commander, Saladin, was told by his private treasurer that his money was all gone, replied: "I am sorry to abandon my giving but as for myself all the fortune I want is my house, my sword and my God."

A COCKING MAIN.

Belleville and Peterboro Birds in the Pit at Hastings.

The Hastings Star says: "Considerable activity was observable among our local sports on Monday, which gave rise to the idea that another horse race was on the tapis. Enquiry, however, revealed the disgraceful fact that a cocking main had been arranged to be fought between a number of birds from Belleville and Peterboro. The constable was duly advised of the contemplated violation of the law but that worthy allowed himself to be spirited to Norwood and so the brutal exhibition took place without let or hindrance from any of the conservators of the peace. We learn that one of the birds from Peterboro and one from Belleville were killed, and others shockingly mutilated. Some of the unfeathered bipeds had a few blows, and at one time a general ruction was threatened. It is to be hoped that the matter will not be allowed to rest, but that all parties implicated in the disgraceful exhibition will be dealt with according to law, which, for the information of those interested, is "a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisonment with or without hard labor, or both," for aiding or assisting in such exhibitions, and a similar fine and penalty for permitting such exhibitions on any premises.

TO STAY PROCEEDINGS.

The City not Anxious to Have the Grand Junction Absorbed by the Grand Trunk.

H. Corby M.P. was wired on Tuesday by the civic authorities to use his influence before the railway committee to have the Railway Amalgamation Bill postponed until Friday. Mr. Corby was successful in his efforts. In consequence of the postponement the following gentlemen met in the mayor's office this afternoon to consider the effect the absorption of the Grand Junction railway by the Grand Trunk Co. would have on Belleville: Mayor Wallbridge, City Solicitor Henderson, Wm. Sutherland, Alds. Ponton, Walmsley, and City Clerk D. B. Robertson.

If the Midland system is absorbed by the Grand Trunk Belleville's present right to representation on the board will be denied. In consideration of the bonus voted by Belleville the city has also special rates as to the carrying of cord wood. The above gentlemen prepared a case this afternoon and decided as to whether they would send a delegation to Ottawa to meet the railway committee and have the city's interests in the hands of Mr. Corby.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

A Young Man Named Sager Kicked by a Horse.

An unfortunate, and which may prove fatal, accident occurred to a young man named D. Sager, on Dundas Street, about 4.30 yesterday afternoon. He was leaving the city for his home, near Shannonville, and having a short whip, reached over to urge the horse forward. He struck the animal a sharp blow, when the latter kicked him on the orbit of the right eye, fracturing the skull. The victim was picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital, where Drs. Gibson and McColl dressed his wounds, after which the sufferer seemed to revive a little. He had not regained consciousness at 3 p.m. to-day. If he recovers at all, he will lose the sight of the right eye. He is 23 years of age.

THOSE THREATENING LETTERS.

Mr. C. E. Lyons Pleads Guilty and Gets His Client Off.

The case of Mrs. Wm. Baker, of Canifton, who was charged with writing threatening letters to Miss Mary O'Hara, of Montreal, was concluded this afternoon. At the opening of the court, Mr. C. E. Lyons, who defended the prisoner, entered a plea of guilty, but asked the magistrate to deal leniently with her, owing to her being a young married woman, having a child ill. City Solicitor L. H. Henderson, on behalf of the crown, also asked for leniency, owing to the circumstances of the case. The magistrate then committed her to one month's imprisonment with hard labor.

AMENDMENT TO THE CRIMINAL CODE

Efforts Will be Made to Send Criminal Cases Over to the Next Court.

The recent Dominion Act allowing prisoners to give evidence on their own behalf will come into effect on the first of July and is creating a good deal of interest in view of the approaching assize next week. A number of important criminal cases are set down for the present court and plausible reasons are already being advanced by the legal fraternity why certain cases in which they have an interest should be sent over until the next court. It is not unlikely to suppose that a number of material witnesses will disappear about next Thursday. The act is generally conceded by legal authorities to be a good one.

THE DESERONTO REEVESHIP.

Dr. Newton Elected by Acclamation to This Important Position.

Dr. Newton has been elected reeve of the town of Deseronto by acclamation. On Monday last was nomination day, when the Dr., John Dalton and Richard Baker were proposed for the vacant position. Since that day the two latter have retired. The reeve elect sat in the county council some years ago as reeve of Deseronto, and is in every respect well qualified to fill the position.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medicinal line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. A few bottles purchased and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

This is the month of clearing up. Gough has reorganized business for 1893, and starts out to clear off the slate for Spring. Trade for 1892 has been larger than our most sanguine expectations hoped for. Profits have been small. Gough has cut his prices to meet the low prices of wheat, and if wheat goes lower, down will go Gough's prices. He won't be undersold by the farmer or see the farmer undersold.

CLEARING UP THE STOCK FOR SPRING.

Stock-taking is over, a lot of odd lots remain. They must go. Gough will almost give them away to clear. Come in and run through the counters and see your opportunity.

That Sunday Meeting.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—You do me a great injustice, and state a falsehood when you say I held a political meeting on Sunday night in a hotel in Tweed. I reached the hotel very late on Sunday evening, and after tea went into the sitting room of the hotel and found there Mr. Lasarge, who had been appointed deputy returning officer, but who declined to act, and two others who had driven over from Bogart to get the clerk to appoint another man. The clerk had been sent for, and at 12:30 on Monday appeared and appointed a substitute. I did not know they were to be there, and they could by no possibility have been aware of my coming. No other business was transacted in my presence, and this was done on Monday, not Sunday, as you stated. This is a fair specimen of the treatment I have always received from you, and I think the public should know by this time what it means.

Truly yours,
N. VERMILYEA.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'I wish you would go to sleep, Ethel; you will look very pale under your veil to-morrow.'

'Well, I will try; but I don't feel it. I hope Maurice will be back in good time. It was very tiresome of that patient of his to send for him in such a hurry.'

Then there was silence, for both girls were growing sleepy; and it was with a yawn that Ethel at last inquired—

'Lesley, why won't your father come to my wedding?'

'Won't he!' said Lesley with a little start.

'Do he; I asked him again on Saturday and he refused.'

'Perhaps,' said Lesley, not very steadily, 'it gives him pain to be present at weddings; he made a point of it when he was ill himself.'

'I think I can't talk about it,' said Lesley, very quietly.

'Then we won't. Did you know I had asked Captain Duchesne to breakfast?'

'Oh, Ethel, how heartless of you! Lesley said, laughing in spite of herself. For Captain Duchesne's devotion was patent to all the world.

At last they slept in each others arms, but at seven o'clock Ethel was skimming about the room like a busy fairy, and it was Lesley, sleeping heavily after two or three wakeful nights, who had to be aroused by the little bride-elect, and Ethel laughed merrily to see her friend's start of surprise.

'Ethel! Ethel! People should be waiting on you and here you are bringing me tea and bread and butter. This is too bad!'

'It's a new departure,' Ethel laughed. 'There is no law in a bride's making herself useful as well as ornamental, is there? You will have to hurry up, all the same, Lesley: we are dreadfully late already. And it is the loveliest morning you ever saw—and the bouquets have just come from the florist—and everything is charming! I feel as if I could dance.'

But Ethel's mirth did not communicate itself to Lesley. There was nothing forced or unnatural in the young bride's happiness, but Lesley felt as if some cloud, some shadow, was in the air. Perhaps she had bad dreams. She would not damp Ethel's spirits by a word of warning, but the old aunt from the country who came to inspect her clothes as soon as she was dressed for church was not so considerate.

'You are letting your spirits run away with you, my dear,' she said, reprovingly. 'Even on a wedding day one should not be too much laughter. Tears before night when there has been laughter before breakfast, remember the proverb says.'

'Oh, what a horrid old lady!' said Ethel, brimming over with saucy laughter once more as soon as the old dame's back was turned. 'I don't care. I don't mean to be anything but a smiling bride—Oliver says that is the best woman at a wedding, and I don't mean him to see any.'

Maurice arrived just in time to dress and to escort his sister to the church. It was not he, Mrs. Durant, the confidante and house-keeper, who first received a word of warning that things were not altogether as they should be. Others besides Lesley were scenting calamity in the air. Mrs. Romaine was to form one of the wedding party. She made her appearance at a quarter to ten, beautifully dressed, but white to the lips, and with a haggard look about her eyes. As soon as she entered the room she drew Mrs. Durant aside.

'Has Oliver been sleeping here?' she asked.

'Here! Mrs. Durant's indignant accent was sufficient answer.'

'He has not been home all night,' Mrs. Romaine whispered.

'Not at home!'

'I suppose he is sleeping at his club and will come on from there,' Mrs. Romaine answered, trying to reassure herself now that she had given the alarm to another. 'Everything has been ordered—my bouquet came from him at least from the florist's this morning—and I suppose we shall find him at the church. But I have been dreadfully anxious about him—quite foolishly, I daresay. Don't say anything to anybody else.'

Mrs. Durant did no mean to say any thing, but—without exactly stating facts—she had managed in about three minutes to convey her own and Mrs. Romaine's feeling of discomfort to the whole party. The only exceptions were Maurice and Ethel, who, of course, heard nothing. A gloom fell upon the guests even while the carriages were standing at the door.

Lesley and Mrs. Romaine happened to be placed in the same carriage, facing one another. They looked at one another in silence, but with a mutual understanding that they had never felt before. Each read her own fear in the other's face. But the fear came from different sources. Lesley was afraid that Oliver had fallen ill, or unable to fulfil his engagement to Ethel, and had there severed his connection with her by flight; Rosalind feared that he had been taken ill or met with some untoward accident. Only in Rosalind's mind there was always another fear in the background where her brothers were concerned—that one or other of them would be bringing himself and her to disaster and disgrace. She had no faith in them and not much in herself.

There was no bridegroom in waiting at St. Pancras' Church. Mrs. Romaine held a hurried consultation with a friend, and a messenger was despatched to Oliver's club, where he sometimes slept, and also to the rooms he called his 'chambers' in the city. A little silence overspread the group of guests from the Kenyons' house. Other visitors, of whom there were not many, looked blithe enough; but gloom was plainly visible on the faces of the bride's and the faces of the bride's friends. And a little whisper ran from group to group—'The bridegroom has not come.

If only he would appear before the bride! There was yet time. The carriage containing Ethel and her brother had not started from the door. But the distance was short, and speedily traversed; still Oliver did not come. And there at last was the wedding-chariot with its white silk linings and the white favors on the horses—and there was the pretty, smiling bride herself upon her brother's arm. How sweet she looked as she mounted the broad grey steps, with cheeks a little rosy, eyes downcast, and her smiles half concealed beneath the costly lace in which she had veiled herself! There was never a prettier bride than Ethel Kenyon, although she had not attired herself in all the bridal finery that many women covet.

Something in the expression of the faces that met her at the church door startled her a little when she first looked up; she changed color, and glanced wondering from one to another. Some one spoke in Maurice Kenyon's ear.

'What is it?' she asked, quickly. 'Is anything wrong?'

'Oliver is late, dear, that is all. Just wait a minute—here by the door; he will be here presently.'

'Late!' re-echoed the girl, turning suddenly pale. 'Oh Maurice what do you mean? We were late too—it is a quarter past ten.'

'Hush, my darling, he will be here directly, and more distressed than any of us, no doubt.'

'I should think so,' said Ethel, trying to laugh. 'Poor Oliver! what a state he will be in!'

But the hand with which she had suddenly clutched Lesley's arm trembled, and lips were very white.

For a minute, for five, for ten minutes the bridal party waited, but Oliver did not come. A messenger came back to say that he had not been at the club since the previous day. And then Maurice's hot temper blazed up. He left his sister and spoke to his old friend, Miss Brooke.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Reduced to a Science.

The treatment of disease is now almost reduced to a science. A scientific product of medical skill or the cure of all blood diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore, which has held popular esteem for years and increases steadily in favor is Burdock Blood Bitters. Its cure proves its worth.

Chronic derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, are speedily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and restoring life and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills.

D'ALTON McCARTHY DISCLOSES HIS NEW PLATFORM.

Gives Notice of a Motion Which Inclines More to a General Reduction of the Tariff Than to Preferential Trade With Great Britain.

OTTAWA, March 3.—D'Alton McCarthy has at last taken action with respect to the tariff, and at late hour last night gives notice of the following motion:

That since the introduction of the protective system sufficient time has elapsed for the establishment and development of such manufacturing industries as under existing conditions can be successfully carried on in Canada. Moreover, many manufacturers, sheltered behind the ramparts thus erected, have formed combinations and trusts which prohibit competition and create and maintain monopolies.

That this existing tariff, defensible only as a protective measure, has proved in many instances oppressive and burdensome to the great mass of the consuming classes and especially to those engaged in agricultural pursuits, is unfair and unequal in its incidents, and has taken productive of discontent verging on disloyalty among those who suffer from its injustice.

That no adequate reason has been adduced or exists requiring investigation respecting the foregoing facts, which are notorious, or justifying, in the present stage of remedial legislation, which is imperative.

That in the opinion of this House the tariff ought to be at once amended in respect to the matters herein enumerated, and also by the substantial reduction of customs duties in favor of the United Kingdom, in which markets all Canadian products are admitted duty free, and of those nations which under treaty obligations with Great Britain would be entitled to the same advantages, gradated, however, so as not unnecessarily to prejudice the business of the country nor to do wrong to those who have mortgaged and paid duties in accordance with its provisions.

And this House declares its readiness to make a like reduction in favor of such other portions of the empire, or with such other foreign countries, especially the United States of America, as are willing to reciprocate in matters of trade with Canada on fair and equitable terms.

The greater part of the afternoon session was taken up with a discussion of Hon. Mr. Coatigan's bill to be able to give certificates to masters and mates, in which Mr. Baird and other Maritime Province members participated.

As was anticipated would be the case, Mr. Weldon's bill to disfranchise electors who have taken bribes, and which was so unexpectedly sprung in committee last night, was restored to the order paper by the House on motion of Mr. Weldon, after a short discussion, and will come up again next week.

In reply to Mr. McCarthy's enquiry as to what action had been taken by the Government with regard to the resolution of the House on the matter of establishment of agencies at Washington and other places, Hon. Mr. Foster said that while in England he and Sir John Abbott had brought the matter to the attention of Lord Rosebery, and it was found that there were existing many difficulties in the way of carrying out the proposal. There had not been any official written communication.

The bill to amend the Act to readjust the representation in the House of Commons, passed through Committee with some slight amendments, was read a third time and passed, being the first Government measure to go through this session. The bill is merely to correct errors in boundaries, which had crept into the bill last year.

Mr. Maclean (East York) asked Sir John Thompson whether he intended adding a clause redistributing the seats of Toronto on the basis of the recent municipal division of the city into six wards. Sir John reserved the right last session, when the bill went through, of reapportioning these seats any time before the next election.

Sir John said he had done nothing as yet, but an amendment might be in order later on.

After recess Mr. Foster moved the House into Committee of Supply, when Dr. Weldon took occasion to bring up the question of the Nova Scotia coal combine. He reviewed the question at great length, going over the subject with great minuteness, quoting from the different acts and charters to show the present position of affairs.

His argument was to the effect that the bargain made by Mr. Fielding with the Whitney syndicate was liable to be made to operate to the disadvantage of the whole Dominion, and that in the general interest of the Dominion it was the duty of the Government to step in and advise his Excellency to disallow the bill pressed by the local Government.

Sir John Thompson replied, denying the justness of Mr. Weldon's contention that the sister provinces of the Dominion had the right to interfere in legislation which was wholly under the jurisdiction of the local government. He said that while personally he would not approve of the bargain made by the Government of Nova Scotia, still that Government was the duly constituted authority in the province, and as they had large majorities in both Houses it was but reasonable to suppose that they represented the majority of the people of the province.

In conclusion he said that it was not incumbent on the Dominion Government to advise His Excellency to disallow the legislation of the Nova Scotia Legislature.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Kenny, McNeill, Fraser and Sir Donald Smith until midnight, when the matter dropped, and the House went into supply, passed a few items, and adjourned at 12.15.

In the Committee on Banking and Commerce this morning the bills to incorporate the Ocean Accident Corporation, the Ocean Guarantee Corporation and the Eastern Trust Co. were considered, with slight amendments and ordered to be reported to the House.

Quite a number of members of the House are receiving invitations to deliver addresses on St. Patrick's Day. Dr. Montague has been asked to go to Perth, Mr. C.R. Devlin to Toronto, and Messrs. McInerney, Adams and Bergin to Cornwall.

In the Senate Divorce Committee yesterday the Howard divorce case was concluded and ordered to be reported to the Senate. The case of Mr. Hebert against his wife, who eloped with Mr. J. S. Allan of Montreal, was then taken up and evidence was heard as to cohabitation, after which the bill was ordered to be reported.

It is said that Mr. McCarthy will not make his speech on the tariff until after Sir John Thompson leaves for England, but that the Manitoba school matter will come up next week, probably on Monday, when there will be a discussion as to the action of the Government in referring the matter to the Supreme Court.

It is understood to be definitely settled that Sir John Thompson will leave for England on the 10th inst. He will be accompanied by Lady Thompson and his two daughters and his private secretary, Mr. Douglas Stewart.

Mr. Lister last night gave notice that he will ask the Government whether it is intended to reship those Canadian shippers who had to pay tolls at the Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

VERY IMPROBABLE.

Canadians and Australians Threatening to Go To Ireland to Fight.

BOSTON, Mass., March 3.—A special to The Journal from Montreal says: "There are 20,000 Orangemen in Canada who are even now actively, though secretly, preparing to help their brethren in Ulster should the Irish Home Rule Bill pass the Commons and the Lords. Orangemen here thoroughly believe that trouble will occur in Ireland if the measure becomes law, and a prominent member of the Orange order in Quebec states that Orangemen are prepared to assist Ulster with money or with men if necessary. The different lodges all over the Dominion are in active correspondence, and a large sum of money is already subscribed.

"Negotiations have been opened with Australia, where there is a very large body of Ulster Protestants, and a contingent is expected from there to go to Ireland. Officers of the steamship companies here has been asked for rates for several thousand men. The Orange official who gave the information is employed on the Canadian Pacific Railroad and he says there are hundreds of men on the railroad eager to strike work and go to Ireland.

"What is to prevent the Irish in the States from returning to Ireland?" he was asked. He answered, "They are no good. The Orangemen in Canada would like to get at them. Of one thing there can be no doubt—the Orangemen here are willing and prepared to go to Ireland in case of trouble."

HIPPOLYTE DETERMINED

To Crush the Revolutions in Hayti. Dominicans Expelled.

NEW YORK, March 3.—A special from Kingston, Jamaica, says: News has reached here that President Hippolyte is determined to put an end to the incipient revolutions which have broken out in various sections of the black republic.

While he does not think, and this belief is shared generally by well-informed people, the troubles at all serious, he has taken precautions to suppress any outbreak. At the head of a well-equipped army he has started on a tour of the country, and it is probable that the leaders of revolutionists will not meet with any considerable degree of consideration at his hands should he fall foul of them.

A gunboat follows the coast line, within supporting distance of Hippolyte's column, so as to be able to give prompt assistance in case trouble arises in any of the coast cities.

The Dominicans who sought refuge in Hayti after the recent failure of the attempt to unseat President Hereaux have been expelled from Haytian territory. This is regarded as an indication that there has been a satisfactory arrangement made between Hippolyte and Hereaux.

A NEGRO EXODUS.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 3.—A large meeting of colored men was held here Tuesday night. Reporters were excluded, but it leaked out yesterday that a scheme looking to an exodus of the negroes from the south is being worked up, headed by men prominent among the blacks, Atlanta being the focus of the operations.

Bishop Gaines, one of the leading spirits, said: "Already 3000 negroes have gone out of this country, and the aggregate will be swelled in a short while until the number fleeing will be small. The idea does not take in any special place, but the scheme is to have the negroes scattered out all over the west on little farms of 40 acres.

"One hundred thousand negroes will leave the south in the next few months. At the meeting here 275 men paid down $2 each as the first instalment to purchase farms."

A FRIENDLY DINNER.

Harrison Will Entertain Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Friday Evening.

NEW YORK, March 3.—A despatch from Washington says that outside of the usual formal interchange of personal courtesies between an outgoing and incoming President, Gen. Harrison will exceed all precedent by giving a dinner party at the White House on Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and a few other guests. This dinner is strictly non-official and entirely personal in its character.

It is understood to be the result of certain private correspondence which has been exchanged between the President and his successor. Mr. Cleveland has been most gracious and sympathetic in private communications to the President concerning his domestic afflictions, and President Harrison has been naturally responsive.

College Burned.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 3.—The Arkansas Baptist College buildings, established here six years ago by the colored Baptists for the education of girls was burned at 2 o'clock this morning. About 20 students slept in the building, and how any escaped from the burning wooden timber box is inexplicable. All were compelled to jump and of the 26 who were badly injured two were so seriously that they will die.

Nothing was saved. Loss $8000, insurance $4000.

The office of The Arkansas Vanguard was also destroyed. The fire is believed to have been incendiary, two previous attempts to burn the college having been made.

One More Unfortunate.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Augusta Errickson, a Swedish servant, 33 years old, employed by Mrs. William Carleton of Brooklyn, threw herself before an engine on the elevated road at Third avenue and Twenty-third street last evening and was instantly killed. Her body was ground to a shapeless mass before the engine could be stopped and the blood trickled down through the sleepers to the street. The woman had been wronged.

Theatre Burned.

ANDERSON, Ind., March 3.—The Olympic Theatre was burned last evening. Loss $30,000. The theatre was used as the armory of the Columbia Rifles, which loses all its guns, etc.

Villages Swept Away.

PANAMA, March 3.—Campidan Valley, Guatemala, has been flooded. Six villages have been swept away and hundreds of people are reported drowned.

A Man Made Happy.

GENTLEMEN,—For five years I had been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only a drag to me. When I would go to bed I would have horrible dreams, and my head became very miserable, as there was no rest day or night. But with the use of two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can sleep well, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the curative qualities of the medicine, that was so well adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine liked them very much, and she could scarcely eat anything and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and I would have her call at the office of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your med cine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim.

Dangerous.

If we were allowed to look into the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how different would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. Whatfollow a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this complaint. One of the most effectual medicines for all throat and lung troubles, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It loosens the phlegm and raw expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system

They also contain roots and herbs which have specific virtues truly wonderful in their action on the stomach and bowels. Mr. R. A. IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

REDMOND SHOWED FIGHT IN A HEATED DEBATE.

The Objectionable Statement That the Irish Members Are Always in Sympathy With "Murderers—No Security For Life and Property.

OTTAWA, March 3.—In the Commons yesterday T. W. Russell, Liberal-Unionist for South Tyrone, moved to adjourn in order to direct attention to the statement of Justice O'Brien at the opening of the Munster Assizes, that such lawlessness prevailed in County Clare that there was no security of life and property.

A heated debate followed. Mr. Morley, Irish Secretary, and several Irish members denounced the Judge's statement as a misrepresentation of the facts for political purposes. Not only had there been no increase of crime in County Clare under the present Government, they contended, but on the contrary a slight but steady decrease.

Mr. Balfour, leader of the Unionists, questioned the correctness of this assertion. The Government, he said, had deliberately shut their eyes to a series of the most dastardly crimes that had ever disgraced Ireland.

Col. Saunderson, the champion of the men of Ulster, supported Mr. Balfour, and denounced the Irish members as defenders of persistent criminals. He said that they were always in sympathy with murderers.

William Redmond, Parnellite leader, challenged Col. Saunderson, amid Irish cheers and Opposition laughter, to repeat these words outside the House.

Col. Saunderson offered to repeat them anywhere.

Before the vote the Opposition whips were busy bringing in every available member, as they hoped to be able to take the Government by surprise with an adverse majority.

The division, however, resulted in the defeat of Mr. Russell's motion by 200 to 216. The announcement of the figures evoked loud Liberal cheers.

TORIES SURPRISED.

Lord Randolph Churchill Defends Ireland's School System.

LONDON, March 3.—Lord Frederick Hamilton, Conservative member of Parliament for North Tyrone, in a speech yesterday the second reading of the Irish Education bill urged that the Irish Board of Education ought to be controlled by Parliament in justice to the minority in Ireland. He called attention to the fact that it is the only board of the kind in the Kingdom not amenable to Parliamentary control.

Thomas Sexton, Nationalist member for North Kerry, contended that nobody suffered under the existing system of educational control in Ireland. He moved that the bill be read a second time six months from date.

T. W. Russell (Liberal Unionist), member for South Tyrone, argued that the state schools ought to be as free and open in the United Kingdom as in the United States. In Irish and Protestant children attending Catholic schools had to conform to Roman Catholic practices. [Irish laughter and cries of dissent.]

Lord Randolph Churchill made an unexpected attack on the Conservatives. He said the action of "the honorable and noble gentlemen" who had assailed the Irish educational system was illogical. That Board of Education had been in existence 70 years, and had administered the system well. It was absurd to embarrass the operations of the board by needless Parliamentary control. The board had not menaced religious freedom. He believed that the real object of those who assailed it was to prevent the Christian Brothers from sharing in the state grant as proposed. Lord Randolph paid a high tribute to the educational work of the Christian Brothers.

Chief Secretary Morley denounced the supporters of the bill for importing sectarianism into a party debate. He earnestly defended the Board of Education.

The motion for the second reading of the bill was rejected by a vote of 247 to 166.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, MARCH 3.

Institute Notes.

(From the Canadian Mute.)

The pupils are beginning to talk about going home.

Mrs. Terrill, one of the teachers, was not teaching for several days lately, on account of having a sore foot. Mr. O'Meara filled the vacancy in the class room. We are glad to say she is back again.

On Monday, 20th ult., Charles Holton brought up a photograph of Sir John Thompson and his Cabinet Ministers. He received it from Hon. M. Bowell, his grandfather. We were very much pleased to see it.

On Wednesday, Dr. Scott, accompanied by Mrs. Scott, Miss Cathcrall, and Mr. J. F. Scott, visited our Institution. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are under appointment as missionaries, where they are going to take charge of an hospital. Miss Cathcrall is one of the officers in the Marchmont Home. Mr. J. F. Scott is a student of Knox College, and expects to graduate at next examination.

There were many sars, cheeks and noses frost bitten on the 17th ult. The good ice and strong breeze tempted the boys and girls to brave the cold on the bay too long.

We regret to note the death of Dr. Jno. S. Livingstone, son of our former bursar, the late Archibald Livingstone, which occurred at St. Edwards, Nebraska, U.S., on the 22nd of February. His demise was the result of grippe, contracted last winter. He was about thirty seven years of age, a graduate of Queen's University, and had been practising in Nebraska for about five years.

Commendable Enterprise.

The Metropolitan, of Montreal, is forging ahead by leaps and bounds. The publishers assure us that the success of the paper is far in excess of their expectations. As evidence of this is to be seen in the deterioration to run copyright serial stories in their pages. Their first venture of this kind will be "The Hunting Girl," a novel from the cultured pen of Mrs Edward Kennard, which they have exclusively secured at a heavy outlay. This story commences on Saturday, March 4, and will run for about 12 or 15 numbers. The Metropolitan will be sent while it continues to any address for 50 cts., or for one year for $2.00. Both from a literary and typographical point of view the Metropolitan is a credit to Canadian journalism. Many of the best writers in the Dominion are regular contributors to its columns. Sample copies on application. Address Smith & Chambers, 588 Craig street, Montreal.

AMUSEMENTS

A Fine Vaudeville Show.

Gus Hill's New York Vaudeville Stars appeared at the Queen's opera house last evening and gave a first class performance. The juggling, contortion and acrobatic feats of the three Donazettas were remarkable. The Ethiopian comedy of Emerson and Cook was original and in their songs they created many a hearty laugh. Miss Maud Beverly in her vocal presentations was capital and she proved herself a favorite. The other features of the aggregation were also good and novel.

DEATH OF J. M. FERRIS.

The Ex-M.P.P. for East Northumberland Joins the Majority.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., March 3.—Mr. J. M. Ferris, ex M.P.P., one of the oldest, best known and most highly respected citizens, died this afternoon. He represented the East Riding of Northumberland many years in the Local Legislature as a Liberal. At one time he was spoken of for the position of Treasurer of the Province, in the Mowat Administration. Prior to this, he was Reeve of Seymour and Warden of Northumberland and Durham. He was also a member of the firm of J. M. Ferris & Co., leading dry goods merchants, a Director of the Grand Junction Railway, and one of the founders and pillars of the Methodist church here. His death is a distinct loss to the community. The deceased was about 64 years of age, and leaves a wife and a grown up family of three sons and two daughters to mourn his loss.

Look Here.

Do you feel blue and despondent? Do pains tack and tear away at your nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief? If so, go at once to any drug store and buy a bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline never fails to relieve neuralgia, cramps, headache, rheumatism, and all internal or external pains. J. B. Carman, druggist, Mt. Morris, Ont., writes: "All parties I supply speak very favorably of Nerviline, and always purchase a second lot." Polson's Nerviline is sold in bottles at 25 cts.—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on your coat or lapel of the same time. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is as it claims the most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, fills true the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

A DEFAULTER ARRESTED.

THE DETECTIVES OF TORONTO CAUGHT HIM BY A FLUKE.

He Sent the Detectives To a Chum to Prove That He Was An Honest Man, and As a Result He Is Now Held on a Charge of Stealing His Employers.

TORONTO, March 3.—Detectives Davis and Cuddy arrested a stranger yesterday afternoon, whose actionsthey considered sufficiently suspicious to warrant them in taking this step.

Upon arrival at Headquarters he gave his name as Harry Bowman and his residence as 24 Elizabeth-street, where he stated his chum, Brown, would be found to give him a good character.

The chum, on the appearance of the detectives, denied that his name was Brown, asserting that it was Dragavinski. His accent backed up this assertion so forcibly as to convince the detectives that he spoke the truth. He also stated that Bowman's real name was Moore. The ample confession he then made may have been good for his soul, but it was rather hard on his chum, inasmuch as he stated that Moore is the absconding bookkeeper from the furniture store of Sawerts & Co., Broadway and Park-avenue, Brooklyn. Moore enticed him to come to Canada with him and paid his fare.

Sgt. Reburn communicated with the Brooklyn police authorities to ascertain if Moore is "wanted" by them.

Dragavinski was not detained.

ONTARIO'S HEALTH.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Provincial Board.

TORONTO, March 3.—Dr. Cassidy presided at the meetings yesterday of the Provincial Board of Health. He produced a letter from the New York Filter Company offering to supply for the city's use a Hyatt filtering plant that would filter 18,000,000 gallons of water per day for the sum of $180,000, including buildings. It was this system which Dr. Cassidy had on the previous day so strongly advocated.

The Chairman again adverted to the danger of cholera appearing in Canada and to the risks run by drinking impure water. He hoped the city would be willing to provide the funds necessary for this system of filtration, which had proved so successful at St. Thomas and in American cities and in which he had full confidence.

Communications were read from Kincardine, Bobcaygeon and other places giving particulars of outbreaks of diphtheria. Other letters testified to the prevalence of smallpox in the border States. In view of these unsatisfactory conditions local boards of health are to be strongly urged to use all the means at their command to stamp out disease where it exists and to prevent its recurrence.

The council of the Association of Executive Health Officers, who transacted formal business yesterday, waited on the Provincial Board in the afternoon. The business was not of public interest.

To-day the Provincial Board will wait on the Ontario Government and urge the necessity for their immediate action in issuing the order-in-council relative to the amended regulations respecting cholera.

This will conclude the quarterly business of the board.

ORANGEMEN MEET.

The Men of Ulster Declare Their Readiness to Fight.

BELFAST, March 3.—More than 5000 persons were present at the great Orange meeting yesterday. Dr. Kane, who presided, said that Ulster was prepared to defend herself to the last against the proposals of the Home Rule Bill. The men of Ulster need not feel, however, that they would be alone and unaided in the fight for their liberties. They had the sympathies of Englishmen of all classes throughout the world. He had received letters from military and police officers in England and Ireland, and telegrams from Canada and Australia, promising co-operation with the men of Ulster if the latter resorted to arms to defend their liberties against the tyranny of their historic foes. A hundred thousand Orangemen were ready to resist to the death the Home Rule bill.

William Johnston, M.P. for South Belfast, who called the meeting, concluded a violent speech by swearing on a Bible that he would never submit to the laws of a Dublin Parliament.

Dr. Kane then tore to pieces and threw to the floor a copy of the Home Rule bill and the meeting adjourned.

This evening the effigies of Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Morley were burned in High-street in the presence of a cheering crowd of thousands.

A SYSTEMATIC PLOT

To Hunt Monster Clemenceau Out [of Public Life.

LONDON, March 3.—The Paris correspondent of The Times says: The recondescence of Panama revelations shows a systematic plot to hunt M. Clemenceau out of public life. It appears now likely to succeed.

French detectives have concentrated their efforts in their search of Arton upon the movements of the Viennese music hall singer, who was his supposed mistress. The lady, when interviewed, declared she had been offered large bribes, but would not betray Arton, with whom she has been in constant communication.

Arton, she said, did not fear arrest, as he was an accomplished linguist and actor; was an adept at disguising himself, and had even traveled and talked with detectives who were searching for him. At the same time she expressed surprise at the anxiety to arrest, as he possessed papers which would greatly embarrass the authorities.

Their Usefulness Gone.

LONDON, March 3.—Minister Lincoln is preparing to forward his resignation on March 4, upon the inauguration of President Cleveland.

Despatches from Rome, St. Petersburg and Berlin are to the effect that Mr. Potter, American Minister to Italy; Mr. White, American Minister to Russia; and Mr. Phelps, American Minister to the German Empire, are attending in their respective offices. All of the resignations, including that of Mr. Lincoln, to take effect upon the arrival of their successors.

Talmage Will Stay.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The rumor that Dr. Talmage is about to resign the pastorate of the Brooklyn Tabernacle was denied emphatically by the doctor himself last night. He said he preferred Brooklyn to any other city for a place of residence and did not expect to leave it. The Tabernacle was threatened by a most serious exigency, but he hoped and believed the trouble would be triumphantly overcome.

Liquor in Dakota.

BISMARCK, N.D., March 3.—The liquor question will not be submitted to the people of North Dakota for at least two years. The House passed a re-submission resolutions, but the Senate yesterday sent it to the Temperance Committee, which practically kills it.

The Strangler Won.

President Harrison.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Harrison yesterday accepted a professorship in the Leland Stanford University of California. He will deliver a series of lectures on constitutional law, commencing in October next.

DOMINION GRANGE.

They Pass a Number of Resolutions in Favor of Tariff Reform.

TORONTO, March 3.—The delegates to the Dominion Grange concluded their annual session yesterday. They decided to petition the Dominion Government to remove the duty on Indian corn for feeding purposes so as to place farmers on an equal footing with distillers in the matter of stock raising. They will also ask to have the duty on coal oil reduced to three cents per gallon and the duty on agricultural machinery to 15 per cent. They are anxious to have binder twine admitted free of duty and postage on letters reduced to two cents per ounce. They will memorialize the Ontario Government to introduce a bill at the coming session for the reduction of the number of county councillors, and will ask that the Game Law be amended so that the Cottontail rabbit may be killed as a nuisance, and that quail may not be killed, caught or sold, because it is the farmers' best friend. The Ontario Government will also be asked to refuse grants to those agricultural fairs which have side shows and balloon ascensions on the grounds.

The bicycle and its rider are looked upon by the farmer as an intolerable nuisance. Last night all sorts of propositions were brought forward for its restriction or total extinction. The resolution that finally passed was one asking the Ontario Government to declare that every cyclist must wear a registered number on his cap so that he may be held responsible in case of runaway accidents.

The officers elected for next year are: Master, Peter Hopenstall of Fordwich; Overseer, Dawson Kennedy of Peterboro; Secretary, R. Wilkie, Blenheim; Treasurer, George Hood, Pomona; Lecturer, D. G. Mackenzie, Clinton; Chaplain, J. H. B. Moore, Sarnia; Steward, James Skeoch, Corrona; Assistant, John Cowan of Vine; Gatekeeper, Lyman Henry of Sombra. The Executive Committee will consist of Henry Glendinning of Manilla, John Robinson of Middlemarch and Master Hopenstall. The auditors are J. N. Kaiser of Raper and James Follis of Newbridge.

The members of the executive, the master and the secretary and Dawson Kennedy were appointed representatives of the order in Canada at the World's Fair.

The Grange will meet in Toronto in 1894.

A deputation was appointed at the meeting of the Patrons of Industry yesterday to wait on the Ontario Government to ascertain what policy would be pursued with regard to the new binder twine industry at the Central Prison. The Patrons are anxious to know what change the Government will impose for their manufactured article.

A committee was appointed to meet similar committees from the Grange and the Trades and Labor Council, and with them to draft a platform on which the three bodies might agree and co-operate for their common interests.

The session will be continued each day and evening this week.

IN HIGH SOCIETY.

Lady Walden Charged With Breaking Her Marriage Vows.

LONDON, March 3.—The De Walden divorce case came up yesterday in the Divorce and Probate Division of the Queen's Bench as the cause célèbre of the year. Lady Howard De Walden brings the action for the divorce and her husband has answered with a cross petition. Howard is a man of very large wealth and is one of the great ground landlords of London.

London aristocratic society has always taken a lively interest in the rather startling domestic differences of the De Waldens, and popular sympathy has oscillated between them.

In his opening address for her ladyship Sir Henry James detailed various acts of cruelty which Lady De Walden charged against her husband. Sir Henry stated that his lordship had frequently abused his wife's parents and had accused her of theft. He had twisted her arm and forced her on her knees and thrown a heavy book at her in the presence of Major Graham, who intercepted the missile.

His Lordship had also struck his wife with a hair brush, drawing blood. He had also struck her with his fists, looked the doors upon her and threatened to shoot her. He frequently returned home drunk and vomited in bed, and developed filthy and beggarly habits, preventing Lady Blanche from sleeping with him.

In June, 1888, the pair mutually agreed to separate, His Lordship agreeing to make an allowance to her ladyship of £300 yearly. His Lordship afterward gradually withdrew their son, Thomas Evelyn, born in 1880, from the control of her ladyship, and withdrew the allowance in April, 1891.

NO IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Proposal to Enlist Canadians in the Imperial Service.

LONDON, March 3.—Those members of the Imperial Federation League who are most prominently connected with the movement regret the division of the Government, as foreshadowed in Lord Rosebery's speech Wednesday night.

That decision is to the effect that the Australian depression and the Home Rule excitement make it undesirable to summon just now another Colonial Conference to discuss the creation of a Council of Defence and other points in that connection.

The Daily News says that Lord Rosebery's words were those of common sense and wisdom.

The St. James Gazette says: "Let us wait till the real occasion arises for the conference. Meanwhile why not cultivate the imperial spirit by placing an imperial naval training ship for boys at Halifax and sending an imperial recruiting sergeant on the rounds from Quebec and Montreal in order to encourage educated Canadians to become officers."

The Pall Mall Gazette alone disagrees and says the question of a second conference should not be allowed to drop.

Chinese Handing in Their Names.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 3.—The Chinese are at last beginning to register, says Inspector McComb, registration officer. "We are now receiving about ten applications daily, and I am informed by the Chinese that the number will increase very rapidly. Many merchants who are not required to register are doing so to avoid the annoyance of investigation later."

What He Wanted.

A confirmed old bachelor of most exemplary habits, living in his own house in Detroit, recently advertised for a "nice girl." He received many letters, "nice" usually signifying "rich," and after looking about right, he invited the writer to call and a very substantial woman of forty responded.

"You see," he explained, "I want a good, thrifty, careful woman in my house."

"I understand," she replied.

"She must cook, wash and iron, clean up the house, attend to my clothes, sew on buttons, do repairing, do the marketing, attend the door, pay the bills as they come in and kindle my fire in the morning."

"Oh!" she said, as she rose to depart, "you don't want a hired girl; what you want is a wife." "Good morning" and she very politely and pleasantly walked out.—Philadelphia Times.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and sure cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for cleaning up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

CENTRAL ONTARIO RY.

A SUBSIDY ASKED FOR THE EXTENSION OF THIS LINE.

Addresses Made in Parliament by Messrs. H. Corby and A. W. Carscallen in Support of the Motion.

From the Empire parliamentary report of Thursday we gather the following in reference to the extension of the Central Ontario Railway:

Mr. Corby moved for copies of all correspondence and memorials to the Government since 1888 urging the federal subsidy to the Central Ontario, to enable that company to extend its line from Coe Hill north ward. This was a matter, he said, which was very important to his constituency. They were anxious that this line should be extended nor hward as it would develop large mineral and timber resources. What the Central Ontario Railway Company was asking for was a revote of $3,200 per mile and an extra subsidy of $2,800 per mile for 20 miles from Coe Hill to Bancroft. The company has constructed and has now in operation 115 miles of railway between Picton and Coe Hill, constructed at a cost of nearly $2,000,000. They had shown their good faith in the enterprise by expending this large sum, and they had built this road without any assistance from the Dominion Parliament. He explained that on that part running between Trenton and Picton the company had received from the Ontario Government and the municipalities through which the road passed $155,000, but the road from Trenton to Coe Hill, a distance of 72 miles, had been built without receiving a dollar from the Dominion Parliament. The company wished to ex tend their line nor th ward, connecting with the C.P.R., in the neighborhood of Mattawa, and thence via the C.P.R to Sudbury. This extension would cost about $15,000 per mile. It would shorten the distance from Trenton to Sudbury by 150 miles, and ore could be shipped from Sudbury via Trenton and the Murray canal to Charlotte at 25 cents per ton. It would cost about 75 cents per ton to Cleveland via this route. They could bring in return coal at about the same rate per ton. He reminded the House that there was an unlimited power at Trenton, by means of which the iron ore could be separated from the rock, thereby making a large saving in the cost of shipping the ore from Trenton to Charlotte or Cleveland. They expect that the Cleveland Administration would take the duty off iron ore. If this was done there was no reason why there should not be smelting works and rolling mills established at Trenton. (Hear, hear.) At the present time the Americans were experimenting with the electric process, and if the process proved feasible, that power at Trenton would be most valuable for the establishment of rolling mills. He then read a report signed by Mr. T. L. Bolter, civil engineer, in which this gentleman described the valuable mineral deposits in that fine hardwood district, through which the proposed extension of the Central Ontario would pass. He hoped the government would grant this application for the revote. (Hear, hear.)

A Maiden Speech.

Mr. Carscallen, who arose to make his maiden speech, was received with great cheering by the occupants of the Government benches. The road proposed, he said, particularly interested the constituency he represented, North Hastings. He felt it incumbent upon himself to endorse every word that Mr. Corby had said, and also to urge upon the Government the necessity for the proposed extension. As had already been stated, the construction of this road would open up one of the most valuable mineral deposits in Canada. There were in that district large deposits of iron ore, gold ore, mica, and other valuable minerals, which were now lying idle for want of transportation—the only thing needed in order to have these deposits developed. The proposed extension would also assist the settlers in that district to get to the markets of the front with their valuable timbers, such as oak, ash, maple, and other hardwoods, which under present circumstances were wasting their time only to be burned. (Hear, hear.) What was most directly in the interest of the settlers there was the development of the cheese and cattle industries. The cheese factories already established there had to haul their produce 30 and 40 miles over rough roads, to a shipping point. Thus the House could readily understand the necessity for the road. It was in 1885 that the Government granted a bonus of $3,200 per mile to build this branch, but for some reason known to the owners of the railroad, the bonus had been allowed to lapse. The people asked it now, and they confidently expected a renewal of that grant. (Hear, hear.)

The motion passed.

THE PROPOSED SMELTING WORKS.

Mr. Rathbun Says Deseronto is the Only Place Thought of.

In answer to a letter Mr. E. W. Rathbun writes the INTELLIGENCER, in reference to the smelting works: "We have not given serious thought to any other place than Deseronto in connection with the enterprise named. We do not know of any authority for the reports to which you refer."

AN ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

MR. MICHAEL DOHERTY CUTS HIS THROAT WITH A PEN KNIFE.

The Victim a Man Over 90 Years of Age—He Inflicts Two Wounds Which are not Necessarily Fatal—Old Age and Despondency Supposed to be the Cause.

A report was freely circulated about the city this morning that Philip Flegler, an engineer on the Grand Trunk Railway, who resides on the west side of Bleecker Avenue, near the G.T.R. station had committed suicide by cutting his throat. A representative of the INTELLIGENCER learned that the report was false in reference to Mr. Flegler being the victim, but an attempt at suicide had taken place at his residence. Mr. Michael Doherty, an old man over 90 years of age, has resided at Mr. Flegler's place for some time, being the grandfather of Mrs. Flegler. On account of old age and trouble the aged man has for some time been in a melancholy mood. Whilst in a fit of despondency he conceived the idea of taking his life, and at about 7 o'clock this a.m. he attempted it by cutting his throat. The instrument used was a jackknife. With it he inflicted two ugly gashes, one under the right ear being about 3 inches in length and another under the left ear, being about 2 inches long. He did not, however, cut deep enough to sever the jugular vein or any of the main arteries. Mr. Flegler, who arose at a few minutes before 8 o'clock was the first to discover that something was wrong. Upon the floor and bed were spots of blood, and upon investigation, the would-be suicide was found lying upon the floor of another room, with blood flowing freely from the wounds made. Dr. Gibson was hastily summoned, and the unfortunate man was attended to. The gashes were sewed up, stopping the flow of blood. Although quite weak from the shock and loss of blood, the Dr. gave it as his opinion that he would recover, the only danger to be feared being blood poisoning.

Mr. Doherty has resided in this city for a great many years, and was known to a large number of its residents. Although he has acted somewhat strangely of late, it was not surmised that he would attempt to kill himself. On account of his extreme age, the shock may prove to be more than he is able to bear, and cause death. He has a number of relatives living in this city and other sections of the country.

WILL GO TO OTTAWA.

To Protest Against the Absorption of the Grand Trunk Railway.

The committee which met in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon to take action in reference to the absorption of the Grand Junction Railway by the Grand Trunk—which bill was to come before the Railway committee at Ottawa to-day—received a telegram from H. Corby, M.P., stating that he had been able to get a further postponement until Tuesday next. Mayor Wallbridge, City Solicitor Henderson and Ald. Ponton, chairman of the railway and industrial committee, were appointed a committee to represent the city's interests before the railway committee.

In consideration of $150,000 bonus from Belleville the southern terminus of the Grand Junction was to be at Belleville where the repair shops were also to be located. The city had six directors on the board and special rates as to the carrying of cord wood. With the absorption of the line by the Grand Trunk, Belleville's right to representation ceases.

THE MARKET FEES.

Patrons of the Belleville Market Complain of Exhorbitant Charges.

The market committee at 3 p.m. yesterday had a conference with Messrs. J. M. Hurley and John Holgate, who were appointed by the county council, in reference to the re-adjustment of the market fees. W. H. Biggar, M.P.P., was also present on behalf of the county. City Solicitor Henderson and Mayor Wallbridge represented the city. A good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed by farmers who patronize the Belleville market on account of inadequate accomodation. Farmers also complain that exhorbitant fees are charged. The market committee promised to look into the objections and if any existed to rectify them.

GORDON SHARP PLEADS GUILTY

Judgment in the Case Reserved Until Wednesday Next.

Gordon Sharp, who was arrested on Saturday night at Trenton, on the charge of entering his mother-in-law's residence, at Frankford, on September last and stealing therefrom $90, was brought before the P. M. this morning. Mr. C. D. Macaulay appeared for the accused and Mr. L. H. Henderson, city solicitor, appeared on behalf of the crown. Mr. Macaulay pleaded as to where the money was kept, and the manner in which Sharp entered the house. After some argument between the counsels, Mr. Macaulay entered a plea of guilty. Judgment was reserved until Wednesday.

FIRE AT WALKERVILLE.

A Residence With Most of its Contents Destroyed—No Insurance.

On Sunday night last the residence of Mr. Jamieson Stewart, of Walkerville, near L'Amable, in Hastings county, was totally destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire was a defective stove pipe. Mrs. Stewart was sick in bed and Mr. Stewart away when the fire broke out, but she got out safely and some of the contents of the house were saved by the neighbors. There was no insurance.

HEAVY SUITS DISMISSED.

Does This Settle the Quarrel Between the Parties?

A letter from Cleveland, Ohio, says that "The suits of S. J. Ritchie against the Canadian Copper Co. and the Anglo American Iron Co. for the dissolution of these corporations, were dismissed in court for want of prosecution. The attorney and officers of the two companies were present ready for trial, but neither Mr. Ritchie nor his attorney was present. Mr. Ritchie is now another part of the court house, and when a messenger from the Judge informed him that the cases must be tried, he (the attorney) ordered them dismissed."

Sporting Notes.

"Dave" Blanchard, of Boston, who is acting as temporary stake holder in the match between Charlie Mitchell and Jim Corbett, deposited the entire amount of the stake money, $20,000, in two banks yesterday.

W. D. McRae, owner of Minnie, and Mr. Black, of Gananoque, owner of Frank L., have each deposited $200 for a race. Mr. Black wants the race pulled at Gananoque, but Mr. McRae thinks Kingston or Sydenham is good enough for him.

John L. Sullivan declares that if Mitchell is in good condition he will beat Corbett. The Irish is father to the thought with John L. Most men hope to see their conquerors defeated.

Get City Snow Plows.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—Some of the property holders on Bridge street west and Commercial street seem to have a great antipathy to snow shovels, as their sidewalks have never been cleared the entire winter. The unwary pedestrian now stands in great danger of coming to grief on their slippery surfaces and discovering unheard of planets, if not also suffering dislocation or broken bones. Is there a snow by-law? Does it apply to aldermen and ex-aldermen? Why does not the city hire men with snow-plows and shovels to keep the principal streets open and oblige the property owners to pay so much per winter.

A RESIDENT.

The Snow By-law not Enforced.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—Might I have a little space in your widely circulated newspaper, to make known what I consider a grievance! namely the state of the sidewalks in West Belleville, especially on such a public street as Bridge street west. Some householders in that locality, who are women, in terror of police men and fines, as well as in care for the aged and infirm, have their sidewalks clear to the boards the whole winter, while men in the same neighborhood allow their sidewalks to remain clothed in ice and snow. I cannot understand why this is, and why all are not treated alike by the officers of the law.

G.T.R. Entertainment.

During the first week in April the Grand Trunk Railway employees will give their annual concert, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the library fund. This promises to be the finest concert of the season. Due notice will be given later.

The farmers say that the coming spring will be a great season for sugar making. It is well known to those who have engaged in that business that a good season always follows a winter that furnishes abundance of cold weather. The maple sap is always sweeter after a period of intense frost, and furnishes a larger percentage of sugar. Not only that but the trees yield a better quality of sap after a cold winter than they do after a winter that has frequent thaws and periods of warm weather.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'Do not let Ethel make herself a laughing stock,' he said. 'The man insults us by being late, and shall account to me for it, but she must be got out of this somehow. Can't you take her away?'

'Let her go to the vestry,' said Miss Brooke. 'You had better not take her away just yet—look at the crowd outside. I will get Lesley to persuade her.'

Ethel made no opposition. She went quietly into the vestry, and sat down on a seat that was offered to her, waiting in silence, asking no questions. Then there was a short period of whispered consultation, of terrible suspense. She herself did not know whether this time was short or long. She could not hear even Leslie's arm around her, or the support of Maurice's brotherly hand. Harry Duchesne's dark face in the background seemed in some inexplicable sort of way the worst of all. For she knew that he loved and admired her, and she was ashamed by a recreant lover before his very eyes.

After a time Maurice was called out. A policeman in plain clothes wanted to speak to him. They had five minutes' conference together, and then the young doctor returned to the room where Ethel was still sitting. His face was as white as that of his sister now, and she was the first to remark the change.

'You have have heard something,' she said, springing to her feet and fixing her great dark eyes upon his face.

'Yes, Ethel, my poor darling, yes. Come home with me.'

'Not till you tell me the truth.'

'Not here, my darling—wait till we get home. Come at once.'

'I must know, Maurice; I cannot bear to wait. Is he—is he—dead?'

He would gladly have refused to answer, but his pallid lips spoke for him. And from another group a shriek rang out from the lips of Rosalind Romaine—a shriek that told her all.

'Dead! Murdered! Oh, no, no—it cannot be!' cried Oliver's sister. 'Not dead! not dead!'

She fell back in violent hysterics, but Ethel neither wept nor cried aloud. She stood erect, her head a little higher, than usual, a smile that might almost be called a gay one playing her lips.

'You see,' she said, unsteadily, but very clearly; 'you see—it was not his fault. He would have come—if he had been alive.'

And then, still smiling, she gave her hand to her brother and let him lead her away. Before she had crossed the threshold of the room, he was obliged to support her in his arms to save her from falling, and it was in his arms that she was carried back to the carriage which she had left so smilingly.

But for those who were left behind there was more bad news to hear. In London no secret can be kept even from the ears of those whose hearts breaks to hear it. Before noon the newsboys were crying in the streets—

And everywhere the name bandied from pillar to post was that of Caspar Brooke, who had been arrested on suspicion of having caused the death of Oliver Trent.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

IN ETHEL'S ROOM.

To those who knew Caspar Brooke best, it seemed ridiculously impossible that he should be accused of any act of violence. But the accusation was made with so much circumstantial detail that no course seemed open to the police but to arrest him with as little delay possible. And before the ill-fated wedding party had been dispersed, before Miss Brooke could hurry home, and long before Lesley suspected the terror that was in store for her, he had been taken by two policemen in plain clothes to the Bow Street police station.

The full extent of the misfortune did not burst upon Doctor Sophy all at once, when she left the church the accusation was not publicly known, and as she walked home she reflected on the accusation she must give her brother on the extraordinary events of the day. She wished he had been present and wondered why he had shirked the invitation which had been sent him by Ethel. He was not usually out of bed at this hour, but she resolved to go to his room and tell him the story at once, for, though he had never cared much for poor Oliver Trent, he had always been fond of Ethel. Lesley had gone to the Kenyons' house at Maurice's earnest request, and would not be back for some time.

She opened the door with her latch-key, and, to her great surprise, was confronted at once, by Sarah, her face swollen and her eyes red with weeping.

'Sarah! why—have you heard the dreadful news already?' said Miss Brooke, quickly.

'Have you heard it, is more the question I'm thinking,' said Sarah, grimly.

'Of course you mean—about poor Mr. Trent?'

'More than that, ma'am. However, here's a letter from master to you, and that'll tell you more than I can do.' And Sarah handed a note to her mistress, and retired to the back hall, sniffing audibly.

Miss Brooke walked into the drawing-room and opened the note. Caspar had gone out, she gathered from the fact of his having written to her at all; perhaps he had heard about Oliver Trent's death and had gone to offer his services to Maurice, or to assist in discovering the murderer. So she thought to herself; and then she began to read the note.

In another minute Sarah heard a strange muffled cry, and running into the room found Miss Brooke lying and sunk down on the sofa, and was trembling in every limb. Her brother's letter was crushed within her hand.

'What does it mean, Sarah!—what does it mean!' she stammered, with a face as white and eyes as terror stricken that Sarah took her to task at once.

'It means that, ma'am, that's all it means. Why, you ain't going to be put about by that, I hope, when master himself says—as he said to me—that he'd be home afore night! I'm ashamed of you, looking as pale as you do, and you a doctor and all!'

'Did he say to you he would be home before night?' said Miss Brooke collecting herself a little, but still looking very white.

Sarah took a step nearer to her, and spoke in a low voice. 'Nobody else in the house knows where he's gone,' she said, 'but I know where, for master called me himself, and told me what they wanted him for. It was two men in plain clothes, and there was a policeman on the box. Of course it's all a mistake, Sarah, he said to me, as light-hearted as you please, and don't let Miss Lesley or your Missus be anxious. I dare say I shall be back in an hour or two. And then he asked the men if he might write a note, and they let him, though they read it as he wrote, the nasty wretches!—and Sarah snorted contemptuously, while she wiped away a tear from her left eye with her apron.

'But it is so extraordinary—so ridiculous!' said Miss Brooke. And then with a little more color in her face, she read the letter over again.

It consisted only of these words—

"Dear Sophy,—Don't worry yourself. The police have got it into their wise heads that I had something to do with poor Trent's tragic end. I dare say I shall be back soon, but I must go and hear what they've got to say. Take care of Desley.—C. B."

'Take care of Lesley. As if she wanted taking care of!' said Miss Brooke, with sudden energy. 'Sarah, go over at once to Mr. Kenyon's, and tell Miss Lesley to come home. She can't stay there while this is going on. It isn't decent.'

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Reduced to a Science.

The treatment of disease is now almost reduced to a science. A scientific product of medical skill for the cure of all blood diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore, which has held popular esteem for years and increases steadily in favor is Burdock Blood Bitters. Its cure proves its worth.

Chronic derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Blood, are speedily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Burdock Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and restoring life and vitality to the afflicted. With the great record of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills,

INTENSE SUFFERING!

Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable. They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door,

Not a Particle.

A feature worth noticing in regard to Burdock Blood Bitters is that it does not contain one particle of poisonous matter. It cures quickly and without the use of any injurious ingredients. B.B.B. is a purely vegetable specific for dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood, headache, biliousness and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

A Man Made Happy.

GENTLEMEN,—For five years I had been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only a drag to me. When I would go to bed I would have terrible dreams, and my life became very miserable as there was no rest day or night. But with the use of two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the curative qualities of the medicine, that are especially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim.

If we were allowed to look into the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how different would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this complaint. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

As Parmelee's Vegetable Pills contain Mandrake and Dandelion, they cure Liver and Kidney complaints with unerring certainty. They also contain roots and herbs which have specific virtues truly wonderful in their action on the stomach and bowels. Mr. E. A. Cairncross, Shakespear, writes: "I consider Parmelee's Pills an excellent remedy for biliousness and derangement of the liver, having used them myself for some time."

AT THE TABERNACLE.

"AS A HEN GATHERETH HER CHICKENS UNDER HER WINGS."

Text of Dr. Talmage's Sunday Morning Sermon—He Complains That Certain Advertisers Have Been Using His Name Without Authority.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 26.—Previous to the sermon in the Brooklyn tabernacle this morning Rev. Dr. Talmage, in giving out a number of notices, dwelt upon the fact that certain picture makers of Brooklyn had used his name as a reference in their advertisements and circulars without his authority. Thousands of letters of complaint have come to him in this respect, and he wanted it distinctly understood that he knew nothing of these people or their business methods. The text selected for the morning sermon was Matthew xxiii, 37, "As a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not."

WHY THIS SIMILE?

Jerusalem was in sight as Christ came to the crest of Mount Olivet, a height of 700 feet. The splendors of the religious capital of the whole earth irradiated the landscape. There is the temple. Yonder is the king's palace. Spread out before his eyes are the pomp, the wealth, the wickedness and the coming destruction of Jerusalem, and he bursts into tears at the thought of the obduracy of a place that he would gladly have saved, and apostrophizes, saying, "O, Jerusalem, Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!"

Why did Christ select hen and chickens as a simile? Next to the appositeness of the comparison I think it was to help all public teachers in the matter of illustration to get down off their stilts and use comparisons that all can understand. The plainest bird on earth is the barnyard fowl. Its only adornments are the red comb in its headdress and the wattles under the throat. It has no grandeur of genealogy. All we know is that its ancestors came from India, some of them from a height of 4,000 feet on the sides of the Himalayas. It has no pretension of rest like the eagle's eyrie. It has no lustre of plumage like the goldfinch. Possessing anatomy that allows flight, yet about the last thing it wants to do is to fly, and in retreat uses foot almost as much as wing.

Musicians have written out in musical scale the song of lark and robin redbreast and nightingale, yet the hen of my text hath nothing that could be taken for a song but only chuck and cackle. Yet Christ in the text, uttered while looking at doomed Jerusalem, declares that what he had wished for that city was like what the hen does for her chickens. Christ was thus simple in his teachings, and yet how hard it is for us, who are Sunday school instructors and editors and preachers and reformers and those who would gain the ears of audiences, to attain that heavenly and divine art of simplicity.

We have to run a course of literary disorders as children a course of physical disorders. We come out of school and college loaded down with Greek mythologies, and out of the theological seminary weighed down with what the learned fathers said, and we fly with wings of eagles and flamingoes and albatrosses, and it takes a good while before we can come down to Christ's similitudes, the candle under the bushel, the salt that has lost its savor, the net thrown into the sea, the spittle on the eyes of the blind man and the hen and chickens.

There is not much poetry about this winged creature of God mentioned in my text, but she is more practical and more motherly and more suggestive of good things than many that fly higher and wear brighter colors. She is not a prima donna of the skies nor a strut of beauty in the aisles of the forest. She does not cut a circle under the sun like the Rocky mountain eagle, but stays at home to look after family affairs. She does not swoop like the condor of the Cordilleras to transport a rabbit from the valley to the top of the crags, but just scratches for a living. How vigorously with her claws she pulls away the ground to bring up what is hidden beneath! When the breakfast or dining hour arrives, she begins to prepare the repast and calls all her young to partake.

THE HEN AS A TYPE.

I am in sympathy with the unpretentious, old-fashioned hen, because, like most of us, she has to scratch for a living. She knows at the start the lesson which most people of good sense are slow to learn—that the gaining of a livelihood implies work, and that successes do not lie on the surface, but are to be upturned by positive and continuous effort. The reason that society, and the church, and the world are so full of failures, so full of loafers, so full of dead beats, is because people are not wise enough to take the lesson which any hen would teach them—that if they would find for themselves and for those dependent upon them anything worth having they must scratch for it.

Solomon said, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard." I say, Go the hen, thou sluggard. In the Old Testament God compares himself to an eagle stirring up her nest, and in the New Testament the Holy Spirit is compared to a descending dove, but Christ, in a sermon that begins with cutting sarcasm for hypocrites and ends with the paroxysm of pathos in the text, compares himself to a hen.

One day in the country we saw sudden consternation in the behavior of old Dominick. Why the hen should be so disturbed we could not understand. We looked about to see if a neighbor's dog were invading the farm. We looked up to see if a stormcloud were hovering. We could see nothing on the ground that could terrorize, and we could see nothing in the air to ruffle the feathers of the hen, but the loud, wild, affrighted cluck which brought all her brood at full run under her feathers made us look again around us and above us, when we saw that high up and far away there was a rapacious bird wheeling around and around, and down and down, and not seeing us as we stood in the shadow it came nearer and lower until we saw its beak was curved from base to tip, and it had two flames of fire for eyes, and it was a hawk.

But all the chickens were under old Dominick's wings, and either the bird of prey caught a glimpse of us, or not able to find the brood huddled under wing darted back into the clouds. So Christ calls with great earnestness to all the young. Why, what is the matter? It is bright sunlight, and there can be no danger. Health is theirs. A good home is theirs. Plenty of food is theirs. Prospect of long life is theirs. But Christ continues to call, calls with more emphasis and urges haste and says not a second ought to be lost. Oh, do tell us what is the matter!

Ah, now I see; there are hawks of temptation in the air; there are vultures wheeling for their prey, there are beaks of death ready to plunge; there are claws of allurement ready to clutch. Now I see the peril. Now I understand the urgency. Now I see the only safety. Would that Christ might this day take our sons and daughters into his shelter, "as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wing!" The fact is that the most of them will never find the shelter unless while they are chickens. It is a simple matter of inexorable statistics that most of those who do not come to Christ in youth never come at all.

HUMAN BIRDS OF PREY.

What chance is there for the young without divine protection? There are the grog shops. There are the gambling hells. There are the infidelities and immoralities of spiritualism. There are the bad books. There are the impurities. There are the business rascalities. And so numerous are these assailments that it is a wonder that honesty and virtue are not lost arts. The birds of prey, diurnal and nocturnal, of the natural world are ever on the alert. They are the assassins of the sky. They have varieties of taste. The eagle prefers the flesh of the living animal. The vulture prefers the carcass. The falcon kills with one stroke, while other styles of beak give prolongation of torture.

And so the temptations of this life are various. Some make quick work of death, and others agonize the mind and body for many years, and some like the living blood of great souls, and other prefer those already gangrened. But for every style of youth there is a swooping wing, and a sharp beak, and a cruel claw, and what the rising generations needs is a wing of protection. Fathers, mothers, older brothers and sisters, and Sabbath school teacher, be quick and earnest and prayerful and importunate, and get the chickens undenying

May the Sabbath schools of America and Great Britain within the next three months sweep all their scholars into the kingdom! Whom they have now under charge is uncertain. Concerning that scrawny, puny child that lay in the cradle many years ago, the father dead, many remarked, "What a mercy if the Lord would take the child!" and the mother really thought so too. But what a good thing that God spared that child, for it became would renowned in Christian literature and one of God's most illustrious servants—John Todd.

Remember, your children will remain children only a little while. What you do for them as children you must do quickly or never do at all. "Why have you never written a book?" said some one to a talented woman. She replied: "I am writing two and have been engaged on one work 10 years and on the other five years—my two children. They are my life work." When the house of John Wesley's father burned, and they got the eight children out—John Wesley the last—before the roof fell in the father said: "Let us kneel down and thank God. The children are all saved; let the rest of the place go."

My hearers, if we secure the present and everlasting welfare of our children, most other things belonging to us are of but little comparative importance. Alexander the Great allowed his soldiers to take their families with them to war, and he accounted for the bravery of his men by the fact that many of them were born in camp and were used to warlike scenes from the start. Would God that all the children of our day might be born into the army of the Lord! No need of letting them go a long way on the wrong road before they turn around and go on the right road. The only time to get chickens under wing is while they are chickens.

Hannah Whitall Smith, the evangelist, took her little child at 2 years of age when ill out of the crib and told her plainly of Christ, and the child believed and gave evidence of joyful trust which grew with her growth into womanhood. Two years are not too young. The time will come when by the faith of parents children will be born into this world and born into the bosom of Christ at the same time. Soon we parents will have to go and leave our children. We fight their battles now, and we stand between them and harm, but our arm will after awhile get weak, and we cannot fight for them, and our tongue will be palsied, and we cannot speak for them. Are we going to leave them out in the cold world to take their chances, or are we doing all we can to get them, under the wing of eternal safety.

WE NEED THE PROTECTING WING.

But we all need the protecting wing. If you had known when you entered upon manhood and womanhood what was ahead of you, would you have dared to undertake life? How much you would have been through! With most life has been a disappointment. They tell me so. They have not attained that which they expected to attain. They have not had the physical and mental vigor they expected, or they have met with rebuffs which they did not anticipate. You are not at 40 or 50 or 60 or 70 or 80 years of age where you thought you would be. I do not know any one except myself to whom life has been a happy surprise. I never expected anything, and so when anything came in the shape of human favor or comfortable position or widening field of work it was to me a surprise.

I was told in the theological seminary by some of my fellow students that I never would get anybody to hear me preach unless I changed my style, so that when I found some people did come to hear me it was a happy surprise. But most people, according to their own statement, have found life a disappointment. Indeed we all need shelter from its tempests. About 3 o'clock on a hot August afternoon you have heard a rumble that you first took for a wagon crossing a bridge, but afterward there was a louder rumbling, and you said, "Why, that is thunder!" And, sure enough, the clouds were being convoked for a full diapason. A whole park of artillery went rolling down the heavens, and the blinds of the windows in the sky were closed. But the sounds above were not more certain than the sounds beneath.

The cattle came to the bars and moaned for them to be let down that they might come home to shelter, and the fowl, whether dark Brahma or Hamburg or Leghorn or Dominick, began to call to its young, "Cluck! Cluck! Cluck!" and take them under the wagon house or shed, and had them all hid under the soft feathers by the time that the first plash of rain struck the roof.

So there are sudden tempests for the souls, and, oh! how dark it gets, and threatened clouds of bankruptcy or sickness or persecution or bereavement gather and thicken and blacken, and some run for shelter to a bank, but it is a poor shelter, and others run to friendly advisers, and they fail to help, and others fly nowhere, simply because they know not where to go, and they perish in the blast, but others hear a divine call, saying, "Come, for all things are now ready." "The spirit and the bride say come." And while the heavens are thundering terror the divine voice proffers mercy, and the soul comes under the brooding care of the Almighty "as a hen gathering her chickens under her wings."

WE WANT WARMTH.

The wings of my text suggest warmth, and that is what most folks want. The fact is that this is a cold world, whether you take it literally or figuratively. We have a big fireplace called the sun, and it has a very hot fire, and the stokers keep the coals well stirred up, but much of the year we cannot get near enough to this fireplace to get warmed. The world's extremities are cold all the time. Forget not that it is colder at the south pole than at the north pole, and that the Arctic is not so destructive as the Antarctic. Once in awhile the Arctic will let explorers come back, but the Antarctic hardly ever. When at the south pole a ship sails in, the door of ice is almost sure to be closed against its return.

So life to many millions of people at the south and many millions of people at the north is a prolonged shiver. But when I say that this is a cold world I chiefly mean figuratively. If you want to know what is the meaning of the ordinary term of receiving the "cold shoulder," get out of money and try to borrow. The conversation may have been almost tropical for luxuriance of thought and speech, but suggest your necessities and see the thermometer drop to 50 degrees below zero, and in that which till a moment before had been a warm room. Take what is an unpopular position on some public questions and see your friends fly as chaff before a windmill.

As far as myself is concerned, I have no word of complaint, but I look off day by day and see communities freezing out men and women of whom the world is not worthy. Now it takes after one and now after another. It becomes popular to depreciate and defame and execrate and lie about some people. This is the best world I ever got into, but it is the meanest world that some people ever got into. The worst thing that ever happened to them was their cradle, and the best thing that will ever happen to them will be their grave. What people want is warmth.

Many years ago a man was floating down on the ice of the Merrimac, and great efforts were made to rescue him. Twice he got hold of a plank thrown to him, and twice he slipped away from it because that end of the plank was covered with ice, and he cried out, "For God's sake, give me the wooden end of the plank this time," and this done he was hauled to shore.

The trouble is that in our efforts to save the soul there is too much coldness and icy formality, and so the imperiled one slips off and floats down. Give it the other end of the plank—warmth of sympathy, warmth of kindly association, warmth of genial surroundings. The world declines to give it, and in many cases has no power to give it, and here is where Christ comes in, and as on a cold day, the rain beating and the atmosphere full of sleet, the hen clucks her chickens under her wings, and the warmth of her own breast puts warmth into the wet feathers and the chilled feet of the infant group of the barnyard, so Christ says to those sick and frosted and disgusted and frozen of the world come in out of the March winds of the world's criticism; come in out of the sleet of the world's assault; come in out of a world that does not understand you and does not want to understand you. I will comfort, and I will soothe, and I will be your warmth, "as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wing." Oh! the warm heart of God is ready for all those to whom the world has given the cold shoulder.

But notice that some one must take the storm for the chickens. Ah, the hen takes the storm. I have watched her under the pelting rain. I have seen her in the pinching frosts almost frozen to death or almost strangled in the waters, and what a fight she makes for the young under wing if a dog, or a hawk, or a man come too near! And so the brooding Christ takes the storm for us. What flood of anguish and tears that did not dash upon his holy soul! What beak of torture did not pierce his vitals! What barking Cerberus of hell was not let out upon him from the kennels!

What he endured, oh, who can tell,
To save our souls from death and hell!

CHRIST TAKES THE STORM FOR US.

Yes, the hen took the storm for the chickens, and Christ takes the storm for us. Once the tempest rose so suddenly the hen could not get with her young back from the new ground to the barn, and there she is under the fence half dead. And now the rain turns to snow, and it is an awful night, and in the morning the whiteness about the gills and the beak down in the mud show that the mother is dead, and the young ones come out and cannot understand why the mother does not scratch for them something to eat, and they walk over her wings and call with their tiny voices, but there is no answering cluck. She took the storm for others and perished. Poor thing! Self sacrificing even unto death.

And does it not make you think of him who endured all for us? So the wings under which we come for spiritual safety are blood-spattered wings, are night-shadowed wings, are tempest-torn wings. In the Isle of Wight I saw the grave of Princess Elizabeth, who died while a prisoner at Carisbrook castle, her finger on an open Bible and pointing to the words, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Oh, come under the wings!

But now the summer day is almost past, and the shadows of the house and barn and wagon shed have lengthened. The farmer, with scythe or hoe on shoulder, is returning from the fields. The oxen are unyoked. The horses are crunching the oats at the full bin. The air is bewitched of honeysuckle and wild brier. The milkman, pail in hand, is approaching the barnyard. The fowls, keeping early hours, are collecting their young. "Cluck!" "Cluck!" "Cluck!" and soon all the eyes of that feathered nursery are closed.

The bachelors of the winged tribe have ascended to their perch, but the hens, in a motherhood divinely appointed, take all the risk of a slumber on the ground, and all night long the wings will stay outspread and the little ones will not utter a sound. Thus at sundown, lovingly, safely, completely, the hen broods her young. So, if we are the Lord's the evening of our life will come. The heats of the day will have passed. There will be shadows, and we cannot see as far. The work of life will be about ended.

The hawks of temptation that hovered in the sky will have gone to the woods and folded their wings. Sweet silences will come down. The air will be redolent with the breath of whole arbors of promises sweeter than jasmine or evening primrose. The air may be a little chill, but Christ will call us, and we will know the voice and heed the call, and we will come under the wings for the night, the strong wings, the soft wings, the warm wings, and without fear, and in full sense of safety, and then we will rest from sundown to sunrise, "as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings." Dear me! How many souls the Lord hath thus brooded!

Mothers, after watching over sick cradles and then watching afterward over wayward sons and daughters, at last themselves taken care of by a motherly God. Business men, after a lifetime struggling with the uncertainties of money markets, and the change of tariffs, and the underselling of men who because of their dishonesties can afford to undersell, and years of disappointment and struggle, at last under wings where nothing can perturb them any more than a bird of prey which is 10 miles off disturbs a chick at midnight brooding in a barnyard.

My text has its strongest application for people who were born in the country, wherever you may now live, and that is the majority of you. You cannot hear my text without having all the rustic scenes of the old farmhouse come back to you. Good old days they were. You knew nothing much of the world, for you had not seen the world.

By law of association you cannot recall the brooding hen and her chickens without seeing also the barn, and the haymow, and the wagon shed, and the house, and the room where you played, and the fireside with the big backlog before which you sat, and the neighbors, and the burial, and the wedding, and the deep snowbanks, and hear the village bell that called you to worship, and seeing the horses which, after pulling you to church, stood around the old clapboard meeting house, and those who sat at either end of the church pew, and indeed all the scenes of your first 14 years, and you think of what you were then and of what you are now, and all these thoughts are aroused by the sight of the old hencoop. Some of you had better go back and start again.

In thought return to that place and hear the cluck and see the outspread feathers and come under the wing and make the Lord your portion and shelter and warmth, preparing for everything that may come, and so avoid being classed among those described by the closing words of my text, "as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not." Ah, that throws the responsibility upon us! "Ye would not." Alas, for the "would nots!" If the wandering broods of the farm heed not their mother's call and risk the hawk and dare the freshet and expose themselves to the first frost and storm, surely their calamaties are got their mother's fault. "Ye would not!" God would, but how many would not?

When a good man asked a young woman who had abandoned her home and who was deploring her wretchedness why she did not return, the reply was: "I dare not go home. My father is so provoked he would not receive me home." "Then," said the Christian man, "I will test this," and so he wrote to the father, and the reply came back and in a letter marked outside "Immediate," and inside saying, "Let her come at once; all is forgiven." So God's invitation for you is marked "Immediate" on the outside, and inside it is written, "He will abundantly pardon."

Oh, ye wanderers from God and happiness and home and heaven, come under the sheltering wing! Under this call I see you turning from your old way to the new way, the living way, the gospel way. A vessel in the Bristol channel was nearing the rocks called the "Steep Holmes." Under the tempest the vessel was unmanageable, and the only hope was that the tide would change before she struck the rocks and went down, and so the captain stood on the deck, watch in hand. Captain and crew and passengers were pallid with terror. Taking another look at his watch and another look at the sea, he shouted: "Thank God, we are saved! The tide has turned! One minute more and we would have struck the rocks."

The Coming Man.

Oh, not for the great departed
And who formed our country's laws
And not for the bravest hearted
Who died in freedom's cause,
And not for some living hero
To whom all bend the knee,
My muse would raise her song of praise—
But for the man to be.

For out of the strife which woman
Is passing through to-day,
A man that is more than human
Shall yet be born, I say.
A man in whose pure spirit
No dross of self will lurk;
A man who is strong to cope with wrong;
A man who is proud to work.

A man with hope undaunted,
A man with god-like power
Shall come when he most is wanted,
Shall come at the needed hour.
He shall silence the din and clamor
Of clan disputing with clan,
And toil's long fight with purse-proud might
Shall triumph through this man.

I know he is coming, coming,
To help, to guide, to save,
Though I hear no martial drumming,
And see no flags that wave.
But the great soul-travail of woman,
And the bold, free thought unfurled,
Are heralds that say he is on the way—
The coming man or the world.

Mourn not for vanished ages
With their great heroic men,
Who dwell in history's pages
And live through the poet's pen.
For the grandest times are before us,
And the world is yet to see
The noblest worth of this old earth
In the men that are to be.

MISSIONARY'S STORY

How He Suffered from Eczema. Doctors Failed. Grew Worse. Death Only Relief Expected.

I have been troubled with chronic Eczema on my limbs. The itching was very annoying and made me unfit for work. I had tried many remedies and consulted a good physician, but received no permanent relief. A friend told me of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I then sent for a copy of your book, more than a year ago, and now I wish I had read the book and begun to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES at once. But the doctor said the remedies, good in some cases, would be of no use to me, and continued to prescribe for me for nine months. I grew worse and worse. Death would have been a relief, and it was the only relief I expected. Just then my wife (I thank God for a good one) found the book you sent in some out-of-the-way place and read it through. She discharged the attending physician and said we would try the

THE SILVER QUESTION.

The silver question in the United States is rapidly becoming a gold question. At all events the export of gold goes on, and the situation is regarded as critical. Says the New York Post of Tuesday:

"The financial situation grows visibly worse from day to day. The $100,000,000 gold reserve that has remained intact from the first of January, 1879, has been really reduced for the first time in fourteen years, for although there is an apparent balance of free gold in the treasury, it is due to a loan made by the city banks a short time since. This was a call loan. The leading banks have the power to take this gold back at any time, and if they should exercise the power, the $100,000,000 of greenback reserve would drop to $98,000,000 or less. Moreover, the export of gold goes on, and is likely to continue until the silver purchase is repealed."

The Boston Advertiser of Saturday—and the Advertiser is a strong administration organ—gives the following additional facts:

"When 'specie payment' was resumed in 1879 the reserve fund was above $114,000,000, and before the year closed the amount exceeded $145,000,000. In 1880, the reserve fund grew somewhat again, but about that time up to 1889, the fund was on an average far above $150,000,000. Popular opinion, however, was adverse to the collection and maintenance of so large a surplus, and during the present administration a large amount of the surplus has gone in bond purchases and for other public purposes. . . . From $107,000,000, the reserve fund has fallen by degrees to its present condition, and apparently the United States must either decline to pay out gold on demand, or must acquire more gold by special act, or must encroach upon the $100,000,000 gold reserve.

It would be apparently unwise to refuse gold payments, if the public credit is to be maintained. The foreign holdings of many American securities are based upon the belief that the debts of the United States will be paid in gold whenever required. It is entirely conceivable that upon the day when the United States declines to pay gold on demand for its existing debts, the securities of the nation will decrease rapidly in value. It is possible under the law to encroach on the present gold reserve still further, but there seems to be a strong public sentiment adverse to such encroachment. The $100,000,000 limit is considered a danger mark beyond which the treasury department ought not to go."

There was a further shipment of $3,000,000 of gold on Saturday and $2 000,000 goes out to-day, so that if the Post's statement, quoted above, that the reserve was then actually only $98,000,000, be correct, the reserve must now be down to to $93,000,000—a decrease of over $100,000,000 in four years. And the perplexing thing about the whole affair is that no one seems able to tell when the drain is likely to stop or what will be its final results. Some attribute it to the continued purchase and coinage of silver, some to foreign fear that the United States will eventually attempt to pay their debts in silver, at their own valuation of it, and still others to other causes. All that is certainly known is that silver continues to accumulate in the treasury vaults at Washington, and that gold continues to disappear.

WE ARE PREPARED!

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," hence we would ask what is the city doing towards preventing a possible outbreak of cholera next season. All along the line active preparations are being made to prevent its importation, and as well the enforcing of sanitary regulation by which the danger is minimized.

We have a board of health, but without pay from the city, and hence they cannot be expected to pay diligent attention to their duties.

For this season at least a health officer should be appointed with sufficient salary to insure such attention to his duties as will protect the city from every possible danger.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Some of the Grit papers are trying to make out that the Orange Order is a part of the Tory machine. Others quote resolutions alleged to have been passed by Orange lodges protesting against Protestants, and especially Orangemen accepting office in a Government, the head of which happens to be a Roman Catholic. Some of the Quebec Roman Catholic papers declare that the Government is in the hands of the dreadful "Orangists," while the Montreal Witness declares that it is a Jesuit concern. The unintelligent who read many of the Grit papers now-a-days can scarcely know what to think about it. It may occur to them, however, that Sir John Thompson was chosen leader because of the fact that he is recognized as the ablest man in the party, and that Sir John selected Mr. Bowell, Mr. Wallace, and others, to assist him in governing the country because of the fact that they are men of acknowledged ability.

Mayor Wallbridge, City Solicitor Henderson, and Ald. Ponton, have been appointed a committee to go before the Railway Committee at Ottawa, to protest against the absorption of the Grand Junction Railway by the Grand Trunk Company, which would deprive Belleville of certain rights granted in consideration of a $150,000 bonus, which now represents $200,000 by the accumulation of interest. While the delegates may be able to get a modification at the hands of the Government, it seems unwise to shut the city in for her debt, for the sake of retaining rights which practically do not exist.

We are told in the news columns of the INTELLIGENCER that a cocking main made up of Belleville and Peterboro birds was recently fought at Hastings. The village constable was advised of the contemplated violation of the law, but that worthy allowed himself to be spirited to a neighboring village and so the brutal exhibition took place without hindrance from the authorities. Some of the birds were killed and others shockingly mutilated. We can understand why men will reduce themselves to the level of brutes in a prize ring, but it is a sad commentary on this enlightened age when men are allowed to encourage so brutalizing a sport as cock fighting to satisfy a depraved and fallen nature.

"A Feeling of Spring in the Air."

"There's a feeling of spring in the air," he said,
When he locked the doors and went up to bed;
"And this is not only the token
When at morn he woke from his slumbers round,
Twelve inches of snow lay on the ground,
And the servant girl from the room below
He heard exclaim in a voice of woe.
As closer around him he drew the clothes,

A Modern Valentine.

For the goose, I understand,
Are so learned now that their quills, I trow,
Are of little use to the hand.

I've secured it, love, by the aid of glue,
Instead of a strand of hair,
Which I cannot obtain, for I see, with pain,
That you really have none to spare.

I send it to you by the postman, love,
For Cupid, I grieve to hear,
Is afraid of the cold, and has grown so old,
That he doesn't go out this year.

But the message is ever the same, my love,
While the stars their course fulfil,
Though to me and you it may seem quite new,
'Tis the old, old story still.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple barks, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S CASE.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY WILL NOT ASK HIM TO RESIGN.

Great Gathering of Englishmen Last Night—There Was Divergent Views, but a Compromise Was Effected—A Motion of Censure Was Passed.

TORONTO, March 4.—There was a great gathering of Englishmen, young and old, in St. George's Hall last night. The occasion will be memorable. They met to consider a motion by Mr. J. Cartell Hopkins as to the alleged unfitness of Prof. Goldwin Smith to remain a member of St. George's Society, owing to his proannexation attitude. Quick as the terms of the motion were strong, branding the Professor as a traitor to his sovereign and country on account of his annexationist views, and calling upon him to resign.

There was a stormy discussion for three hours, but little came of it, for the result was a modified motion expressing regret that a life member of St. George's Society should hold the opinions complained of.

President Drayton was in the chair, and the platform was filled by D. T. Symons, first vice-president; James Hewlett, second vice-president; Percival T. Rideout, third vice-president; W. T. Boyd, S. G. Wood, J. Herbert Mason, R. W. Elliot, C. C. Spooner, Robert Spratt, Barlow Cumberland, J. J. Ailworth, James Cooper, past presidents; Charles Spanner, J. W. Stockwell, stewards; J. E. Pell, secretary.

Mr. J. Cartell Hopkins read his well-known motion:

That in view of his advocacy of the annexation of the Dominion of Canada to the United States, his position as president of the Continental Union Association of Toronto, and treason to his sovereign, to England and to Canada involved in these conditions, the body of loyal Englishmen request Mr. Goldwin Smith to tender his resignation as a life member of St. George's Society.

Mr. J. J. Ailworth asked the chairman if it was in order, alleging that it was a political question and quoting the society's rule which forbids such discussion.

The Chairman ruled the motion in order. The bylaw referred to was in the narrow sense of politics and had no reference to a question of allegiance. [Loud applause.]

Mr. Hopkins then made an effective speech brimful of loyalty and full of indignation at Mr. Goldwin Smith's treasonable actions and writing. His insidious work with a view to annexation was stoutly condemned and extracts read from the Professor's articles to prove his disloyalty.

All this was loudly cheered by the members of the society, though frequently there were conflicting voices.

"You must not only disavow his doctrines," said Mr. Hopkins, "but dissociate yourselves from Mr. Smith as members of a loyal English society.

"His words take him out of the category of loyal Englishmen; and the time has come when the stigma of treason must be attached to Goldwin Smith."

Mr. Hopkins concluded with a glowing tribute to the loyalty of Englishmen and the glory of British allegiance.

At the close of Mr. Hopkins' speech, Past-President Ailworth rose and said he wished to move that the consideration of this resolution be adjourned till the first Friday in May. [Cries of "No, no."]

Col. Denison: Mr. Hopkins' motion is not seconded. I thought Mr. Ailworth was going to do that. [Laughter.]

Mr. Ailworth: My object is to stop this discussion entirely. [Cries of dissent.]

Mr. Charles Spanner seconded Mr. Hopkins' motion amidst applause, mingled with hisses. Said he was certain that a majority of the members of St. George's Society will support it."

The Chairman: "Are you ready for the question?" [Loud cries of "Carried."]

Mr. Ailworth interposed with his amendment. He wished a copy of the resolution to be forwarded to Mr. Goldwin Smith so that he might attend the next meeting and answer the charges made against him. Disapprobation.] "We are all proud of being Englishmen," added Mr. Ailworth, "and we stand up for British fair play. Do you approve of a prisoner being tried in his absence? In all fairness, as Englishmen, give Mr. Smith an opportunity of defending the charges propounded here to-night. [Applause and hisses.] We have not the proof of these charges save Mr. Hopkins' word. [Interruptions for several minutes.]

"Well, vote the resolution down if you like, but as an old man I shall consider you don't act with any fairness. You don't want to chop his head off to-night, do you? [Cries of "Yes" and "No."] Give him a chance to reply and let us see if you will say the same things when he is present as you have said to-night." [Applause and dissent.]

Mr. Spratt: You have been propounding ideas and practices which do not belong to our society at all. The chairman has ruled entirely contrary to our bylaws. [Cries of "Chair."]

The Chairman: A speaker cannot question the ruling of the chair.

Mr. Spratt was proceeding to cite the bylaw when the chairman again interposed.

Mr. Spratt: I have been a member of this society 30 years and I have only its interest at heart. I am not advocating Mr. Smith's views; I am simply vindicating the rules of the society. If you are going to investigate the religious or political views of the members—

Past-President Mason insisted on the chairman's ruling being respected. He added: "I believe in all that Mr. Hopkins has said about loyalty. I have no sympathy with annexation. Still I think the motion a most unfortunate one. Mr. Hopkins is a young member of this society; if he had consulted some of the older members he would have hesitated before bringing in what may prove a source of discord and dissension amongst us. We have nothing to do with anyone's opinions except as they affect bylaws of the society. [Applause and dissent.]

"If you go beyond that," added Mr. Mason, "you open up avenues to which there is no limit. There are 1100 members of this society. Are we to sit in judgment on their varied opinions? To bring in extraneous matters is foreign to our object, and we should condemn this attempt that it may never be repeated."

Mr. Ailworth withdrew his amendment pro tem, and then Mr. Mason proposed the following:

That inasmuch as the only condition of membership imposed by the charter and bylaws of St. George's Society is that of English or Welsh birth, or descent in the male line, and that the only qualification required from any member is that he shall observe and conform to the charter, bylaws and rules of the society in the chair, and this meeting it is inexpedient to introduce, as a topic for discussion, or as a cause of action by the society, the opinions or acts of any member unless it be alleged that such opinions or acts are contrary to, or inconsistent with the charter, bylaws and rules of the society.

Speaking to the amendment Mr. Mason said: To introduce as a topic of discussion a man's action unless it be inconsistent with the bylaws is to jeopardize its best interests. The next thing will be an inquiry as to breaking the fourth commandment. [Laughter.]

"St. George's Society is a social as well as charitable society. I have always held that it should be as broad as England itself. [Applause.] There should be no distinction of religion or politics. It would be very detrimental for us to be split up. There is nothing in the constitution of this society to provide for loyalty. [Interruption.]

"Well, if I am wrong point it out. I say there is no precedent for the course Mr. Hopkins is pursuing. Therefore, let us hesitate before adopting this resolution."

Mr. S. G. Wood seconded the amendment. He held that Mr. Goldwin Smith had said and done nothing contrary to the constitution of St. George's Society. [Cries of dissent.] However much we may hold Goldwin Smith's views in detestation—and I do—[applause]—we have no right to act as proposed by Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Smith had done his duty to St. George's Society. ["No, no" and applause.]

"Therefore, we should express our utter repugnance to the course of Mr. Smith by a resolution. This should content the society. ["No, no."] By attacking now we are only giving him unnecessary notoriety, and perhaps giving him more sympathizers than he deserves. Moreover, he won't resign and we can't make him resign." [Cries of dissent.]

Mr. Wood earnestly appealed to the society not to put itself in an undignified position. By having a division it would go forth that Goldwin Smith has sympathizers here. But what is the fact—we all scorn the idea of bartering for a mess of pottage the glorious birthright we as Englishmen enjoy. [Loud cheering.]

Mr. Alfred Boultbee made a vigorous speech for which he was loudly cheered. He denied that it was immaterial what a man wrote and spoke. If it were disloyal he was not a fitting member for St. George's Society. Referring to Goldwin Smith's action and speeches Mr. Boultbee vigorously declared: "It is high treason. [Loud applause.] Such acts would not be tolerated in any other country under the sun. If we are going to condone this then it is time for us to seek some other land." [Cheers.]

Mr. Barlow Cumberland maintained that Mr. Goldwin Smith's only object in remaining in St. George's Society was to show to the Americans he had a foothold amongst Englishmen in Canada. Analyzing Mr. Smith's views he asked how long would a citizen of the United States be allowed such a course, and he answered the question—not one minute. [Applause.] For anyone to vote for the amendment of Mr. Mason was to say that the only qualification for membership was to subscribe to the bylaws. ["No."] In concluding a vigorous and loyal speech, Mr. Cumberland said: "Any man who would take down the British flag and substitute that of a foreign nation could not be a member of St. George's Society.

Ald. Hallam wanted British fair play for everybody. Englishmen had and always would have differences. Hence he differed from a good deal of what had been said. "As an Englishman," continued the alderman, "I protest against Mr. Hopkins' resolution, because I think it will do this society a great deal of harm. It will retard its charitable work. I am going to vote for Mr. Mason's amendment, and I believe that no stigma will attach to me. I will run the risk of being misunderstood." [Cheers.] In conclusion the alderman said he believed it to be duty of every one who loved toleration to vote against Mr. Hopkins' resolution. [Applause and cries of dissent.]

Mr. David Piews expressed the opinion, which was not endorsed, that the passing of the resolution would land the society in a lawsuit. Mr. Hopkins' resolution was giving the annexation movement too much prominence.

"Annexation is not a live question; if we pass this resolution we shall make it a live question. [Applause.] Therefore I shall vote for the amendment."

Col. Denison met with an enthusiastic reception. For some reasons, he said, he was sorry that this resolution had been brought before St. George's Society. Still, the society was never intended to include in its ranks the enemies of England. Mr. Goldwin Smith was one of those, a man persistently working against the interests of Canada. [Applause.] He is the most dangerous enemy we have got.

The Colonel said the members knew he had no sympathy with treason, and he hoped the meeting would be able to take some course to show that they had no sympathy with it either. At the same time, should there be a minority against the resolution or against the amendment it would be doubtful that the annexation movement had any sympathizers. Hence he pleaded for a unanimous vote.

Mr. Clarkson Jones spoke in favor of the amendment. He strenuously objected to Castell Hopkins' bombshell being thrown amongst them. To pass it would be to inflict incalculable injury on the society.

Mr. Boyd, past president, spoke to a similar effect. He objected to any side issues occupying the attention of a charitable society. He roused laughter and applause when alluding to the crowded attendance. He said that if the members would evince one quarter the interest in the affairs of the society they evidently took in a question of loyalty the society would indeed flourish.

"St. George's Society is not a competent tribunal to try Goldwin Smith. [Applause and dissent.] If he has been guilty of treason, why not put the law in motion? Leave him to the tender mercies and summary jurisdiction of Col. Denison. [Roars of laughter.] I cannot vote for the amendment. There is no occasion for all this wild discussion about loyalty."

Mr. J. A. Worrell saw no practical result amidst so many divergent views. Hence he suggested a small committee to mould both resolution and amendment into such a shape that it should command universal assent and the trumpet give forth no uncertain sound.

Mr. W. T. Boyd seconded the proposal, which was endorsed by the chairman as an excellent idea. "Whatever we do," said President Drayton, "let us have a unanimous vote."

And the members cheered, and for the first time in the course of the evening there was apparent unanimity.

Then the movers and seconders of the various proposals retired to formulate the terms of peace. The members took a short recess. Some of them tried to sing, but the cheers of the previous two hours had showed that the knotty problem had been solved.

All was silence when Mr. Mason said: "It is in the name of Englishmen to compromise for the general good. It is always unfortunate to have divided councils. We all condemn the views of our erring brother, Goldwin Smith, and nothing has been concocted which says this. It is the product of several cooks. This is it:

Moved by J. Herbert Mason,
Seconded by J. C. Hopkins:

Whereas it has been brought to the attention of this society that Mr. Goldwin Smith, one of its life members, has openly proclaimed himself in favor of severing Canada from the rest of the British Empire, and has also accepted the office of honorary president of a society having for its object the active promotion of the abrogation for the union of Canada with the United States; therefore this society desires emphatically to place on record its strong disapprobation of any such movement, and hereby expresses in strongest terms regret that the society should contain in its ranks a member who is striving for an object which would cause an irreparable injury to this Dominion, would entail a loss to the Mother Land of a most important part of her empire and would deprive Canadians of their birthright as British subjects.

Mr. Mason added: I hope this will pass unanimously. There will be accepted in the same spirit as it has been by members of the committee. It is the best thing we could do under the circumstances. We shall vindicate ourselves as a society, and its passing will not be any breach of our bylaws or constitution.

Mr. Hopkins said he concurred in the remarks of Mr. Mason. The adoption of the resolution would be the best way for a unanimous expression of dissatisfaction with the course of Mr. Goldwin Smith and his dangerous agitation, which was not only dangerous but highly inimical to the interests of Great Britain.

The resolution was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously amidst cheering.

The singing of "God Save the Queen" concluded a three hours' meeting.

"All's well that ends well!"

Bradstreet's Report.

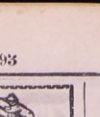

NEW YORK, March 3.—No special activity is noted in Canadian commercial circles. At Halifax sales of staples are moderate and collections slow. More than the usual quantity of lumber, tanbark and cordwood are being hauled in in New Brunswick this winter.

General trade at Montreal is only moderately active, wholesale millinery openings there (as well as at Toronto) being the feature. Shoe manufacturers are quite busy on orders.

Failures in business in the Dominion this week number 45, against 36 last week and 33 in the week a year ago.

Bank clearings at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton aggregated $76,577,000 for February this year, as compared with $69,479,000 in February, 1892, an increase of nearly 12 per cent., due almost exclusively to Montreal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Questions of Sanitary Regulations and Teachers Duties in Certain Matters Discussed.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last night.

Present—H. Walker, chairman; Messrs. W. Tennent, S. S. Moore, W. Kemp, H. Taylor, J. H. Mills, W. Hunter, J. Martin, S. T. Harris, N. A. Moore, W. Clarke, I. Diamond, T. Wills, Dr. Nash and Rev. Canon Burke.

The minutes were read and on motion were approved of.

Communications, etc.

A resolution was read which was passed at a recent meeting of the Board of Health in reference to the removal of the outbuilding from the ground at the Central school and place closets in the basement of the school.

Mr. I. Diamond did not think that it was a feasible proposition. The only remedy would be to ask the city council to give $4,000 and introduce the Smead and Dowd system.

Mr. Wills was of the opinion that the proposition was not feasible. He as a member of the Board of Health was not present at the meeting.

Mr. S. A. Moore stated that although he was a member of the Board of Health he was not in favor of the resolution.

The resolution was referred to the sites, building and repair committee.

Reports were presented from the Finance committee, which recommended payment of a number of accounts.

Dr. Wright, Head Master of the High School, reported. There were at present enrolled 179 High school pupils, four being from outside of the county, and 22 from the county. The average attendance for January was 130, and for February 136.

On motion, the Board went into committee of the whole on reports, Dr. Nash in the chair.

The Finance Committee's report was adopted without discussion. Committee rose and reported. Report adopted.

Under the head of enquiries, Dr. Nash asked in reference to sending children home for being late. He gave instances, stating that a scholar was sent home from the Central school who resided at the G.T.R. station, for being a little late, on a severe cold day. Another scholar was sent home who had a note from its parents. The speaker said he did not think it was proper for the teacher to do this.

Mr. Diamond said that teachers should act judiciously in this matter. No scholar should be sent home for a note if late, but be requested to bring one next day. It was unreasonable. For habitual lateness he would suspend a scholar.

Mr. Wills said the teacher should exercise judgment in this matter. It was not in many cases the fault of the scholars, but the parents. If a scholar came late often, the teacher should see the parents and make a complaint. There should be forbearances in the winter especially.

Mr. Harris instanced a case where two children were sent home from the Grier street school for being late one morning this winter, who resided a mile away.

Other members spoke strongly against the teachers being too stringent about sending children home. The chairman said that no doubt the discussion would be beneficial.

The board adjourned at 9 o'clock.

Truancy.

Complaints have lately been made to the school authorities, as also the the chief of police, that a number of young fellows, who are old enough to know better, make a certain club room on Front street, a rendezvous during school hours. The parents supposed that their sons were at school, but an investigation of the roll-tale attendance books of the schools opened their eyes. Some of the boys had been playing "hookey" for weeks. The managers of the club ought to prohibit boys of school age being in the rooms during school hours.

The success that has always attended the graduates of what is popularly known as "The model Business College of Canada," should greatly encourage the manager, Mr. Robt. Bogle, and his able staff of teachers, —and should convince every intelligent person of the absolute thoroughness of the courses taught at the Belleville Business College. Belleville certainly leads in the line of business education.

P. S.—The Inspector of Insurance Agencies called on Mr. Bogle a short time ago, and said that he would give the first twelve graduates positions as general agents.

Mistakes of Advertisers.

This is an age of advertising, and the idea has been pretty thoroughly accepted that to be successful a man must advertise. Many men believe this to have a very indefinite idea of how it should be done.

It is on account of this that many local papers have from one to three columns of advertisements that remain from one year's end to the next in the same place and in the same type.

The casual reader may glance at them; the regular reader never. Yet nearly all the readers of local papers are regular readers.

Very few of the casual readers are purchasers in the local stores. Under these circumstances do you wonder these tradesmen conclude that "All this talk about advertising is bosh"?

It would be unjust to say that such advertising is valueless. It is worth something, but not much. Such stereotyped advertisements year in, year out, are about as near valueless as any can be in a live paper.

Such advertisements make dull reading. They say nothing which interests. They do not suggest any want in the readers' minds which the advertisers can supply.

A dull statement of facts may impart information, but if it does not arouse any interest it fails in its mission.

Plain uniform type, and a certain requirement that all advertisements must be each just like its neighbor, may make a paper look well, but it destroys individuality. Individuality is what makes advertising attractive, makes advertising readable, makes advertising pay,—individuality in ideas, in wording, in arrangement, in typography.

Let people see that you are advertising to get their trade, not simply to follow in the procession.

I think that every reader will acknowledge that the breeziness of well written illustrated advertisement will make people read them after the illustration has attracted their eye.

Strive to make your advertisement attractive and different from your neighbors in the column. Then you will find that people will read your advertisement—and reading leads to business.

Chemical Fire Engine.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, of Toronto, representing the Carr Chemical Fire Engine Co., attended the meeting of the Board of Education last night and explained the working of their engine, also read testimonials from principals of colleges and resolutions from public and high school boards of other places showing the advantages these institutions have derived from being equipped with these engines. The board referred the matter to the committee on sites, buildings and repairs. The committee will meet early next week to carefully look into the matter. If at small cost buildings can be protected from fire it is the duty of the committee to do so. Our taxes are too high that we can not afford to loose a school building or, perhaps worse—a fire occur and a panic and loss of life.

Best Value Ever Offered.

Low prices talk. Spring overcoats used to be a luxury, and only a few enjoyed the benefits of one of them. But now the Oak Hall can sell you a coat for $10 equal to anything you ever see come from a tailor at $20. If there is any one who thinks we cannot do just as we say advertising let them call and see this handsome garment and they will again agree with us that we have the best light overcoat for the smallest amount of money ever seen in this country.

Neither trouble nor expense will be spared in making this the artistic social event of the season. Full particulars later.

Endorsed by The Leaders.

When a remedy is endorsed by ministers, editors, merchants, farmers and leading men of all classes, it is strong evidence that that remedy has great merit and does what it is claimed for it. Such a remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, its wonderful success as a cure for dyspepsia, bad blood, etc., is well known to both old and young.

Thomas Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes.—"I have been afflicted with Rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many from this without any relief. I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and found it gave me instant relief. I would recommend it to all.

Small Stomachs cannot digest Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They are mild and effectual.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:—

Dear Sirs,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery. I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable cure than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. Haun,
Welland P.O.

Mr. s. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

Gentlemen,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that I was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
Thomas Cummins,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this research of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE BILL RELATING TO WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE.

An Amendment Carried To the Effect That Husband and Wife of Accused Need Not Give Evidence Disclosing Conversation With Each Other.

Ottawa, March 4.—Yesterday was lawyers day in the House, almost the whole afternoon up to recess being taken up by committee on Sir John Thompson's bill relating to witnesses and evidence. The principal point under discussion so as to accused persons being not only competent but compellable witnesses, some of the legal gentlemen being opposed to a witness being compelled to testify whether willing or not.

Sir John Thompson said that the bill introduced last year provided that a person charged with a criminal offence should be permitted to give evidence in his or her own behalf, but this year's bill went further than that and made the prosecution and the accused persons both competent and compellable. The object of the change was to get at the truth.

Mr. Tisdale moved an amendment to the effect that neither the husband or wife of the accused person should be a competent compellable witness, which was lost.

Mr. Mulock moved an amendment to the effect that the husband or wife of the accused person should not be competent to give evidence disclosing any conversation had with each other, which was carried.

Other amendments were proposed and lost, and the committee rose and reported progress.

In reply to Mr. Laurier, Sir John Thompson said that the writ for Vaudreuil would be issued next week.

Sir John Thompson said in answer to Mr. Laurier that an order-in-council had been passed by the Postoffice Department preventing its employes from holding municipal offices, and he would bring down a copy of the order.

After some discussion on the census resolutions with regard to manufacturing industries, the House went into Committee of supply, taking up the balance of the supplementary estimates.

The next sitting of the Exchequer Court in Toronto for trial of cases will be held on April 4.

To-day's Canada Gazette will contain the appointments of Hugh McKenzie Wilson of Bantford as deputy judge of the county court of Brant, and of John Gilchrist of Orangeville as sub-collector of customs.

Hon. Mr. Ives, President of the Privy Council, to-day laid on the table of the House the report of Judge Wetmore, the commissioner appointed to investigate the charges against Commissioner Herchmer of the Northwest Mounted Police. The report is a very voluminous document, consisting of some 60 printed and 3500 typewritten pages, besides a large number of exhibits.

It made a heavy load for a stout page to carry from Mr. Ives' desk to the Clerk's table, and as it was placed there a shrill cries of "Darin's baby!" "His only child!" etc., Mr. Davin entered, and advancing to the table requested that the ample proportions of the report with such evident satisfaction as to cause considerable amusement.

An examination of the report shows that 137 charges were made and that 58 of them were proved in whole or in part.

In concluding his report, Judge Wetmore says: "Of all the charges, some of the matters of complaint brought home to the commissioner were the outcome of too much zeal on his part. Some arose from mistake of the law or from misapprehension of his powers. These mistakes and misapprehensions are such as any person in his position might be likely to make, and do not strike my mind as being of such a character as to amount to misconduct in office. The most learned and experienced judges make mistakes at times and misconceive the extent of their powers, and it is not a matter of surprise that the commissioner has sometimes done so.

"As to the remainder of the charges brought home to him I have nothing to add beyond this: That a very large proportion of them are attributable to infirmity of temper, brusqueness of manner or hasty conduct.

"I have to report that I found the relations existing between the commissioner and a large number of the commissioned officers of the force very much strained. I am fully prepared to state on whose shoulders the blame lies for this state of things. Of course it is illegal on the one side that it is owing to the commissioner's infirmity of temper, his brusque manner and his want of tact. On the other hand it is a legal that the fact that the commissioner was transferred from one of the Departments of the Civil Service without any very great military experience to any record in the police force, and placed over the heads of officers who had had long experience in the force, created a jealousy which has not been assuaged, but which has grown and gained strength until the present state of affairs has been brought about. As my commission did not authorize me to inquire into the state of the force, but merely into the conduct of the commissioner, I have not got before me the material necessary to enable me to express an opinion on this subject. It will be observed that none of the charges brought home to the commissioner affect his honesty, his business capacity or his efficiency of the force under his management."

Brigadier Sam Hughes, M.P., so it is said around the House to-night, is to raise a regiment of Ulster boys for service in Ireland to resist the Home Rule Parliament if it is inaugurated. Robert Birmingham of Toronto is to go as his adjutant.

Mr. Costsworth gives notice to-night that whenthe bill to amend the criminal code in Committee of the Whole he will move an amendment to the sub-sections of section 197 defining betting houses, which will have the effect of prohibiting betting on events which take place outside Canada, and also to add a new sub-section to section 204 which relates to betting and pool selling as follows:

"The provisions of this section shall apply to a bet or wager selling any pools whether the event or events upon which such bet, wager or pool is based takes place or happens either in Canada or any other part of Her Majesty's dominions or in a foreign country."

Mr. McCarthy gives notice to-night of another batch of questions with regard to cigar and cotton manufactories.

BASEBALL NEXT SEASON.

Pennants Promised for All Canadian Leagues.

Toronto, March 4.—There promises to be a big boom in the game of baseball in Canada the coming season. Of their own accord clubs all over the country have shown unusual activity, and they will have an additional stimulus in the shape of trophies that will be given by the big firm of A. G. Spalding & Bros. of New York and Chicago.

Spalding cannot see that he will award the championship flag in any regular organized league in Canada a flag which will be taken as a possible and will have the same of the winning club on it. The pennant can be outlined on their grounds or kept in a showcase.

All the requirements asked are that each league be composed of four clubs or more, that each nine play not less than 12 games. Spalding does not even demand that his balls be used in championship contests, but these implements of baseball warfare are in such general use that this clause was scarcely necessary.

The trophies are given for wholesale houses, printing offices, old clubs in any districts, or in fact any four clubs that like that sort of thing. A set is from Halifax to Vancouver to organize and play ball for the prizes. The Messrs. Spalding have left the distribution of the pennants to the discretion of A. N. Garrett of the Toronto University team, who will furnish prospective leagues with copies of constitutions for amateur leagues and any other information necessary.

COMING CONTESTS.

Hanlan Will Train for His Races On the Passaic, New York.

Toronto, March 4.—Ned Hanlan arrived home from New York yesterday. He had not seen Hosmer, who arrived in America on the City of Paris Wednesday.

"Yes; everything is complete for my races with Ross and Gaudaur. I will leave soon for New York to train on the Passaic."

He had not been heard from recently from Bubear and could not say whether the Englishman would come out or not.

In an interview with a New York Hosmer explained that he would discount Bubear's win. On the contrary he thinks the Englishman good enough to give even Hanlan a strong argument. He described him as "a much improved man, particularly in the art of getting away fast." Hosmer and party went on to Newark last night. The Bostonian wants to order a new "Ruddick" for the coming season.

PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

They Resolve To Request the Government To Remove the Duties.

Toronto, March 4.—At yesterday's meeting of the Patrons of Industry officers for the ensuing year were elected and the reports of several committees received and acted upon. With regard to the trade question it was resolved that the time has come when, in accordance with the spirit of clauses 9 and 10 of the Patrons' platform, we should request the Government to remove the duties from imports, especially those necessaries of life, coming from Great Britain.

It was recommended that that portion of the Labor Injuries Act which relates to agricultural labor liabilities be repealed.

It was recommended that the Ontario Government be asked to comply with plank No. 8 in the platform with regard to the appointment of Government officials.

AN ELOPEMENT CASE.

The Judge Gave the Woman Six Months and Let the Man Go.

Ottawa, March 4.—Mrs. Duryck and Louis Romaine, whose elopement, escape and subsequent arrest at Renfrew created such a sensation in that neighborhood, were tried before Judge Dascon. Mrs. Duryck pleaded guilty to charge of unlawful cohabitation and was sentenced to six months in the County jail with hard labor.

Romaine was tried for unlawful cohabitation and was sentenced to 18 months in Central Prison. For the larceny of Duryck's goods he was sentenced to six months' extra imprisonment.

A Flickering Flame.

Amherstburg, March 4.—The Anneaxation Club held its first meeting at the town hall last night. Over 500 people attended, among them many ladies. There was large representations of farmers. Abb. Patterson, president of the club, occupied the chair. The principal speaker was S. R. Clark of Toronto.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasa Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Itor & Co.* Brockville, Ont.

Balmoral Bulletin.

Sirs,—I had a troublesome cold which nothing would relieve until I tried Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and I am glad to say is completely relieved me.

News About Town.

It is the current report around town that Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with Coughs, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The Large Bottles are 50c and $1.

Reduced to a Science.

The treatment of disease is now almost reduced to a science. A scientific product of unrivalled merit for the cure of all blood diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore, which has held popular esteem for years and increases steadily in favor is Burdock Blood Bitters. Its cure proves its worth.

Chronic derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Blood, are speedily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulate into healthful action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and renewing life and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pill's.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND,

HE HAS GIVEN HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

A Description of the Procession—Soldiers From All Parts of the Nation—Grover and His Fair Wife Installed in the Executive Mansion.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Grover Cleveland of New York was Saturday inducted into the high office of President of the United States for his second term, with all the appropriate ceremonies and the gathering of a mighty multitude.

Saturday also saw Governors of 11 great states, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts in the north and east, of Pennsylvania and Maryland among the Middle States, of Georgia, North and South Carolina and Louisiana in the south and of Wisconsin in the far west, participated in the national ceremonies and thereby emphasized the complete restoration of national unity.

Had the atmospheric conditions been anything like favorable instead of being as bad as could possible be, there would probably have been 60,000 and a number of ladies marching or riding in the parade as against 20,000 in 1885. They were all here waiting to fall in line, but at the last moment many of the organizations were compelled to desist from participating. Never before on the occasion was the mads memorable by the vast attendance.

Every foot of standing room along the route of the procession, fully two miles in length, was occupied; windows commanding a view of the parade brought fabulous prices and advance seats in the public stands commanded prices ranging from $5 up and down. The main stand from which President Cleveland reviewed the parade was erected immediately in front of the White House. It was 150 feet long and quite deep, and had a comfortable seating capacity of 1100 persons, 600 more than the corresponding stand erected on the same site for the inauguration of President Harrison. It was decorated with effective taste. Cushioned seats were provided for the President and his Cabinet, who surrounded him, and reviewing chairs were supplied for the diplomatic corps, who were arranged immediately behind him. On either side were seats for Senators, members of the House of Representatives and specially invited guests. The nearest stand to that of the President was assigned to representatives of the press. It had a seating capacity of 200, and the applications to the press committee numbered a little over 2000.

A detailed and itemized report of the great inauguration parade, which started at 11.10 a. m. is impossible to give when a mere enumeration of the various regiments, companies, posts and civic organizations participating occupies three newspaper columns. But the notes and incidents of the parade are here set down at random. Among the magnificently mounted special aides who rode behind Grand Marshal MacMahon and his staff were representatives from every state and territory in the Union. The escort of honor of President Cleveland consisted of 100 members of the New York business men, Cleveland and Stevenson Association, representing 15 mercantile organizations in the Empire City.

The passage of the President along the avenue was a continual ovation of the most enthusiastic kind, the steady tramp of the superbly-drilled battalions of regulars, under the command of General Brooks, forming his escort. A feature distinctively novel was introduced into the parade by the engineer corps. This was the releasing of a number of carrier pigeons, with messages relating to the success of the inauguration destined for Philadelphia, Baltimore, Annapolis and other points. Still another original feature was afforded by the Military Bicycle Company, who mounted upon their wheels and retaining full control of them, at the same time handled their small arms with a dexterity that indicated that the innovation in military tactics lacked nothing of success.

Reminders of Homestead came to many of the spectators, when Governor Patterson of Pennsylvania rode by at the head of the 15 regiments of Blue-coated Pennsylvania troops which had been under arms and equipped with all the essentials for active operations in the field.

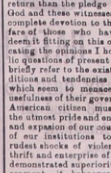

The appearance of gray-coated General Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, in command of the third division, was the signal for a fresh renewal of the enthusiastic ovation which greeted him when he appeared in line on the occasion of Mr. Cleveland's first inauguration. Thereafter came a procession of governors, all of whom were cheered.

Prominent among the horsemen who led the civic division of the parade was Buffalo Bill. He rode side by side with the venerable and picturesque New Yorker, General Josiah Porter, and they made a team that was in itself a feature of the division. Headed by Governor Flower and staff, the appearance of 3000 Tammany braves was a revelation to many of the spectators.

THE ADDRESS.

A Summary of the Existing Position of American Affairs and His Policy.

My Fellow-Citizens:

CLEVELAND

In obedience to the mandate of my countrymen, I am about to dedicate myself to the service exacted by the sanction of a solemn oath. Deeply moved by the expression of confidence and personal attachment which has called me to this service, I am sure my gratitude will be shown in my return than the pledge I now give before God and these witnesses of unreserved and complete devotion to the interests and welfare of those who have honored me. I deem it fitting on this occasion, while indicating the opinions I hold concerning public questions of present importance, to also briefly refer to the existence of certain conditions and tendencies among our people which seem to menace the integrity and usefulness of their government. While every American citizen must contemplate with the utmost pride and enthusiasm the growth and expansion of our country, the sufficiency of our institutions to stand against the rudest shocks of violence, the wonderful thrift and enterprise of our people and the demonstrated superiority of our free government, it behooves us to constantly watch for every symptom of insidious infirmity that threatens our national vigor. The strong man, made in confidence of sturdy health, courts the sternest activities of life and rejoices in the hardihood of constant labor, may still have lurking near his vitals the unheeded disease that dooms him to his sudden collapse.

It cannot be doubted that our stupendous achievements as a people and our country's robust strength have given rise to a heedlessness of those laws governing our national health which we can no more elude than human life can escape the laws of God and nature.

Manifestly nothing is more vital to our supremacy as a nation and to the beneficent purposes of our government than a sound and stable currency. Its exposure to degradation should at once arouse to activity the most enlightened statesmanship, and the danger of depreciation in the purchasing power of the wages paid to the laboring man should furnish the strongest incentive to prompt and conservative precautions. In dealing with our present embarrassing situation as related to this subject we will be wise if we temper our confidence and faith in our national strength and resources with the frank concession that even these will not permit us to defy with impunity the inexorable laws of finance and trade. At the same time, in our efforts to adjust differences of opinion we should be free from intolerance of passion, and our judgment should be unmoved by alluring phrases and unvexed by selfish interests.

I am confident that such an approach to the subject will result in prudent and effective remedial legislation. In the meantime, so far as the executive branch of the Government can intervene, none of the powers with which it is invested will be withheld when their exercise is deemed necessary to maintain our national credit or avert financial disaster.

Closely related to the exaggerated confidence in our country's greatness, which tends to a disregard of the rules of national safety, another danger confronts us not less serious, I refer to the prevalence of a popular disposition to expect from the operation of the government especial and direct individual advantages.

The verdict of our voters, which condemned the injustice of maintaining protection for protection's sake, enjoins upon the people's servants the duty of exposing and destroying the brood of kindred evils which threaten the unwholesome progeny of paternalism. This is the bane of Republican institutions, and the constant peril of our government by the people. It degrades to the purposes of witchcraft the plan of rule our fathers established and bequeathed to us as an object of our love and veneration. It perverts the patriotic sentiment of our countrymen and tempts them to a pitiful calculation of the gain to be derived from their government's maintenance. It undermines the self reliance of our people and substitutes in its place dependence upon governmental favoritism. It stifles the spirit of true Americanism and stupefies every ennobling trait of American citizenship. The lessons of this examination ought to be unlearned and the better lesson taught that while the people should patriotically and cheerfully support their government its functions do not include the support of the people. The acceptance of this principle leads to a refusal by the people of benefactions which burden the labor and thrift of a portion of our citizens to aid ill advised or languishing enterprises in which they have no concern. It leads also to a challenge of wild and reckless pension expenditure which overleaps the bounds of grateful recognition of patriotic service and prostitutes to vicious uses the people's prompt and generous impulse to aid those disabled in their country's defence.

Every thoughtful American must realize the importance of checking its beginning—any tendency in public or private station to regard frugality and economy as virtues which we may safely outgrow. The toleration of this idea results in the waste of the people's money by their chosen servants and encourages prodigality and extravagance in the home life of our countrymen. Under our scheme of government the waste of public money is a crime against the citizen, and the contempt of our people for economy and frugality in their personal affairs deplorably saps the strength and sturdiness of our national character.

It is a plain dictate of honesty and good government that public expenditures should be limited by public necessity and that this should be measured by the rules of strict economy, and it is equally clear that frugality among the people is the best guarantee of a contented and strong support of free institutions. One mode of misappropriation of public funds is avoided when appointments to office, instead of being the rewards of partisan activity, are awarded to those whose discovery promises a fair return of work for the compensation paid to them. To secure the fitness and competency of appointees to office and to remove from political action the demoralizing madness for spoils civil service reform has found a place in our public policy and laws. The benefits already gained through this instrumentality and the further usefulness it promises entitle it to the hearty support and encouragement of all who desire to see our public service well performed or who hope for the elevation of political sentiment and purification of political methods.

The existence of immense aggregations of kindred enterprises and combinations of business interests formed for the purpose of limiting production and fixing prices, is inconsistent with the fair field which ought to be open to every independent activity. Legitimate effects in business should not be superseded by an enforced concession to the demands of combinations that have the power to destroy. Nor should the people to be served lose the benefit of cheapness which usually results from wholesome competition. These aggregations and combinations frequently constitute conspiracies against the interests of the people, and as in all other forms they are unnatural and opposed to our American sense of fairness, to the extent that they can be reached and restrained by federal power, the general government should relieve our citizens from their interference and exactions. Loyalty to the principles upon which our government rests positively demands that the equality before the law which it guaranteeses to every citizen should be justly and in good faith conceded in all parts of the land. The enjoyment of this right follows the badge of citizenship wherever found, unimpaired by race or color it appeals for recognition to American manliness and fairness. Our relations with the Indians lately settled within our borders impose upon us responsibility we cannot escape. Humanity and consistency require us to treat them with forbearance, and in our dealings with them to honestly and considerately regard their rights and interests. Every effort should be made to lead them through the paths of civilization and education, to self-supporting and independent citizenship. In the meantime, as the nation's wards, they should be promptly defended against the cupidity of designing men and shielded from every influence or temptation that retards their advancement.

The people of the United States have decreed that on this day the control of their government in its legislative and executive branches shall be given to a political party pledged in the most positive terms to the accomplishment of tariff reform. They have thus determined in favor of a more just and equitable system of federal taxation. The agents they have chosen to carry out their purposes are bound by their promises, not less than by the command of their masters, to devote themselves unremittingly to this service. While there should be no surrender of principle, our task must be undertaken

A Man Made Happy.

GENTLEMEN,—For five years I had been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only a drag to me. When I would go to bed I would have terrible dreams, and my life became very miserable as there was no rest day or night. But with the use of two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, no one was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the curative qualities of the medicine. I have personally adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia A lady customer of mine had been a Dyspeptic for had she could scarcely eat anything and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your med cine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim.

Dangers of Delay

If we were allowed to look into the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how different would our course be! could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the slender disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? It is not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, loss of voice, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this complaint. One of the most efficacious remedies for all throat and pulmonary troubles, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system

As Parmelee's Vegetable Pills cost us Manufacturers and Dealers only one-third what Kidney complaints with unerring certainty. They also contain roots and herbs which have specific virtues fully wonderful in their action on the stomach and bowels. Mr. E. A. Cairncross, Shakespear writes: "I consider Parmelee's Pills an excellent remedy for biliousness and derangement of the liver, having used them myself for some time."

EMPEROR WILLIAM

His speeches are Toning Down and Create Surprise.

BERLIN, March 6.—The Emperor's speech before the members of the Brandenburg Diet has made an exceedingly favorable impression. It was temperate, thoughtful and earnest, and showed that the latter year's experience on the throne has done much to tone down the rash aggressiveness which has characterized the Emperor's former utterances to his Brandenburgers.

A member of the Diet, who was at the banquet, says that the speech was evidently prepared with great care, as the Emperor spoke from such voluminous notes that he might have said very much or very little while twisting the political allusions to suit their partisan tendencies, all the newspapers were unwilling to take that Emperor was moderate and sagacious in his declarations and gave evidence of a desire not to arouse such conflicts as had been excited by his earliest utterances.

The supporters of the Government are somewhat disappointed because the Emperor failed to declare himself in the Agrarian Conservatives forthcoming opposition to the Military bill, but all others agree that the political effects might better be left to the Chancellor.

The most significant political events of the last week tend to confirm the opinion that the Army Bill will pass practically unaltered.

The defection of Major Hugo Hinze, Radical member of the Parliamentary Commission, from the ranks of Eugene Richter's uncompromising opposition is represented by Richter and his Freisinnige Zeitung to be unimportant and without influence upon the other Radical deputies, who are still ready to fight the Army bill through thick and thin. This statement, however, is largely bluff, as both Rickert and Bamberger, other Radical leaders, little less influential than Richter, are ready to lead their Parliamentary colleagues against the bill. Hinze got into the Government camp if they only can get a few concessions in return from the Chancellor.

That the Radicals would have been brought thus far is regarded as a substantial triumph of Chancellor Von Caprivi, as for almost a century they have maintained a place in the Opposition hardly less uncompromising than the Social Democrats.

Much surprise is expressed in some quarters that the Chancellor has refused the concessions offered for the National Liberals by Herr von Bennigsen. This course is approved by the Conservatives, who oppose anything looking toward a curtailment of the proposed increase of the peace effective, in their opinion the most important item of the bill.

BRITISH COMMENT.

Cleveland's Inaugural Address Is Acceptable In England.

LONDON, March 6.—The Daily News says: "It was worthy of the occasion which is recognized universally as by far the greatest one Americans have known since the Civil War."

The Daily Telegraph says: "Mr. Cleveland's brave words would have been more convincing to our minds of great reforms if he had not already been in power and failed to do much to root out the plagues of American life."

The Daily Chronicle says: "It is a long time since an American president has had the courage to speak such words to his countrymen."

The Morning Post says: "The address breathes throughout a resolute, practical tone."

The Times says: "The address boldly grapples with the most crying evils in American politics in language of refreshing directness."

FIRE AT LAKEFIELD.

LAKEFIELD, Ont., March 6.—Last night a fire broke out in the canoe factory on the Lakefield Lumber Company and occupied by Strickland & Co. as a canoe factory. Gerald Fitzgerald as a blacksmith shop, and the Lakefield Electric Light Co. The building and contents were totally destroyed. The fire was not discovered until the whole structure was a mass of flames.

The firemen directed their attention towards saving the wooden mills and lumber, which was the great danger owing to the high wind. Origin of the fire unknown. Lakefield Electric Light Co.'s loss is about $2,000; no insurance. Strickland & Co.'s loss about $2,500; partly insured. G. Fitzgerald's is about $200; loss on building about $600; partly insured. Strickland & Co. lost 10 canoes, just finished for the World's Fair exhibit at Chicago.

A MOTHER'S HORROR.

The Lifeless Body of Her 7-Year-Boy Swinging From Her Clothes Line.

WINNIPEG, March 6.—While two sons of Henry Cook of East Selkirk were playing upstairs, one of them, seven years old, twisted a clothes line, that was hanging from the ceiling, around his neck and got on a cradle and jumped off. He remained there for some time until the other boy, a three-year-old brother told his mother, who was down stairs, of the occurrence. When the mother went upstairs her son was hanging lifeless.

St. John's Again Suffers.

ST. JOHN'S, Que., March 6.—Our town was last evening the scene of a conflagration second only to that of 1876, in the destruction of the manufacturing portion of the St. John's Stone-Chinaware Company's Works, owned and operated by Messrs. D. & A. MacDonald, covering a space of 300 feet square, built on the four sides.

The fire was observed shortly before 6 o'clock, and though some 10 streams were poured into it from different directions persistently, continued to advance and burn until early morning, gutting the four buildings.

The loss is estimated at $100,000, on which there is $54,000 of insurance.

THE WEST HASTINGS CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the West Hastings Conservative Association held in the Oddfellows' hall on Saturday afternoon was at once unanimous and enthusiastic. It was the largest and most representative meeting held within the history of the society. Mr. Robt. Weddell of Trenton, and Mr. N. B. Falkiner, of Belleville, were candidates for the presidency. After a ballot was taken President John Taylor declared Mr. Falkiner duly elected, which was made unanimous. Mr. Falkiner is an old resident of Belleville and has done faithful and effective service for the party. In conferring upon him the presidency the party has paid a graceful tribute to his worth. He will make a good officer.

MINING IN NORTH HASTINGS.

Mr. W. A. Hungerford Will Operate His Mine This Spring.

Mr. F. R. Lingham returned on Saturday from a ten days' trip among the mines in North Hastings. The Belmont gold mine near Marmora owned by A. W. Carscallen, M.P., and others, now being operated by Crawford Bros., has been sunk a depth of 140 feet with an average of five feet in width. It shows an average of over five ounces of gold to the ton. The Crawford Bros. have just put in a powerful steam pump which is pumping one hundred gallons of water per minute. They have also ordered new boilers and mills which will double their capacity. The company will soon be in a position to handle from thirty to forty tons of ore per day.

Another plant of Crawford mills has been ordered for W. A. Hungerford's mine in Madoc. The mine will be operated as soon as spring fairly sets in.

The Carter Walker process which has been in course of construction during the winter will be in full operation this month, treating ores from the old Gaffney mine now owned by H. Corby, M.P., and Messrs. John Walker and U. E. Thompson. Mr. Lingham says that the mines of North Hastings are showing sings of development.

A DISGRACEFUL EXHIBITION.

The Hastings Cocking Main Was to Have Taken place at Cobourg.

Cobourg Sentinel-Star: "A few days ago Chief Rankin got wind of a cocking main which was to have been held in this district. As near as the Chief could learn, the fight was to be between Peterboro and Belleville birds, and was to take place near Harwood. A change was made in the program, however, for the cock fight was held near Hastings on Monday. Brown, of Belleville, handled the Bay city birds, and Billy Graham, of Peterboro, performed a like service for the birds from his native city. Considerable money changed hands. The contest was declared a draw, though it is admitted that the chances of victory were decidedly in favor of Peterboro. As the close each town had one dead to its credit, and several badly wounded."

Will Kill Consumption.

The Norwegian cod is destined to kill consumption. It has always been known that its oil, when properly prepared, contains all the potent elements for rebuilding wasting tissues in the human body. The difficulty has been to conserve the energies of the oil in its refining, and this has only been accomplished by the manufacturers of "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." All who suffer with lung troubles, and of course all who are threatened with consumption, should take it. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at all drug stores.

Mr. Hugh Caldwell, Clydesdale, Ont., writes: "My daughter was troubled with female weakness, and for more than a year was under the care of doctors and taking medicine without getting relief. I then got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for her and they have completely cured her. All dealers or by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50. Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville Ont.

"Satisfactory Results."

So says Dr. Carlett, an old and honored practitioner, in Belleville, Ontario, who writes: "For Wasting Diseases and Scrofula I have used Scott's Emulsion with the most satisfactory results."

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is hardly a more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on coat collars or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists on scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandruffine works quick and sure, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

wisely and without vindictiveness. Our mission is not punishment, but the rectification of wrongs. If in lifting burdens from the daily life of our people we reform inordinate and unequal advantages too long enjoyed, this is but a necessary incident of our return to right and justice. If we exact from unwilling minds acquiescence in the theory of an honest distribution of the fund of governmental beneficence treasured up for all, we but insist upon a principle which underlies our free institutions. When we set aside the delusions and misconceptions which have blinded our countrymen to their condition under vicious tariff laws, we but show them how far they have been led away from the paths of contentment and prosperity. When we proclaim that the necessity for revenue to support the government furnishes the only justification for laying the people under any tribute, we but declare a truth so plain that its denial would seem to indicate the extent to which judgment may be influenced by familiarity with perversions of the taxing power, and when we seek to reinstate the self-confidence and business enterprise of our citizens by discrediting an abject dependence upon Governmental favor, we strive to stimulate those elements of our national greatness by appeals which will find a response in the conscience of every citizen. They found that the ground on which Sandgate stands had sunk several feet and that a less subsidence had extended throughout the surrounding district, affecting in all about a square mile. Many cottages had been wrecked completely and the better built houses had been cracked and thrown out of plumb so that they could not be occupied with safety. Nevertheless many of the inhabitants returned to town towards morning.

Between 5 and 6 o'clock, however, they were frightened away by further subsidence of the ground and the accompanying rumblings. These phenomena have been repeated several times during the day and the town is practically deserted. As far as known no lives have been lost.

The disaster was caused by a landslip. The town is built upon a comparatively low cliff close to the sea. The waves are believed to have undermined the cliff, which then settled and slipped toward the water, carrying with it the town. Two hundred houses were destroyed.

GEORGIA'S CYCLONE.

Much Property Destroyed and Considerable Loss of Life Reported.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 6.—Last night a terrible wind storm swept across several counties 50 miles north of Columbus, doing great damage and causing considerable loss of life. The storm came from the northwest and struck Greenville, the county seat of Meriwether County, about 8.30 o'clock, demolishing the business part of the town and a great number of dwellings.

Thirty-eight stores and dwellings are reported to have been blown down and but three business houses in the whole town were left intact. Every house was damaged to a greater or less extent. Only one person was killed, a negro woman. No one was injured.

Odessa, a small town near Greenville, is reported to have been completely swept away; six persons were killed. At Woodbury, 10 miles east of Greenville, houses were blown down and trees uprooted, but fortunately no lives were lost. The people at Woodbury are preparing storm pits as places of refuge in case of a repetition of last night's reign of terror. About two miles from the town two negroes and one white child were killed. Many are reported to be seriously wounded. A heavy snow fell also at Woodbury this morning.

At Molena, in Pike County, a church, academy, planing mill, two stores and several residences were blown down. Five lives were lost, a white woman named Mrs. Fell and four negroes. Telegraph wires are down. Trains coming in are delayed, and but meagre information can be obtained from points distant from the railway.

Advices from Piedmont, Pike County, a few miles distant from Molena, report that only two houses out of 20 remain standing. A lady named Hawkins was killed and her parents badly wounded. Almost everyone in the town was wounded to some extent.

OSCAR WILDE'S EPIGRAMS.

"Lady Windermere's Fan" Abounds in Things That Sound Well

Oscar Wilde has bombarded London society in his play "Lady Windermere's Fan" in a way that must convince his skeptical New York audiences that he is not the arrant idiot that a goodly portion of popular opinion would him to be. At least this peculiar esthete, who lunched on the contemplation of a lily, has shown himself to be an adept genuine in the way he has trained his guns of satrical epigram upon the foibles which he sees about him. Those who have come within the range of his shots will perhaps be converted to the belief that Gilbert and Sullivan did not know whereof they sang when they fashioned their Bunthrone in "Patience" after his mold.

The play as it was produced in Boston and as it is now given at Palmer's, in New York, has proved enough of a success to insure its production in other prominent cities, and its appearance in Chicago may be anticipated. The story is fairly well known. Briefly, there is a wealthy husband whose mother-in-law is an adventuress; his wife thinks her mother dead. The husband tries to rehabilitate the adventuress without his wife's knowledge and of course gets himself into trouble. The adventuress finally does a good deed by saving her daughter from the consequences of a rash act committed while in a wild state of indignation over the husband's attentions to her own mother, in whom she suspects a rival. The plot is so improbable that little of the value of the play lies in this direction. There is, however, a wash of epigram such as no other play of the day can equal. Sifted to their true meaning these flings at modern humanity, with the fashionables of London as an example, may not mean a great deal. They sound well, however, when delivered across the footlights, and they have a penetrating look when reduced to type. A few of the best of them are the following:

Men become old, but they never become good.

As soon as people are old enough to know better they don't know anything at all.

So many people pretend to be good that it is sweet and modest in pretend to be bad.

Women like to find us irretrievably bad and leave us hopelessly good.

A cynic is a man who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing.

Relatives are a nuisance, but they make us very respectable.

I prefer women with a past. They have so much to talk about.

Whenever people agree with me I feel I must be wrong.

I can resist everything—except temptation.

There is nothing in the world like the devotion of a married woman. It is a thing that no married man knows anything about.

There are only two tragedies in life—not getting what you want and getting it. The last is the worst.

London is full of women who treat their husbands. One can always recognize them, they look so thoroughly unhappy.

I am the only person in the world I should like to know thoroughly.

Nature's gentleman—the worst type of gentleman.

My own business always bores me to death. I prefer other people's.

Scandal is gossip made serious by morality.

A woman who moralizes is invariably plain.

A sentimentalist is a man who gives an absurd value in everything and doesn't know the market price of any single thing.

Experience is the name a man usually gives to his mistakes.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Debate on the Manitoba School Question Expected To-Day.

OTTAWA, March 6.—The annual dinner of the Parliamentary Press gallery was held in the restaurant of the House of Commons Saturday, President Fred Cook presiding, and having on his right Hon. Messrs. Bowell, Dardis and Patterson, and on his left Hon. Messrs. Laurier and Daly. About 70 sat down, amongst them being a large number of members of Parliament. The dinner was an excellent one in every respect and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. E. L. Newcombe, the newly appointed Deputy Minister of Justice, arrived from Halifax Saturday and will probably enter upon the discharge of his duties at once.

The debate on the Manitoba school question commenced to-day, which will be a Government day, and Mr. Tarte will therefore have an opportunity of proposing his amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply. Just what Mr. Tarte's amendment will be is not known, but it is expected that it will include a censure of the Government for making a reference to the Supreme Court instead of proposing remedial legislation. Mr. Tarte will speak in both French and English, and it is said that the debate will last two or perhaps three days, as quite a large number of members, especially those from Quebec, intend to speak.

WEST HASTINGS.

A Meeting of the Conservatives Held in the City.

A LARGE AND REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING.

Officers Elected and Other Business Transacted—Able Addresses by Messrs. H. Corby, M.P., W. B. Northrup, M.P., and Others.

A meeting of the West Hastings Liberal Conservative Association was held on Saturday afternoon in the Oddfellows' hall in this city. The attendance was the largest that has been held for years, the large hall being filled. Representative men were present from the city of Belleville, town of Trenton and township of Sidney. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested and the interest shown augers well for the success of the party in future contests. A spirited election took place for the presidency which honor fell upon ex-Ald. N. B. Falkiner, of this city. His opponent, Mr. R. Weddell, is a well known resident of the town of Trenton, and is held in high esteem by the residents of that town and also throughout the entire riding. Mr. John Taylor since occupying the office of president has done all in his power to promote the party's interest. Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., who has been secretary of the Association for a number of years was compelled to resign owing to his parliamentary duties and other business engagements. He has also proved to be a painstaking and efficient officer and rendered valuable service to the cause of Conservatism.

At a few minutes after 2 o'clock the president, Mr. John Taylor, called the meeting to order. On motion Mr. J. F. Wills was elected secretary pro tem.

Among others present were the following gentlemen:

SIDNEY—Peter Grass, Jas. S. Harvey, W. Cronter, C. Taylor, M. Strong, J. S. Dench, Geo. Fletcher, P. P. Pettit, Wm. Lott, Geo. Oatrom, F. Jeffers, S. Vanderroort, Geo. Lavey, T. Ketcheson, Henry Fenn, R. Fenn, T. Gay, J. Gay, T. H. B. Purdy, J. Chisholm, P. Armstrong, Geo. Winters, Wm. Johnson, C. W. Ketcheson.

BELLEVILLE—H. Corby, M.P., W. B. Northrup, M.P., John Taylor, Ald. Collins, ex-Ald. Foster, J. E. Hallwell, Ald. Walmsley, N. B. Falkner, J. A. Campion, I. Diamond, J. Vandervoort, L. H. Henderson, J. McKeown, W. Alford, W. Mikel, E. Roblin, J. J. Panter, F. Wallbridge, ex-Mayor McIntosh, M. M. Thompson, W. A. Hungerford, G. Denmark, J. Irwin, ex-Mayor Bogart, A. J. Bird, Ald. Wills, J. P. Thomas, W. P. McMahon, R. Hamilton, J. Hall, R. C. Tulins, Major Caswell, J. McFee, W. Morden, Allan McFee, Jas. D. Clarke, A. Ketcheson, J. Bonar, Thos. Thompson, A. N. Reid, J. McMullen, Ald. Starling, G. Gorman, E. G. Porter, S. Masson.

TRENTON.—G. W. Ostrom, R. Weddell, Thos. German, P. J. Peterson, J. Kenney, R. Grass, O. Weaver, John Samson, Thos. Samson, A. Young, W. H. Polly, T. Asselstine, T. McCabe, J. Peck, Mayor Jacques, M. B. Morrison, J. Skelton, Dr. Hawley, A. Arnott, Jacob Hendricks.

The president in his opening remarks said he was pleased to see such a large number present at the meeting. It showed that much interest was taken in the Conservative association of West Hastings. He referred to the fact that since the last meeting of the Association two elections had been held in the riding. The first was for the local house. We had in that contest a good candidate, Mr. G. W. Ostrom, but because there were divisions in the ranks he was defeated, and Belleville in that election gave a split majority. Had the party been united, as they should have been, the Conservative candidate would no doubt have been elected. Following was the general election for the Dominion Parliament. In that contest we had another good candidate, Mr. H. Corby, and the party being once more united he was returned, over the silver tongued orator, by a large majority. Another event of great moment had occurred since they had met, namely, the death of our lamented chief, Sir John Macdonald. Another Sir John, however, was chosen to lead the party and it successfully for some time, but was forced by ill health to retire. A third Sir John arose, and he has proven to be a great leader. He was to-day the greatest statesman in Canada. He (the speaker) was satisfied that with Sir John at the helm, an old Belleville boy, Hon. M. Bowell, as first mate, the ship of state would be successfully sailed over the rocks and quicksands which the grits would like to see it fall into. In regard to the presidency he would like to see a young man selected who could both speak and work. Since he had been president he had done all he could for the Association, and thanked them for the kindness extended to him whilst in office. (Loud cheers.)

Nominations for the presidency were then called for.

Mr. I. Diamond, of Belleville, moved, seconded by Mr. Geo. Ostrom, of Sidney, that Mr. N. B. Falkiner be president.

Ex-Ald. W. C. Mikel, of Belleville, moved, seconded by Terrence McCabe, of Trenton, that Mr. ROBT. WEDDELL be president.

These two gentlemen were the only nominations made. Ex Mayor Bogart and Mr. R. Grass were chosen scrutineers. A ballot was prepared and circulated; the scrutineers gathered them up and repaired to another room to count them; some 150 ballots were cast. Ex Mayor Bogart announced that Mr. Falkiner had been chosen by a majority of those present. This announcement was received with loud cheers.

The new president then took the chair, and presided at the meeting.

On motion of Mr. Jas. D. Clarke, seconded by G. W. Ostrom, Mr. J. F. Wills was chosen Secretary.

The following Vice-Presidents were selected:

BELLEVILLE—J. McKeown, A. N. Reid, and H. Walker.

SIDNEY—C. Armstrong, E. Ketcheson and Henry Fenn.

TREASURER—C. Bogart.

At this stage of the proceeding, the president stated that owing to Mr. Taylor being unwell, he was forced to retire. Before he went, however, he would propose three cheers, which were given heartily. The following resolutions were also unanimously adopted:

Moved by Mr. G. W. Ostrom, seconded by Mr. J. F. Wills, that the thanks of this association are hereby tendered to John Taylor, the retiring president of the West Hastings Liberal Conservative Association, for the very able, energetic and satisfactory manner in which he has presided over the association, and looked after the best interest of the association and party.

Mr. H. Corby, M.P., was called upon, and on coming forward was received with loud cheers. He first congratulated Mr. Falkner upon receiving the presidency. He was also pleased to see such a large and representative gathering present. It showed that the Conservatives of West Hastings were alive to the interest of the party. As this was the first meeting held since the general election, he wished to thank his many friends for the manner in which they supported him in the last contest. He considered it a great compliment to represent West Hastings. He would do all in his power to further the interests of the constituency and the Dominion at large. The National Policy was not in his opinion a dead letter: It had built up this country as nothing else had done. The tariff can, however, be revised, if it was found necessary to do so. The policy of the Grit party was free trade. The country was, however, in the hands of a party which had its interest at heart. The Hon. Mr. Foster, Hon. M. Bowell and other members of the cabinet, intended during the vacation to make a tour of the country and take evidence from the farmers, manufacturers and others in reference to the country's need. The next session of parliament would in consequence be a most important one. If it was found necessary, an increase or a decrease in the duties would be made. In speaking about corn, he said the distillers paid the same amount of duties as did the farmers, namely 7½c per bushel. It would be a benefit to the latter to him (the speaker) if the duty was removed, as it would put $5,600 a year in his pocket, but he voted against free corn, because he was not sent to parliament to see his position in his own interest. In conclusion he urged them to be thoroughly organized, in case an election was held. He was prepared to work for the party's interest. We should be true to each other, and if this was done, West Hastings would always send a Conservative to represent it in parliament. He advised the forming of local associations in the city, town of Trenton and township of Sidney. He again thanked them for the honors which had been conferred upon him and resumed his seat amid loud applause.

Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., was the next speaker, and gave a short but excellent address. He thanked those present for the kindness which had been extended to him whilst he held a position in the Association. A new regime was about to be inaugurated, and it would no doubt be a successful one. He admonished them to see well after the voters' list. In speaking of the policy of the Dominion Government, he said the National Policy worked in the interest of all. If it was abolished, it would not be better for the farmer. Continuing in his remarks, the speaker stated that at a meeting of the East Hastings Reform Association recently held at Canifton, Mr. R. C. Clute challenged him (Mr. Northrup) to name one deputation who waited upon him asking him to use his influence in not having the duty taken off grain. He accepted the challenge, and named such representative men as Messrs. P. R. Daly, Wm. Clarke, Matthew Hill, Gilbert Latta, and R. Gordon, of Plainfield, who had waited upon him for this purpose. These gentlemen were known as thoroughly reliable men, and prominent men of East Hastings. The party which was in power had an abiding faith in the country, and were doing what they could for its welfare. The party had the confidence of the people in 1878, and had retained it ever since. In conclusion, he urged them to keep well organized, and be ready to do battle.

Mr. P. R. Daly was called upon, and spoke for a few minutes. He was much pleased with Mr. Corby's speech, as it had the right ring. In Mr. Corby and Mr. Northrup, the East and West Riddings had the right men in the right places. The former had showed that he was prepared to make self sacrifices for the country's welfare. He believed the N. P. had been one of the best things for the agriculturists of this country. As a farmer, he was willing that all the industries should be protected in their own market, but at the same time in the interest of the farmers, the duties on grain should remain as they are. If duty was taken off corn, it might just as well be taken off all cereals. Farmers often find fault with their representatives when they are not to blame. He appealed to the Conservatives of West Hastings to remain true to their principles.

Mr. G. W. Ostrom, M.P.P., was the next speaker. He was pleased to see such a large number present. It spoke well for the success of the party. Although he was defeated in the last local election, he personally was not sorry, but sorry for the party. The standard-bearer of the Conservative party in West Hastings could always be victorious if the party is united. The success of the Mowat Government was due to organization, in various forms. It was the most perfectly organized body in the country. The liquor license system was a great political organization, which aided the Government to an enormous extent. He (the speaker) would, however, remain true to the party and fight until death. We should be consolidated, and victory would be ours.

Mr. A. R. Dougall, Q.C., spoke vigorously for some time. He appealed to them to remain true to their principles, and remember the last exhortation of the late revered leader, never yield one single jot of the N.P. He was gone, but the conservatives would remain true to the policy which he inaugurated, remain true to the old flag for which our forefathers fought and died. If we remained true to England she would ever remain true and protect us should occasion arise.

Mr. N. B. Falkiner returned his thanks for the honor which had been conferred upon him. For thirty-seven years he had served in the ranks of the great Conservative party and he intended to still continue with them. We owe it to ourselves to remain true, to stand shoulder to shoulder. He was their servant and if such he was proud. He hoped that all would do what they could to make a complete organization and be ready to do battle when called upon.

The following two resolutions were carried by standing votes:

Moved by G. W. Ostrom, ex-M.P.P., seconded by Thos. German, that this Association desires to express its continued confidence in W. R. Meredith, Q.C., M.P.P., the leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition, and its belief that he will in no distant day lead the Conservative party to victory.

Moved by Mr. R. Weddell, seconded by J. S. Dench, that this meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association of West Hastings desire to place on record its confidence in the administration of Sir John Thompson and its belief that the maintenance of the N.P. is essential for the prosperous and prosperity of this country. We are desirous to express its belief that the maintenance of British connection, which was always so dear to our late revered chief will always be sacredly guarded by our present administration.

These resolutions were also unanimously adopted:

Moved by J. E. Hallwell, seconded by J. F. Wills, whereas it is desirable that a more complete organization of the Conservative party in West Hastings should be accomplished with a view to carrying the work of this association into the remotest corner of every polling sub-division, and giving each elector an active share in the work.

That a special committee be appointed to draft a plan of organization which shall be submitted to an adjourned meeting of this association, and which appointment shall be incorporated in the constitution of this association.

That said special committee shall be named by the president.

The meeting broke up after cheers had been given for the Queen, the Dominion Parliament, W. R. Meredith, and Messrs. H. Corby, M.P., W. B. Northrup, M.P., and President N. B. Falkiner.

This is the month of clearing up. Gough has reorganized business for 1893, and starts out to clear off the slate for Spring. Trade for 1892 has been larger than our most sanguine expectations hoped for. Profits have been small. Gough has cut his prices to meet the low prices of wheat, and if wheat goes lower, down will go Gough's prices. He won't be undersold by the farmer or see the farmer undersold.

CLEARING UP THE STOCK FOR SPRING.

Stock-taking is over, a lot of odd lots remain. They must go. Gough will almost give them away to clear. Come in and run through the counters and see your opportunity.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—A short time ago a person asked one of the Toronto Aldermen who owned the streets? He answered, The street cars and Salvation Army. We are without the street cars, but are well supplied in their place. We have a number of sports who monopolize Front Street, speeding their horses. The writer has on two occasions been compelled to turn directly in front of them, to the danger of both my own rig and theirs, to get out of the way of these gents, who were coming down the street 3 or 4 abreast, at a lively pace. If the gentlemen have Front Street in fee simple, then the Council should lose no time in having gates erected at both the bridges, so as to turn other teams up and down Pinnacle or Church streets. Pedestrians, by confining themselves to the sidewalks might escape, and if they wished to cross the street, might get safely over by looking both ways at once. If a youngster was killed now and then, it might not be missed so much, but if these sports ran into a load of our country cousins, got mixed up and knocked them into kingdom come, their friends might take it slightly amiss, and create a scene, you know. Only a few days ago the writer saw one of these Gilpins coming down by Brown's foundry; he pulled out to run by a butcher's rig; the boy applied the string, and they both came in neck and neck on the level run. The boy held up at Snell's meat shop, but on went the sport, narrowly escaping tearing a lady's dress at the crossing. Yours,

Rev. Dr. Scott and wife left this city today for Ceylon, where they will engage in missionary work. Before leaving for their field of labor, both pursued a course of medicine, and graduated with honors. Yesterday they were in the city and in the evening the rev. gentleman occupied the pulpit of the Holloway street church and preached a practical and earnest sermon from the scripture text, "occupy till I come." A large congregation was present and evinced much interest in the discourse.

NOTICE.

We desire to announce specially that to-day, March 6th, we are ready with our new display of BEDROOM and TEA SETS. We say that in Canada you can't find a finer exhibit. We can show 75 patterns in both lines, which we guarantee is double that of any house between Toronto and Montreal. We'll run these for the next month at regular wholesale prices. It has ever been one of our standing rules never to be undersold. We'll lead in our business at any cost. The fact that we lead is sufficient, though two reasons we can mention is that we can buy and do sell under others. Come and see these two lines while the choice is good. You already know we also lead in SILVER AND LAMPS. Saturday was an old fashioned business day. Its gratifying to figure up after such a day to feel that trade at the old reliable "Crystal Hall" never grows less and that the buying public are satisfied. We would say to our friends that we will be "AT HOME" for the next twelve months from seven a. m. to six p. m. every day at the old stand.

Endorsed by The Leaders

When a remedy is endorsed by ministers, editors, merchants, farmers and leading men of all classes, it is strong evidence that that remedy has great merit and does what it is claimed for it. Such a remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, its wonderful success as a cure for dyspepsia, bad blood, etc., is well known to both old and young.

Thomas Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes:—"I have been afflicted with Rheumatism for the last five years, and have tried many remedies without any relief. I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and found it gave me instant relief. I would recommend it to all.

There's no doubt about this being a great climate, but it is possible sometimes to get too much of a good thing.

There are many forms of nervous debility for men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous, night sweat, etc., should try them.

London, Ont., with its suburbs has a population of 35,000.

Those of the gentle sex who have experienced the pain and annoyance caused by excoriated nipples, and inflamed breasts, can well appreciate the value of a remedy which removes the trouble. This is precisely what Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil does, besides curing, when used internally, asthma, croup and other maladies.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

By

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

Sarah was rather glad to execute this order. She was of the opinion that Miss Lesley needed taking down a bit, and that this was the way that the Lord saw fit to do it. And it never occured to Miss Brooke to caution the woman against startling Lesley or hurting her feelings. She had been startled certainly, and almost overcome; but she belonged to a class of middle aged women who think that their emotions must necessarily be stronger than those of young people, because they are older and understand what sorrow means, whereas the reverse is usually the case. Besides, Miss Brooke quite underrated the warmth of Lesley's attachment for her father, and was not prepared to see her experiencing anything but shallow and commonplace regret.

So Sarah went to the house opposite and knocked at the door. She had not to wait long before the door was opened, for the whole household was out of bed. The maids were desperately clearing away all signs of festivity—flowers, wedding cake, the charming little breakfast that had been prepared for the guests—everything that told of wedding preparation, and had now such a mingly look. Under Mr. Fisher's direction the servants were endeavoring to restore the rooms to their wonted appearance. Ethel's trunks had been placed into an empty room; she would not want her trousseau now, poor child. The maids from the country was packing up and down the deserted dressing room; and the aunt was fussing about Ethel's dressing-room, nervously folding up articles of clothing and putting away trifles. All the blinds were drawn as if for a funeral. And in Ethel's own room, the girl lay on her bed, white and rigid as a corpse, with half-shut eyes that did not seem to see, and fingers so tightly closed that the nails almost ran into her soft palms. Since she had been laid there she had not spoken; no one could quite tell whether she were conscious or not; but Lesley, who sat beside her, and sometimes lay her cheek softly against that of the desolate young bride, or kissed the ashen-grey lips, divined by instinct that she was and upconscious although stunned by the force of the blow—that she was thinking, thinking, thinking all the time—thinking of her false lover, of the bitter Chloe Brooke, of her father, and passionately against the wall of darkness which had arisen between her and the future that she had planned for herself and Oliver.

Sarah asked at once for Miss Lesley Brooke, and Mrs. Durant came out of the dining-room to speak to the messenger.

Mrs. Durant Brooke wanted very particularly she asked. Miss Kenyon will not have any one else with her.'

'I think I must speak to Miss Lesley, ma'am; my mistress said I must,' said Sarah primly. Then forgetting her loyalty to her employers in her desire to be communicative, she went on—'Maybe you haven't heard what's happened ma'am. Mr. Brooke's been taken up on the charge of murder——'

This was not strictly true, but it was the way in which Sarah read facts.

'And Miss Brooke says Miss Lesley must come home, as it is not proper for her to stay.'

The horror deplistated on Mrs. Durant's face was quite as great as Sarah had anticipated, and even more so. For Mrs. Durant, a conventional and narrow-minded woman, who did know enough of Caspar Brooke's character to feel any indignation at the accusation; indeed she was the sort of woman who was likely to put a vulgar construction upon his motive, and regard it as probable that he had quarrelled with Oliver for not wishing to marry Lesley instead of Ethel Kenyon. And she at once grasped the situation. Under the situation—If Caspar Brooke had killed Ethel's lover—it was most improper that Caspar Brooke's daughter should be staying in the house.

'Of course!' she said, with a shocked face. 'Miss Lesley must go at once—naturally. It is very terrible! I shall much regret to Miss Brooke for sending—as Ethel's chaperon I couldn't undertake—I'll go upstairs and send her down to you.'

Sarah was left in the hall, while Mrs. Durant went upstairs. But after a time the lady came down with a troubled air.

'I can't get her to come,' he said. 'You must go up yourself, Sarah, and speak to her. She will come into the dressing room, she says, for a minute, but she can not leave Miss Kenyon for a longer time. You must tell her plainly what has happened, and then she will no doubt see the advisability of going away.'

Sarah went upstairs, therefore, and entered the dressing-room, where the old aunt was still busy; and in a minute or two Lesley appeared.

'What is it?' she said, briefly.

'Your aunt sent me to say you must come home at once, miss.'

'I cannot come just yet; Miss Kenyon wishes me to stay with her,' said Lesley, with dignity.

'You'd better come, Miss Lesley. I don't want to tell you the dreadful news just now; you'd better hear it at home. Then you'll be glad you came. It's your pa, miss.'

'My father! Oh, Sarah, what do you mean! Is he ill! Is he dead! What is it!'

'He has been arrested, miss, for killing Mr. Trent.'

Sarah spoke in a whisper, but it seemed to her hearers as if she had shouted the words at the top of her voice. Mrs. Durant pressed her hands together and uttered a little scream. Lesley turned deadly white and put her hand on the back of a chair, as if for support. And the old aunt immediately ran into the inner room, and burst into tears over Ethel's inanimate form, bewailing her, calling her a poor, injured, heartbroken girl, until Ethel opened her great dark eyes, and fixed them upon the aged, distorted face with a questioning look.

'Lesley!' she breathed. 'I want Lesley Brooke.'

'Oh, my dearest child, you must do without Lesley now. It is not fit that she should come to you.'

But Ethel's lips again formed the sounds: 'I want Lesley.' And the old lady continued——

'She must not come dear; you cannot see Lesley Brooke again. It is her father who has done this terrible thing—blighted your life, destroyed your happiness——'

And so she would have babbled on had not Ethel all at once raised herself in her bed, with white face and flaming eyes, and called in tones as clear and resonant as ever—

'Lesley! come back!'

And then the old aunt was silent; silent and amazed.

From the next room Lesley came, softly and swiftly as was her wont. Her face was pale, but her eyes and lips were steady. She went straight to Ethel; and was at once encircled by the girl's arms, and drew Ethel's head gently down upon her shoulder.

'Shall I go?' she whispered in Ethel's ear.

'No, no; don't leave me.'

'You know what they say? Can you trust my father?'

'I trust you both. Stay with me.'

Lesley raised he head and looked back at the little group of meddlesome women who had tried to tear her from her friend's side. At the look they all disappeared. They dare not say another word after meeting with the rebuke conveyed in Lesley's pale, set face and resolute eyes. They closed the door behind them and left the two girls alone.

For a long time neither spoke. Ethel seemed to have relapsed once more into that semi-unconscious state. Lesley sat motionless, pillowing her friend's head against her shoulder, and stroking one of her hands with her own. Now and then hot tears welled over and dropped upon Ethel's dark, curly head, but Lesley tried to wipe them away.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

DEBATE ON THE MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Mr. Tarte Censures the Government—The Premier Denied He Had Pledged Remedial Legislation or Had Any Terms With Archbishop Taché.

OTTAWA, March 7.—At five minutes to four the orders of the day were reached. Mr. D'Alton McCarthy and Mr. Tarte each had his eye fixed on Mr. Speaker, who was calmly contemplating the electroier in the ceiling, and the moment the assistant clerk called "No. 21 House again in Committee of Supply," both the member for L'Islet and the member for North Simcoe started to rise.

The member for L'Islet was the most active and sprang to his feet with the agility of a cat and called the "Mr. Speaker" before either somewhat heavier and slower member from North Simcoe had quite got into an erect position. He sank back and smiled as calmly as possible, while Mr. Tarte held the floor and began rattling away in French on the Manitoba school question, keeping up his speech until 10 minutes to 6, when he started to repeat his speech in English; but Mr. Speaker thought it unwise to commence a second speech at that hour, so he called it 6 o'clock and left the chair.

After recess Mr. Tarte continued his speech, varying his performance by speaking in English. He commenced by saying that we were face to face with a great political crisis, and asked who was to blame for it. Judging from The Toronto Mail, Winnipeg Tribune and other English papers, it was made to appear that the Catholic minority was to blame. He denied this. The aims of the public men at Confederation had not been fulfilled and he blamed the people of Ontario for it. He quoted from the Confederation debates pages of speeches by Sir George Cartier and Hon. George Brown, and contended that the Catholics of Quebec were not narrow and bigoted, as they were represented to be.

He invited the member for North Simcoe (McCarthy) to come down to the Province of Quebec and judge for himself. He would find the people better educated than the people of other provinces. Most of the young generation understood English.

He got round at last to the Separate school question and held that the Manitoba Legislature had no more right to abolish the Separate schools than the Legislature of Quebec would have to abolish the English language in the Province of Quebec. He claimed that the Dominion Government ought to protect the Catholic minority.

He charged them with having failed to do their duty. He claimed that Mr. Chapleau had been sent down to Montreal to see Archbishop Taché, and as a result of that the Minister of Justice made the report to council on March 21 last, promising that if the judgment of the Supreme Court was reversed the Manitoba minority should receive protection and redress.

He held that the Minister of Justice bound himself not to abide by the judgment of the Privy Council, but to give remedial legislation. If Archbishop Taché had decided to accept the promise of the Government as to remedial legislation he felt confident that Sir John Macdonald would have disallowed the act of the Manitoba Legislature.

He read a letter from Archbishop Taché referring to promises alleged to have been made by the Government, and said that he stated from this place in Parliament that Hon. Mr. Chapleau, then Secretary of State, had gone to Montreal and assured Archbishop Taché in the name of the Government that there should be remedial legislation, as there could not be a disallowance of the act.

He reviewed the circumstances under which the Manitoba act was passed, holding that the terms of union provided for Separate schools, the same as in the Province of Quebec. At that time the Catholics were in a majority, but now that the Protestants are in a majority of two to one they break the compact made with the Catholics.

He wanted to know whether Manitoba was to be allowed to break the contract made by the Dominion Government. He denied the right of the majority to rule, and seemed to think, although it was somewhat difficult to tell where he meant, that minorities could acquire rights which could not under any circumstances be taken away or changed.

In conclusion, he moved the following amendment: "That all the words after 'that' be struck out and the following substituted: That this House declares that it expresses its dissatisfaction at the action of the Government in dealing with the Manitoba school question, and in assuming to be possessed of judicial functions conflict with their duty as constitutional advisers of the Crown, which assumption is wholly unknown to the law, and if now acquiesced in would be entirely subversive of the principle of Ministerial responsibility."

Mr. Larivière followed at some length, not agreeing with Mr. Tarte, and in general terms expressing satisfaction with the action of the Government so far, and expressing disapproval of the bringing the question up as a party one.

Sir John Thompson (at 10.50), and in his opening remarks said that the member for L'Islet, in stating his case, had laid great stress on being approached in a calm and judicial spirit, and then he proceeded to attack the Government because it had approached the subject in the very manner laid down by the hon. member.

He said that the Government had been attacked as if it was destroying the rights of a province to manage education, but it should be remembered that although the 92nd section of the British North America Act gave the control of education to the province, it was under certain reservation and restriction.

He then reviewed the clauses of the British North America Act and the Manitoba Act, and came down to the petitions which had been presented and to the power to council which, he made in 1891. The principle had been settled by Parliament that local acts which might be ultra vires should not be disallowed but the question of constitutionality settled by the courts. The question was tested by a suit taken in the city of Winnipeg.

He upheld the course of the Government in paying the expense of the appeal in order to determine whether the law was constitutional or not. He then reviewed the history of Manitoba's school question, and said that the House had then laid down the principle that disallowance should not be exercised only on the ground that the act complained of was that it was ultra vires, but only from Sir George E. Cartier's speech when that question first came up, in which he said the question was not one to be decided by the majority, but by the courts. In 1877 a similar case came from Prince Edward Island and was not disallowed.

Coming to the report of March, 1891, he dealt with the two sets of petitions received, one for disallowance on the ground of the act being ultra vires, and the other asking for remedial legislation. He denied that any pledge of remedial legislation was given in the order of council of March, 1890, and held that no other course could be pursued than that which was adopted. He strongly denied that Mr. Chapleau or anybody else had been delegated to make terms with Archbishop Taché, or that His Grace had been deceived.

He took up the Jesuit Estate Bill and pointed out the difference between that bill and the Manitoba school question. He then took up the appeal to the Privy Council and its decision, and the petitions for remedial legislation which had been presented after that decision and agreed to show that there were serious legal questions still to be settled after the decision of the Privy Council and, therefore, it was proper that the opinion of the Supreme Court should be procured.

The legal questions must be settled before any remedial legislation could be properly dealt with. The legal questions must inevitably come up before the courts. If the Government attempted to pass remedial laws before the legal questions were settled it would only lead to confusion, and no matter what action was taken there would be appeals to the courts; and if the Government had passed remedial laws, as some gentlemen wished, these laws would have at once been appealed against.

He then took up the resolution introduced by Mr. Blake in 1890 with reference to referring cases of this kind to the Supreme Court for opinion, and quoted from Mr. Blake's speech to show that he intended that to apply to the Manitoba school question. Parliament had not only adopted that resolution but had passed an act last year based on it, the very act the Government was acting under in making this reference to the court. To disallow the act without reference to the courts would have raised a storm of indignation, and the Government had adopted the only course proper for it.

The following private bills were read a third time and passed:

To incorporate the Eastern Trust Company.

To incorporate the Ocean Guarantee Company.

Respecting the Alberta Railway and Coal Company.

The following bills were read a second time and referred to Committee on Railways and Canals:

To incorporate the Canada Atlantic and Plant Steamship Company.

Respecting the Nakusp and Slocan Railway Company.

Respecting the Drummond County Railway Company.

The bill to further amend the Act to enable the city of Winnipeg to utilize the Assiniboine River water power was read a second time and referred to committee on miscellaneous public bills.

The bill respecting the British America Assurance Co. was read a second time and referred to Committee on Banking and Commerce.

In reply to Mr. Cockburn, Hon. Mr. Wood, Comptroller of the Treasury, said it was not the intention of the Government to introduce this year a bill for the inspection of electric light companies.

In reply to Mr. Kaulbach's question, whether it is the intention of the Government to extend the modus vivendi between Great Britain and the United States as respects the granting of privileges to American fishermen to use our Canadian fisheries on the Atlantic Coast, Hon. Mr. Costigan said that an order-in-council had been passed on Jan. 17 authorizing the issue of licenses for 1893.

Hon. Mr. Haggart said in reply to Mr. Lister that the question of recouping the owners of Canadian shipping the amounts paid as tolls at the Sault Ste. Marie Canal was under consideration.

Mr. Cleveland asked whether the Government have had cognizance of the numerous articles by Mr. L. Z. Joncas, M.P. for Chapp, published in L'Evenement, Quebec, in reference to the unequal distribution of patronage of all kinds as between the English and French elements in this country; if so, is it their purpose to put an end to a state of things so unjust to the French element?

Sir John Thompson replied with a gravity which caused a hearty laugh, that if any such inequality was found at any time the Government would at once remove it.

The bill respecting witnesses and evidence was read a third time and passed.

On motion to go into committee of supply, Mr. Davies enquired whether it was intended that the question of the interlocutory proceedings of New Brunswick should be settled before the Premier left for Paris, and was informed by Sir John Thompson that he could not say whether the appointment would be made before he left.

A quiet little meeting of Conservative members and senators was held in room 16 yesterday at which it was decided to give Sir John Thompson a "send-off" in the shape of an address to be delivered on Wednesday evening, as Sir John leaves for New York on Thursday and sails on the Britannique for Havre on Saturday morning.

Hon. Mr. Mercier is here on Supreme Court business and occupied a seat in the Speaker's gallery this afternoon, where he was "The admired of all beholders."

Attorney-General Casgrain is here in connection with the settlement of the outstanding accounts between the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Sir John Thompson to-night gives notice that he will move on Wednesday that Thursday, including next, Thursday, be taken for Government business.

Hon. Mr. Costigan to-night gives notice of a bill to repeal certain sections of the Merchant Shipping Act relating to load line so far as they affect ships registered in Canada.

Cure For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Mayhee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for the trouble, and before one bottle was used, I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequence must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives die from diseases from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered —A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live and I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and DYSPEPTIC CURE when I was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took I threw up minutes previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY I assisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight. I can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and DYSPEPTIC CURE and, as I am well known, and people in this section know how bad I was and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover. Any one desiring further particulars I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of the merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.
Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of causing a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the asperations and convert the food partaken into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

HOW OVER HOME RULE.
TWO BRITISH M.P.'S WANTED TO FIGHT BADLY.
Col. Saunderson, Grand Master of Orangemen, and William Redmond, a Parnellite, Meet in the Lobby and Tell Each Other They "Dassent" Fight.

LONDON, March 7.—When Col. Saunderson, the Grand Master of Orangemen and M.P. for North Armagh, denounced the Irish Home Rule members on last Tuesday as defenders of criminals, William Redmond, Parnellite M.P. for East Clare, challenged Col. Saunderson to repeat the words outside the House. Col. Saunderson offered to repeat the words anywhere, and after the Debate in the House sent a note to William Redmond offering to repeat in the lobby what he had said. This evening Col. Saunderson and Mr. Redmond encountered each other in the lobby. Mr. Redmond, going up to the doughty colonel, said:

"Do you accuse me and my colleagues of being murderers?"

Col. Saunderson, who, by the way, is not an Irishman, but a native of Scotland, coolly replied;

"I know nothing of you personally, but I accused the Irish party of conduct leading to murder."

Both Redmond and Saunderson were angry and confronted each other in a pugilistic attitude. Peers from the House of Lords and members of the House of Commons gathered around to expectation of seeing the first blood in the threatened civil war between the Ulsterites and the rest of Ireland. Just as the two seemed about to fall to, friends came up and stepped between them, preventing the threatened blows.

Speaker Peel, hearing of the encounter between Mr. Redmond and Col. Saunderson, ordered a police inspector to the scene with instructions to arrest the man who struck the first blow.

The inspector appeared toward the end of the quarrel and after having secured both members of his instructions waited to see what happened.

It is reported that Col. Saunderson has challenged Mr. Redmond to a duel on the Continent.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

My baby, when two months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, face, and hands were one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor any good remedy did her any good. We could get no rest day or night in the house. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, as I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat a baby as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this for the benefit of other mothers who can feel confident that there is a medicine in this who can feel confident that there is a medicine in this one can feel confident that there is a medicine in this will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY MAR. 7.

THE OPPOSITION POLICY.

The Grit press throughout the country, in lieu of a policy, has zealously fostered a feeling of unrest, until it has culminated in an ambiguous appeal for "tariff reform." The term is so vague that it is dangerous in the interest of this country, and should be approached with great caution. This caution the Grit press is exercising in not specifying definitely what shape tariff reform is to take. The danger of tariff reform could not be more aptly illustrated than by a reproduction of a few editorials from the Grit organ in this County.

ANNEXATION.

In a recent issue the Ontario came out boldly for annexation. In referring to continental union it said:

"As the United States control the largest territory on this continent, possess the greatest wealth, and has the largest population, it is only reasonable that her institutions should yield less in the consummation of the scheme. It may be called annexation, as it would virtually be, but it is something different from a complete surrender of all differences in political and jud cial usages. Prof Goldwin Smith, as president of the organisation in this province and as the most authoritative exponent of the principle, seems to regard its movement as an indispensable alternative under existing difficulties in trade matters. He has the courage of his convictions, too, and vulgar abuse by Tory organs cannot frighten him from a course he is convinced is marked by true patriotism.

"There are many others less prominent who are equally as fearless in the advocacy of a change in our relationship with the great American republic, where our best market must be found. The time has come when sentiment gives place to reason fortified by solid facts and convincing figures. Something must be done to remove the cloud of depression that has too long rested upon our fair land and open the way for increased prosperity. The resources are abundant, but want of means for development, and perhaps want of enterprise, also, renders them of little value in the increase of national prosperity. We are fully convinced that a closer union with the United States for all purposes would speedily change the present aspect of affairs and brighten the prospect of all classes. We value certain features of our institutions as being purer and safer than similar ones in the United States, but we must expect to sacrifice something in order to secure so much that will benefit us. It is the leaven that will work wonderful results in the body politic before another appeal is made to the people for a verdict on federal policies."

This is a bold stand for annexation that would in a less tolerant country subject the journal that dared utter it to dire consequence. The great evil in such an utterance by such a newspaper is that it is copied into journals in the United States as expressing the Canadian sentiment.

FREE TRADE.

Again the same journal declares itself in favor of free trade and says:

"If those people who talk in favor of free trade have the courage of their convictions to reiterate it at the next general election they will have very good grounds for expecting a change such as they desire."

First annexation pure and simple and then free trade, but not satisfied with trying to ride these two horses at once the same paper expresses itself in favor of protection, and says:

PROTECTION.

"There seems to be a general feeling among the agricultural element in Canada that the duty should be taken off coal oil and binder twine. While is not the same feeling in regard to corn. It is well known that farmers will buy corn to feed pigs when he can grow it himself. In fact he will not buy it at all unless his crop is short and he is compelled to. Therefore, to take the duty off corn simply means that to the distillers it will be a greater benefit than to the farmers. By taking the duty from corn means cheaper whiskey. If the duty is taken off grain going into the United States, the farmer in this country will not object to the duty being taken from corn, but they do object to taking the duty off American grains and compelling the farmers in this country to pay the duty on all grains going in the American markets."

Here is the third horse "protection" on the string, all ridden at once, and we can presume the three together can be classed under the one head, the grit policy—tariff reform. The Ontario is the acknowledged Grit organ in the County of Hastings, hence we are to understand that the policy of the Grit party of the County of Hastings is, as expressed by its organ—annexation—free trade—protection. The latter is the policy that they have long abused, the first two have and will again as long as advocated, properly receive condemnation at the polls.

THE G. T. R. AMALGAMATION.

The representatives from the city council, which are opposing the G.T. Railway amalgamation, would appear to have some personal ends in view, or else they are not acting in the interest of the city. It has been felt for years that the G. T. Railway has been of almost incalculable benefit to the city, from the fact, that they have the only large pay list. Yet in the face of this, when the city should court their good will, and make any reasonable concessions in view of the possible removal of the shops from Belleville, the council is fighting the road in a matter that cannot do the city any good, and possibly may do us much harm. Whilst we are willing to pay large bonuses to introduce manufacturing interests that will employ labor, the council is insanely also acting the only large labor employing industry in the city. The G. T. Railway company has always had control of the Midland system has removed the base of management from Peterboro to Belleville. This, it may be said, does not bring many employees to the city, but is a strong lever towards the retention of their shops here. Again at our request they run a half rate to the city three days in the week, and as well upon such days run the train to market without additional pay, which is not done in any other city in Canada. Much has been said about the agreement respecting the carrying of cord wood. The agreement with the originators of the road was that it was to carry dry wood at 3c per cord per mile and green wood at 5c. This would mean from Madoc $1 98 for green wood and 99c for dry. Last year they brought wood from Madoc for one dollar per cord and this year the price is 85c for dry wood and $1.15 for green. Thus it is seen that the Grand Trunk is more than fulfilling the orginal agreement as regards the carrying of wood, yet in the face of this fact and as well the fact that the amalgamation of the Midland System with the Grand Trunk Rai way has made Belleville the pivot of the whole vast system, the action of the council looks like the height of folly.

Criminal Docket.

Following is the criminal docket: Queen vs. Thos. Dunn, criminal assault, and adding and abetting same; R. C. Clute, Q. C., for defs.; Queen vs. Norman McWilliams and Daniel Hubbel, criminal assault, and abetting, A. R. Dougall, Q. C., E. G. Porter and C. E. C., will conduct the business for the crown.

Will Kill Consumption.

The Norwegian cod is destined to kill consumption. It has always been known that its oil, when properly prepared, contains all the potent elements for rebuilding wasting tissues in the human body. The difficulty has been to conserve the energies of the oil in its refining, and this has only been accomplished by the manufacturers of "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." All who suffer with lung troubles, and of course all who are threatened with consumption, should take it. In big botoles, 50c. and $1.00, at all drug stores.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

South American Rheumatic Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause, and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Warranted by L. W. Yeomans. 253d3m

The Greatest Yet,

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

ADRIFT ON THE PACIFIC

A BOAT LOAD WANDERED FOR 20 DAYS.

The Captain, His Wife, Mate, Cabin Boy, Cook and Two Seamen Reached Port —They Were Terribly Emaciated and Almost Speechless.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—News reached yesterday from Honolulu that a small boat containing Capt. John Peterson and wife of San Francisco, Second Mate Charles E. Brown, Cabin Boy W. Hayden, Cook Frank Villet, Seamen Emerson and William Carlson, terribly emaciated and almost speechless, reached port Feb. 18, bringing intelligence of the loss of the bark Lady Sampson, bound from Sydney to Honolulu with a cargo of coal.

The wreck occurred Jan. 16 on a reef 40 miles south of the Palmira Islands. The bark struck in the night during a terrific hurricane, and in five minutes began to break up. The boats were lowered. In the captain's boat were those enumerated above, while in the other boat, under the command of first mate, Henry Muller, were four seamen.

During a calm which followed the wreck, strong tides bore the small boats westward for seven days, when it was found that all the provisions and water, of which but a small quantity had been taken at first, were exhausted. They reached land, only again on the ninth day, when nearly dead from hunger and thirst. A supply of canned goods was discovered on the bark, which had sunk on the reef and was still breaking up, and a start was then made for Honolulu.

Off the Island of Maui, one of the Hawaiian group, heavy gales were experienced and two days after leaving the vessel for a second time the first mate's boat parted with the other to take the more northerly course. The second boat has not been seen and the fate of the mate and his party is in doubt.

SENATOR MORGAN SICK.

A Representative of the U.S. in the Behring Sea Affair.

LONDON, March 7.—Senator Morgan, one of the representatives of the United States in the Behring Sea Board of Arbitration, who was a passenger on the steamer New York, which arrived at Southampton Saturday, was taken sick on the voyage. Since his arrival he has been confined to bed at the Southwestern Hotel at Southampton. The physicians in attendance state that the Senator's illness is due to the strain to which he was subjected by a severe attack of seasickness.

It has transpired that Senator Morgan's illness is not entirely due to effects of seasickness. During a storm encountered by the New York Senator Morgan was thrown out of his berth and his head was injured. On Saturday last a slight attack of erysipelas set in. He was examined by three physicians this afternoon, and they state that they expect he will be able in a week to attend to the business which brought him to Europe.

CHILI IS PLEASED.

A Congratulatory Message Sent to the President.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The Herald's Valparaiso correspondent cables Mr. Cleveland's inauguration as President of the United States, and the retirement of Mr. Harrison, will result in the restoration of the friendly relations between that republic and Chili. The sentiment of Chilians on this subject is shown by the following message, which was forwarded by cable on Saturday to President Cleveland by the Chilian executive:

SANTIAGO, Chili, March 7.—To President Cleveland, Washington: The Government of Chili and the Chilian people, recognizing your political attitude in the past, consider that your re-election as chief magistrate of the United States is a pledge that your Government will preserve the tranquility and well-being of all nations upon the American continent. On this the day upon which you assume the high functions of your office, I, as President of the Republic of Chili, in the name of the Chilian nation, as well as in my own personal capacity, assure you of our sincere regard for you and your people, and our deepest sympathy for you and them. Permit me to express the hope that your aims and motives will produce the best results for the people of the United States.

(Signed) GEORGE MONTT.

This message is endorsed by all Chilians, who have received with delight the announcement made yesterday that United States Minister Patrick Egan will forward his resignation to Washington on Wednesday. It is learned that the resignation of Mr. Conger, as Minister to Brazil, has already been sent to the Washington Government.

SWITCHMEN'S GRIEVANCES.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Representatives of all the railroads running into this city were waited upon yesterday by Grievance Committees of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association and presented with a request for an advance of five cents an hour in the wages of all switchmen employed in this city. The request included non-union men as well as union men, the former having empowered the representatives of the latter to act for them.

The railroad officials were given to understand that there was no desire or intention on the part of the men to precipitate a strike and a hurried consideration of the request was not expected.

In addition to the increase of wages, a request was made that a full day's time be granted to a crew, day or night, which may be called to do any yard service.

A Family Poisoned.

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., March 7.—On Saturday some of the members of one of the old Scotch families were poisoned. They were Mr. Sandy Kennedy, Mrs. John Kennedy and a young servant girl. It is evident that the deadly poison rug was in the porridge. Alexander died a few hours after eating. Mrs. Kennedy is in a critical condition with slightly favorable prospects. The servant girl will survive. An investigation is expected.

A HAMILTON SENATOR.

Takes a Drive With Three Horses Abreast in Russian Gold-Mounted Harness.

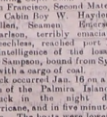

HAMILTON, March 7.—Senator Sanford returned to Hamilton on Saturday for a brief holiday from his duties at Ottawa, which place he left again last evening. Yesterday he was seen on the streets driving in a fashion not usual in this city, but which is quite the ordinary thing in Russia, where the Senator learnt it.

Four years ago, while on his visit to that country, he was much taken with the manner in which the Russians drive with three horses abreast, and he purchased a set of gold-mounted harness and trappings such as they use, and brought them back with him to Canada. Ever since the outfit has been stored unused and almost forgotten in his stable, but this morning he had it taken out and placed on three of his finest carriage horses to make a trial of it.

As is the custom in Russia, the centre horse was the tallest of the three, the others being equally matched as to size. Although unaccustomed to the novel harness the animals behaved well, and their driver found little difficulty in managing them. The senator is well pleased with the result of his experiment, and it is probable he will repeat it frequently.

DESERONTO.

The temperance crusaders are addressing large audiences every evening in Union Hall, Deseronto. They have done much good in the town. The two councils of Royal Templars are in a prosperous condition.—A house in Deseronto, occupied by G. Calhoun, caught fire Monday at noon. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done.—Driving parties are all the rage in Deseronto. Belleville and Picton are the favorite places of resort.

People with delicate stomachs find Ayer's Sarsaparilla agreeable to the taste, and therefore, prefer it as a blood purifier to any other. This is one reason for its great popularity as a spring and family medicine. Safe certain and palatable.

Elderly people remember their spring blisters with a shudder. The present generation have much to be thankful for, not the least of their blessings being such a pleasant and thoroughly effective spring medicine as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is a health restorer and health-maintainer.

As Mr. Chas. Green, butcher, was driving into the city from Canifton last night his horses became frightened south of the Grand Trunk railway crossing on a load of hay and tried to run away. THE MARKET FEES.

THE "INTELLIGENCER" PUBLISHES A LIST OF THE COLLECTABLE FEES.

It is Alleged That Unreasonable Charges are Exacted.—Fees Levied on Articles Which are Exempt Under By-law No. 580.

At the December meeting of the county council a committee was appointed to meet the city council in reference to the adjustment of the market fees, which were thought in many cases to be unreasonable. In view of recent developments, it would seem that some of the fees exacted were not only unreasonable, but that fees have been collected on articles which were exempt under by-law No. 580, passed on the fifth of March, 1886. For the information of its readers, the INTELLIGENCER to-day publishes extracts from the by-law in question, dealing more particularly with the fees. Clause twelve provides that "from and after the passing of this by-law every person voluntarily making use of the public market of the city of Belleville, and every person who shall remain, or who shall cause his or her vehicle to remain upon that part of any street immediately adjoining or surrounding or being within one hundred yards of such market place for the purpose of selling any such articles in the said market place, or upon any such street or streets within the limits aforesaid, so as to obtain the advantages of said market place, shall be liable to pay and shall pay market fees, as hereinafter set forth; provided always, that driving through or across such portions of streets as aforesaid shall not of itself be deemed sufficient ground for the imposition of any fee; provided further, that nothing herein contained shall apply to grain, seeds, dressed hogs or wood; provided further, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the sale of any such articles to any person carrying on business and having an actual and bona fide store, shop, or other similar place of business, on those portions of the streets immediately adjoining or surrounding, and being within one hundred yards of the said market; nor shall any market fee be imposed or enforced in respect of any such article so sold, or upon the vehicle in which the same is contained.

(13.) All vehicles, vessels and other things brought upon the said market or upon that of any street immediately adjoining or surrounding, or being within one hundred yards of such market place, for the purpose of selling any such articles in such market, shall be subject to the following fees, which shall in all cases be paid by the person in charge of or in possession thereof, to the market lessee or his assistant, or to the clerk of the market, as the case may be, upon demand being made therefor, viz.:

For a wagon, cart, sleigh or other vehicle drawn by one or more draught animals 5c
For a hand cart 2c
For a wheelbarrow 1c
For a basket or receptacle 1c
Carried by hand 1c

The following fees shall also be charged for all live animals brought upon said market for sale:

For every horse, mare or gelding brought on the market for sale 5c
For every sheep, calf or pig if not in a wagon or vehicle 1c

That all fresh meat that may be voluntarily brought upon the market or upon any of the said streets immediately adjoining or surrounding or being within one hundred yards of the market place for the purpose of selling upon such market place or street or streets so as to obtain the advantages of such market shall be subject to the following fees or charges:

For every quarter of beef 10c
" " mutton, veal or lamb 3c
" " pork 5c

But no charge or fee shall be exacted upon any vehicle in which any such meat is brought to market.

(15.) Every person requiring articles to be weighed or measured by the said lessee of such tolls or fees or the market clerk as the case may be shall be liable and shall pay the following fees or charges for weighing the same:

For weighing every draught on market scales under 100 lbs. 1c
For weighing every draught on market scales above 100 and under 200 lbs. 2c
Every additional 100 lbs. 2c

Provided that no charge or fee shall be made or exacted for weighing the vehicle in which hay, straw or any other article has been weighed on the hay scales, the 25 cents mentioned above to include all market fees on the same.

Young Peoples' Christian Societies.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The regular meeting of the Young Peoples' Association of St. Andrew's church was made a still greater treat than usual by Mr. J. L. Biggar showing a number of views of Venice, Rome, the vicinity of the Thousand Islands, and those last, but not least to be admired, were some beautiful scenes on the bay of Quinte, also of the yacht race between the Norah of Belleville and the Onward of Rochester, for the Fisher cup. A program of rare excellence was rendered, consisting of vocal solos, piano duets, recitations and readings by Mrs. Mathison, Mrs. Duncan, Miss Hudson and the Misses Elliott. A very interesting part of of the program was a number of two minute speeches indulged in by the members of the association from subjects chosen by the chairman.

HOLLOWAY STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

At a meeting of the Epworth League of the above church last evening a profitable time was spent in discussing parts of the constitution and the working of the league. The president, Mr. C. Clapp, occupied the chair.

Spring Freshet.

SIR,—There appears to be a general apprehension in the minds of citizens, that owing to the extraordinary solidity of the ice in the harbor and river, one of those disastrous freshets, by which the city has so often suffered, is imminent. It is true the city and harbor commissioners have done much since the last freshet to lessen the danger of a similar disaster; but it must be remembered that the winter just drawing to a close has been one of unusual severity, and there is an immense quantity of ice and snow which must pass into the bay at the first thaw. Such being the case, the city authorities cannot be too vigilant in taking the necessary precautions to guard against a repetition of the awful scenes witnessed in the lower end of the city two years ago. If the ice and snow should melt away gradually the danger would not be so great, but if warm weather should be accompanied by heavy rain, the result may be disastrous. It would be wisdom, then, to do what can be done to avert the worst consequences. It is not alone the lives and property in jeopardy, but the months of misery to be endured by the citizens in the ill fated district that should be averted at any cost.

I would therefore suggest to his worship the Mayor, public works committee, and street surveyor, the advisability of cutting a channel (on the first symptoms of a thaw) from "Burrell's dam" to deep water in the bay. This channel should follow the natural course of the water at the mouth of the river—should be from 50 to 100 feet wide, and increase in width towards the bay, thus allowing the ice to free itself as it comes down the river. There are, unfortunately, many idle men in the city who would be glad to get a few days' work, and the expenditure, whatever it may be, would assist some of our own citizens and taxpayers, and may be a means of saving thousands of dollars' worth of property, and averting untold hardship and inconvenience to many of our people. No consideration of pa'try or false economy, should stand in the way of immediate action in this matter. Yours, &c.,

THOS. HANLEY.

A VER-ATILE WRITER.

An Old Belleville Boy who has Won Literary Honors.

February's issue of Blue and Grey, published in New York, contains an interesting article from the pen of Major George F. Williams, formerly of Belleville. Major Williams served his apprenticeship with Mr. E. Miles, of the INTELLIGENCER, who was then publishing The Chronicle in the old Victoria building. As an introduction to the article the following interesting sketch of this writer appears:

"Major Geo. F. Williams was born on the Rock of Gibralter, his father being an English army officer stationed there. He spent his early days in the West Indies and Africa. Has been a famous war correspondent, as well as a fighter; served through the Civil war until disabled by wounds; after the war, he went to Mexico, thence to Guatemala, where he was made Chief of Artillery, with the rank of major general. He has also served as war correspondent in Chili and Afghanistan; now managing editor of the New York Advertiser, which position he has also filled with the Times and Herald, of New York. Major Williams is a writer of great force and versatility, and his war papers have always been largely sought for and read."

The major frequently spends his summer vacation in Belleville, the guest of Mr. S. A. Moore. During these trips he is always the welcome guest of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club.

Resolution of Condolence

At the last regular meeting of Court Quinte, No. 7586, Ancient Order of Foresters, the following resolution was passed to the widow of the late Bro. David Demill who was killed a few days ago:—

BELLEVILLE, March, 4, 1893.

To Mrs. Demill.

DEAR MADAM,—Whereas, it has pleased the Great Creator to remove from amongst us your beloved, and most effectionate husband and our most esteemed friend and brother, we, the officers and members of Court Quinte, No. 7586 desire to express our heartfelt sympathy in this, your sad bereavement. We also assure you that we and all of us feel a personal loss in the departure of our brother from among us. We know that this letter will find you in deep grief and sorrow over the loss of one who has shared your sorrows in times of affliction, and rejoiced in times of rejoicing.

We have been deprived of a true brother, and trustworthy friend, although we know our loss is small compared with yours, and this letter will afford but poor consolation. Your loss is indeed a sad one, but the Heavenly Father is the great comforter and burden bearer. May He console and strengthen you in this sore trial and great affliction, is the Prayer of your late husband's brother Foresters. Commending you and yours to His care, we remain yours in sympathy, signed on behalf of the Court.

Ocean Racing.

All kinds of racing is exciting, not least of which is the racing of those great ocean greyhounds which has become so popular of late. A passenger by the Teutonic, during the last great race, writes to a friend in this city giving a graphic description of the race. He says:

"O, it ocean race with the 'City of Paris' was very interesting and exciting. Last Sunday week she passed us so close, that you would imagine you could throw a stone on board of her, going full speed in the teeth of a heavy gale. Our captain did not take such chances, and we were riding comfortably at half speed, allowing her to beat us 2½ hours on the trip. We all admired Capt. Cameron for his genuine courage in reducing the speed of his ship at such a time, when the temptation was so great for him to let her go. It was a grand sight to see the 'Paris' literally burying herself in the sea. Not a passenger was to be seen on her decks; in fact, the only people visible were the officers on the bridge, holding on every time she shipped a sea clean over them. She got through it all right, but she may not be so fortunate every time."

An Ungrammatical Remark.

"Excuse me," said the waiter, as he observed a man emptying the match box into his overcoat pocket, "there is plenty of safety matches, and won't only light on the box."

"I thank you. Your grammar is atrocious, but I am glad you spoke."

And reaching out again he took the box and put it in his pocket.

AMUSEMENTS

The Black Flag.

The Josie Mills Dramatic Company under the management of Chas. H. Haystead appeared at the opera house on Saturday evening. Henry Pettit's melodrama "The Black Flag," was well produced and frequently applauded by the house. The characters were all favorably portrayed and each member personated his or her different part in a faithful and skilled manner. The play is one of unusual interest, and is a love story naturally and beautifully told. Miss Josie Mills as the loyal, devoted and unselfish "Ned, the Cabin Boy" was splendid and realistic and performed her part with chic and abandon. Mr. J. L. Ashton as the open hearted and noble impulsed "Harry Fiyndon" of the Coast Guard, and Mr. John Wilton as the parsimonious but prejudiced "Owen Glyndon," were capital, and pleased all. Miss Lillian Bayer as Naomi Bradford was also good. Mr. L. De Kalb as Lazarus, a London sharper, was unique and furnished an immense amount of fun for the audience by his antics, drollery and nonchalance.—Peterboro Examiner.

She scarcely knew that she was crying; she was only aware of a great weight of trouble that had come upon her—a trouble that seemed to include in its effects all that she held dear. Trouble not only to her friend, but to her father, her mother, her lover. Not a shadow of doubt as to her father's innocence rested upon her mind; there was no perplexity, no shame—only sorrow and anxiety. Not many women could have borne the strain of utter silence with such a burden laid on them to bear. But to Lesley, even in that hour, Ethel's trouble was greater than her own.

An hour must have passed before Ethel murmured,

'Lesley—are you there?'

'Yes, I am with you, darling; I am here.'

'You are crying.'

'I am crying for you, Ethel, dear.'

For the first time, Ethel's hand answered to her pressure. After a little silence, she spoke again—

'I wish I could die—too.'

'My poor little Ethel.'

'I suppose there is no chance of that. People—like me—don't die. They only suffer—and suffer—and bread their hearts and live until they are eighty. Oh, if you were kind to me, you would give me something to make me die.'

She shuddered, and crept a little closer to Lesley's bosom. 'Oh, why must he go —without me!' she cried. And then she burst suddenly into bitter weeping, and with Lesley's arms about her she wept away some of the 'perilous stuff' of misery which had seemed likely to destroy the balance of her brain. When those tears came her reason was saved, and Lesley was wise enough to be reassured and not alarmed by them.

She was very much exhausted when the burst of tears was over, and Lesley was allowed to feed her with strong soup, which she took submissively from her friend. 'You won't go?' she whispered, when the meal was done. And Lesley whispered back; 'I will not go, darling, so long as you want me here.'

'I want you always.' Then with a gleam of returning memory: 'What was it that they said about your father?'

Lesley shivered.

'Never mind, Ethel, dear,' she said.

'But I know—I remember. That he was—a—oh, I can't say the word. But that's not true.'

'It could not be true,' Ethel murmured. 'He was always kind and good. Tell him from me that I don't believe it, Lesley. And don't let them take you away from me.'

Holding Lesley's hand in hers, at last she would sleep; and sleep was the very thing that was likely to restore her.

The doctor came and went, forbidding the household to disturb the quiet of the sick-room; and after a time Lesley, exhausted by the excitements and anxieties of the day, laid her head on the pillow and also slept. It was late in the afternoon when Maurice Kenyon, stealing softly into the room, saw the two girls locked together on one pillow, the arms interlaced, the slumber of one as deep as the other. His eyes filled with tears as he looked at the tender figures. 'Poor girls!' he muttered to himself. 'Well for them if they can sleep; but I fear that theirs will be a sad awakening.'

Suddenly Lesley opened her eyes. The color rushed to her pale cheeks as she saw who was regarding her, but she had sufficient self-control not to start or move too hastily. Ethel altered her position at that moment, and left Lesley free to rise, then sank back into slumber. And obeying a silent motion of Maurice Kenyon's hand Lesley followed him noiselessly into the dressing room.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE EVIDENCE.

'She ought not to be left alone; I promised not to leave her,' said Lesley in a low tone.

'I have brought a nurse with me. She can go in and sit by the bed until you are ready to return,' said Maurice quietly. 'Call us, nurse, if my sister wishes us for us; but be very careful not to disturb her unnecessarily.'

The nurse, whose face Lesley scanned with involuntary interest, was gentle and sensible looking, with kindly eyes, a strong, well-shaped mouth. She looked like a woman that could be trusted; and Lesley was therefore not sorry to see her pass into Ethel's room. She had felt very conscious of her own ignorance of nursing during the past few hours, and had not much confidence in the sense of judgment of any woman in the house. Maurice made her sit down and then stood looking at her for a moment.

'You are terribly pale,' he said at last. 'Will you not come downstairs and let me give you something to eat and drink?'

'Oh, no, thank you. I want nothing. And Ethel may need me; I cannot bear to be far away.'

'Have you had nothing all day? It is after five o'clock.

She shook her head.

'Then you must eat before I talk to you. I have several things to say, and you must have strength to listen. Sit still; I will be back directly.'

He went away, and Lesley leaned back in her chair and closed her eyes. She was weary, but even in her trouble there was some sweetness for her in the knowledge that Maurice was attending to her needs. When he returned with wine and food she roused herself to accept both, knowing very well that he would not tell her what she wanted to hear until she had done his bidding. The door between bed and dressing-room was closed; the house was very quiet, and the light was dim. Maurice spoke at last, in grave, low tones.

'I have just come from your father,' he said.

Lesley started and clasped her hands. 'Is he at home again?'

'No. They would not let him go. But take heart—we who know him, will stand by him until he is a free man.'

'Then you believe—as I believe!' she asked tremulously.

'Would it be otherwise! Hasn't he been my friend for many a year! You have surely no need to ask!'

Lesley, looking up at him, stretched out her hands in silence. He took it in both his own and kissed it tenderly. Seeing her grief, and seeing also her sympathy for another woman who grieved, had, for the time being cured him of his anger against her. He had cherished some bitter feeling towards her for a while; but he forgot to think of it.

'I am sure,' he said, fervently, 'that Caspar Brooke could not commit murder as I am sure that you could not! It is an absurdity to think of.'

'Then what has made other people think of it?' asked Lesley. 'How has it come about?'

Maurice paused. 'There is a mystery somewhere,' he said slowly, 'which is a little difficult to fathom. Can you bear to hear the details? Your father told me to tell them to you—as gently as I possibly could.'

'Tell me all—all please.'

'Poor Oliver Trent was found dead early this morning on a stair of lodging house in Whitechapel. I have been to the place myself; it is now under the care of the police. He had been beaten about the head with a thick oaken staff or walking stick; the stick lay beside him, covered with blood, where he was found. The stick was—was your father's unfortunately; it must have been stolen by some ruffian for the purpose—and—and—'

He stopped short, as if the story were too hard to tell. Lesley sat watching his face which was as pale as her own.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINALS in appearance and NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.), by addressing Hoff & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

Gentlemen,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying tonic in use. A short time ago two very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Ferrozone, for it is a cure for the kidneys and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and tried many patent medicines which were recommended without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

MINUTES OF RECIPROCITY NEGOTIATIONS TABLED.

Mr. Blaine Never Contemplated Any Reciprocity That Did Not Mean Practically Commercial Union — Manitoba Separate School Question.

OTTAWA, March 7.—Hon. Mr. Foster yesterday afternoon laid on the table copies of minutes of the negotiations which took place between Mr. Blaine, Geo. Foster and the Canadian delegates in February of last year. The papers are very voluminous and would make five or six columns.

The most important part is that which covers the point which has been in controversy between General Foster and Minister of Finance Foster, as to whether the Canadian delegates could have obtained reciprocity on any other basis than discrimination against Great Britain, and an assimilation of the customs and excise tariffs of Canada and the United States on the lines of the latter.

A perusal of the following extract from the minutes of Feb. 15, and especially the last paragraph, will show that Blaine never contemplated any reciprocity which did not mean practically commercial union:

"Mr. Foster said that, in view of Mr. Blaine's public declaration of yesterday, that it would be impossible to negotiate a reciprocity treaty between United States and Canada upon the basis of natural products alone, he would not further press that question except to reiterate his opinion that a treaty framed upon such a basis would not be disadvantageous to the United States, but would be found to result quite as favorably to their interests as to those of Canada.

"As to Mr. Blaine's declaration of yesterday that the United States would not be inclined to accept a treaty upon any other basis than that of a free entry of both their natural and manufactured products into Canada, coupled with discrimination against all other countries, Mr. Foster desired to state frankly and shortly the difficulties which stood in the way of the acceptance of such a basis by Canada.

In the first place, Canada would thereby be obliged to give a preference to the United States as against those of Great Britain, with which country she stood in the close and valued relations of a colony to the Motherland. Aside from sentimental considerations, it was well known that the only material return which Great Britain received for the privileges and protection she gave us was the right to enter our markets on even terms with all other countries, and any serious departure from this would be right brought us face to face with considerations of the most weighty and serious character.

In the second place, the question of revenue was largely involved. Canada's revenue is derived from customs, excise and public works, very largely from the first. Under all arrangements upon the basis indicated by Mr. Blaine, Canada would lose on the same about $8,000,000 now derived from the United States imports. She would also stand to lose a considerable proportion of the present customs collections upon importations from other countries, which would be largely reduced by the unequal competition of free United States goods with the more or less highly-taxed goods of other countries.

Mr. Blaine implied if Canada had any other mode of taxation, such as income, land or other direct tax.

Mr. Foster replied that the Federal Government had not the resource to any of these forms of taxation, which were not popular with the Canadian people, but had relied entirely upon the Customs and Excise for tax revenue.

In relation to internal revenue, Mr. Blaine inquired as to what articles were included under that head, and on being informed that liquors and tobaccos were the only articles included he remarked that these articles generally have to be equalized between the two countries, whereupon Mr. Foster observed that such would be necessary, and that in doing this unless the United States consented to raise its rate impost Canada would lose a very considerable portion of her present excise revenue, inasmuch as her excise tax upon spirituous liquors was $1.50 per gallon, as compared with the United States excise tax of $1.20 per gallon.

Upon malt or beer the Canadian tax was about double that of the United States impost, and upon tobacco the Canadian excise tax was 25 cents per pound, as compared with the tax of 6 and 8 cents in the United States.

Mr. Blaine agreed that under the conditions that would exist the manufacture of spirits would naturally be transferred to corn-producing centres.

Mr. Foster went on to say that a third question arose at this point, which was in its way not less important than the two already discussed, namely, granted that discrimination in favor of United States manufactures in the Canadian market was necessary, how should the standard of discrimination be fixed and what should be its degree? Would the Canadian tariff have to be raised to an equality of that of the United States tariff upon those articles, or would the present Canadian tariff be accepted as sufficient, or would Canada be at liberty to fix the rate as and when she pleased, provided that the principles of discrimination were always maintained? He took the item of woolens and wools and illustrated the above query by a comparison of tariffs on those in the two countries.

Mr. Blaine said that this was a vital point; that under the existing tariffs on wools and woolens in the two countries a reciprocity such as he (Mr. Foster) contemplated would result in manifest disadvantage to the United States, whose policy was one of large protection on wools as well as woolens. On both these points were guarded there would be no security on the one hand from smuggling along a border line of over 3000 miles in length or on the other of maintaining the present policy of the United States. This could, in his opinion, only be done by making the tariff uniform for both countries and equalizing the Canadian with that of the United States.

Some conversation then ensued as to what would be the effect of such a wide reciprocity upon Canada.

Mr. Foster assumed that the trade of Canada would be directed largely towards the United States, as a discriminating tariff upon goods from other countries would practically prevent her from purchasing therefrom manufactured goods of the kinds made in the United States; that her younger and smaller industries would be exposed to a strong competition of older and well-established industries in the United States, with their accumulations of skill and immense capacity for output, and that in the matter of animal and agricultural products she would only gain access to the market which is nearly all times in those products was supplied to overflowing with like products raised in the United States.

Mr. Blaine intimated that Canada would then be in much the same position in trade and industrial matters as a state of the union, one which was non-manufacturing and mainly an agricultural state, as the tendency of manufacturing was to go farther and farther east and south to the newer centres of population.

Mr. Foster continued that he had thought it well to lay them frankly and fully before Mr. Blaine the difficulties that rise Canada when asked to accept as a basis for reciprocity an interchange of all manufactured articles as well as natural products, and he hoped that Mr. Blaine, who had had a large experience in negotiating reciprocity arrangements and who had studied the subject so thoroughly, might be prepared to propose a modified basis for the consideration of the Canadian delegation which would tend to diminish the revenue difficulties and avoid the disturbance of Canada's present relations with the Mother Country.

He pointed out the generous treatment now accorded by Canada to the United States trade, and that at the present time, although Canada collects upon all imported goods dutiable and free a revenue of 20½ per cent., yet, upon all goods imported from the United States, the percentage of duty is only 14½ per cent. The free list given by the United States to Canada does not amount to only $11,600,000, while Canada gave the United States a free list of nearly $24,000,000.

Mr. Blaine, after mentioning that this, he supposed, was largely due to geographical distribution, said he could easily understand why Canada was reluctant to enter into a treaty of unlimited reciprocity, but that it was clear to his mind that no other arrangement would suit the United States, and that it must be accompanied by discrimination in favor of the United States, especially against Great Britain, who was their great competitor, and that it must likewise be accompanied by the adoption of a uniform tariff for the United States and Canada, equal to that of the United States. He then remarked that without absolutely any discussion on this subject the delegation might proceed to consider the other points which had been mentioned.

The Manitoba school question has been under discussion all day, and the debate is going on at midnight, with a fair prospect of its lasting an hour or two more. The feature of the day has, of course, been Mr. McCarthy's speech, which lasted from half past three to half-past five, but did not move to be by any means one of Mr. McCarthy's best efforts.

He commenced his speech as a narrative and ran over about the whole case without any reference to Mr. Tarte's amendment. Getting down gradually to the present position of the case, he claimed that the report to the council of March, 1801, contained a distinct promise of remedial legislation, and he argued at some length to show that this promise should not have been made.

He objected to the notion taken by council and held also by the opponents of the whole proceedings was to destroy the School Act of 1890 passed by the Manitoba Government. There had already been two meetings, and to hear deputations on its merits, but to deal with forms, and the progress made had not been very great.

In 1889 Mr. Mowat said that he had said that the time for remedial legislation might come, and now in 1893 the Premier seemed to think that the time had come. He held that some secret pledge must have been given or some understanding arrived at and that the program of remedial legislation was not being carried out.

Turning to Mr. Tarte's amendment, he wanted it to be clearly understood that he did not agree with the member for L'Islet that the Government should be condemned for not disallowing the Act; but what he did agree with, and what enabled him to support the first part of the amendment, was that having before them all the facts the case the Government did not at once settle the matter by dismissing the appeal. The whole matter might just as well have been settled in September.

He said that it was not a seemly act on the part of the Government to assail the constitutionality of a provincial act. It made no difference whether the act was ultra vires or intra vires. He held that the Dominion Government had no right to impose separate schools upon the people of Manitoba against their will. Fully three-fourths of the people of Ontario were opposed to separate schools and would abolish them if they could.

He entered at some length into the question of the judicial capacity in which he alleged the Ministers claimed to be acting, and quoted fully from Dicey's history of the Imperial Privy Council to show how the judicial functions had gradually been curtailed and finally disapproved, making frequent allusions to the "Star Chamber" and holding that the ministers could not make themselves judges and divest themselves of ministerial responsibility. If they attempted to exercise judicial functions, then the writs of Queen's Bench ought to intervene and by writ of certiorari remove the proceedings to that court, because the ministers could not act as judges when they were practically plaintiff in the case.

Sir Hector Langevin followed up to 6 o'clock. He briefly ran over the proceedings in London at the time of Confederation to show the impossibility of passing separate schools, and generally replied to Mr. McCarthy. He quoted from that gentleman's speech in the Canadian Magazine to show that the last part of that article was almost identical with a portion of Mr. Tarte's amendment, and it looked as if Mr. Tarte and Mr. McCarthy had put their heads together in framing the amendment so that they both could stand on it.

Hon. Mr. Curran continued the debate after recess, speaking for an hour-and-a-half. Dr. Wilson followed, championing the cause of the Roman Catholic minority, and accusing Costigan of holding different ground to-day from that he occupied in 1872, when he moved in this House for the disallowance of the New Brunswick denominational school law.

Costigan followed Devlin at 10.50, saying he did not purpose to be bound hand and foot by Tarte's resolution. Conservative party gave Ontario separate schools, and, in that act of justice to the Catholic minority they were supported by the whole Liberal party. And that was the party whose tender mercies the members for Ottawa county would entrust the rights of the Catholic minority of Manitoba. Costigan made a powerful reply to Mr. Devlin's charge that he was a demagog, and brought forth cheer after cheer from all parts of the House, and its showed from the records that, whether in the Government or in the Opposition, he had never changed his course nor avoided the direct issue with regard to the rights of minorities in school matters.

The debate was continued by Mr. Beaubien and Mr. Craig to 1 o'clock, when the House adjourned.

Probably the speech made last night which has caused most talk to-day was the shortest and the last in the debate. It was delivered by Mr. Hugh John Macdonald of Winnipeg at nearly 1 o'clock this morning, and at that late hour got but slight attention from the reporters. Here is the official report of the speech:

Cure For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B. cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Hayden of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was tired, I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptive date their afflictions from a neglected cold. Pulmonary diseases are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most effectual remedies for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hagyard's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicious phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered —A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could eat most and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY vomited it out. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and people call to see me and know how I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine, it certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food purchased for a shilling will feed the stomach, just as of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food just take of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

TWO THIEVING INDIANS

TRY TO MURDER A FARM INSTRUCTOR AT MACLEOD.

WINNIPEG, March 8—A Macleod, N. W. T., special says: Last night H. H. Nash, farm instructor, Peigan reserve, 15 miles west from Macleod, heard a disturbance among the horses. He went out to investigate and saw two Indians, who walked up to him and when within arm's length one pointed a revolver at Nash and fired.

Nash threw up his arms and dodged his head to one side, but the ball passed below and lodged in his right hand. Nash then reached for his revolver while drawing it the other Indian sprung at him with a knife, giving him a severe slash below the left eye.

Nash then fired at both Indians, who fled. It is not known whether the Indians are hit.

Thirty police left for the scene of the disturbance this morning to investigate and make arrests. The trouble arose over some talion stealing.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

While His Wife and Servants Were Ridden Down and Butchered.

New York, March 8—The Herald's Kingston, Jamaica correspondent telegraphs as follows: Confirmation of the report that the troubles of President Heureaux of Santo Domingo were increasing was brought here by Dr. Tuick, a prominent man in that Republic, who managed to escape while the soldiers of the latter were busy looting his house and arrest him were slaying his wife and servants. The story brought by Dr. Tuick has been that President Heureaux has been uneasy ever since the discovery of the plot to overthrow him, and has regarded with suspicion all of the reputed friends of Marchena.

A few days ago President Heureaux discovered what he announced was a conspiracy against him, with which many leading men of the Dominican Capital were alleged to be connected. President Heureaux ordered that all the leaders of the conspiracy be arrested and shot.

Soldiers were sent to surround the residence of all the suspected persons. Dr. Thuick's house was one of the first visited.

When the soldiers appeared he knew their visit meant death to himself, and he hastened preparations to escape. The soldiers opened fire and riddled Mrs. Theick and the servants with bullets. The doctor hastened from a window, mounted a horse and fled. He made his way to cape Haytl, and from there sailed to Kingston, reaching here in safety. His wife and servants were murdered that he did not learn the fate of the other men whom Heureaux had sentenced to death.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY MARCH 8.

THE DUTY OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

With the approach of summer Canada is threatened with cholera. While there is no necessity for the public to work itself into a frenzy over the prospect of a scourge, there is occasion for the utmost care. During the next three or four months a serious duty devolves on the City Council and the Board of Health. If the evil is to be successfully grappled with, steps should at once be taken to place the city in a perfectly sanitary condition. The Board of Health claim they are handicapped by the apathy of the City Council in dealing with recommendations made by that body, which are absolutely essential to the public health. The Board of Health some time since recommended to the Council that one or more scavengers should be licensed; that a proper dumping ground for refuse and other matter should be provided; that a drain should be built from Hotel Street to the upper bridge; that all public wells found to be detrimental to the health of the people using the water should be closed and pure city water supplied; and most important of all the recommendations, that a by-law be passed doing away with privy pits, and substituting a system of dry earth closets. None of these suggestions have been taken into serious consideration by the Council. They should be acted on at once. A proper sanitary inspector should be appointed at a reasonable salary, when the Board of Health would see that he did his duty. In shirking matters of such vital importance, the City Council is derelict in its duty to the public.

In Saturday's issue the INTELLIGENCER stated that a proper sanitary officer should be appointed. It should have read inspector.

It is at this season of the year that the police should see that the snow by-law is enforced. Some of the sidewalks are in a dangerous and impassable condition.

The Sun's Washington correspondent says of the inaugural parade: Mr. Cleveland took his place on the reviewing stand, where for several hours, with the same discomfort that a quarter of a million persons suffered, he saw the worst managed, most frequently delayed procession that has ornamented such an occasion for many years. There was much disorder, and there was drunkenness so general that even some soldiers and policemen shared in it. It had been so cold, that men and very many women yielded to the temptation to take frequently of liquor, and the consequence was pitiful. It was bad enough to see drunken militiamen trailing the butts of their guns in the mud as they staggered through the streets, but it was worse to hear of distinguished public men showing themselves in disgraceful conditions on the reviewing stand, and it was a thousand times worse to hear of the drunken women who accompanied these men.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Macdonald (Winnipeg): Mr. Speaker, at this late hour of the night it seems hardly fitting that I should rise to occupy the time of the House, but on a question which affects my province so deeply as this one does I feel it my duty to say a few words. I have listened with great attention to what has been said by my hon. friend from L'Islet (Mr. Tarte) and I have tried to follow him as closely as possible. Unfortunately, my very imperfect knowledge of the French language rendered the easily part of his speech rather unintelligible to me, but I take it for granted that when he spoke in English he gave the substance of what he had already said in his own language, and if that is the case I may say that although I followed him as closely as possible I didn't hear a single argument advanced which would justify me in voting for his amendment.

I say this deliberately, and notwithstanding the fact that to a certain extent I sympathize with my hon. friend. I sympathize with him in his feeling of indignation at the way in which the Roman Catholic inhabitants of the province of Manitoba were treated with regard to the separate schools.

I sympathize with him because I know that whatever we may think as to the advisability of maintaining the system of separate schools or establishing a system of national schools in Manitoba, the manner in which the separate school system was abolished was barbarous and brutal and butchering. I believe, as has been explained by my hon. friend from Provencher (Mr. Lariviere), that the proceedings taken by the Local Government of Manitoba to enforce and carry out the School Act were such as to give the impression that it was their intention to add insult to injury and to outrage in every way in their power the feelings of the Roman Catholic minority of the province from which I come. I also sympathize with my hon. friend in wishing that the Government of Canada had seen fit to exercise, in this question on their own responsibility, and not again to refer it to the courts.

But here the sympathy between us ends, and when we come to the question of the manner in which this important matter ought to have been dealt with by the Government of Canada our views are bound to be as wide as the poles asunder. So, while he regrets that Government did not disallow or veto the provincial legislation of 1890 or 1891, with in the year within which the power of disallowance may be exercised, and while he now says that the Government of Canada should come to this House and ask for remedial legislation which would have for effect the removing of the injury under which he believes the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba to be suffering, I consider that any interference with provincial legislation by the exercise of the power of disallowance would be to usurp the right of the province to which I belong; and so far am I from wishing that anything in the shape of remedial legislation should take place, my wish is that the Government declare openly to this House and the country that the matter, having been carried from the courts of Manitoba to the Supreme Court of the Dominion and from the Supreme Court of the Dominion to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, the highest court of appeal to which the British colonies can go, and that court having decided that the Provincial Legislature acted within its rights in passing the act in question, that judgment should be considered final and binding and this local school act upheld.

As I have already said, I agree with my hon. friend in saying that the Government should take a firm stand in this matter and decide it without reference to the courts, but after listening to the speech of my hon. friend the First Minister, the very able speech which he has just delivered, I am almost afraid that the very fact of my hon. friend from L'Islet and myself being ready to jump to a hasty conclusion and form an off-hand judgment on a matter of this importance is simply a sign that neither of us is cut out for a cabinet minister, and I am not inclined to cavil at, much less censure, the course of the Government in taking every step they are allowed by our constitution to determine what their legal rights are, and also what are the rights of the minority under the British North America Act and the Manitoba Act, for this is a question which excites interest not only in Manitoba but from one end of Canada to the other—yes, from Cape Breton to Vancouver—and it is moreover a question particularly calculated to stir the passions of which the human mind is capable.

Let us view the situation for a moment and you will find that it bears me out in what I say. You see on the one side a body of men in this House and the country whose views are very similar to those expressed by the hon. member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte), who consider the Manitoba School Act an insult to their church, an injury to their co-religionists in the Province of Manitoba and a breach of the agreement under which, implied, which was entered into at the time provincial rights were given to Manitoba, and even of the understanding under which the Provinces of Quebec, then Lower Canada, entered into Confederation.

These gentlemen naturally enough are determined to leave no stone unturned to have this injury redressed, this insult wiped out, by means of remedial legislation in this House, which shall in some way render null and void this most objectionable Act from their standpoint.

On the other hand, you see a body of men in this House and a vast number in the country who are opposed to any interference in provincial legislation, and who are as equally determined as the hon. member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte) and his friends. These gentlemen, although acting together, standing shoulder to shoulder to resist any attack upon this Manitoba School Act, may be very properly divided into two classes.

One is opposed to any interference because they believe that this act, having been decided by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to be intra vires of the Provincial Legislature, cannot be interfered with without a breach of the constitution and a gross interference with provincial rights. Another class care apparently little whether provincial rights are interfered with or not, but they approve of the system of national and are opposed to the system of separate schools, and do not desire to see the national schools now established in Manitoba interfered with in any way.

I may say there is perhaps a third class composed of men like myself, who are opposed to interference on both grounds, and for myself I can only say that so strongly do I feel on this question that I am ready to oppose to the best of my ability any attempts to interfere with the Manitoba School Act, or legislation from any other province, and, if necessary, strong party ties as they are, I am ready to carry my opposition so far, if necessary, for the time being, as to throw party ties to the winds and vote a want of confidence in the government I am elected to support and of whose general policy I most heartily approve.

I do not know that there is very much more for me to say after the very able speech from the head of the Government, and which, I think, effectually disposed of the claim of the honorable member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte), that the Government is attempting to shirk its responsibility to the House and country by claiming to exercise purely judicial functions.

I think the First Minister's explanation on that point is clear and decided, and there are few men in this House or country who after hearing or reading that speech will not understand perfectly the position the Government have taken and feel it is one which is justified by the circumstances. We know that the Government cannot shirk the responsibility as adviser of His Excellency the Governor-General, which they are bound to shoulder.

In this case, however, there is no attempt to do anything of that kind. In this case there are legal points to be tested, points as to what rights the Roman Catholics of Manitoba have under the Manitoba Act and the ninety-third section of the British North America Act. It has to be decided whether, under the Manitoba Act, there is a right of appeal to the Governor-General. It has also to be decided whether Manitoba can in any way take advantage of the British North America Act, or whether the provisions relating to educational matters in the Manitoba Act, on that province from the older act by which the other provinces are governed.

That is a question which has to be decided, and I am certain, after having heard the First Minister, that no responsible man can fail to feel, whatever his opinion may be as to the right or wrong of the Manitoba School Act, that the Government have acted in an impartial manner in referring the matter to the courts. I am sorry that, as I sympathize with my hon. friend from L'Islet (Mr. Tarte) to a certain extent, I cannot vote for his amendment. But I do not wish him to be much disappointed at that.

I hope he will keep up his courage and try again, and I can promise him now that if it is desired that the Roman Catholic minority in the Province of Manitoba have the right to appeal to the Governor-in-Council for remedial legislation, and if the Governor-in-Council decides to grant that remedial legislation, if be, the hon. member for L'Islet, will then move a vote of censure upon the Government with Lwill be very glad to second it.

A Liberal caucus was held this morning at which it is said there was a good deal of difference of opinion as to supporting Mr. Tarte's amendment, and it was finally determined to allow each member to vote as he pleased, but it is pretty certain that the great majority if not the whole of the Opposition will vote with Mr. Tarte.

As to Mr. McCarthy's tariff resolution it is understood that it was agreed to support it solidly. It is also said that it was agreed not to unnecessarily prolong the session, but to get through as soon as possible.

One of the features of the last two sessions has been the annual dinner in the Senate restaurant given by Chief McLennan to his faithful clan. The third of these pleasant reunions took place this evening and was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable entertainments ever held in the precincts of the House. The following gentlemen were present:

Sir John Thompson, Hon. Messrs. Carling, Haggart, Patterson, Ouimet, Smith, McMillan, Ogilvie, Wood and Curran, Messrs. MacIntosh, Metcalfe, McKay, Ingram, Ross, Reid, Rosamond, Bergin, Tisdale, Coatsworth, Carscallen, Northrup, Montague, Cameron, Gillies, Masson, Cochrane, Hughes, Corby, Moncrief, Bennett, Sproule, Cleveland, Davin and Mara, M.P.; Premier Haultain, N.W.T.; Colonel MacDonald, Colonel MacPherson and Messrs. H. Tiffany, S. P. Lomax, D. MacMaster, Q.C.; Fred. Cook, J. A. Phillips and George MacDonnell (of Cornwall).

Mr. Wainwright, assistant general manager of the Grand Trunk, is here in connection with the Grand Trunk Amalgamation Bill, which comes up before the Railway Committee to-morrow morning.

HOMELESS AND DESTITUTE.

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 8.—Over 300 families have been rendered homeless and destitute in two districts of Lauderdale county by Friday's cyclone. Reports from the farming districts reveal a distressing state of affairs. Farmers are left penniless, with not an ounce of food or raiment to clothe their families.

In many instances their horses and mules were killed, and they are without means of cultivating their crops. Another mass meeting of citizens was held here yesterday to raise funds for the sufferers.

A liberal sum was subscribed and committees were appointed to distribute food and clothing among the victims. Two more of the injured at Toomsuba have died, making the death list 25 so far as known.

A Miser-Hermit Murdered.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 8.—John Levell, an aged hermit and miner, living three miles south of Lebanon, who was known to have had considerable money secreted in the house, was found murdered in bed. Everything in the house was torn to pieces, the walls being broken and the floors torn up in search of money. It is not known what amount of money was obtained.

CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS.

First Annual Meeting in Association Hall Last Evening.

TORONTO, March 8.—At a meeting of the members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario last night in Association Hall, President H. W. Eddis occupied the chair, and delivered his inaugural address. After referring to the conditions of the charter, especially in relation to the educational element it contains, and to the increasing desire on the part of successive councils to raise the standard of the membership, he referred to the bylaws as revised during the past year.

The important additions were the provisions made for enabling the various educational institutions, including collegiate schools and commercial colleges, to affiliate with the Institute, admitting to certain privileges, student associates and associates who, after progressive examinations, might become members and ultimately fellows of the Institute.

He mentioned that the bylaws had provided that those who, not being necessarily accountants, but taking an interest in the advancement of the Institute and with a view to increase its usefulness, might become "subscribers," upon any sum was named that the Institute should have suitable headquarters, which would require a considerable increase in the funds.

He made a strong appeal for public recognition, requesting that the Institute was not a "close corporation" of public accountants, but that it was intended to embrace all competent bookkeepers and accountants.

The balance of the evening was spent in discussing the new bylaws, and numerous questions were asked concerning the proposed affiliation with the Institute of colleges, high schools and other educational institutions.

MIMICO, March 8.—The Morrison brass and chandelier factory, Mimico, was burned down Monday night shortly after midnight. As there is no fire protection in the place the residents were forced to let the fire burn itself out. The loss on the building, machinery and stock is estimated at $40,000, with insurance amounting to $15,000.

The factory was operated by the American Copper Company and has been working since the founding of the town. By its destruction 30 men will be thrown out of employment. The company intend to start rebuilding immediately.

Suspected Murder.

DUNDAS, Ont., March 8.—The rumor that the body of a man had been found today in the marsh near this town, proves to be only too true. The unfortunate man was an old resident named Hall, Mr. Welsh, and an old soldier who has been through the American war.

The body will be brought to town and an inquest held, as there are rumors of marks on the neck, supposed to be, perhaps, traceable to foul play.

Escapes Miraculously.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 6.—Patrick Cunningham, a workman at the World's Fair grounds, was engaged on the roof of the Hide and Leather Building Saturday. A great gust of wind carried him off his feet and pitched him forward down the incline and finally off the roof, 60 feet from the ground.

Other men have fallen from it and been crushed beyond recognition, but fate was kind to Pat. On the ground beside the building was a horse attached to a grocery wagon. The horse stood immediately under the point of the roof over which Pat disappeared.

With a mighty thud Pat came down and struck fair upon the horse's back. Almost before he knew what had happened he was astride the animal's back and wondering how he got there.

DESERONTO.

Mr. H. Bull, of Belleville, was in town last week.—Mr. W. J. Hindhaugh, of Oswego, has been in town, the guest of E. W. Rathbun.—Mr. Ernest Darling, special organizer of the Canadian Order of Foresters, spent Sunday in town.—Messrs. W. J. Mailey and G. A. Brown spent to-day in Belleville.—The "Black Flag" by Miss Josie Mills and company will be presented in the opera house to morrow night.—The temperance crusaders are in town.—A break in the gas main on the corner of St. George and Main streets has left the west end of the town in darkness for a few nights.—Yesterday about noon fire was discovered in the roof of a frame house on Edmund street, owned by Godfrey Calp and occupied by Geo. Cahoun. A stream from a hydrant soon extinguished the flames. The contents were saved. Loss to building about $100. No insurance. This is the first fire we have had since the water works were put in, and proves beyond a doubt the improved fire protection we now have.

THIS CANADA OF OURS.

AN ESSAY UPON THE SUBJECT GIVEN AT THE STIRLING HIGH SCHOOL.

The Contributor a Boy but 15 Years of Age —A True National Spirit Displayed.

We have been requested to publish the following essay which was given recently at the Stirling high school by H. L. Bolderick, who is but 15 years of age. Six subjects were given the scholars to select from:

I think that of the six subjects we have to choose from "This Canada of Ours" is the most suitable. Should the very sound Canada not inspire in every true Canadian boy a feeling of the greatest gratitude to our Maker for permitting us to live in a country, figuratively speaking, flowing with milk and honey? Is not, I ask, Canada the happiest nation under the sun? Who will dare to say there are happier ones and assert facts to prove it?

The Russian may boast of his population but I say there are not five millions that can be taken from the bleak plains of Russia that will have as happy, contented hearts as those of our fair Canada.

The Frenchman may boast of his sunshine. Perpetual sunshine is very nice for a season, but give us a bleak north easter sometimes to add spice to our climate. In Canada we have just enough clouds to make us appreciate the sunshine when it comes with a variation of temperature unequalled.

The Yankee to the south of us may laud his "liberty," but who would wish liberty in any other form than that in which we have it? What "liberty" has the United States that we have not or would wish to have? Perhaps he would say "we elect our own rulers. We do not allow any country to have dominion over us!"

How fortunate! How happy they must feel with a foretaste of the throes of revolution at every presidential election! Is it not a pity that our bordering population should be so misled! I assert, and I am sure that many will agree with me, that a country without supreme authority is like a home without a father. Our dear old mother country chooses our Governor General, and, I am happy to say that Canada is willing to leave it to her wise and just rulings.

Who is there who wishes to have a wiser or freer or better form of government than we have if properly administered.

Canada is not for sale or barter, but if she were, could she not be well and truthfully advertised? for example: British Columbia for gold and salmon fisheries, Manitoba for grain of all description, Quebec for lumber and fisheries, New Brunswick for stock and lumber, Nova Scotia with her vast mining resources, Ontario a grand combination of all and the great ice fields to the north for fur-bearing animals.

Well might we quote the patriotic lines of Sir Walter Scott to our fair land:

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said
This is my own, my native land;
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned,
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering in a foreign strand.
If such there be, go mark him well,
For him no minstrel raptures swell,
High though his titles—proud his name—
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,
Despite these titles, power and pelf
The wretch concerted all in self
Living shall forfeit fair renown,
And doubly living shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung
Unwept, unhonored and unsung."

Loyalty and love of country is one of the grandest impulses of our nature, and the most noble trait in any man's character—show me a loyal man and I will show you a good man.

Let a man be true to the land that gave him birth and you may be sure that when his career on earth ends, he is not likely to fill a paupers grave—his noble example will be respected.

In the war between the United States and "This Canada of Ours," thousands of young men from that country flocked into Canada to save her from the invader. Was this not loyalty in true form?

Though we have but five millions of people, far better is it than one hundred millions that are continually on the verge of starvation; on the very brink, or ready at any time to be hurled into the open jaws of death by a tremendous earth quake? Is it not, I again ask, better to live happy contented lives under the guidance and protection of the greatest, wisest and noblest sovereign under the sun, rather than being in continual unrest, as our neighbors to the south of us with their revolutionary tendencies, mob meetings and lynch law? I say "Canada for Canadians" and may "the rose, the thistle and the Shamrock entwine the maple leaf forever!"

DEATH OF JAMES CRAIG.

Succumbs to the Grim Reaper, Before Whom No Man Can Stand.

James Craig, who has for twelve years past faithfully fulfilled the duties of cow inspector, died at 4.30 a. m. to day, at his residence Hotel street. The deceased was in his 71st year. He was born in Ireland, settling in Ottawa about fifty years ago. From Ottawa he came to Belleville twenty years ago, where he continued to reside until his death. Three children survive: Sarah, Marguerite and Mrs. McLaren. The latter lives in Brooklyn, N.Y. The deceased at one time belonged to the Orange order. The remains will be buried on Friday at 2.p.m.

Socks for 5c. per Pair.

There is no possibility of any store getting the name of being cheap, unless they have honestly earned it. The Oak Hall have that kind of name. Why? Simply because we understand all opposition on the same line of goods. We're selling heavy cotton socks at 5c. per pair. These socks are sold everywhere at just double our price, 10 cents. People wonder how we can get prices down so fine. The secret of knowing how to buy covers it all.

CAST ONTO THE WORLD!

A 12 YEAR OLD GIRL SENT TO BELLEVILLE TO SEEK EMPLOYMENT.

At about 11 o'clock this forenoon a little girl entered the dry goods store of Mr. W. F. Jones, and asked for a situation. When questioned she told a story which, if true, demonstrates that there is living in this vicinity a man devoid of parental feeling. Her story was as follows: Her name was Sarah Ostrander, aged 12 years, and she had lived at Picton for about a year with her mother, her father having died a year ago. On Saturday last her mother died, and the remains were buried on Monday. On Monday night she remained with her uncle, John Ostrander, who is an expressman at Picton, and has a wife and six children. Yesterday her uncle took her to the Ontario Central Railway station at the above town, and placed her on a train telling her to go to Belleville and look for a situation. She arrived last evening at Trenton, and having no money she went to a house occupied by a family named Miller who kindly kept her over night. This morning she came to the city upon the stage, and Mr. Jones was the first place she enquired for work. Upon hearing her story Mr. Jones took compassion upon her and provided her with dinner. He also communicated to Chief of Police Newton, and to that officer the girl told a similar story. The chief, in the absence of the mayor, informed Mrs. M. W. MacLean, president of the Women's Christian Association, of the circumstances, and an effort was made this afternoon to send her back to Picton.

The poor orphan was rather shabbily dressed, and without a cent of money. She is possessed with a fair education and told her story in a manner which would excite sympathy. Her mother's name before marriage was Bourman, and up to the time of her illness, about a month ago, supported both by working out. The girl also stated that they had lived in Trenton for some time, and were related to some prominent residents of that town.

The case is one that should be thoroughly investigated, and if true the guilty party should be brought to justice.

A CURIOUS CASE.

COURT OF APPEAL.

BLAIR VS ASSELSTINE.—In a county court case in Dec., 1893, a verdict was rendered for Blair for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. Afterwards Asselstine moved the court to set aside the verdict. The county judge dismissed the motion. From his decision Asselstine appealed to the court of appeal. Blair assigned the verdict to his infant daughter, and also willed it to her and appointed Mr. E. Cox Porter his executor. Porter refused to act under the will, whereupon at the instance of another infant who married the daughter, applied to judge and obtained an exparte order appointing him next friend to proceed with the action. This order was not attached, but Asselstine obtained on motion to the county judge, an order that this next friend must reveal the action within 10 days in the name of the next friend as plaintiff. Meantime the appeal had been set down for hearing in Toronto. The next friend within the 10 days obtained an order reviving the action in the name of the next friend as plaintiff, instead of the deceased. Asselstine moved before the County Judge to set aside this order on the ground of illegality, because the verdict in an action for a wrong is not a debt, and chose in action arising out of contract existing at the time the action was brought. The Judge dismissed Asselstine's motion, letting the order of revivor stand. The appeal therefore had to go on in the name of the next friend, and Asselstine contended, as he did before the County Judge, that the assignment was invalid, and the order of revivor must fall with it. The court of appeal agreed with Asselstine's contention, and declared that as there is still a plaintiff, the appeal must stand.—Dougall, Q.C., and Clute, Q.C., for Asselstine; J. P. Thomas for Blair.

HE DESERTED HIS WIFE.

"Prof." Turner, of Utica, Elopes to Kingston with Another Woman.

"Prof. Turner and wife," of Utica, N.Y., reached Kingston on February 1st. Turner was a violinist, but as money grew slack, his wife went into service in an hotel while he played at dances. On Saturday another woman and a child appeared on the scene, and were taken to an hotel by a police official. Yesterday morning Turner left the police court. Officer McCullough hunted up Turner, and told him a dance committee wanted to see him at the city hall; he went along, and on soon faced by his wife. A scene followed, reconciliation was effected, and Turner, wife, and child left for Cape Vincent. Soon Turner's deserted "wife" discovered her paramour's absence, and she went out to hunt him up. A reporter found her. At first she denied that she was other than Turner's wife, but finally she confessed her name was Mrs. Elizabeth Withers, and that she was the wife of a Utica bricklayer. He had abused her so badly that she fled with Turner, who also said he could not love his wife. She will remain in Kingston hoping to spy a secure Turner.

HE ALLEGES SLANDER.

Two Prince Edward Farmers go to Court to Settle Their Differences.

An interesting case of alleged slander will be heard here this week. John E. Glenn of the third concession of Ameliasburg charges that Harmon Weese, who lives in the first concession of Ameliasburg on the 29th of November last, made use of the following language: "You are a thief and I can prove it; I will have you in the lock up before Monday night." The plaintiff is a tenant of the defendants. The latter seized Glenns grain for rent which he claimed was due. Weese alleges that Glenn took some of the grain while it was under seizure and before the rent was paid. Glenn claims that he paid his rent. Mr. Weese, is an ex-warden of Prince Edward County and was receiver of Ameliasburg for a number of years. W. C. Mikel is acting for the plff.; Clute & Williams for deft.

BELLEVILLE'S DOG SHOW.

The Proposition is Meeting with Much Favor Among Dog Fanciers.

The proposition to hold a bench show in Belleville on the dates fixed for the Bay of Quinte Exhibition is meeting with much favor among local dog fanciers. A number of them have gone into an estimate of the cost of holding such a show and have concluded that between $700 and $900 will be required to meet all expenses. The show would be held under the auspices of the Canadian Kennel Club. It is expected that not less than three hundred dogs would be entered, which of itself would be a revenue of $600. Added to the $900 would be granted by the association for special prizes. It is proposed to reserve the upper story of the Crystal Palace for this purpose, and charge an admission fee of ten or fifteen cents. A bench show would be a drawing feature and would meet with support from the citizens.

SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Bay Caps at 15c, they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2 50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

AMUSEMENTS

The Black Flag.

"The Black Flag," which Miss Josie Mills will present for the first time in this city on Friday evening next, is said to be one of the strongest sensational melodramas on the road, and one in which Miss Mills is seen at her best. In nearly every city where this piece has been presented the press are loud in their praise of Miss Mills' acting. The company which Miss Mills has surrounded herself is the best that lady ever had and is headed by the venerable actor John L. Ashton. The company will put in extra days, giving in addition to the Friday evening engagement a grand matinee on Saturday afternoon, also on Saturday evening, with a complete change of bill. The prices for this engagement have been placed within the reach of all, viz. 15c, 25c, 35c, and 50c.

Harbingers of Spring.

Marbles and skipping-ropes have come to stay. Every school yard is full of them, and wherever a dry sidewalk can be found, the boys are as noisy and quarrelsome as ever, over the marbles—and every girl trying to "down" the other in the number of times they can skip.

NOTICE.

We desire to announce specially that to-day, March 6th, we are ready with our new display of BEDROOM and TEA SETS. We say that in Canada you can't find a finer exhibit. We can show 75 patterns in both lines, which we guarantee is double that of any house between Toronto and Montreal. We'll run these for the next month at regular wholesale prices. It has ever been one of our standing rules never to be undersold. We'll lead in our business at any cost. The fact that we lead is sufficient, though two reasons we can mention is that we can buy and do sell under others. Come and see these two lines while the choice is good. You already know we also lead in SILVER AND LAMPS. Saturday was an old fashioned business day. Its gratifying to figure up after such a day to feel that trade at the old reliable "Crystal Hall" never grows less and that the buying public are satisfied. We would say to our friends that we will be "AT HOME" for the next twelve months from seven a. m. to six p. m. every day at the old stand.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'Go on,' she said, quickly. 'What else?' 'A pocket-book—with gilt letters on the back: C. B, distinctly marked. That was also found on the stairs, as if it had dropped from the pocket of some man as he went down. And it is proved—indeed, your father tells me so—that he went to that house last night and did not leave it until nearly midnight.'

'But why was he there?'

'He went to see the man and woman who lived in the top room of the lodging house. I think you know the woman. She was once your maid——'

'Mary Kingston! She came to our house that very afternoon. She must have asked my father to go and see her—he spoke kindly of her to me. But why did Mr. Trent go there to?'

'There have been secrets kept from us which have now come to light,' said Maurice sadly. 'Oliver went there to see his brother Francis, who was ill in bed; and his brother's wife was no other than the woman who acted as your maid, Mary Kingston—or rather Mary Trent. Kingston oft your house on Saturday, it seems, because she had caught sight of her husband in the street; he had been very ill, and she felt herself obliged to go home with him and put him to bed. He has been in bed unable to rise, she tells me, ever since.

'But she—she,' said Lesley, eagerly, 'can explain the whole matter. She must have heard the fight—the scuffle—whatever it was—upon the stairs. She ought to be able to tell when father left the house—and when Mr. Trent left the house. They did not go together, did they? there was a touch of scorn in her voice.

'No, they did not go together. But what Mrs. Trent alleges is, that your father waited for Oliver on the stairs, and attacked him there. It is a malicious wicked lie—I am sure of that. But it is what she says she is willing to swear to.'

'Mrs. Trent!' Lesley repeated vaguely. 'Mrs. Trent! Do you mean—Kingston! Kingston swears that my father lay in wait for Oliver Trent upon the stairs. It is impossible!'

'Yes, Kingston,' Maurice answered, in a low level voice. 'It is Kingston who has accused your father of the crime.'

Lesley covered her face with her hands and for a moment or two did not speak. 'It is too terrible,' she said at last, not very steadily. 'I do not know how to believe it. I always trusted her. Is there nobody worth trusting in the world? Is there no truth and faith in the world at all?'

The tears were raining down his cheeks as she spoke. Maurice looked at her with wistful tenderness.

'Can you ask that question when you have such a father?' he asked. And I—have I done anything to deserve your want of trust?

She could only sob out incoherent words by way of answer. 'Not you—not my father—I was thinking—thinking—of other—others that I have trusted and been deceived by.'

'Oliver Trent,' he said—not as a question so much as by way of asd assertion. She drew her handkerchief away from her eyes immediately, and gazed at him through her tears, with flushed cheeks and panting breath. What did he mean? He did not leave her long in doubt.

'Kingston—Mrs. Trent—has told a strange story,' he said. 'She avers that Oliver was false to my poor little sister who believed in him so entirely—false to himself and false to us. They say you know of this. She says that he—he made love to you, that he asked you to marry him—to run away with him indeed—so late as Saturday. She had hidden herself between the folding doors in order to hear what went on. Lesley, is this true?'

She was white enough now. She cast one appealing glance at his face, and then said almost indignibly—

'Don't tell Ethel.'

'Then it was true!'

'Quite true!'

Oh, my God!' cried Maurice, involuntarily. He did not use the words without a profane intention—they escaped his lips as a sort of cry of agony, of protest, almost of entreaty. He had hoped until this moment that Lesley would be able to deny the charge. When she acknowledged its truth, the conviction of Oliver's falsity, the suspicion of Lesley's faith smote him like a blow. He drew back from her a little and looked at her steadfastly. Lesley raised her candid, innocent eyes to his, and, after a moment's silence, made her defence.

'I could not help it. If Kingston speaks the truth she will tell you that. He looked the the door so that I could not get out, and then—— I said I would never speak to him again. I was never so angry—so ashamed—in all my life. You must not think that I—I too—was false to Ethel. She is my friend, and I never dreamed of taking him away from her. I never cared—in that way—for him, and even if I had——

'You never cared! Do you not love him too?

'No! no, indeed! I hated him. If Kingston says so she is lying about me, as she is lying about my father. You say that you do not believe her when she speaks about him; surely you won't believe her when she speaks against me! Can't you trust my father's daughter, as well as my father?'

The voice was almost passionate in its pleading; the lovely eyes were eloquent of reproach. Maurice felt his whole being quiver; he was shaken to the very depths. Why should she plead to him in this way if she had no love or wish for him? Why should she be so anxious that he should trust her? And did he not? He could not look into her face and think for a moment that she had lived.

'I do trust—your father's daughter,' he said, hoarsely. 'I trust her above all women living!—God knows that I do. You do not love Oliver! It was not to him that you made some promise you spoke of—some promise against you engaging your self!'

'It was to my mother,' said Lesley, simply. 'I am sorry that I did not make you understand.'

He took a step nearer. 'May I say more?'

She shook her head.

'But—some day?'

'Not now,' she answered, softly. But a very faint smile quivered for one moment on her lips. It is very wrong to talk of ourselves just now. Go on with your story—tell me about my dear, dearest father.'

'I will,' said Maurice. 'I will do exactly what you wish—just now,'—with a great accent on the last two words. 'We will talk about that promise at a more fitting time. Lesley—I may call you Lesley, may I not? There is no harm in that, for you are like a brother to my poor Ethel, and you may as well let me be a brother to you, dear, just now. Well, Lesley'—how he lingered over the name!—'Mrs. Trent says that she returned to your father's house on Monday afternoon in order to warn your father of what was going on——'

'Oh! Did she really?

'Yes, for your father tells me she did so. She also told him various stories of Oliver's business which he felt it his duty to inquire into, and in order that he might have an interview with Oliver, she arranged with him to come that night to the house in Whitechapel where she and her husband were living. There she was to confront him with Oliver, and said that her presence he would not dare to deny that her tales were true.'

'But why did father agree to that? Why did he want to find out?'

'For Ethel's sake. He wanted to protect her. If Mrs. Trent could prove her stories, he meant to expose Oliver to Ethel and myself, if it were but an hour before her marriage——'

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE the ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

We carry a larger stock and more different patterns and qualities of Wall Paper than any other Wall Paper Store between Toronto and Montreal. Our Papers are more desirable because every pattern and coloring is selected on account of its special fitness for the room it is intended to adorn. DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

LAURIER SPEAKS FOR THE MANITOBA MINORITY.

He Pitches Into the Government on the Separate School Question—Sir John Thompson Given a Reception by His Colleagues Previous to His Departure.

OTTAWA, March 9.—The afternoon session of the House was taken up by Messrs. Amyot and Weldon in continuing the debate on the Manitoba school question.

After recess Mr. Casey spoke for about an hour. At 9.15 Hon. Mr. Laurier rose, amid considerable applause. He denied that Mr. McCarthy had anything to do with framing Mr. Tarte's amendment. With reference to the change of negotiations between Mr. Chapleau and Archbishop Tache, he said that of course Mr. Chapleau was not appointed under the great seal to negotiate with the Archbishop, but it was certain that he had several interviews with the Archbishop, which were all reported to the Premier.

Dealing with the assertion that the Manitoba Government would bow to the judgment of the Supreme Court, he said that did not cover the whole case, because it was based on the idea that the Supreme Court would not interfere with the legislation of Manitoba. It must be remembered that the very question referred to the Supreme Court was very dangerous. The action of the Government all through had been very shifty. Two years ago the minority in Manitoba had appealed and the polls should have dealt with it at once. The reason why it had not been dealt with was because the Government was afraid to deal with it.

The Government was halting, hesitating, afraid to decide between the Protestants of Ontario and Catholics of Quebec. There was a higher and nobler ground if the Government could have brought its courage up to striking point and have decided the question from the standpoint of the benefit of the whole country. He was a firm believer in provincial rights, which was the policy of the Liberal party. He rehearsed some of the occasions in which he claimed the Liberal party had upheld provincial rights. He held, however, that in the matter of education powers were reserved to the control of the Government by the British North America Act. The sections in the British North America Act were very puzzling. He reviewed at some length the circumstance under which the Act was framed, and quoted from the Confederation debates to show that the intention was to secure separate schools to the minority, the aim of the compromise being to secure separate schools to the Protestant minority in Quebec.

He continued at some length, reviewing the manner in which the rights to separate schools had been established under the British North America Act. He then claimed that the minority in Manitoba had been treated with barbarous tyranny and that not one hour should have been lost in granting relief.

Mr. Laurier next amused himself and his followers by giving a semi-humorous review of the proceedings of Council when hearing Mr. Ewart, and then devoted some time to considering the Ottawa despatches to a Toronto paper of Nov. 27 and 28, in the last of which it was stated that Mr. Laurier would find it difficult to blame the Government for referring the matter to the Supreme Court.

He said in conclusion that he would not blame the Government for referring the matter to the Supreme Court if he felt that the reference was made in good faith; but he did blame the Government for the long delay, and he thought that the reference was only a makeshift.

Hon. Mr. Ouimet said that the action of the Government in the past with regard to this matter was the best evidence of its intention for the future. The Government proposed to adhere to the old policy as laid down by the old chieftain, which was that of British fair play, not McCarthy fair play, which was to strangle the plaintiff before he could be heard.

He accused the Liberals of constantly endeavoring to excite race and religious prejudices, and said that the Conservative party desired to have all races and all religions treated fairly. For himself he favored separate schools and the teaching of religion in the schools as well as the three R's.

Briefly reviewing the petition received, he held that the questions involved were purely legal ones, and the proper place to settle them was the courts. He had no doubt it was intended at Confederation that the minority in Manitoba should have separate schools, but it appeared from the judgment of the Privy Council that intention had not been carried out by the act which was passed.

He argued at some length to show that there were grave doubts as to whether the Catholics of Manitoba had not some rights still which should be protected and, therefore, it was right that a reference should be made to the Supreme Court. The decision of the Supreme Court would be accepted by the majority of the people and even by the majority of the people of Manitoba.

Mr. Davin spoke against the amendment. Mr. Maclean (York) also opposed the amendment. He said that Mr. Tarte had professed to show the course of the Conservative party, and he proposed to show the course of the Liberal party. He read a number of extracts from The Globe to show that the chief party organ had steadily opposed remedial legislation. He also quoted from [illegible] encyclical letter on the [illegible] to show that the Holy See was [illegible] to public schools. [illegible] rose at 1.15, and a several [illegible] to speak it will probably [illegible] division is reached.

Room 16 was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon by Conservative members of the Senate and Commons and a large representation of the press gallery to assist in the presentation to Sir John Thompson of the address which it was arranged a few days ago should be presented to him on the occasion of his departure for Paris to take part in the Behring Sea arbitration. Promptly at 2.45 the meeting was called to order and Senator Miller called to the chair. In a few well-chosen words he explained the object of the meeting and called on Mr. Mara, M.P., to read the address. Mr. Mara, without any preface, read the address.

Sir John Thompson was greeted with tumultuous applause and cries of "On the table." Standing on a chair, so as to be in view of almost everyone in the room, he jocosely remarked that by the aid of a chair he was able to raise himself to the height of some of the statesmen about him. (Laughter.) He said that he would require to possess all the gifts ascribed to him in the address to fittingly express his feelings at this expression of confidence in him. He could only say that from the bottom of his heart he thanked them both for himself and his wife for their good wishes. He would say, as he had always said, that it was his duty to give thanks to them, for from the day he had first entered the Dominion Parliament he had always been received with the greatest courtesy and had been treated with the utmost confidence, both by the members of the House and of the Senate. That confidence had been several times renewed.

With regard to his mission he would merely remind them that it was only a most imperative sense of duty that could call him away at this time. He had always held it to be a member's duty to represent Parliament to the last day, but this was a call of duty not only to Canada, but to the whole Empire.

He referred to the importance of having Canada represented on the arbitration, and with regard to the tribunal he said that it was impossible to say what its determination would be, but whatever it was it would be an honor to Great Britain and the United States to have adopted this system of arbitration for the settlement of questions which but a few years ago could only have been settled by bayonets. With regard to the session he did not anticipate that it would be a long one. Great progress has been made in public business, and he left behind him able colleagues who were quite competent to conduct the business of the House. Besides this he had tried the faithfulness of the party in darker days than these, and knew that it could be depended on.

He owed an acknowledgment to the members of the Opposition for the manner in which they had not only not impeded but greatly facilitated business this session, and he wished to make this public acknowledgment to them. In conclusion he hoped that they would soon hear the guns booming for prorogation and when he returned he would not find them still struggling with a long and arduous session.

In the Railway Committee yesterday the bill to consolidate all the Grand Trunk branch lines into one system, to be known as the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, was passed.

It is understood that during the absence of Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, senior Privy councillor, will act as Premier, the leadership of the Commons being in the hands of Hon. Mr. Foster. As to the department of Justice, Hon. J. A. Ouimet will be acting Minister.

The list of the new Q. C.'s for the Province of Quebec is not yet quite complete, but will, most probably, be published in next Saturday's Canada Gazette. Le Canada last night gave the names of four Ottawa gentlemen who, it states, are to be appointed Queen's counsel, but this is not correct, as it is understood that no appointments for Ontario will be made until the question between the Ontario and Dominion Governments as to the right of appointment is settled.

HE IS COMMITTED.

A Hotelkeeper in Novar Charged With Incendiarism.

NOVAR, Parry Sound District, March 9.—The interest taken in connection with the arrests made on the attempt to burn out the Dominion Hotel here, owned by George Thompson, has increased tenfold, owing to the further arrest of Thompson on two distinct charges, one with being an accessory with Donald Carmichael and the other of conspiracy with Carmichael to accuse and charge Mr. S. P. Cornell, the proprietor of the Queen's Hotel here, with the crime.

The developments made at the investigation yesterday before the magistrates, that Thompson himself had engaged Carmichael for $75 to set fire to his hotel, and that Thompson had been trying to induce Cornell to purchase the place, and admitting, or stating to Cornell, that he had made arrangements to "send it up in smoke," have placed Thompson in a most unenviable light, and at the same time have created a strong feeling of sympathy with Mr. Cornell.

Thompson has been committed to take his trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction for the District of Parry Sound.

TWO RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

A G. T. R. Conductor Killed in the Yards While Coupling Cars.

TORONTO, March 9.—Donald Brock, a G.T.R. yard conductor, was engaged in coupling cars on the "Dutchman's switch," near the foot of Brock-street, about 9.30 last night, when one of his mates saw his lantern fall and heard a cry for help.

Upon running over he found Brock lying alongside the track in an unconscious condition but still breathing, though with great effort.

A number of the yardmen were soon on the scene, and Brock was removed to an adjacent switch house, where he expired a few minutes later without regaining consciousness, being dead some time before Dr. Riordan, who was summoned, arrived.

The deceased was an old Toronto boy, but had been railroading in Texas for some time, having returned to the city about six months ago, since which time he has been engaged in the G.T.R. yards, having charge of a shunting engine.

Brock had a mother and a sister living in Toronto. The whereabouts of the former is unknown, but the latter, it is stated, is the wife of Mr. J. Dunn, cattle dealer, Givens-street.

The deceased was a member of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, by whose orders the remains were taken to Humphrey's undertaking establishment in Queen-street west.

Dr. Riordan states that death must have ensued 20 minutes after Brock was caught between the bumpers. His breast was crushed in, but he was not otherwise disfigured.

The ambulance wagon was despatched to remove Brock to the hospital, but when it reached the bridge in Brock-street the driver was told that the injured man was dead, but that a coupler had been injured at the foot of Bathurst-street.

The wagon was driven up to the point indicated, where Walter Strain of 541 King-street west was found lying in the switch-house with the flesh of his right hand and knee badly jammed, though no bones were broken. He was removed to his home, where Dr. Riordan dressed the wounds.

Cure For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used. I was cured It is an article of great value.'

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,

"CHARLEY ROSS."

A Young Man in Toronto Thinks He Is the Missing Child.

Mr. Cousins appears to be about 20 years of age, is a blond and a little peculiar and vague in his manner and statements.

He said: "I do not know who I am. I remember one time to have been playing in a street with my brother, when two men asked us to take a ride in a wagon. After they had gone a little way they stopped and sent my brother away, but took me on with them, and some time afterwards I was turned over to a man with ginger-colored whiskers, who kept me, and with whom I traveled in various parts of the world. His home seemed to be in France, as we stopped there longest, and there I was baptized. The man's name was Cozzin or Cousin in English, and he had two sons, whom I called brothers, and I, of course, called the man my father. After much wandering from place to place we came one day to Eastbourne in England, where we stopped at a hotel. During the day a company of soldiers came marching through the town, and in my boyish enthusiasm, I followed them far out of the city, being completely lost, and was at last picked up by the police in a town 18 miles distant. I was at that time perhaps 11 years of age. I was sent by the police to a photographer in Hastings, England, named Thomas, at 45 George-street, that photographs might be made of me and sent to various other cities so that, if possible, I might be returned to Mr. Cousins. The photographer kept me, and as no one came for me I was given in charge of Mr. Williams, who brought me to Canada. Mr. Williams now lives just above Hamilton, and with him I made my home until I came to Toronto a few years ago.

"After residing here some little time I was invited to the home of Mr. George F. Stephenson, barrister, through church associations, and during the evening in answer to an enquiry as to my parentage I told him what I knew of my past life and my abduction from home. He was much interested and told me the story of Charley Ross, which until then I had never known.

"After some time Mr. Stephenson concluded to write to Mr. Ross and tell him the story of my life, which seemed to coincide in so many particulars with that of his son. Since then Mr. Stephenson has had several letters from Mr. Ross. I have also corresponded with him myself, and I have concluded best to take a trip to Philadelphia and if possible solve the mystery of my parentage."

M'CARTHY WARNED.

He Must Carry a Wand of Peace if He Goes East.

HALIFAX, March 9.—The Evening Mail, speaking of D'Alton McCarthy's prospective visit, says: If Mr. McCarthy confines himself to the discussion of political questions he will be a welcome visitor, and the hand of friendship will be extended to him by all citizens of every creed.

But if he comes to rouse sectarian prejudice and do that which he is suspected of doing in Manitoba and the Territories, he had far better stay away. We have found by experience that it is wiser to respect the opinions of others, and we will not allow anyone, whether he be a clerical, fanatical or political demagog, to pull our ears.

Several similar attempts have already failed, and Mr. McCarthy does not know us if he thinks to succeed here in such a mission.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

My baby, when two months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, arms, feet, and hands were each one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor anything else did her any good. We could get no rest day or night with her. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, for I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat a baby as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this that every mother with a baby like mine can feel confident that there is a medicine that will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

BROAD VIEWS.

In one of the issues of the Ontario last week, it is stated that the Premier at Ottawa has a grand opportunity, if he will only take broader views on public matters. We feel certain the Dominion Government appreciate every spoonful of oil thrown on the troubled political waters, while justly endeavoring to manage nicely and well the affairs of this great country. The Conservative party has ample confidence in their leader, and expect the same broad views from him in the future as in the past, far above the narrow sphere of Grit side-line politicians. Broad views on public matters in the widest sense, is unknown to Grit political life. Our contemporary should venture on advice to his friends, instead of carrying "coal to Newcastle." A straddle-bug policy in 1878 sent them adrift, and they have been hopelessly looking for a successful pilot ever since. Goodness knows their views are broad enough in their efforts to obtain power, as in each successive appeal to the people they were willing to meet the wants of any particular locality. Advocates of protection in the manufacturing centres, and rampant free traders in favorable rural districts, showed that they were simply prepared to adopt the policy which might suit the different constituencies. Edgar an enthusiastic Rielite at the Champ de Mars, and honest John Charlton in Ontario with no confidence in a French Catholic leader, should lay the framework of a platform broad enough for an Indian ghost dance. Encouraging Goldwin Smith, that attenuated Apostle of annexation, and relegating Elgin Myers to the corridors of Osgoode Hall through fear of the electorate in extending the platform to elaborate proportions. It is claimed by Mr. Laurier, the Grit leader, that a French Canadian will fire the last shot for British connection, and to keep his hand in he would carry a musket at the Saskatchewan. If this is what our confrere means by a broad policy he will have some difficulty, we fancy, in getting it adopted by Sir John at Ottawa, but if he will only bend his energies to induce the Mowat cabinet at Toronto to adopt a broader policy where it is very much needed in the true sense of the term, he will find ample scope to develop his reforming proclivities. But we have little hope that he will engage in that healthy crusade but rather, like Nelson at Copenhagen, turn a blind eye to signals that might cause disaster to his friends.

MORE SUNDAY WORK.

The Toronto News says:

"The liquor informers had been working on the cases on Sunday, and the Q. C. contended that informers should be prosecuted for doing business on Sunday."

Query—If a whiskey informer is subject to a fine for doing business on Sunday, what penalty should be attached to a Methodist class leader who drives and holds political meetings on the holy day.

THE DEAD VOTER MUST GO.

Sir Oliver proposes to have the clerks of the municipalities strike off the names of voters who have died before election day. This surely should settle the Grit question, as under this plan a good sized cemetery could be filled annually by the dead Tory voters. They would be struck off "by mistake, don't you know."

FITZSIMMONS VS. HALL.

THE LATTER DEFEATED IN FOUR ROUNDS.

He Received a Knock Out Blow on the Chin That Left Him Unconscious, and He Was Easily Counted Out—Betting on the Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, March 9.—The long-disputed question of the supremacy of Hall or Fitzsimmons reached a final settlement at the Crescent Athletic Club last night.

FITZSIMMONS.

The fight was for a purse of $10,000, and a stake of $10,000 a side made the enormous sum of $20,000 depended on the result.

Both men were about of the same size and were liable giants, yet they were not great of bulk.

There were about 300 present.

The arrangements at the ringside were perfect. The seating capacity was more than ample to accommodate twice as many people as were expected to attend. There was room for 15,000 people more and there was no need for squeezing. The lights distributed about were numerous in quantity and exceptional in quality. The crowd was representative in character and thoroughly cosmopolitan.

The betting at this time was 9 to 10 on Hall and 95 to 100 on Fitzsimmons.

In the Hall corner the men chosen to look after his interests were the light-weight champion McAuliffe, Charley Mitchell, Squire Abington and John Kline holding the watch. Fitzsimmons had Billy Fitzsimmons, his brother, Martin Julian and Frank Bosworth, D. P. O'Malley keeping time.

The men entered the ring at 9 o'clock promptly. Hall leading the procession. Referee Duffy took his position almost immediately. Referee Duffy made a speech in which he asked the crowd to preserve order. The men then advanced to the centre of the ring followed by their seconds, where Referee Duffy cautioned them about fouls and the usual club rules. Captain Barrett weighed the gloves, finding them of lawful weight, handed them to Martin Julius, who took them over to Hall for his choice and Mitchell selected his principal's gloves. Referee Duffy announced that the pivot blow was barred and the men stripped. Time was called and the great battle was on.

FIRST ROUND—The men shook hands at 9 o'clock in the orthodox, old-time fashion, both coming to the scratch with a jauntiness which showed their seeming lack of care. They commenced work in a very easy manner, until Fitzsimmons finally led with his left and fell short. Hall's left on the counter barely touched his face. Fitzsimmons was the more active of the two, and he set a lively pace by doing all the leading and landing frequently with his left on Hall's body. Bob was quick and judged his distances so admirably that he landed almost every blow he delivered with great accuracy. Hall received some stinging blows on the ribs, but he was so thoroughly trained that they had but little or no effect.

SECOND ROUND—Fitz still pursued his leading tactics and landed his right and left several times on Jim's body. He also got in a good right and left on Hall's face. It was not until Hall succeeded in working Fitz into a corner, where he got in several good stiff blows, that he began to strike out freely. He showed up in such fine form toward the close of the round the majority of the spectators began to have their doubts as to Larky Bob's ability to hold out against so powerful an opponent, as Hall was by far the stronger of the two. Both men did some very hard hitting and their blows fell upon each other like hail. Honors were pretty evenly divided and many rather thought Hall had the best of the hitting.

THIRD ROUND—At the call to the centre, Hall stepped briskly forward and led off with his left and caught Fitz square on the nose. The blow staggered the lanky man, yet he fought gamely and returned the compliment by sending his left hand on Hall's stomach. Hall landed again lightly on the neck, then both clinched. By mutual consent they separated, both laughing. Hall led right and left, reaching his big antagonist's body and neck. Content for a moment with this, Hall walked around the ring, Fitzsimmons following. Fitzsimmons missed a swinging right-hander, but he planted his left on Hall's stomach. Hall got his left-hand jab in Fitzsimmons' face, making the champion's head bob back as if it was on springs. Hall followed the performance with a beautiful right and left-hand blow on Bob's head and side, but the big Australian got back most too far to have the blows do damage. Bob retreated upreatly no worse for the blow. The round ended by Fitz missing a swinging blow on Hall's stomach.

HALL.

FOURTH ROUND—The men were both in excellent condition and full of fight when the gong sounded for the fourth round. They responded to the call like two gladiators and went at each other as though they intended to find the winner in short order, but they had scarcely got warmed up to their work when Fitz landed that dangerous right of his on the point of the jaw and Hall fell to the floor like a dead man. It was a hard one and the back of Hall's head came to the floor with such a sickening thud that it could be heard all through the building. It was a clean knock-out, and it was some minutes after he was counted out before his seconds succeeded in restoring him to consciousness and then he had to be carried to his corner.

The scene was the wildest that has been witnessed at a ringside for many years. The crowd cheered and yelled like Hottentots. Fitzsimmons was declared the victor and the winners were happy smiles.

Bud Renaud won $12,000, Bennett's Poolrooms of Covington, Kentucky $26,000, Pat Duffy on commissions $20,000, John O'Neills $8000 to be Love by one, Johnson, the owner of the horse G. W. Johnson, $5000, and Hastings Alleyway $2000. The rapid manner in which they fought and the great victory of Fitzsimmons has created great excitement throughout the city.

The Syracuse Pool Tourney.

SYRACUSE, March 9.—In the pool tournament for the championship of the world last night, John Fowars of Philadelphia defeated George N. Kunter of this city. Score 125 to 111. Warner of Chicago beat Boon of this city, 125 to 83.

NEWS FROM HAWAII.

In Which the British Minister Is Prominent.

HONOLULU, March 9.—Despatches dated March 1 state that the British Minister at Honolulu asked the provisional Government if they intended to refer the question of annexation to the United States to a vote of the people. The Government scented a trap and replied that they would consider the question.

It is also asserted that the raising of the American flag on the islands was forced upon United States Minister Stevens by the British Minister demanding the withdrawal of the American marines that had landed from the Boston.

When the British warship Garnet afterwards arrived the Government refused the commander's request to land some troops to protect English interest.

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

Justice McMahon Upon the Bench—A Large Criminal Docket.

The spring assizes opened at 11 o'clock this morning, Justice McMahon presiding. The grand jury, after being called, retired to their room and selected Mr. Jas. H. Peck as their foreman.

They were then sworn, and his lordship addressed them as follows:

In the neighboring county town Picton, which he had just left, he had congratulated the grand jury upon the total absence of crime. He could not, however, extend the same congratulation to the grand jury of Hastings county. This was a much larger county, hence a larger population. They would have to consider a number of cases which were of a serious nature. Three persons were in jail, against whom the charges of larceny, arson, and murder would probably be brought. He said that a store had been entered in the town of Trenton, goods taken out, the building then set fire to, and as a consequence, a woman lost her life. It is said that the parties were offered a sum to commit the burglary and fire the building, which offer was accepted. Although the party who made the offer did not apply the match, he was equally guilty with those who committed the deed. Another serious offence which they would be called upon to investigate was that of criminal assault which his lordship clearly defined. In his closing remarks, he referred to the cr minal code which was being prepared, and which would in some cases be of much value. It would be their duty to visit such institutions as are supported wholly or in part by the public. The address was a lengthy one and interesting.

The case of Long vs. Miller was the first case taken up this afternoon. It was an action for $6,000 damages under the Workman's Compensation For Injuries Act of 1892. The parties reside in Glen Miller. On the 18th of May last the plff. was crossing a plank in defs.'s paper mill to hang some lanterns when he slipped and fell to the cog wheels. The wheels grappled him about the heels severely injuring his leg. Plff was laid up for three months. The action came down for trial last assizes, but in view of proposition to settle it was laid over until this assizes. Case not finished. Northrup & Carnew for plff.; S. Masson, counsel; Clute & Williams for defs.

NOTES.

Mr. B. B. Osler, Q. C., of Toronto, is in attendance at the court.

Senator Sullivan, of Kingston, is summoned as a witness in a case. He was in the court room to-day.

Northrup & Carnew have been retained to defend Joseph Brant, the Indian charged with criminal assault. The case is likely to go over to the fall assizes, in consequence of the inability of the private prosecutrix to be present at this court.

MR. JOHN OSTRANDER'S STORY

He Says he is in no way Related to Sarah Ostrander.

The INTELLIGENCER to-day received a telephone message from Mr. John Ostrander, of Picton, in reference to the item in yesterday's daily concerning Sarah Ostrander. Mr. Ostrander says that he is not the girl's uncle, nor is he in any way related to her. He says the girl's name is not Ostrander but Sangster, and that she originally came from Trenton. The girl came to his house a few days ago. He kept her for three or four days, and being unable to keep her, having himself a large family, found her a home where she only remained a few days. Mr. Ostrander stated that this is all he knows about the girl.

BOARD OF HEALTH

A Meeting For Organization.—A New Chairman Appointed.

A meeting of the members of the board of health was held yesterday afternoon for organization. Those present were Dr. Tracy, T. Wills, S. A. Moore, R. C. Hulme, A. T. Petrie and Chief Newton. Dr. Tracy resigned his position as chairman, as he wished to have more time to attend to his duties as health officer. Mr. James Meagher was appointed to fill the vacancy. The subject of paid scavengers was discussed at some length, but no definite action was taken. The board adjourned until Wednesday evening next, 15th inst., at 8 o'clock.

A Fraternal Visit.

Dr. T. H. Thornton, of Consecon, D.D. G. M., for Prince Edward District for the Masonic Society, last night paid an official visit to Eureka Lodge, No. 283 of this city. The 1st degree was exemplified by Bro. J. Penn and the officers, and performed in such a manner as to be highly complimented by the District Deputy Master. After the lodge work was done those present repaired to the banqueting hall where refreshments were partaken of. Speeches were given by several, and were interspersed with songs. An agreeable evening was spent.

Will Kill Consumption.

The Norwegian cod is destined to kill consumption. It has always been known that its oil, when properly prepared, contains all the potent elements for rebuilding wasting tissues in the human body. The difficulty has been to conserve the energies of the oil in its refining, and this has only been accomplished by the manufacturers of "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." All who suffer with lung troubles, and of course all who are threatened with consumption, should take it, in big botoles, 50c. and $1.00, at all drug stores.

A MILITARY FUNERAL.

The Remains of Gilbert Marsh Consigned to the Tomb.

The remains of the late Gilbert Marsh were this afternoon consigned to the tomb. That the deceased young man was universally respected, was evinced by the large concourse present to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. At 2:30, at the late home at the court house, services were conducted by Rev. E. N. Baker. The casket was completely covered with floral designs. At the conclusion of the services the cortege was formed, and moved off in the following order, to the solemn strains of the Oddfellows' and Military band:

I. O. O. F. and Military Band.
C. O. Company, 15th Batt.
Hearse and Bearers.
Mourners in Conveyances.
Students of Bible Class.
Royal Templars of Temperance.
Students of Ontario Business College.
Citizens on Foot.
Citizens in Conveyances.

Whilst the procession was enroute through Church and Bridge streets those thoroughfares were lined with spectators. The bearers were: R. Sills, R. Frederick, E. Robinson, J. McCarthy, S. D Lewis, and W. Doyle. All these young gentlemen are members of Mr. F. E. O'Flynn's bible class of which the deceased was a member, beloved by all.

BELLEVILLE'S RIGHTS PROTECTED.

Mayor Wallbridge, City Solicitor Henderson and Ald. Ponton returned from Ottawa last night. They appeared before the railway committee yesterday and presented their objections to the absorption of the Grand Junction railway by the Grand Trunk Co. Mr. W. Barwick, Q. C., of Toronto, was retained by the city. The question as to Belleville's right under the Amalgamation bill was referred to the Minister of Justice to report to the Minister of Railways. The delegation received the assurance of the committee that Belleville's right would be fully protected. The committee could not assure the city that its right to representation on the board would be retained. The delegation was courteously entertained, and all speak highly of the efforts put forth by Messrs. Corby, Northrup and Hon. M. Bowell on behalf of the city's claim.

The committee also had an interview with Mr. Corby in reference to the ice in the harbor. Mr. Corby has put the department in correspondence with the harbor commissioners, and an effort will probably be made to relieve the city from the possibility of another flood.

Before returning home the delegates interviewed the Minister of Militia, and were successful in getting an allowance of $680 for expenses incurred in heating and lighting the armory, and for the care of arms. These expenses were paid by the 15th Batt. at the time, but which really should have been paid by the Government.

A GRAND CONCERT.

The Prentice Boys Furnish a first Class Entertainment.

A concert was held in the Prentice Boy's hall last night, under the auspices of Maiden City Lodge No. 13. It was one of the most successful ever held by the society, the large hall being filled. Bro. Ald. J. F. Wills presided with marked ability. A programme of rare excellence was presented and was much enjoyed by all present. Two songs rendered by Mary Lovelett, a girl twelve years of age, were given in such a manner as to captivate those present. Although but a mere child, she is possessed of a sweet voice, which was heard to much advantage in the selections which she rendered. Mr. Geo. Fax was also present and entertained all in his usual happy style. Recitations were given by Miss Jessie Robertson, of this city, Miss Taylor, of Corbyville, and Jas. Worrell, of this city. Musical selections were given by Prof. Riggs and family, and also by the Harris Bros., of Toronto. A fine exhibition of club swinging was given by Miss Willsea. The society is to be congratulated upon the success which attended its efforts.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it and use it, friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Buy Your Light Coat.

You might as well make up your mind at once to have one of those $10 Oak Hall overcoats. We guarantee you that a similar coat cannot be bought from any tailoring establishment in the city at less than $18 to $20. We have these coats in all the small sizes as well as large, and these are the days we are selling them.

Local Legal.

Gilmour v Bay of Quinte Bridge Co.—Judgment on appeal by the defendants from the judgment of the junior judge of the county court of Hastings in favor of the plaintiffs in an action for damages done to plaintiffs' batteau the Sydney, by reason of the alleged negligence of the defendants in not opening their drawbridge to allow the vessel to pass through, the consequence being that it ran into the bridge and was injured. The principal question was whether there was contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiffs' servants in charge of the vessel. Appeal allowed with costs, Haggarty, C. J. O., dissenting, the majority of the court holding that there was no evidence of negligence on the part of the defendants, which might properly be submitted to a jury, the negligence being rather that of the plaintiffs' servants in running against the bridge without first ascertaining that the draw was open, although it should have been open. Aylesworth, Q.C. and W. H. Biggar for the appellants. Clute, Q.C., for the plaintiffs.

MARRIAGES

HALL—DUNNING.—On the 7th inst., at the Methodist Parsonage, Foxboro, by the Rev. S. Bing, Mr. JAMES HALL to Miss MARIA DUNNING, both of Plainfield.

GOUGH'S SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2 50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

GOUGH. The Regulator of Prices,

354 Front Street, Belleville.

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

NOTICE.

We desire to announce specially that to-day, March 6th, we are ready with our new display of BEDROOM and TEA SETS. We say that in Canada you can't find a finer exhibit. We can show 75 patterns in both lines, which we guarantee is double that of any house between Toronto and Montreal. We'll run these for the next month at regular wholesale prices. It has ever been one of our standing rules never to be undersold. We'll lead in our business at any cost. The fact that we lead is sufficient, though two reasons we can mention is that we can buy and do sell under others. Come and see these two lines while the choice is good. You already know we also lead in SILVER AND LAMPS. Saturday was an old fashioned business day. Its gratifying to figure up after such a day to feel that trade at the old reliable "Crystal Hall" never grows less and that the buying public are satisfied. We would say to our friends that we will be "AT HOME" for the next twelve months from seven a. m. to six p. m. every day at the old stand.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," "Etc., etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'And why didn't he?' demanded Lesley, breathlessly.'

'Because'—here comes in your father's evidence—'your father assures me that when he reached the house that night and confronted Oliver, the woman took back every word that she had uttered, and declared that it was a lie. And Oliver, of course persisted that he had done nothing amiss. Your father says that he was so much tempted to strike Oliver to the ground—for he did not believe in Kings ton's retraction—that he flung his stick out upon the landing lest he should use it too effectually. The pocket-book must of course have fallen out as he left the house.'

Then he could not convict Mr. Trent of anything!

'No, and so he did not feel justified in meddling. But he wishes that he had gone to Ethel at once—or that I had been at home and that he had come to me. He is reproaching himself terribly for his silence now.'

'As I have been reproaching myself for mine,' said Lesley.

'You have no need. Ethel would never have believed the stories—and as Mrs. Trent denied them again, I think that Oliver would have denied the day. But let her deny them as she will, I believe that they were true, and that Oliver was a villain. Our poor Ethel may live to bless the day when she was delivered from him.'

'I am afraid that she will never believe us, or forgive us for the deception,' sighed Lesley. 'But what else has happened?'

'Your father left the building, after a long and angry conversation, about midnight. Oliver remained behind. Of course your father knows nothing more. But Mrs. Trent says that Oliver went away ten minutes later, and that she then heard loud words and the sound of a struggle upon the stairs. Fights are too common in that neighborhood to excite much remark. She, however, feeling anxious, stole down the upper flight of stairs, and distinctly saw Mr. Brooke and her brother-in-law struggling together. She maintains that Mr. Brooke's stick was still in his hand.'

'How wickedly false! Why did she not scream if she saw such a sight?'

'She was afraid. And she says that she did not think that it would come to—murder. She crept back to her room again and in a few minutes everything was quiet. Only—to the morning the dead body of Oliver Trent was found upon the stairs and then she gave information as to what she had seen and heard.'

There was a short silence. Then Lesley said very tremulously—'It sounds like a plot—a plot against my dear father's good name!'

'And a very cleverly concocted plot too,' thought Maurice to himself in silent rage; but he did not say so much aloud. He only answered tenderly—

'Such a plot can never come to any good Lesley. You and I together—we will unravel it—we will clear your father, and bring him back to the world again.'

'He is not coming home just yet, then?'

'I am afraid—dear, do not tremble so—he will have to take his trial. But he will be acquitted, you will see.'

She let him press her fingers to his lips again, and made no outward sign; but the two looked into each others eyes, and each was conscious of the presence of a deadly fear.

CHAPTER XXXV.

A VAIN APPEAL.

Lesley went home to sleep, and learned from her aunt the details of her father's arres . But he will be back in a few hours,' said Miss Brooke substantively. 'They will be obliged to let him go. They will accept bail, of course. Mr. Kenyon thinks they will.'

'Has Mr. Kenyon been here.'

'Oh, yes; he brought me a message from Carpet. What a horrible thing it is, and how the ridiculous—absurd—part of it is that your father should be accused. Why, your father was very friendly with Oliver Trent —at least he used to be. Then Miss Brooke paused, and fired an unexpected question at her niece. 'Have you any reason to think he was not?'

Lesley paused and hesitated. 'I don't think he liked Mr. Trent very much,' she said, at last; 'but that is a different thing —'

'From killing him! I should think so!' said Doctor Sophy, in a high tone of voice. She was in her dressing gown, and sitting before the fire that had been lighted to her own little sanctum up stairs; but she was not sleepy, and she usually sat up for an hour. The occasion was too serious for cigarettes; Doctor Sophy was denying herself. Perhaps that was the reason why she looked so haggard and so angry, as she turned suddenly and spoke to her niece in a somewhat excited way.

'What made him unfriendly? Do you not know? Did you not quarrel first with Oliver Trent! I really think you did, Lesley. And I know your father thought so too.'

'Then he ought to have been vexed with me, not with Oliver,' said Lesley, standing her ground, but turning very pale.

'Yes, yes, but you are a girl and he did not like to quarrel with a girl—he rather strongly about Oliver Trent to me. However it is no use saying so now. We had better keep that phrase of the matter as quiet as we can.'

'Aunt Sophy,' said Lesley in a tremulous tone, 'you don't mean—you don't think—that my quarrelling, as you call it with Mr. Trent, will be spoken of in court to hurt my father—my father's good name!'

Aunt Sophy stared at her. 'Of course it would hurt your father's chances if it were talked about,' she said, very sharply. 'I don't see how it could do otherwise. People would say that he might have quarrelled with Oliver about you, you know. But we must try to keep the matter as quiet as we can. I'm prepared to swear that they were bosom friends, and that I never heard Caspar say a word against him; and you had better follow my example.'

'But, Aunt Sophy—if I can't——'

'If you want to come the Jeanie Deans' business, my dear,' said Miss Brooke, 'you had better reflect that personal application to the Queen for a pardon will not help you very much now a-days. I must confess that although I admire Jeanie Deans very much, I don't intend to emulate her.

It's my opinion too that most women will tell lies for the sake of men they love, but not for the sake of women.'

'Oh, Aunt Sophy!'

'It is is no use making exclamations,' said Aunt Sophy, with unusual irritability. 'If you are different from all other women, I cant help it. I once thought that I was different myself, but I find I am as great a fool as any of them. There, go to bed, child! Things will turn out all right by and by. Nobody could be so absurd as to think ill of your father.'

'You think it will be all right?' said Lesley, wistfully.

'Don't ask me to believe in a God in heaven, if things go badly with Caspar,' said Miss Brooke, curtly. 'Haven't I tried ten years in the house with the man, and don't I know that he would not hurt a fly! He's the gentlest soul alive, although he looks so big and strong; the gentlest, softest-hearted most generous——' But I suppose it is no good saying that to your mother's daughter!'—and Miss Brooke picked up a paper-covered volume that had fallen to her feet, and began to read.

'I am my father's daughter too,' said Lesley, with rather tremulous dignity, at she turned away. She was too indignan, with Miss Brooke to wish her good-night and meant to leave the room without another word. But Miss Brooke, dropped her book on her red flannel lap, and looked uneasily over her shoulder at her niece's retreating figure and would not let her go.

'Come, Lesley, don't be angry,' she said. 'I am sure that I hardly know what I am saying. Come here and kiss me, child. I did not mean to vex you.'

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Cascara Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is recommended by eclectics in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidneys Complained—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills, as a cure for kidney, and liver complaint. SPRING STALLION SHOW.

THE PRIZE-WINNERS IN THE HEAVY CLASSES.

The Fair is Over—Exhibition of Clydesdales Very Fine—Ten Remarkable Foals—No Better in the World it is Claimed, by Judges.

TORONTO, March 10.—The stallion show came to a close yesterday with the judging in the heavy classes. The attendance was large and the exhibition in the Clydesdale classes was very fine. In Class VII., section 1, for foals previous to January, 1890, there were 10 remarkable animals brought into the ring. In the opinion of many competent judges no better exhibit of this class of horses could be made in any country, not even excepting Scotland.

The competition for first place in this class was very keen, but the red ribbon was finally awarded to Messrs. Sorby (Guelph) stallion Grandeur, a horse indeed well named for his magnificent appearance and action. He was closely pressed, however, by the Graham Bros. (Claremont) splendid prize-winning stallion Queen's Own, who was heretofore swept everything before him, securing among other prizes first at the Madison-square Gardens at New York in November last. The contests in the other classes were also close.

This year's stallion show may safely be pronounced one of the most successful in the history of the society. Following is the prize list:

Railroading Fatality.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 10.—A passenger train on the central division of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Delaware Railway, from Oxford, Pa., yesterday, collided with a freight train on the Wilmington and Northern Railroad at Chadsford Junction. Engineer Phillips of the passenger train was killed, and Conductor William Cummins of the same train was badly injured. The fireman escaped by jumping. No passengers were injured.

A Substantial Answer.

VICTORIA, B.C. March 10.—Victoria gentlemen answered the appeal of the Irish National Society by a donation of $1000.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Division on the Manitoba Separate School Question.

OTTAWA, March 10.—The division bell did not ring in the Commons until 5.30, the last speakers being Sir Adolphe Caron and Messrs. Bowell, Daly, McCarthy, O'Brien, Hughes, Lavergne, McNeill and Fauvel. Mr. Tarte's amendment was lost, 71 for to 120 against. There were seven pairs, Messrs. McCarthy, O'Brien, Jeannotte, Pelletier and Dugas, Conservatives, voted with the Opposition. The vote of the three last was rather unexpected.

Yesterday's proceedings in the House were neither long nor very interesting. The attendance was very slim and there was a tired look about nearly everybody but Mr. Foster, who assumed the leadership and looked as bright and alert as usual. The balance of the supplementary estimates were run through, and then Mr. Foster moved that in view of the long session the House be adjourned at 6 o'clock, which was generally satisfactory.

Sir John and Lady Thompson, with their two daughters and Lady Caron and Mr. Douglas Stewart, private secretary, left for New York at 3.25 yesterday in the special car Cumberland by the Canadian Atlantic Railway. The car was beautifully decorated with wreaths of smilax and bunches and baskets of cut flowers, and will go through to New York. The station was crowded with senators, members and pressmen, about 100 being present to give the leader a hearty send-off.

Sir John and Lady Thompson and Lady Caron were each the recipient of a handsome bouquet from the Conservative party, presented through the whips. His Excellency also sent by Lord Kilcourcie, A.D.C., a beautiful bouquet of rare flowers, and the Conservative pressmen in the gallery presented Lady Thompson, through Mr. Fred Cook, president of the gallery, with a very pretty bunch of lilies of the valley and ferns.

There was a lot of handshaking and tender farewells and as the train steamed out of the station ringing cheers went up for Sir John, who stood on the front platform, and for Lady Thompson, who was on the rear platform.

The Senate Divorce Committee sat this morning to hear evidence in the Doran divorce case. Mr. John A. Gemmill, barrister, Ottawa, appeared for the petitioner, and the evidence showed that James Frederick Doran of Lachite married in Winnipeg in 1883 Mary Affguata, daughter of the late Chief Justice Wood. After living together for a few months, Doran's wife left him and they had not since lived together.

Mr. Hogan of the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, identified as Mrs. Doran, since stopping at his hotel and being too intimate there with a French wine merchant on several occasions. Mr. Monsiaw of Montreal, one of the groomsmen at the marriage, proved the marriage of Doran to Miss Wood.

The committee adjourned until Monday.

The many friends of Dr. Ferguson, M.P. for Leeds and Grenville, who has been dangerously ill at his home since the opening of the session, will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly recovering and is now able to be up for a few hours each day.

CONFESSED HIS GUILT.

The Defaulter Tells What a Good Time He Had in Toronto.

WILLIAMSBURG, N. Y., March 10.—Henry Mohr, the defaulting bookkeeper for furniture dealer John A. Schwarz of Broadway and Park-avenue, Williamsburgh, N.Y., who absconded to Toronto about a week ago with $500 in cash and a lot of checks that were given to him to deposit in bank, was arraigned in the Lee-avenue Police Court in Williamsburgh, yesterday. On the way back from Toronto he said he had had a glorious time there and was willing to stand punishment for his offence. In court he greeted his employer pleasantly and asked him how he felt. He pleaded guilty to the charge. He said that on the day he went away a sudden impulse to steal seized him and he couldn't resist it. He added that he had had opportunities many times to steal thousands of dollars, but wouldn't do it.

After Justice Connoll- remanded him to await the action of the grand jury a supposed relative engaged a lawyer to defend him, and he was re-arraigned in court and pleaded not guilty. Bail was fixed at $1,000. It was said afterwards that an effort would be made to have the case settled.

BACTERIA IMPORTED.

One Way of Introducing Disease Into New York.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A quantity of rags landed here from Bremen, on Dec. 9 last, on a permit issued by Dr. Jenkins, have been found on examination by medical experts to contain bacteria. Dr. Paul Gibier, who made the examination of the rags, says there is no reason why diseases of any kind cannot be contained in such matter. They would consequently be dangerous for any one who comes in contact with them and might be the means of spreading an epidemic.

DE LESSEPS ANGRY.

He Charges the Government With Attempting to Use Him as a Tool.

LONDON, March 10.—The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post says: Charles de Lesseps told a friend that prior to the recent trial he had been promised a ministerial audience if he was able to implicate any Rightists.

He replied that this was beyond his power, because, so far as he knew, no Rightists were implicated.

As he had received the maximum sentence he said he would now show no mercy towards the authorities.

The Referendum in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, March 10.—M. Grimard, President of the Referendum Committee, under whose auspices a popular vote of the manhood suffrage was taken on Feb. 26, yesterday presented to King Leopold a report of election. The King, in reply to his address, said he himself was a strong friend of liberty and has asked repeatedly but in vain for a royal referendum in matters of the military and personal service. He counselled patience among the advocates of universal suffrage until the necessary two-thirds majority should be secured in the Chamber.

Selling Wives and Children.

SHANGHAI, March 10.—The Chinese Government disputes the Russian version of the Pamirs protocol of 1884, and has ordered its Minister in St. Petersburg to maintain unyieldingly China's position. A famine prevails throughout the northern part of the Province of Shan-Si. Men are selling their wives and children for food.

Won a Great Battle.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Herald special from Panama says: Confirmed reports received here via Nicaragua announce that in a decisive battle Policarpo Bonilla has won a great victory and entered Tegucigalpa in triumph.

A Local Simcoe Nominee.

ORILLIA, Ont., March 10.—W. M. Harvey has been nominated by the Liberals to contest East Simcoe for the Local House.

For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once this cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used, I was cured. It is a article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequence must be fatal. The most common result of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily cured, but if allowed to run their course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the complaints that afflict mankind from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Dr. Wistar's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered —A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are sure to try the same medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am exaggerating not one bit, and feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT, Wotton, P. Q.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

PANAMA CANAL AFFAIRS

CONFESSIONS COMING LIKE THUNDER CLAPS.

M. Baihaut Asks Pardon from His Country—Says He Cannot Understand How He Could Have Fallen So Low—Thinks He Has Sullied France.

PARIS, March 10.—Interest in the Panama trial is increasing, and the greatest curiosity is shown as to coming developments. It is reported that the frankness with which Charles De Lesseps told his story has caused surprise and some consternation in certain high circles, and that considerable anxiety has been felt in the anteroarters as to subsequent testimony. The approaches to the Palais de Justice, as well as the court room, were thronged this morning, and there was a buzz of gossip among the spectators, which lasted until the presiding judge, Desjardines, took his seat.

The judge proceeded to interrogate M. Marcus Fontaine. The latter stated in reply that he was a member of the Board of Management of the Panama Canal Company when the transactions with M. Baihaut occurred. He described the visit of M. Blondin, who assured the board that M. Baihaut would introduce a bill authorizing the lottery bonds if the Panama Canal Company would make a substantial pecuniary sacrifice, and that the money would be used to procure publicity for the scheme.

M. Fontaine further admitted that, acting under the direction of Charles de Lesseps, he visited M. Blondin. He found M. Baihaut there. Baihaut said:

"The money in question will be used in promoting the interests of the country."

Charles de Lesseps thereupon proceeded to discuss with M. Blondin the question of the million francs claimed by Baihaut. The matter was eventually settled at Fontaine's residence.

In reply to the presiding judge, M. Fontaine continued: "Some of the drafts payable to bearer were passed to pay for advertising, and others to satisfy the robbers who had waylaid us like footpads."

This closed the interrogation of M. Fontaine for the time being and next followed the great sensation of the day.

M. Baihaut was called upon to answer interrogatories, the presiding judge addressing the questions to the accused. M. Baihaut showed a disposition at first to throw the blame upon M. Blondin who had acted as the go-between in the negotiations. Baihaut said:

"I acted at the instigation of Blondin, to whom I gave 7500 francs. I have wished to restore the money I received, but I feared thereby to accuse myself."

Up to this moment M. Baihaut had spoken clearly and with apparent self-control. Now he broke down, and with a pitiful expression of sorrow and despair he exclaimed in a broken voice:

"I acknowledge having been led astray. I am guilty! My words express my grief, and repentance I feel. I do not understand how I could have fallen so low. I ask pardon of my country, whose good name I have perhaps sullied!"

As soon as M. Baihaut regained his self-control, he said: He admitted that he had settled matters connected with the payment of the bribe. Charles DeLesseps had handed M. Baihaut 250,000 francs at M. Baihaut's house and 125,000 more in the lobby of the Senate.

M. Baihaut, recalled and cross-examined by counsel for the Panama creditors, stated that M. Blondon had obtained a commission on the transaction between him and M. DeLesseps.

In the midst of M. Baihaut's statement M. Fontaine sprang to his feet and shouted: "That statement is a tissue of falsehoods. The witness has not spoken a word of truth."

Turning upon his accuser, M. Baihaut said, slowly:

"I affirm that what I have said is the exact truth, and nothing but the truth."

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, MARCH 10.

IMPORTANT STATISTICS.

The report of the Canadian Minister of Agriculture just presented to Parliament contains a vast amount of information that is not only of interest but of importance to producers and exporters in Canada. It is only by these comparative annual statements that one can measure the export trade of Canada, determine its present value and gauge the possibilities of the future. But the report is not simply statistical in character; it deals with the cattle quarantine in England, the experimental farms in Canada, the dairying interest of the Dominion and other similar matters which come within the scope of the Department of Agriculture.

With respect to dairying, the Minister says: "The good work of developing the agriculture resources of Canada through the dairying branch of farming has made steady and rapid progress during the year. The extension of dairy farming is particularly gratifying in view of the facts that by means of its coarse grains and fodders are consumed largely upon the farms where they are grown. The elements of fertility which are necessary to the continued growth of good crops, are thus left on the farm in the form of manure. A continuous and general selling of the crude, bulky and primitive products of agriculture tends to deplete the soil of the substances which are required to enable it to carry profitable crops. The production of fine food products of concentrated quality and value, such as butter, cheese, pork and beef, affords scope for the exercise of intelligent labor with profit, and at the same time protects the land against exhaustion. It is a fortunate encouragement to those who are extending their operations in dairying, that the prices for dairy products have been maintained at fairly satisfactory figures during the year."

Regarding the experimental farms, Mr. Angers informs us that "these institutions, so useful as a guide to farmers in the several provinces and territories in which they have been established, continue to grow in public favor. The names of more than 30,000 farmers have been placed on the mailing list of the experimental farm at their own request, and the dissemination of so much useful information on agricultural topics, is awakening a spirit of enquiry throughout the Dominion concerning improved varieties of grain, stock and fruit, improved methods in the treatment of soil, and in the preparation and handling of agricultural and horticultural products."

And again: "Good examples of the most useful breeds of stock have been supplied to each of the experimental farms, which is proving most beneficial to those farmers who reside in the district where the farms are located, since it enables them to introduce into their herds at small expense some of the best strains of thoroughbred stock of both dairy and fattening breeds."

The scheduling of Canadian cattle in England is fully explained. Mr. Angers is of opinion that it arose out of a misapprehension, and that there is no pleuro-pneumonia in Canada. Personally he is "in hopes that a careful consideration of the facts of the case which have been laid before the Imperial Government will warrant the Board of Agriculture in allowing the resumption of the trade at the commencement of the next season."

As a rule the exports of Canadian produce and live stock show an encouraging increase, although 1892 was not in all respects the biggest year on record. In five stock, for example, there was a slight diminution as compared with 1891, and the butter trade, though showing gratifying signs of renewed life, was only about one-third what it was ten years ago. The total value of 5,146,696 lbs. of butter sent out of the country last year was $1,056,050, and though this is a considerable increase over the preceding six years, in 1881 the value of this export trade to Canada was $3,578,-034.

In cheese, however, we have a much more gratifying exhibit. This industry has grown to enormous proportions and has doubled within the past decade. Last year the trade was the largest on record, the total value of the exports amounting to $11,652,412—or nearly one million dollars a month. In quantity the exports aggregated 118,270,052 lbs.

The future of Canada is very closely identified with the dairy industry and it behooves every farmer to push this branch of agriculture not only in the direction of securing a greater output, but of improving the quality of his product as well. It is the best that always sells and only the best bat brings good prices.

Will Kill Consumption.

The Norwegian cod is destined to kill consumption. It has always been known that its oil, when properly prepared, contains all the potent elements for rebuilding wasting tissues in the human body. The difficulty has been to conserve the energies of the oil in its refining, and this has only been accomplished by the manufacturers of "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." All who suffer with lung troubles, and of course all who are threatened with consumption, should take it. In big bottoles, 50c. and $1.00, at all drug stores.

MR. JAMES McARTHUR DEAD.

A Well Known Engineer And Contractor Dies in Chicago.

The death of Mr. James McArthur, at Chicago, Ill., the well known railway contractor, will be learned with regret in Belleville. The deceased was well and favorably known in this city, where he had an office in 1890 and '91 while building the Grand Trunk double track between Belleville and Garbocraige. His death occured on Tuesday last. The deceased was born Feb. 5, 1832, near Mount Morris, Livingston County, New York. He received a liberal education, early displaying great proficiency in mathematics and the sciences, and in later years was a profound student of political economy and constitutional history, his library on these subjects being very complete. In 1857 Mr. McArthur took charge, as engineer, of the improvement of the Kanawha River, and 1869 transfered his residence from Parkersburg, W.Va., to Marietta, Ohio, in order to promote the organization and carry forward the construction of the Cleveland and Marietta Railway. This undertaking successfully accomplished, he became, in 1875, a citizen of Chicago and a member of the present firm of McArthur Bros. Mr. McArthur was a civil engineer of large attainments, and with his extended and diversified experience in the building of railroads, canals, locks and other large public enterprises, won for him a high reputation among the members of his profession. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

Before Falconbridge, J.

Sprague v. Crawford.—Judgment in action tried at Belleville. The plaintiff is widow of Samuel Sprague, deceased, claimed dower of the east three quarters of lot 40 in the third concession of Sophiasburg, Green Point, in the township of Sophiasburg, in the County of Prince Edward. It was admitted that the possession was in the husband up to October, 1872, when the land was sold by the sheriff under a writ of fi. fa. against the husband's lands, that the husband was dead, and the defendant was in possession holding under a conveyance by the sheriff's grantee. The husband in his lifetime made three mortgages on the land, in 1868, 1869 and 1870. The defendant alleged that he had purchased all the mortgages, and that they had not been paid; and that he purchased the equitable interest of the husband at the sheriff's sale. In reply the plaintiff said that the second mortgage paid off the first, and the third the second, and that she was not a party to the third, and executed the second solely on the representation of the second mortgagee and of her late husband, and on condition that it was to pay off, and did pay off, the first mortgage. At the time of the execution of the third mortgage the other two were held by one Hart, and the third mortgage contained a covenant "that the mortgagee hath done no act to incumber the said land except two mortgages now held by the mortgagee, which are both valid, subsisting, and unpaid." No evidence was offered to prove payment of the mortgage in which the plaintiff barred her dower, and there was no discharge once or discharge registered, and no evidence of the execution of any such instrument. The 42 Vic., ch. 22, sec. 2, (R. S. O. ch. 133, sec. 5), does not apply to mortgages made before it was passed. Under this state of facts the learned judge holds that the plaintiff had barred her dower, and the husband's equity of redemption was sold under execution. Action dismissed with costs. W. C. Mikel (Belleville) for the plaintiff. Allison, Q.C., for the defendant.

Papa at the Telephone.

When all the house was still, one night,
An' just before the lights were out,
A little girl, all robed in white,
Stole down the stairs in trembling doubt;

All silentin, with gentle care,
A chair she placed against the wall,
And tho' her tiny feet were bare,
And tho' the risk'd perchance a fall;

Yet, bravely, and with scarce a fear,
She took and rang the telephone,
And listen'd then with anxious ear
For one voice wanted—one alone!

"Is that you, central? Hallo! there!"
Lisped the child in accents clear;
"I cannot say my good-night prayer,
For my papa he is not here!

"Hallo! central: My ma told me
That dear papa has gone away;
He's gone to live beyond the sea,
Has gone to where the angels stay!

"Dear mama says—and she is right—
That my papa may come once more;
May come and kiss us both good night—
I wish he now was d ope the door!

"For mama's upstairs alone,
Been crying, oh! so long and deep—
But papa has a telephone—
Why does he let my mama weep!

"Please switch me on to Heaven, sir!
And call papa to speak to me,
For mama will not move our sis—
I cannot hear her tears to see!

"Hey, hallo! central! please be quick!
Here's mama coming down the stair—
I surely think she must be sick—
Is that you, papa? Are you there?

"Are you with God and angels bright?
Please speak to me, we're all alone,
And kiss us both once more good night—
Ma, papa's at the telephone!"

TWO YOUNGSTERS ELOPE

THEY ARE PUPILS OF SCHOOLS IN TORONTO.

Eighteen Year-Old Fred Hammill Flees To Hamilton With Sixteen-Year-Old Minnie Butler, But the Stern Parent Beats the Minister.

TORONTO, March 10.—The late lamented Laureate never penned truer words than when he said that "In the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." This is also true of maidens, and Harbord-street Collegiate Institute, where so many gentle maidens study these lines of Tennyson, has been the first to prove their truth by something more potent than a pedagog's exegesis. The young lady interested is Miss Minnie Butler, blonde and blue-eyed, and one of the fairest flowers in Principal Spotton's educational garden. Miss Minnie is sweet 16, with dresses to her boot tops and is in the lower fifth or matriculation form of the Harbord-street Institute. She is chic and vivacious and wears her sunny brown hair au naturel and rippling gloriously to her waist. It goes without saying that she is a general favorite with her class-mates, who are greatly fluttered over the naughty eagle who has penetrated their dovecote. She lives with her parents in a pretty villa at 405 Markham-street, and within convenient calling distance is 603 Markham lives her youthful 18-year-old lover, Fred S. Hammill, son of Thomas J. Hammill, lumber merchant and only scion of the house. Minnie is also an only child, which gives especial interest to the case.

Fred, who has symptoms of a mustache, has been going for some time to Dillen's private academy at 198 Spadina-avenue. In the quiet and seclusion of this institution, away from the rude bustle of a public school, he has had time to cultivate the grande passion, and the object of his fond affection has been Miss Minnie, at whose house he is on visiting terms.

Some months ago the two young couple became engaged, their parents wisely deferring marriage until they had reached more mature years.

Tired of the hope which maketh the heart sick, the young pair determined to precipitate matters, and on Friday morning last took the matter into their own hands. On the Thursday night previous Fred and Minnie met and made arrangements for an elopement. Fred, whose exchequer was limited, had succeeded in saving up $5—enough for a license and two fares to Hamilton, a place that he had selected as being quiet and sufficiently suitable for a Gretna Green marriage.

After having a good dinner, the lovers left their respective homes and met at Ulster and Borden-streets, according to appointment. Love's young dream did not induce Fred to be reckless in his expenses. The pair rejected a carriage as being too expensive, and rode to the Union Station in a prosaic street car. Thence they took the 12.50 train to Hamilton, where they arrived at 3 p.m., and at once proceeded to the residence of Mr. Evans, a friend of Fred's family.

In the meantime Mrs. Butler became alarmed at Minnie's absence, and when on comparing notes with the Hammills she discovered that Fred was also missing she at once concluded that the pair had gone for a honeymoon. Mr. Butler was down town at the time, and Mr. Hammill at once proceeded in hate to the Union Station, where he took the next train for Hamilton. He arrived at that suburb about 5 p.m., when he immediately repaired to the Evans mansion.

When Mr. Hammill entered Fred and Minnie were seated in the drawing-room, not having yet gone out to look for the parson that was to make them one.

Mr. Hammill at once called his son into an adjoining room. What happened there deponent sayeth not, but as a result the sloping couple returned by the next train to Toronto in company with Freddie's papa, arriving in the city at 9 p.m.

When a reporter called at Mr William Butler's residence last night he was met at the door by Miss Minnie herself, who listened eagerly to the ensuing interview with her father. At the outcome of a talk with Mr. and Mrs. Butler and Miss Minnie the facts above stated were elicited.

"It was only a girlish escapade," said Mrs. Butler, "and Fred and Minnie were unwise in trying to hurry a marriage to which there is no objection later on."

Miss Minnie, who had been studying her lessons with the aid of a dainty pince-nez which hung suspended by a golden chain round her neck, took a prominent part in the conversation. She told of her engagement with Fred and gave many of the details before related. "I hope you are not going to put this in the papers," she pleaded. "If you do I can never go to school again."

The reporters had heart was almost moved at the entreaty of the big, blue eyes, but he stuck strictly to duty and asked if she had any particular parson in view when they went to Hamilton. "Oh, no," she replied, "we were just going to take any that came handy. Freddie and I came home with his papa, who read papers all the way, and said nothing to me at all. I think you are real mean if you put this in the paper, because we have now decided to wait."

A visit to Mr. Hammill's was not so productive of results. Mr. Hammill was out at church meeting, and would not be in till late. Freddie himself had gone to hear Dr. Talmage at Cooke's Church.

Mrs. Hammill, however, was at home. She regarded the whole matter as a boyish frolic on the part of Fred, who had not considered how it would look if he took Minnie with him to Hamilton. "I have been talking to him to-day and telling him how foolish he was. I do not think they were going to be married at all. Fred merely took Minnie with him for a holiday, and intended returning on the next train."

DUNDAS MARSH AFFAIR.

The Idea of Murder Is No Longer Entertained.

DUNDAS, March 10.—An inquest on the body of Daniel Welsh, found recently on the Dundas Marsh, was held yesterday. STABBED IN THE BRAIN.

Awful Murder In an Algoma Lumber Camp.

TORONTO, March 10.—News reached the city yesterday of a frightful murder near Webbwood, Algoma, and the Ontario Government will be asked to send a detective to the scene. It seems a man brought in two bottles of whisky to Stone & Berrill's camp near Webbwood, intending one for himself and one for a friend. The friend seized the two bottles and treated the boys, which annoyed the first man so much that he drew his knife and stabbed him, breaking off about two inches of the blade in his head. The poor fellow was taken to the doctor at Webbwood, but died when about five miles on his way back.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Clubbs, will visit Belleville, Queens Hotel, on Saturday March 18th, where he can give relief to all persons suffering from rupture or deformity, such as club foot, spinal trouble, bow legs, white swellings, etc. Go and see him.

Robertson, Miss Rutherford, Misses Bonter (Trenton) Misses Gorton, Miss Lvvoy, Miss Falconer and Mrs. Gibson will take part in the "at home" at Belleville Lodge, No. 81, I. O. O. F. to night.

As manager of his wall paper department Mr. C. B. Scantlebury has secured the services of Mr. Chas. W. Henderson, one of the best known and best qualified wall paper men in Canada. In addition to his Canadian experience Mr. Henderson has had a large experience in the United States, having for some years been in connection with and travelling for one of the largest wall paper houses in New York. We congratulate Mr. Scantlebury on having secured so competent a salesman, and bespeak for him a large increase in trade.

Rev. T. B. Scott, M. D., is farewelled in the first Congregational Church at Kingston last night. Mr. T. J. Shanks, editor of the News, formerly of Belleville, in an address of some length, sketched the origin of the American Board, and the history of the "students' movement," as a result of which no fewer than 6,000 young men and women in the colleges of the United States and Canada stand ready, whenever fitted and required, to become missionaries in heathen lands.

AN INCORRIGIBLE GIRL.

The Picton Gazette Throws Some Light on Sarah Ostrander's Case.

The Picton Gazette this week says that the girl Sarah Ostrander, who came to Belleville and claimed she was cast on the world by her uncle, is an incorrigible girl. The Gazette adds: "She arrived in Picton about midwinter, and won the sympathy of some of our citizens by telling them that she had lived near Lindsay, that her father and mother were dead, and that her sister had cast her out and put her on the train, caring little where she went. She finally was engaged by Mr. Wm. McGowan, where she remained until one day this week, when she became so incorrigible that he would keep her no longer, and, acting upon the advice of friends, she was sent to her parents, who it is alleged, reside in Trenton, McGowan providing her with a ticket. Her name is not Ostrander, and the Mr. Ostrander alluded to is a most respectable citizen. Her right name is said to be Sarah Sangster, and Mr. McGowan states that her father's name is Thos. Sangster, and he resides in Trenton. It would appear, therefore, that Belleville people have been the victims of misplaced confidence."

Chief of Police Hinds, of Trenton, stated to the INTELLIGENCER to day that the girl's parents were respectable, but poor people living in Trenton. They are unable to keep her home.

Macdonald escaped and was in Chicago until Tuesday, when he returned to the village, where he was arrested. He was taken before J. W. Ormerod, J.P., and remanded until the 15th inst. He is a big able-bodied man, 26 years of age.

As we do not handle any boys' suits that do not wear well, you may depend that even at this low price you get good wearing goods and a good fit—coat and pants lined.

Sullivan: Roslin, Foxboro, Holloway, two lodges from Tyendinaga, Thomasburg, Carlton, Lime Lake and Plainfield. The bearers were Messrs. James Martin, Lyman Jones, Joseph Carter, Robert Sullivan, John Simmons and Stephen Fullerton. An able, interesting and instructive sermon was preached by the Rev. D. PETERBORO IS INTERESTED

She Does not Want the Grand Junction Absorbed by the G.T.R.

The Peterboro Examiner says: "Mayor Kendry and Town Solicitor Edwards returned home from Ottawa this morning. Yesterday morning in the House, in company with Messrs. Stevenson, M.P., and Burnham, M.P., the town's deputation, met the members of the railroad committee, in reference to the Act of the Grand Trunk Railway, how before the house, amalgamating the Midland and several other lines with the G.T.R. After some delay the bill was taken up, and objections made to it on behalf of the city of Belleville, township of Hope, and town of Peterboro, all of which places had delegations present. The members of the committee were disposed to deal shortly with the deputations and the objections raised on the ground that the three corporations were sufficiently protected by the general terms of the Act itself and several amendments made were voted down. The minister of railways promised he would submit to the minister of justice so far as the matter of Peterboro and Port Hope were concerned, and if in his opinion any provisions were deemed necessary to protect their interests, he would see that they were inserted in the bill. The object of Peterboro's deputation was to have proper provision made to protect the town's interest regarding the sum of $120,000 subscribed by the town in 1857 for the building of the branch from here to Millbrook."

O.B.C. Literary Society Entertainment.

The second entertainment at the Ontario Business College, last night, was a decided success. It was attended by about 700 persons, and many more would have turned away on account of the lack of room. Messrs. Fax and Doyle were at their best—the former by his songs keeping the audience in continuous laughter. The program was as follows: Two grand choruses by the College Glee club; song by Mr. J. N. Doyle; recitation by Miss Brandon, of the O.B.C.; banjo and piano duet by Miss Coleman (O. B.C.) and Mr. Greene; songs by Mr. Lewis and Miss Hare. The second part began by a reading by Mr. J. J. B. Flint, which was rendered in his usual good style; vocal solo by Miss Holton; song by Mr. Mackintish; (he not being present, the chairman, Mr. Osborne, ably filled his place with a recitation, which was well received); a recitation by Mr. Worrell, which all greatly enjoyed; vocal solo by Miss Falconer; recitation by by Miss J. Robertson. The program was a first class one in all respects, and the audience went home highly pleased. The receipts at the door, which are destined for Mrs Hannah, amounted to $24 87. The treasurer, Mr. Marsh, this morning complains that he has not yet recovered from lameness caused by carrying home last night so many five cent pieces.

The Society wish to publicly thank those persons who so kindly assisted in making the program what it was.

A JOINT ENTERTAINMENT.

The Mission Band and Young Woman's Guild Entertain Their Friends.

The Young Woman's Guild and Mission Band of St. Andrew's church, held a very successful joint entertainment and sale last evening in the S. S. room. The display of work done by the young ladies and children was good and commanded a ready sale. The program was well appreciated by the large audience present and consisted of the following: Hymns by the Mission Band; recitation, Miss Jessie Robertson; song, Miss Hattie; vocal duet, Misses Harris Wilson; piano solo, Miss J. Petrie; duet, Misses B. Cook and M. Fralick; mouth organ, Masters Mathison and Wellar; autoharp duet, Masters Kilgour; dialogue, Misses Gallaway, Milne, Fralick, Petrie, Harris and Wilson; dialogue, T. Stevenson, W. Harden, W. Mackay, C. Fralick, and a letter motto "Our Mission Band," which was exceedingly well done by fourteen little ones of the infant class. Refreshments were served during the evening. The proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

Three True Bills Brought in against Mc-Williams and Hubble.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon brought in true bills against Norman Mc-Williams and David Hubbel for criminal assault, seduction and aiding and abetting. At 11 a.m. to day D. B. Osler, Q. C., of Toronto, made application to postpone the trial until the fall assizes owing to the absence of E. O. Platt, a material witness, on account of illness. The application was granted and bail increased to $7,000 each.

The case of Long vs. Miller was not finished when the INTELLIGENCER went to press.

THEIR GENTLE ACTION AND GOOD effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

GOUGH'S

SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

GOUGH, The Regulator of Prices,

354 Front Street, Belleville.

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

AMUSEMENTS

The Black Flag.

An exchange says: "The Josie Mills dramatic company, under the management of Chas. H. Haystead, drew a packed house on Tuesday evening. The play was 'The Black Flag,' a charming love story, and full of interesting incidents. Miss Mills, the Canadian star, amply sustained her reputation, and as Ned, the cabin boy, won the admiration and applause of the house. Mr. Ashton produced a delightful portrayal of the proud, prejudiced, and lovable old man Owen Glyndon. The other talent of the company were all excellent in their respective places. 'The Black Flag' furnishes an evening of genuine pleasure from beginning to end, and its situations, from pathetic to humorous, keep up a continued and lively interest throughout." They appear at the Queen's opera house to-night. Prices 15c, 20c, 35c, and 50c.

NOTICE.

We desire to announce specially that to-day, March 6th, we are ready with our new display of BEDROOM and TEA SETS. We say that in Canada you can't find a finer exhibit. We can show 75 patterns in both lines, which we guarantee is double that of any house between Toronto and Montreal. We'll run these for the next month at regular wholesale prices. It has ever been one of our standing rules never to be undersold. We'll lead in our business at any cost. The fact that we lead is sufficient, though two reasons we can mention is that we can buy and do sell under others. Come and see these two lines while the choice is good. You already know we also lead in SILVER AND LAMPS. Saturday was an old fashioned business day. Its gratifying to figure up after such a day to feel that trade at the old reliable "Crystal Hall" never grows less and that the buying public are satisfied. We would say to our friends that we will be "AT HOME" for the next twelve months from seven a. m. to six p. m. every day at the old stand.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc, etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

And Lesley came back and kissed her aunt, but in silence, for her heart was sore within her. Was it perhaps true—or partially true—that she had been the cause of the misery that had come upon them all? Indirectly or impartially, unintentionally and without consciousness of wrong doing—and yet she could not altogether acquit herself of blame. Had she been more reserved, more guarded in her behaviour, Oliver Trent would never have fallen in love with her. Would this have mended matters? If, as she had gathered, the sole reason of her father's visit to Oliver Trent's had been to assure himself of the true nature of her relations with Oliver—her cheeks burned as she put the matter in that light, even to herself—why then, she could not possibly divest herself of the responsibility. Of course she could not for one moment imagine that her father had lifted a hand against Oliver Trent; but his visit to the house shortly before the murder gave a certain air of plausibility to the tale; and for this Lesley felt her self to blame.

She went to her own room and lay down, but she could not sleep. There was a hidden joy at the bottom of her heart—a joy of which she was half ashamed. The relief of finding that Maurice was still her friend,—it was so that she phrased it to herself—was indeed very great, and there was a strange and beautiful hope for the future, which she dared not look at yet. For it seemed to her it would be a sort of treason to dream of love and joy and hope for herself when those that she loved best—and she herself also—were involved in one common downfall, one common misfortune of so terrible a kind. The thought of her father—detained, she knew not where; she had a childish vision of a felon's cell, very different indeed from the reality of the plain but fairly comfortable room with which Mr. Caspar Brooke had been accomodated, and she shuddered at the thought of the days before him, of public examinations, of the doubt and shame and mystery in which poor Oliver Trent's death was enrapped. She though of Ethel, now under the influence of a strong narcotic, from which she would not awake until the morning; and she shrank in imagination from that awakening to despair. And she thought of others who were more or less concerned in the tragedy; of Mary Kingston—though she could not remember her without a shudder—of Mrs. Romaine, who loved her brother so tenderly; and of Lady Alice the woman whose husband was in prison for a crime which Lesley was willing to swear that he was innocent.

When her thoughts once reached her mother, they stayed and would not be diverted. She could not sleep; she could think of nothing but the mother and the father whom she loved. And she wept over the failure of her schemes for their reunion. All hope of that was at an end. It was impossible that Lady Alice should not believe him guilty. She had always judged him harshly, and taken the worst possible view of his behaviour. Lesley remembered that she had not—in common parlance—had a good word for him, when she spoke of him in the convent parlour. What would she say now, how could Lesley make her see the truth.

The fruit of her reflections became evident at breakfast time next morning. Lesley came downstairs with her hat on and a mantle over her arm.

"Where are you going, Miss Brooke asked. 'Not to poor Ethel I hope? I am very sorry for her, but really Lesley——'

'I am going to mamma,' said Lesley.

'Going to——' 'Well, upon my word! Lesley, I did think you had a little more feeling for your father! Going——' 'Well I shall not countenance it. I shall not let your bones go out of the house. It is simply disgraceful.'

'But I don't want my boxes,' said Lesley, rather forlornly helping herself to a cup of coffee. 'What have my boxes to do with it, Aunt Sophy? I shall be back in an hour. Mr. Kenyon said we would be able to see father to-day, and I do not want to be away when he comes.'

'Then—then you don't mean to stay with your mamma!' gasped Aunt Sophy.

Lesley could not help a little laugh, but she tears came into her brown eyes as she said reproachfully 'I would you asked very much if I did, Aunt Sophy!' she asked, setting down her cup of coffee.

'I should mind for this reason,' said Miss Brooke, stoutly, 'that if you ran away from your father's house now, people would say that you thought him guilty. Is would go against him terribly. Sooner than that, I would lock you into your own room and prevent your going by main force.'

'I believe you would,' said Lesley, 'and so would I were I in your place, Aunt Sophy. But you need not be afraid. I am as proud of my father, and as full of faith in him as ever you can be; and if I go to see my mother, it is only that I may tell her so, and that her heart may be glad. He has no cause to be afraid of him. The color came to her face as she spoke, and she lifted her head so proudly that Aunt Sophy felt—for a moment or two—slightly abashed.

'I will be back in an hour or two,' Lesley went on, firmly, 'and I hope that Mr. Kenyon will wait for me if he comes before I return.'

'Am I to tell him where you have gone?' asked Miss Brooke, with a slight touch of sharpness in her voice.

'And Lesley replied, 'Certainly. And my father too, if you see him before I do. I am not going to do anything wrong.'

Greatly to her surprise, Miss Brooke got up and kissed her. 'My dear,' she said, 'you are very like your father, and I am sure you won't do anything to hurt his feelings; but are you quite sure that you need go to Lady Alice just at present?'

'Quite sure, Aunt Sophy.' And then Miss Brooke sighed and shook her head, and let her go with the air of one who sees a person undertake a hopeless quest. For she knew that Lesley was going to make an attempt to reconcile the husband and wife who had been so long separated, and she did not believe that any such attempt was likely to succeed. But she had not fathomed Lesley's plan at all.

The girl took a hansom and drove at once to her mother's house. She knew well where it was situated, but she had never visited it before. It was a small house, but in a good position, close to the Green Park, and at any other moment Lesley would have been struck by the air of distinction it had already achieved. It was painted differently from the neighboring houses; the curtains and flower-boxes in the windows were remarkably fresh and daity, the neat maid who opened the door was neater and smarter than other people's maids. Lesley was informed that her ladyship was not up yet; and the servant seemed to think that she had better go away on receiving this information.

'I will come in,' said Lesley, quietly. 'I am Miss Brooke. You can take my name up to her if you like. But I want to see her at once'

The maid looked doubtful, but at this moment Mrs. Dayman was seen crossing the hall, and her exclamation of mingled pleasure and dismay caused Lesley to be admitted without further parley.

Lady Alice was up, but not fully dressed; she was breakfasting in a dressing room or boudoir, which opened out of her own sleeping apartment. As soon as Lesley entered she started up; and the girl noticed at the first glance that her mother was looking ill, but perhaps the richly-tinted plush morning gown, that fell round her slender figure in long, straight fold, made her look taller and thinner than usual. Certainly her face was worn, and her eyelids were reddened as if from weeping or sleeplessness.

'Lesley! my darling! have you come back to me!'

She folded the girl in her arms and pressed her lips to the soft cheek, a little sob breaking from her as she spoke.

'Only for half an hour, mamma. Just to speak to for a few yommunica about him.'

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, boasting such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidneys Complaint—Mr. Hugh Snape, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills, as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines which were recommended to me without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

For Bronchitis

"I never realized the good of a medicine so much as I have in the last few months, during which time I have suffered intensely from pneumonia, followed by bronchitis. After trying various remedies without benefit, I began the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the effect has been marvelous, a single dose relieving me of choking, and securing a good night's rest."—T. "Last Spring I was taken down with la grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breath seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I began taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid."—W. H. Williams, Cook City, S. Dak.

Lung Trouble

"For more than twenty-five years, I was a sufferer from lung trouble, attended with coughing so severe at times as to cause hemorrhage, the paroxysms frequently lasting three or four hours. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking four bottles, was thoroughly cured. I can confidently recommend this medicine."—Franz Hofmann, Clay Centre, Kans.

Cure For Headache,

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT, Wotton, P. Q.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

CHILDHOOD TO OLD AGE.

REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES ON THE EPOCHS OF MAN'S LIFE.

Each Decade Brings With It Its Own Individual Hopes and Joys and Aspirations—The Glorious Path a Man May Leave in His Journey Through the Years.

BROOKLYN, March 5, 1893.—A most striking and characteristic sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Talmage to a great audience in the Tabernacle to-day; the subject announced being "Twenty to Seventy." The text selected was Psalm 90: 10: "The days of our years are three score and ten."

The seventieth milestone of life is here planted as at the end of the journey. A few go beyond it; multitudes never reach it. The oldest person of modern times expired at one hundred and sixty-nine years. A Greek, by the name of Stravaride, lived to one hundred and thirty-two years. An Englishman, by the name of Thomas Parr, lived one hundred and fifty-two years. Before the time of Moses, people lived one hundred and fifty years, and if you go far enough back, they lived five hundred years. Well, that was necessary, because the story of the world must come down by tradition, and it needed long life safely to transmit the news of the past. If the generations had been short-lived, the story would so often have changed lips that it might all have gone astray. But after Moses began to write it all down, and parchment told it from century to century, it was not necessary that people should live so long in order to authenticate the events of the past. If, in our time, people lived only twenty-five years, that would not affect history, since it is put in print and is no longer dependent on tradition. Whatever your age, I will to-day directly address you, and I shall speak to those who are in the twenties, the thirties, the forties, the fifties, the sixties, and to those who are in the seventies and beyond.

First, then, I accost those of you who are in the twenties. You are full of expectation. You are ambitious—that is, if you amount to anything—for some kind of success, commercial, or mechanical or professional, or literary, or agricultural, or social or moral. If I find someone in the twenties without any sort of ambition, I feel like saying, "My friend, you have got on the wrong planet. This is not the world for you. You are going to be in the way. Have you made your choice of poorhouses? You will never be able to pay for your cradle. Who is going to settle for your board? There is a mistake about the fact that you were born at all." But supposing you have ambition, let me say to all the twenties, expect everything through Divine manipulation, and then you will get all you want or something better. Are you looking for wealth? Well, remember that God controls the money markets, the harvests, the droughts, the caterpillars, the locusts, the sunshine, the storm, the land, the sea, and you will get wealth. Perhaps not that which is stored up in banks, in safe deposits, in United States securities, in houses and lands, but your clothing and boards and shelter, and that is about all you can appreciate anyhow. You cost the Lord a great deal. To feed and clothe and shelter you for a lifetime requires a big sum of money, and if you get nothing more than the absolute necessities, you get an enormous amount of supply. Expect as much as you will of any kind of success, if you expect it from the Lord you are safe. Depend on any other resource and you may be badly chagrined, but depend on God and all will be well. It is a good thing in the crises of life to have a man of large means to back you up. It is a great thing to have a moneyed institution stand behind you in your undertaking. But it is a mightier thing to have the God of heaven and earth your coadjutor, and you may have Him. I am so glad that I meet you while you are in the twenties. You are laying out your plans and all your life in this world and the next for five hundred million years of your existence will be affected by those plans. It is about eight o'clock in the morning of your life, and you are just starting out. Which way are you going to start? Oh, the twenties!

"Twenty" is a great word in the Bible. Joseph was sold for twenty pieces of silver. Samson judged Israel twenty years. Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities. The flying roll that Zechariah saw was twenty cubits. When the sailors on the ship on which Paul sailed sounded the Mediterranean Sea it was twenty fathoms. What mighty things have been done in the twenties. Romulus founded Rome when he was twenty. Keats finished life at twenty-five. Lafayette was a world-renowned soldier at twenty-three. Oberlin accomplished his chief work by twenty-seven. Bonaparte was victor over Italy at twenty-six. Pitt was prime minister of England at twenty-two. Calvin had completed his immortal "Institutes" by the time he was twenty-six. Grotius was Attorney-General at twenty-four. Some of the mightiest things for God and eternity have been done in the twenties. As long as you can put the figure "2" before the other figure that helps describe your age I have high hopes about you. Look out for that figure "2." Watch its continuance with as much earnestness as you ever watched anything that promised you salvation or threatened you demolition. What a critical time, the twenties! While they continue you decide your occupation and the principles by which you will be guided. You make your most abiding friendships. You arrange your home life. You fix your habits. Lord God Almighty for Jesus Christ's sake have mercy on all the men and women in the twenties.

Next I accost those in the thirties. You are at an age when you find what a tough thing it is to get recognized and established in your occupation or profession. Ten years ago you thought all that was necessary for success was to put on your shutter the sign of physician or dentist, or attorney, or broker, or agent, and you would have plenty of business. How many hours you sat and waited for business and waited in vain, three persons only know—God, your wife and yourself.

Oh, the thirties! Joseph stood before Pharaoh at thirty. David was thirty years old when he began to reign. The height of Solomon's temple was thirty cubits. Christ entered upon his active ministry at thirty years of age. Judas sold Him for thirty pieces of silver. Oh, the thirties! What a word suggestive of triumph or disaster. Your decade is the one that will probably afford the greatest opportunity for victory, because there is the greatest necessity for struggle. Read the world's history and know what are the thirties for good or bad. Alexander the Great closed his carreer at thirty-two. Frederick the Great made Europe tremble with his armies at thirty five. Cortes conquered Mexico at thirty. Grant fought Shiloh and Donelson when thirty-eight. Raphael died at thirty-seven. Luther was the hero of the Reformation at thirty-five. Sir Philip Sydney got through by thirty-two. The greatest deeds for God and against Him were done within the thirties, and your greatest battles are now and between the time when you cease expressing your age by putting first the figure "2" and the time when you will cease expressing it by putting first the figure "3." As it is the greatest time of the struggle, I adjure you, in God's name and by God's grace, make it the greatest achievement. My prayer is for all those in the tremendous crisis of the thirties. The fact is, that by the way you decide the present decade of your history, you decide all the following decades. When I was in Russia, I was disappointed in not seeing the battlefield of Borodino. Why was there fought such a battle at that small village? It was seventy miles from Moscow. Why that desperate struggle in which one hundred and twenty-five thousand Frenchmen grapple with one hundred and sixty thousand Russians, and thirty thousand dead Frenchmen and fifty-two thousand dead Russians were left on the field? It was because the fate of Moscow, the sacred city of Russia, was decided there—decided seventy miles away. And let me tell you, people of the thirties, you are now at the Borodino, whence will resound its successes or its moral disasters clear on into the seventies, if you live to the three score and ten of the text.

Next I accost the forties. Yours is the decade of discovery. I do not mean the discovery of the outside, but the discovery of yourself. No man knows himself until he is forty. He over-estimates or under-estimates himself. By that time he has learned what he can do, or what he cannot do. He thought he had commercial genius enough to become a millionaire, but now he is satisfied to make a comfortable living. He thought he had rhetorical power that would bring him to the United States Senate; now he is content if he can successfully argue a common case before a petit jury. He thought he had medical skill that would make him a Mott or a Grosse or a Willard Parker or a Sims; now he finds his sphere is that of a family physician, prescribing for the ordinary ailments that afflict our race. He was sailing on in a fog, and could not make a reckoning, but now it clears up enough to allow him to find out his real latitude and longitude. He has been climbing, but now he has got to the top of the hill and he takes a long breath. He is half way through the journey at least, and he is in a position to look backward or forward. He has more good sense than he ever had. He knows human nature, for he has been cheated often enough to see the bad side of it, and he has met so many gracious and kindly and splendid souls he also knows the good side of it. Now, calm yourself. Thank God for the past, and deliberately set your compass for another voyage. You have chased enough thistledown. You have blown enough soap bubbles. You have seen the unsatisfying nature of all earthly things. Open a new chapter with God and the world. This decade of the forties ought to eclipse all its predecessors in worship, in usefulness and happiness. "Forty" is a great word in the Bible. God's ancient people were forty years in the wilderness, Solomon and Jehoash reigned forty years. When Joseph visited his brethren he was forty years old. Oh, this mountain-top of the forties. You have now the character you will probably have for all time and all eternity. God, by his grace, sometimes changes a man after the forties, but after that a man never changes himself. Tell me, Oh, men and women who are in the forties your habits of thought and life, and I will tell you what will forever be. I might make a mistake once in a thousand times, but not more than in that proportion.

My sermon next accosts the fifties. How queer it looks when in writing your age you make the first of the two figures a "5." This is the decade which shows what the other decades have been. If a young man has sown wild oats, and he has lived to this time, he reaps the harvest of it in the fifties, or if by necessity he was compelled to over-toil in honest directions, he is called to settle up with exacting nature sometimes during the fifties. Many have it so hard in early life that they are octogenarians at fifty. Sciaticas and rheumatism and neuralgias and vertigos and insomnias have their playground in the fifties. A man's hair begins to whiten, and although he may have worn spectacles before, now he asks the optican for No. 14 or No. 12 or No. 10. When he gets a cough and is almost cured he hacks and clears his throat a good while afterwards. Oh, ye who are in the fifties, think of it! A half century of blessing to be thankful for, and a half century substracted from an existence which, in the most marked cases of longevity, hardly ever reaches a whole century. By this time you ought to be eminent for piety. You have been in so many battles, you ought to be a brave soldier. You have made so many voyages, you ought to be a good sailor. So long protected and blessed, you ought to have a soul full of doxology. In Bible times in Canaan every fifty years was by God's command a year of jubilee. The people did not work that year. If property had, by misfortune, gone out of one's possession, on the fiftieth year it came back to him. If he had fooled it away, it was returned without a farthing to pay. If a man had been enslaved, he was in that year emancipated. A trumpet was sounded loud and clear and long, and it was the trumpet of jubilee. They shook hands, they laughed, they congratulated. What a time it was, that fiftieth year!

My sermon next accosts the sixties. The beginning of that decade is more startling than any other. In his chronological journey, the man rides rather smoothly over the figures "2" and "3" and "4" and "5," but the figure "6" gives him a big jolt. He says: "It cannot be that I am sixty. Let me examine the old family record. I guess they made a mistake. They got my name down wrong in the roll of births." But no, the older brothers or sisters remember the time of his advent, and there is some relative a year older and another relative a year younger, and sure enough the fact is established beyond all disputation Sixty! Now, your greatest danger is the temptation to fold up your faculties and quit. You will feel a tendency to reminisce. If you do not look out you will begin almost everything with the words, "When I was a boy." But you ought to make the sixties more memorable to God and the truth than the fifties or the forties or the thirties. You ought to do more during the next ten years than you did in any thirty years of your life, because of all the experience you have had. You have committed enough mistakes in life to make you wise above your juniors. Now, under the accumulating light of your past experimenting, go to work for God as never before. When a man in the sixties folds up his energy and feels he has done enough, it is the devil of indolence to which he is surrendering, and God generally takes the man at his word and lets him die right away. His brain, that under the tension of hard work was active, now suddenly shrivels. Men, whether they retire from secular or religious work, generally retire to the grave. No well man has a right to retire. The world was made for work. There remaineth a rest for the people of God, but it is in a sphere beyond the reach of telescopes. The military charge that decided one of the greatest battles of the ages—the battle of Waterloo—was not made until eight o'clock in the evening, but some of you propose to go into camp at two o'clock in the afternoon.

My subject next accosts those in the seventies and beyond. My word to them is congratulation. You have got nearly if not quite through. You have safely crossed the sea of life and are about to enter the harbor. You have fought at Gettysburg and the war is over. Here and there a skirmish with the remaining sin of your own heart and the sin of the world, but I guess you're about done. There may be some work for you yet on the small or large scale. Bismarck of Germany vigorous in the eighties. The Prime Minister of England strong at 84. Heydon composing his oratorio "The Creation" at 70 years of age. Be glad that you, an aged servant of God, are going to try another life amid better surroundings. Stop looking back and look ahead. Oh, ye in the seventies and eighties and the nineties, your best days are yet to come, your grandest associations are yet to formed, your best eyesight is yet to be kindled, your best hearing is yet to be awakened, your greatest speed is yet to be traveled, your gladdest song is yet to be sung. The most of your friends have gone over the border and you are going to join them very soon. They are waiting for you. They are watching the golden shore to see you land. They are watching the shining gate to see you come through. They are standing by the throne to see you mount.

Do not let us depend on brain and muscle and nerve. We want with us a divine force mightier than the waters and the tempests, and when the Lord took two steps on bestormed Galilee, pulling one foot on the winds and the other on the waves, he proved himself mightier than hurricane and billows.

There are so many diseases in the world we want with us a divine Physician capable of combatting ailments, and our Lord when on earth showed what he could do with catalepsy and paralysis and ophthalmia and dementia. Oh, take this supernatural into all your lives. How to get it? Just as you get anything you want. By application. If you want anything you apply for it. By prayer apply for the supernatural. Take it into your daily business. Many a man has been able to pay only fifty cents on the dollar, who, if he had called in the supernatural, could have paid one hundred cents on the dollar. Why do ninety-eight men out of a hundred fail in business? Because there are not more than two men out of a hundred who take God into their worldly affairs. "But behind the great unknown standeth God within the shadows, keeping watch upon his own."

A man got up in a New York prayer meeting and said: "God is my partner. I did business without him for twenty years, and failed every two or three years. I have been doing business with Him for twenty years and have not failed once." Oh! take the supernatural into all your affairs. I had such an evidence of the goodness of God in temporal things when I entered active life, I must testify. Called to preach at lovely Belleville in New Jersey, I entered upon my work. But there stood the empty parsonage, and not a cent had I with which to furnish it. After preaching three or four weeks the officers of my church asked me if I did not want to take two or three weeks' vacation. I said, "Yes!" for I had preached about all I knew, but I feared they must be getting tired of me. When I returned to the village after the brief vacation, they handed me the key of the parsonage, and asked me if I did not want to go and look at it. Not suspecting anything had happened, I put the key into the parsonage door and opened it, and there was the hall completely furnished with carpet and pictures and hat-rack, and I turned into the parlors and they were furnished, the softest sofas I ever sat on, and into the study, and found it furnished with book-cases, and I went to the bedrooms, and they were furnished, and into the pantry, and that was furnished with every culinary article, and the spice-boxes were filled, and a flour barrel stood there ready to be opened, and I went down into the dining-room, and the table was set and beautifully furnished, and into the kitchen, and the stove was full of fuel, and a match lay on the top of the stove, and all I had to do in starting housekeeping was to strike the match. God inspired the whole thing, and if I ever doubt His goodness, all up and down the world call me an ingrate. I testify that I have been in many tight places, and God always got me out, and he will get you out of the tight place.

But the most of this audience will never reach the eighties or the seventies or the sixties or the fifties or the forties. He who passes into the forties has gone far beyond the average of human life. Amid the uncertainties take God through Jesus Christ as your present and eternal safety. The longest life is only a small fragment of the great eternity. We will all of us soon be there.

Eternity! how near it rolls,
Count the vast values of your souls.
Beware and count the awful cost
What they have gained, where souls are lost.

FEAR A FISHERIES CRISIS.

Newfoundlanders Are Trying to Settle the French Shore Question.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., March 11.—The report of the Joint Select Committee of both houses of the Newfoundland Legislature on the French Shore question was presented. This early action was taken in consequence of the British Government reminding the Newfoundland authorities that the celebrated modus vivendi expires at the end of this year, and demanding the intentions of the Legislature regarding enactments to carry out the treaty obligations.

The committee's report points out that in the conference between the Newfoundland delegates and the Salisbury Government in 1891 provision was made for the appointment of judges by the Newfoundland Government to decide questions arising out of French fisheries, and also for compensation to fishermen who must be disturbed by the arbitration on the lobster question. Instead of a bill on these lines one was sent out from London for the Legislature to pass with no provision for compensation and the power of adjudication placed in the hands of naval officers armed with arbitrary powers instead of judges as agreed. The bill was promptly rejected by a vote of 23 to 8.

The committee recommends the Legislature to so extend the modus vivendi to 1895 and repudiates the idea that the Legislature desired to recede from its promises to pass a permanent bill, and agrees to do so when a satisfactory bill is agreed upon. It protests against any imperial legislation before such bill is agreed upon as a breach of well understood agreements, and protests also against any piecemeal arbitration which does not contain provision for stopping smuggling operations by the French at St. Pierre.

The report will be considered this evening, and likely passed, but it is feared will not satisfy the Imperial Government, in which event an acute crisis will again arise and cause extreme dissatisfaction.

FIGHTING HOME RULE.

A Large Delegation From Ireland Interview Salisbury.

LONDON, March 10.—A large delegation of merchants, bankers and ship-owners from Dublin and other places in Leinster and also from the provinces of Munster and Connaught was received yesterday by Lord Salisbury. The object of the delegation was to show that there was a strong opposition to Home Rule in other parts of Ireland besides Ulster.

Members of the delegation spoke of the disaster to business interests which they predicted would follow the creation of a separate government for Ireland. It was also mentioned that Mr. Gladstone had refused to receive the deputation.

Lord Salisbury expressed surprise that Mr. Gladstone should have refused to receive such a respectable delegation. There were signs, he said, of a healthy change in public opinion.

Mr. Balfour said that the chief hardship to the people of Ireland in the adoption of the separate policy would be that the comparative poverty which now prevailed there would be increased until even bankruptcy would result through capital being driven from the country.

Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Goschen expressed strong forebodings of financial and industrial calamity to Ireland as the outcome of the success of Mr. Gladstone's scheme.

GERMANY ARMY BILL.

The Committee Reject the Clause to Increase the Army.

BERLIN, March 10.—The Committee on the Army Bill rejected the whole of the second clause, which proposed to increase the complements of the infantry batalions from 538 to 711, of cavalry squadrons from 465 to 477, of the field artillery batteries from 434 to 494, foot artillery battalions from 31 to 37, pioneer battalions from 16 to 24 and the railway engineers from 6 to 7 battalions.

The committee further rejected the clause fixing the peace effective at 492,068, exclusive of officers and non-commissioned officers, and also rejected Herr Richter's amendment proposing that the peace effective from October, 1893, to December, 1895, should be 486,893, as at present. The committee then adjourned until March 16.

A POLITICAL FALL.

Member of the County Council Imprisoned For a Petty Theft.

LONDON, March 11.—Frederick Henderson, Progressive member of the London County Council for Clapham, a moderate Socialist, yet in a way a protege of Mr. Gladstone and Lord Salisbury, has been tried and found guilty of robbing a woman of the streets of three shillings.

He protested his innocence, but was sentenced to four months' imprisonment at hard labor.

Henderson is only 25 years old. He was formerly connected with The Star, a Radical paper, and was considered a young man of brilliant promise.

Tories are jubilant over his downfall.

Russian Roubles.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11.—An imperial ukase authorizes the issue of an internal loan on one hundred millions of credit roubles at four and one-half per cent.

The loan is to be placed by the sale of bonds by the Imperial Bank. The Imperial Bank has given notice that it will undertake hereafter the purchase and sale of foreign drafts and the issue of bills of exchange for places abroad.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

My baby, when two months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, arms, feet, and hands were each one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor anything else did her any good. We could get no rest day or night with her. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, for I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat a baby as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this that every mother with a baby like mine can feel confident that there is a medicine that will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

AMUSEMENTS

The Black Flag.

The melodrama, "Black Flag" was produced at the opera house last night by the Josie Mills company. The audience was not a large one, but this did not deter the company from presenting the play in a manner which at times caused applause. Josie Mills, as Ned the cabin boy, was a leading feature of the performance, and the talented actress sustained the high reputation which had preceded her. J. L. Ashton, as Harry Glyden, the coast guard, also portrayed his character in an admirable manner. This afternoon, the drama was repeated. To-night "The Gambler's Wife," will be presented.

Obit.

Our readers will, no doubt, join us in regret at the death of Minis, second daughter of Capt. R. Waters, of this city.

Some two months ago she engaged with the Hospital, of this city, to learn professional nursing, where her genial and friendly disposition soon gained for her the friendship and good will of all therein.

Striken with inflammation of the bowels, at the early age of 19 years, she died yesterday evening at the Hospital, where every kind attention and skilful service were afforded her. The news of her death will be received with sorrow by her many friends. The funeral will take place at the residence of Capt. Waters, corner of Albert and Dundas streets, at 2:30 p.m. so-morrow (Sunday).

We tender our warmest condolence to her family and sorrowing friends.

Concert at Albert College.

The Philomathian and Polymnian societies in connection with Albert College, gave an entertainment in the college chapel last night. There was large attendance and a choice programme was rendered. Miss Moodie and W. T. Watts gave recitations with good effect. Mr. W. S. Lolonde rendered two violin solos which were highly appreciated. Misses Charlie, Davies, Adams and Robinson executed in an admirable manner two instrumental quartettes. An interesting part of the programme was a debate on the subject, "resolved that the mental capacity of man is superior to that of women." It was decided in favor of the affirmative. The entertainment was brought to close by the singing of the national anthem.

NOT TOO MUCH MAGNIFIED

Proofs Will Endorse the "Intelligencer's" Statements

The report in Blair v. Asseltine, as set forth in the INTELLIGENCER, is a true and correct statement of what proceedings have been taken in the county court and the court of appeal and can be verified by papers on the files at the latter and former courts, and we challenge the Ontario to an inspection thereof; when we undertake to convince the Ontario that we have not lost all respect for vivacity, nor has our imagination assumed such a degree of imagination that it is utterly impossible "for us to comprehend facts and repeat "them as they are," but on the contrary we have reported the proceedings exactly as they have occured in each court.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing unsightly than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandrufine works quick and sure, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Will Kill Consumption.

The Norwegian cod is destined to kill consumption. It has always been known that its oil, when properly prepared, contains all the potent elements for rebuilding wasting tissues in the human body. The difficulty has been to conserve the energies of the oil in its refining, and this has only been accomplished by the manufacturers of "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." All who suffer with lung troubles, and of course all who are threatened with consumption, should take it. In big botoles, 50c. and $1.00, at all drug stores.

ALL DISORDERS CAUSED by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. Try them.

A NEW MILITIA CORPS

MOHAWK INDIANS AS MOUNTED INFANTRY.

When Other Nations Want to See a Tip-Top Army Dress Parade They Will Have to Visit England's Greatest Colony.

TORONTO, March 11.—The desire to create that which will make the crowd stare is regarded as natural to all races and in all places; but it is in the dressing of the armies of the world that such desire runs rampant. And there is method in that madness—if madness it can be termed—for the apparent pomp and splendor of soldiering in time of peace is a prominent power to persuade many men to train themselves for the work of butchering their fellows in time of war. Were that pomp and splendor not intruded so ingeniously by those who are ready to use warfare as a means to national or personal aggrandizement it is probable that army life would be accepted only by those who have sufficiently the spirit of prowess to accept food and clothing from Government in return for employment in semi idleness.

But morning will not fail to find Indians that the Mohawk Indians at Deseronto are organizing a corps of mounted infantry to form a part of the Canadian militia. The Mohawks have in their tribe plenty of young men and spirited horses to place an effective and brilliant contingent in the grouping of our citizen soldiery. The young men are red-hot on the scheme. The head chief of the tribe, Mr. Jacob B. Grant, is in active sympathy with the young men. Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha of this city, who is ever solicitous for the welfare of the people who were in proud possession of this country when the daring Spaniard landed his fretful followers upon the shores of the then new world, is heading the business of the commissary department with his characteristic energy. His father is also betraying no eagerness to carry the project through by attending to necessary business with the Minister of Militia and the House of Commons. With organizers of this stamp of men there is bright promise that the C.M.R.—Canadian Mounted Royalists—will be an active and attractive part of the Canadian militia before the next harvests are stored in the barns.

And the promise looks even more bright since it is learned that the first meeting for organization will be held on the first day of next May, and that in the meantime Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha is arranging a series of entertainments by the Mohawks, to be given in this city before the spring is over.

A word about these entertainments: they are a portrayal of the customs and pleasures of the Indians while they lived in sympathy with the grandeur of the unbroken forests, in harmony with the music of the waterfalls that shared no power with artificial machinery, in consonance with the primitive laws and supply and demand. As portrayed, their customs and pastimes then show a form of life that certainly has the approval frequently of many pale faces who squint at the beauty-wealth of nature over desks heaped with correspondence and account books, and who go to their graves with the grime of dollars and cents built like a mound from their hearts up to their mostrils.

The profits of these entertainments are to be placed in the strong-box in the commissary department and are to be expended in good time upon uniforms, saddles and other equipments.

The C. M. R. will number between 50 and 55, rank and file. The corps will be known as mounted infantry, that is, the men will be drilled as infantry as well as cavalry.

The uniforms will be patterned after the buckskin suits of former days, having the skirted coat and the tightly-fitting trousers with plenty of fringed trimming, and moccasins for foot-wear. Instead of buckskin, which is uncomfortable in wet weather, the uniform will be made of dressed calfskin, in imitation of buckskin. The headdress will be a band, circled with feathers. The officers will be distinguished by headdresses of deeper bands and gayer feathers. On these bands will be the letters "C.M.R," and beneath a silver wolf—the totem of the leading clan of the Mohawk tribe. And, as a relief to the dead color of the coat and trousers, a red sash will be worn over the shoulder and tied at the side. This sash will be used also as a support for the sword and sidearm.

The style of rifle has not yet been decided and the manner of carrying the rifle is yet unsettled, although it is probable that the weapon will be slung across the pommel of the saddle, it being more convenient there than suspended from the shoulder and over the back.

The saddles will be what are termed Texan, that is, with high cantle and pommel, and wide stirrups and stirrup straps.

The effect on parade of the C.M.R. will be very striking, and the Highlanders will have to be content to share their glory. It is also probable that the C.M.R. will have numerous invitations to visit numerous places for exhibition.

The name of the corps evidences the loyal sentiment pervading the Mohawk Indians of the Bay of Quinte, and shows that the Dominion can place every depende ce upon them to furnish valuable aid to the country should their military services ever be required.

WHY HE SUICIDED.

TORONTO, March 11.—Robert Graham, a highly-respected citizen of Richmond Hill, committed suicide by hanging himself in his own stable. The unfortunate man had been melancholy for some time past. Yesterday morning he got up early, telling his wife he could not rest in bed. After dressing himself he went out, but shortly afterwards returned to the bedroom. He locked the bedclothes tightly around his wife, who was in very delicate health, saying he felt grieved for her, and after kissing her again went out. It would appear that he then went to the stable and committed the rash deed in the hayloft.

It was probably 10 o'clock in the forenoon when her lifeless form was found by some of the neighbors. No inquest was necessary. It appears to have been a clear case of temporary insanity.

Deceased had been trouble l in his mind for some time on account of having had to pay a note of several hundred dollars, which note he claimed he never knowingly signed. His contention was that he had been asked to put his signature to a paper merely to identify another party in a bank. The affair ended in a lawsuit, and the party afterwards threatened Mr. Graham with damages for defamation of character.

The Naronic Still Missing.

LONDON, March 11.—The steamer Britannic, which sailed from New York on March 1, arrived at Liverpool yesterday. She deviated 90 miles from her course in a southerly direction, but saw no signs of the missing steamship. The insurance rate on the Naronic to-day is 45 guineas.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Nearly All Items for Buildings Passed in Supply.

OTTAWA, March 11.—Dulness, varied by a little obstruction, has been the prevailing feature of yesterday's session, which has been passed almost wholly in Committee of Supply, the public works items being under discussion. Nearly all the items for buildings were passed.

The last of the shipments of fisheries' exhibits for the World's Fair have been made and Mr. Philip Veale, who will have charge of the exhibit, left for Chicago this afternoon.

A deputation consisting of Hon. Peter White and Messrs. W. J. Poupore, J. M. McDougall and others waited on the Minister of Railways and Canals and urged that a bonus be granted to the Portage du Fort Railway. The Minister promised the usual consideration, but intimated that it not at all likely that any railway subsidies would be asked for this year.

THE JENNIE WONCH CASE

THE JURY BRING IN A VERDICT OF MURDER.

After a Deliberation of Three Hours—The Question Is, How Could the Old Grandmother and Child Be Burned To Death and the House Not Be Burned.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., March 10.—The Wonch case came up for consideration yesterday. The prisoners, Jennie Wonch and John Wonch, were brought up from Barrie. The jury on the child sat during the afternoon, and though some new witnesses were examined no new facts of importance were elicited. John Gibbons, hotelkeeper of Mashford, sworn, said: On Friday evening, Feb. 24, Jennie Wonch came to my house and said she was burned. She asked me to let her stay all night. In the morning she came down and said she would work if she could get work; that she had a mother nearly 100 years old and a brother who was unable to work, and also that she had a child to support.

Mrs. Gibbons, wife of the former witness, said Jennie told her she wanted work. She had been getting her brother and a child and her brother's to support. She sat her to wash dishes. She said her name was Mary Ogden. She said she looked tough, as she had to put up with a little child she night previous. She said she had two or three brothers, who used her like a dog.

This was all the evidence that could be obtained, so after careful deliberation the jury returned the following verdict:

The child came to its death on Thursday, Feb. 23, 1893, in a shanty in the western part of the town of Collingwood by being burnt in its clothes, how the said fire originated or arose is unknown to the jury.

The adjourned inquest on the body of the mother, Mary Wonch, was resumed this evening at 7 o'clock, under Dr. Ardagh, coroner. County Crown Attorney Cotter of Barrie was also present on behalf of the crown.

Mrs. Rice, sworn, said: I saw Jennie Wonch on Thursday night. She came next day. She stayed at my house till near dinner time. I went over to her house in the afternoon. She said she had sent her mother to Campbell's and the child to McArthur's. She had on her clothes in the shanty. On Sunday I saw a pig head and four pieces of breast. She said on Friday she was going to Meaford. She told me two months ago if she was rid of the old lady and the child was gone some man would marry her. The door has not been on its hinges for a month or so. I have heard Jennie scolding her mother for being dirty. I think the old lady could have got out if she was on fire, and so could the child. About 4 o'clock on Thursday I heard the little child singing when I was feeding my chickens. She had not clothing enough to burn her to death. She has not had a shoe or stocking on this winter. When I went in John was crying. Jennie said it was because she had sent her mother away.

Mr. Brillinger, sworn, said: I went up Thursday to see the shanty. Part of the floor was taken up. There was part of a lounge and a chair. I think the burning was not done with coals. [Part of the charred lounge produced.] I think the damage was burned by fire under it and not by heat of the stove. I think the shanty would have been burned down. There was not enough one to put out the fire. The burning on the lounge and on the floor are both recent. I found some paper used to keep the cracks, lying burned on the floor.

Dr. Aylesworth, sworn, said: I assisted Dr. Hutt in the second post-mortem examination. I have not seen any reason to change my mind. I think death was caused by fire. There was no clothing on the body except six inches of a sleeve of garment. Edges of it were burnt, so whatever was attached to that was burnt off. The burning would cause death in one or two hours.

The written report of Drs. Aylesworth and Hutt, who made the post mortem, stated that the body was badly burned, but there were no other marks of violence. The body was well nourished, and almost all the organs in normal condition. The stomach was full of food. Death was caused by the burns, which we think took place before death.

Dr. Hutt, sworn, said: I agree with Dr. Aylesworth. I have nothing to add to his evidence and statement. I fully corroborate it.

John Wonch, not sworn, was questioned by Mrs. Rice. Why did you not come and tell me?

I did not come because Jennie said she intended to leave her there only for a few days.

What did she say she had done with the baby?

She said the baby had got badly burned. My sister would not let me come and tell you.

Crown-Attorney Cotter, in addressing the jury said that the decision of this afternoon did not affect the decision of this jury. Your question is: Was the burning accidental or not? The prisoner told a direct lie when she went for the sleigh, and people generally have an object in lying. Then, what had become of the clothes in the grate question. From it is evident that the lounge had been burnt by a fire built up in it. Next, the prisoner told a lie about where she had sent her mother and her child. The brother appears to me to be more of a knave than a fool.

Coroner Steven said the evidence showed clearly when the burning took place. Where it was done is not so clear. How the burning happened is a difficult question. The fire seems to have taken place inside, yet did not burn the building. How the fire arose there is no evidence. She may have set fire to them and then come out and shut the door till they burned to death. We have not proved that she was cruel to her mother or the child. There is no evidence that she ill-treated them. It also is possible that the two got burned while Jennie was out cutting wood.

After a deliberation of three hours, the jury returned a verdict of murder.

Manufacturers Lower the Price One Fourth of a Cent a Pound.

TORONTO, March 11.—The manufacturers of barbed wire have decided to reduce prices in Ontario and Quebec. The reduction will be equivalent to one-fourth of a cent per lb. A Gaulinman Well Known in Belleville Dies in Gananoque.

GANANOQUE, March 10.—Dr. Thomas H. Dumble, well known in Belleville and Belleville, passed away very suddenly at 7:45 a.m. after an illness of only a few days. Heart failure was the immediate cause. He was a graduate of Queen's Royal Medical College and came here from there and settled. He had built up a very large practice. Two children are left. One is with friends in Chicago, and the eldest, Madaline, is at school in Oshawa. Dr. Dumble had lost two wives, the first being Miss Aggie Neilson, of Belleville. FIRE IN RAWDON.

A Dwelling House Destroyed.—A Narrow Escape from Cremation.

The residence of Wm. Jones, of Marmora township, was destroyed by fire Thursday night. While endeavoring to save some clothing in the second storey, Mrs. Jones was forced to jump from a window to escape being burned. The loss is about $800 and there is no insurance.

She was a General Favorite.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lake will have the sympathy of many friends in their sad bereavement. Their youngest daughter, familiarly known as "Unice," died on Saturday afternoon after four week's illness. She was a particularly attractive, winsome, bright child, who had a host of friends, for whom she always had a pleasant, polite greeting. She was a general favorite with her school mates, and was nearly always surrounded by playmates, who delighted in her society. Her funeral takes place to-morrow, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Another Tribute to the O. B. C., Text Book.

Messrs. Robinson and Johnson were this week notified that the "Canadian Accountant," the text book of Ontario Business College, has been placed on the list of authorized text books for the schools of British Columbia. The tenth edition of the "Accountant" is now being prepared for the press. The demand for it extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific, both in Canada and the United States, and to the West Indies.

Changed His Mind.

Sometimes a store does not get proper credit for selling goods cheap. A young man came in the Oak Hall a few days ago, took a look at our great $10 light overcoat, tried it on and said—"It can't be good it's too cheap." Now that is just like some people, unless you charged them a big price they are not satisfied. This same young man found exactly the same cloth in a tailor shop and their price was $18. He bought the Oak Hall coat for $10, and had the pleasure of saving just $8.

NEW ONTARIO.

A Promising Field of Settlement for Intending Settlers.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—As I am an old resident of the Counties of Hastings and Peterborough, and as the newspaper all over are saying a good deal about Eastern Algoma, probably a few words from me may be of interest to some of the readers of your widely read journal.

I have been living in Eastern Algoma for over six years, whilst my brothers, Alexander and John, have been living in the district for a good many years. Most of your readers will know my brother John well; he has been for several the Government bridge builder and road inspector for Eastern Algoma and used to live in Hastings and Peterborough counties before he moved to New Ontario, as it has lately been called.

It is expected there will be a big immigration into this district commencing next summer, and I can confidently advise the young farmers of Hastings and Peterborough counties, who are thinking of emigrating, to come and see Algoma before they go further and fare worse. There are several advantages which this district offers over other fields of immigration; amongst others I may mention the following:

1. It is the nearest and most convenient field of immigration and is easily and cheaply reached. Sault Ste. Marie, the district town of Eastern Algoma and the centre of the district, being within 24 hours of Montreal or Toronto.

2. People in Eastern Algoma are not troubled with blizzards in winter or disastrous storms or hurricanes in summer. I may say we have not suffered nearly as much with bad weather or stormy weather in Algoma this winter as they have either in the Northwestern Territories, Manitoba, the Western States or older Ontario as one can tell from reading the newspapers. In only a few instances have our trains been delayed at all this winter, and then only for a few hours; whilst even in older Ontario trains have frequently been cancelled this winter and frequently delayed by snow blockades; whilst I read that in Manitoba and the Northwest, people have suffered greatly by reason of snow blockades and blizzards.

3 There is abundance of sweet spring water all over this district. Springs and spring creeks on nearly every quarter section of land in the district—in fact it would be hard to find a farm either on the north shore or St. Joseph Island which has not spring water.

4 The clover is indigenous to the soil and grows everywhere.

5 Directly the snow goes away in the spring, the grass comes up green and stays green and luxuriant all summer; does not wither or get parched and brown as in older Ontario and other countries. For the last three seasons this country may be considered the best sheep and cattle raising country and dairying country which can be found anywhere.

6 There are splendid markets here all over the district, "a home market" for everything a farmer, stockraiser, market-gardener or fruit grower can raise or grow. As to what can be grown in the district, wheat both fall and spring, does excellently well here both on north shore, and the islands, also oats and the coarser grains, roots of all kinds do very well. The hay crop never fails, the average yield being two to two and one-half tons per acre. Apples do well here, especially the hardier kinds, and farmers are commencing to plant out orchards all over the district. Plums, cherries, currants, raspberries and strawberries do very well. In fact, everything which can be or is usually grown on a farm or in a garden does well here. There were some splendid exhibits of Bartlett pears and several varities of apples at the last fall district exhibition at Sault Ste Marie, and there is no doubt fruit growing can be made a great success in Eastern Algoma. If anyone wants to see good exhibits of grains of all kinds, grasses, &c., they should see the exhibit in the office of Mr. John Dawson, the president of the Eastern Algoma Electoral Division Agricultural Society at Sault Ste Marie, and the exhibit in the office of the Algoma Colonization Society in the same town. Speaking about the latter society anyone interested in Eastern Algoma, either as agriculturists or as miners or in mineral or timber resources, should drop a post card to the secretary of the society, Fred Rodgers, B. C. L., barrister, &c., Sault Ste Marie, Ont., and he will receive a copy of the book or pamphlet recently issued by that society for the use of intending settlers entitled "Algoma Farmers Testify." This work contains letters and statistics from actual settlers all over the district and a large amount of general information as to the many and great resources of Eastern Algoma. People in the old Country can obtain copies of this pamphlet on application to Sir Chas. Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada, London, England, or to P. Byrne, agent for Canada, Government, Liverpool, England. I will not intrude longer on your valuable space. If any of your readers want to know more about Algoma if they will call or write to me at Sault Ste Marie or to my brothers Alex Boyd or John Boyd at Thessalon, Algoma, we will be glad to give them any information in our power at any time, or will be glad if they call and see us personally. We would advise everyone interested in Algoma to send for a copy of the book or pamphlet I have mentioned. It contains a map of the district showing the railway route, steamboat ports, &c.

Yours sincerely,
W. S. BOYD.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c, they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

GOUGH, The Regulator of Prices,
354 Front Street, Belleville.

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

Absurd Stories.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—There is a rumor in circulation in regard to the affidavit made by the prisoners McWilliams and Hubble to postpone their trial for alleged criminal assault upon Miss Cole. I have made inquiries as to this report, and I am creditably informed that there is no truth whatever in it. There are too many stories circulated without the slightest foundation and as the case has not been tried it is in the interest of parties that busy bodies should restrain their immagination.

Yours truly,
A. R. DOUGALL.

NOTICE.

We desire to announce specially that to-day, March 6th, we are ready with our new display of BEDROOM and TEA SETS. We say that in Canada you can't find a finer exhibit. We can show 75 patterns in both lines, which we guarantee is double that of any house between Toronto and Montreal. We'll run these for the next month at regular wholesale prices. It has ever been one of our standing rules never to be undersold. We'll lead in our business at any cost. The fact that we lead is sufficient, though two reasons we can mention is that we can buy and do sell under others. Come and see these two lines while the choice is good. You already know we also lead in SILVER AND LAMPS. Saturday was an old fashioned business day. Its gratifying to figure up after such a day to feel that trade at the old reliable "Crystal Hall" never grows less and that the buying public are satisfied. We would say to our friends that we will be "AT HOME" for the next twelve months from seven a. m. to six p. m. every day at the old stand.

PANAMA CANAL AFFAIR.

RACY DEVELOPMENTS IN THE GREAT SCANDAL.

A Civil Engineer Swears That Charles De Lesseps Gave Him $600,000 Francs With Which to Bribe—Dispute Between M. Floquet and De Lesseps.

PARIS, March 11.—Ex Deputy Cassagnac testified that M. Souligon, a civil engineer, who died work on the Isthmus, came to him one day with an offer of 20,000 francs for his vote on the Lottery Loan Bill. When he declined the bribe, M. Souligon added: Charles De Lesseps had authorized him to offer any sum up to 300,000 francs for Cassagnac's vote.

M. Souligon argued with him for some time.

M. Stephane, clerk for M. Pecopper, Baron De Reinach's partner, testified concerning his experience with a list of more than 100 conspicuous men who were compromised by the Panama scandal. He had secured the list from Baron De Reinach, and after Reinach's death had delivered it to M. Clemenceau. The list was similar to the one held by M. Andrieux.

M. Deschamps said that he had taken Arton's list of compromised deputies to Arton's mistress since the flight of the lobbyist. Deschamps made a sensation while testifying by remarking incidentally that he had been in consultation confidentially with M. Andrieux.

Charles Floquet, ex-Premier and ex-President of the Chamber of Deputies, was the next witness. Before examining him Judge Desjardines had Charles De Lesseps repeat his testimony as to the contribution of 300,000 francs made at M. Floquet's request by the Panama Company to the fund for the campaign against Boulanger in the Department of the Nord. In concluding his statement, M. De Lesseps said:

"I render all homage to the delicacy and loyalty which distinguished M. Floquet's conduct, but I declare positively that he made to me the exact proposals already made for him by Arton."

M. Floquet replied at once in a loud but unnatural tone: "I repeat that denial already made by me before the examining magistrate. The manner of acting and speaking attributed to me by M. de Lesseps is entirely foreign to my personality. As M. de Lesseps puts the matter, it was much worse than if I had brought pressure to bear upon him, as he complains everybody else did. In his testimony he has forgotten, however, that I did not assume office until April 3, 1888, and that the election took place on April 15 and the voting on the Lottery Loan Bill on the 27th.

"Nevertheless, we have proofs that Baron de Reinach sent out the money under your Ministry in 1888," interrupted Charles De Lesseps.

"I do not understand what you mean," replied M. Floquet.

Loud protests came from the body of the court and several persons shouted, "Tell the truth."

De Lesseps and Floquet denied flatly each other's statements, and de Lesseps insisted that Floquet advised him to bribe Baron de Reinach to prevent a suit against the Panama Canal Company, in order that the Government might not be annoyed by the suit.

To prove his statement that he supported the Panama Canal enterprise from the beginning, M. Clemenceau today declared that when Ferdinand and Charles de Lesseps visited him in 1885, they came, not in the name of Herz, as Charles de Lesseps now contended, but in the name of M. Cornut, who had advised them to persuade the deputies to back the undertaking. In this statement Clemenceau is confirmed unexpectedly to support the canal Company.

M. Clemenceau next made a sensation by turning to M. Barboux and accusing him of having imparted to The Figaro part of the testimony given before Examining Magistrate Franquesville.

The lawyer looked petrified as Clemenceau almost shouted this charge against him. He said lamely: "I will answer in time. I do not care now to come to blows with the witness."

Clemenceau while on the stand turned savagely upon Charles de Lesseps and challenged him to contradict the statements he was making. M. de Lesseps remained silent, however, except when Clemenceau was attacking Barboux. Then he nodded assent.

M. de Freycinet also several times dared M. de Lesseps to contradict him, although in the main he admitted the truth of M. de Lesseps accusation.

The Money Problem.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary Carlisle has received offers from Chicago Bankers to exchange $3,000,000 gold for a like amount of small treasury notes. Intimations were made that the amount of small notes that will be needed will reach $70,000,000, for which gold will be paid.

He will forward the small notes at once. It is anticipated that the demand for small notes, for which gold will be paid, will continue to increase in the west. No gold has been engaged at the New York sub-treasury on Saturday.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE the ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head, has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bear in mind the original is Nasal Cream, Nasa Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation unless may rely upon you. For sale by all druggists at 50 cents post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1), by addressing the proprietor, Brockville, Ont.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably effectual in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying tonic in use. A short time ago two very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old, standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines which we recommended without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

Cure For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is an article of great value.'

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunners of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,
Wotton, P. Q.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

AFFAIRS IN GERMANY.

THE ARMY BILL HAS NOT BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

Bad Setbacks in Committee—Jew-Baiter Ahlwardt Breaks Out Again in the Reichstag—The Kaiser and the Pope—Movement in Hungary.

BERLIN, March 13.—Once more the opponents of the Army bill are jubilant. They declare that the Government sustained a decisive defeat Saturday by the committee of 28 rejecting essential clauses, but the organs of Chancellor von Caprivi respond that the result of the committee's action will be a negative one and that it leaves the fate of the bill unsettled. They add that even if a majority of the committee finally refuses to compromise the Government will not cease the struggle until it challenges a vote at a plenary sitting of the Reichstag.

"Take what course the Government may, says The Freisinnige Zeitung, commenting in a gleeful article on Saturday's events, "Chancellor von Caprivi has only the alternative of the dissolution of the Reichstag or retirement from office."

Both the confidence expressed in official circles in the eventual acceptance of the bill and the certainty expressed by the opponents of the measure in its defeat are features of a game of bluff on either side. The truth is, the Government is realizing more and more how difficult it will be to obtain any form of bill worth having, and it is manœuvering for time during which it hopes to take advantage of the dissensions of the Centrist party to secure a small majority.

The Freisinnige members also feel that their position is rendered insecure by the divisions within the party. Led by Herr Hinze, a full meeting of the Freisinnige members of the Reichstag was held, and after a heated interchange of views, which lasted three hours, the dissension was marked by an agreement that the party as such would continue to reject the Government's demands in toto, leaving each member to follow his individual conviction. Despite the denials to the contrary it is obvious that a right and left wing exist, and these are likely to weaken the party at a critical moment. As proof of this statement the fact can be cited that Herr Rickert was not present at yesterday's meeting of the committee.

Similar conditions prevail in the Centre party. Count Von Ballestrem, the leader of the party, who is favorable to the Army bill, absented himself from the meeting. While maintaining a surface appearance of unity the party is fast dividing into two factions, the Catholic Democrats and the Catholic Federal, the latter mostly comprising Prussian autocrats, who are ready to make common cause with the Prussian Conservatives. For the present the Centrists await the issue of the debate on the Jesuit question in the Reichstag.

This debate was fixed to take place on March 15. Through the strategy of President von Levetzow, who acted in union with the Chancellor, who wants the discussion delayed, the motion in regard to the return of the Jesuits to Germany has been postponed. The time is not yet opportune for the Government to declare its intentions in this matter. The negotiations with the Vatican, though almost hopeless, still proceed. Gen. von Loe, who was appointed as the Special Envoy of Emperor William to convey to the Pope His Majesty's congratulations on the occasion of the Pontiff's Episcopal Jubilee, has returned with a papal decoration, but if his mission had any political end in view the result shows that he is a complete failure as a diplomat.

Count von Ballestrem has been left with nominally free action; the Pope, in the interviews which took place between himself, Cardinal Rampolla and Gen. von Loe, declining to interfere with the course of the Centrist leader, whatever that course might be. Count von Ballestrem, it is said, is secretly offering the Chancellor the support of the Centrists in exchange for the readmission of the Jesuits. Through this tangle of party schisms and lobby intrigues the Army bill may emerge safe, but not for many days.

Herr Ahlwardt, the notorious Jew-baiter, made his first speech in the Reichstag during the discussion of the war budget. It was an entirely personal speech, having no relation whatever to the matter before the House. The Chancellor, Herr Ahlwardt said, had called him a libeler. He maintained that he had only fulfilled a patriotic duty in revealing the faults of those who had entrusted Jews with the armament of the German forces. He repeated amid chilling silence his accusations against the Government for taking the defective Loewe rifles.

During the same debate Herr Richter asked whether the budget included the sums paid to newspapers for supporting the Army bill. Chancellor von Caprivi indignantly denied that a single pfennig had been so expended.

The latest development in the agrarian question is the Government's proposal to establish a Chamber of Agriculture. A bill will be introduced in the Landtag creating such a chamber, which will be regulated by Government officials. The agrarian leaders eye the project askance.

The visit of the Emperor and Empress to Rome on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the marriage of King Humbert to Queen Margherita, which occurs on April 22 next, was arranged through Count Lanza, the Italian ambassador to Germany. On the way to Rome the Emperor will go to Dresden and the King of Saxony will accompany him thence to the Italian capital. What interests the diplomatic world is not the Emperor's reception at the Quirinal but what will occur at the Vatican. Overtures for an interview between the Emperor and the Pope have met with a cold response from Cardinal Rampolla, Pontifical Secretary of State, to the effect that the Pope cannot refuse to see Emperor William, but if His Majesty desires to confer on political subjects His Holiness would prefer to communicate with him through his cardinal secretary.

Cardinal Kopp, Prince Archbishop of Breslau, has vainly tried to influence the Pope to reconsider his French policy, and it is stated that, as a first step to this, asked for the dismissal of Cardinal Rampolla and the appointment of Cardinal Galimberti, or some other prelate favoring the Triple Alliance, as Papal Secretary in his stead. The Pope was entirely deaf to Cardinal Kopp's arguments, and was equally deaf to the persuasions of others with supposedly high influences. There is no doubt that he will also pay as little attention to Emperor William's influence, so that the visit of the Emperor to the Vatican will be merely ceremonial.

The Kulturkampf in Hungary is exciting strong interest here, in view of the fact that the policy of the Catholic bishops in Hungary aims at the destruction of the Triple Alliance. The debates this week in the Hungarian Diet have fully developed what animates the bishops' protests against the Government's project to legalize civil marriage. Liberal members of the Diet commented upon the Pope's alliance with France, where civil marriages have long been recognized. They declared that if Austria-Hungary would leave the Triple Alliance and abandon Italy the Vatican would cease trying to excite the people against the Government. The Hungarian Liberals express confidence that the people, with whom the Triple Alliance is intensely popular as an assurance against Russia, will support the Government against the Clericals.

The monotony of Friday's Parliamentary sitting was broken by a turbulent scene in which Gen. Von Kaltenborn, War Minister, and August Bebel, Social Democratic leader, were the chief figures.

In the debate on the Military budget Bebel made a bitter speech concerning the cruelty of officers to privates. He cited several cases in which non-commissioned officers have recently crippled recruits for life by striking or kicking them at drill; blamed the War Department for its clemency towards such offenders, and eventually denounced vehemently the whole military establishment for the arrogance and brutality manifested by it towards civilians and their rights.

Hardly a week passed, he said, without some atrocious assault by soldiers upon unoffending citizens. Officers enjoyed special privileges in this direction and most of their brutal acts were committed with full impunity. Even in cases of murder the hand of justice was invariably stayed. Thus Lieut. Salisch had been sentenced to but one month's confinement in a fortress for having killed a civilian.

To men capable of such crimes, Bebel said in conclusion, the private soldiers were delivered without hope of redress. They were the legitimate prey of these military butchers.

This statement brought to his feet Gen. von Kaltenborn, who called out excitedly: "Even the freedom of the speaker's tribune does not permit such utterances nor allow dishonors to be attributed to the army. Only the Social Democrats would be guilty of such insults."

The Social Democratic members rose in a body, protesting against this accusation, and Bebel instantly replied that the Social Democrats did not hate the army as the War Minister would have the deputies believe.

As for provoking the army with insults, he added, the Social Democrats were too wise to give the Government such a pretext to turn the military loose upon them.

General Von Kaltenborn interrupted Bebel to repeat that the Social Democrats wished to discredit the army.

The Social Democrats shouted back, "That is false!"

The Conservatives answered with shouts for the Government, and the House became so uproarious that the ringing of the President's bell for order was inaudible in the din. The incident is not closed, as Bebel intends to return to the charge at some sitting in the near future.

The international sanitary conference was opened in Dresden Saturday in the hall of the Foreign Office. Sixty delegates were present. The program is so elaborate as to require a long session. The principal work of the conference will concern the expected reappearance of cholera throughout Europe next summer.

Prince Bismarck, who has been ailing for some time, has suffered so keenly in the last two weeks from phlebitis and neuralgia that he summoned Dr. Schweninger to Friedrichsruhe. After a few days' treatment he feels much relieved.

Owing to official communications from Paris and London the German authorities are watching anxiously for a party of Nihilists said to have arrived in Hamburg and to purpose crossing the frontier into Russia with the intention of assassinating the Czar. The plot is reported to have been hatched in Berlin, although the conviction here is that it originated in Paris, and the French Government is trying to unload the responsibility on Germany merely to interrupt the exchange of civilities between the Berlin and St. Petersburg courts. Several suspects have already been arrested.

As to Irish Mails.

LONDON, March 13.—In response to several questions as to the effect which the docking of American Line steamships at Southampton would have upon the transmission of the mails from America to Ireland, Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General, said that he would observe the consequence of the abandonment of Queenstown by the American Line, and if he found that the change had resulted in the delaying of the Irish mails, he would direct the attention of the United States Government to the matter.

Favorable to Dynamite Warfare.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Times prints the report of the board appointed by the Navy Department to examine the guns of the Vesuvius and the operation of gun mechanism. The conclusions of the board are favorable to the practicability of this mode of warfare. After an extended consideration the board have decided that while the accuracy of these guns leaves a good deal to be desired, it is still reasonably sufficient for the purposes of naval warfare in comparatively smooth water, the only condition under which the board has been able to carry on tests.

The value of guns is increased by the fact that the projectile contains a heavy charge of a high explosive, and also that this explosive can be safely discharged when the projectile that contains it is armed with a fulminate fuse, and though the particular fuse used in the trials has failed to perform its functions, it is evident it can be safely fired from the guns.

WIMAN ON AMERICA.

Annexation of Canada Discussed Before the Patria Club.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The March meeting of the Patria Club was held Friday night. The subject for discussion was, "Greater America: Our Relations to It."

The first speaker was Warner Miller, who strongly favored the annexation of Canada. He said that Canada had been the cause of all previous friction between this country and England, and annexation would establish perpetual peace between the two countries.

Erastus Wiman followed ex-Senator Miller. He said he was opposed to annexation of Canada at present, because he deemed it impracticable. "I am in favor of commercial union," he said. "I would build a barbed wire fence around the entire American continent to keep outsiders out and allow perfect freedom of trade within. Canada comprises 40 per cent. of the British Empire, and that empire will never submit to annexation without war. Commercial union can be effected with a high tariff on the products of all other countries, even those of Great Britain."

This last statement brought Ellis H. Roberts to his feet. He was not on the program for a speech. He thought that it would be far easier to arouse the Canadian people to ask for annexation than to obtain the consent of England to the introduction of American manufactures free of duty into Canada at the same time that her own manufactures were forced to pay a duty. "It is preposterous," said Mr. Roberts, "for us to think of trading on equal terms a market of 65,000,000 people for one of 5,000,000."

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, MARCH 13.

RURAL POPULATION.

The census statistics of the United States furnishes interesting particulars as to the increase and decrease in the population. The Sunday Tribune summarizes the position as follows:

In New England, the rural districts and towns under 2,000 inhabitants lost during the ten years 72,230, or about 7 per cent. In Massachusetts, the rural towns under 2,000 population have less inhabitants than they had 90 years ago.

But what is true of sterile New England, in the decrease of rural population, is true also of fertile New York, whose Genesee valley was once to the world what the Red river valley is now. With all that state's varied agricultural resources, 50 out of 53 counties north of the Hudson have fewer inhabitants in their rural districts than they had ten years ago. The rural population of these counties has in fact decreased 168,882, or nearly 6 per cent. But the statistician does not stop with New England and New York, nor even with Ohio and Illinois, but says: "The nine southern tier counties of Minnesota cover an area of 5,682 square miles—that is, they are together about one-sixth larger that Connecticut. Only 40 years ago they were an unsettled wilderness, and yet every one of the nine has fewer rural inhabitants that it had ten years ago. Outside of the cities and towns the counties had in 1880, 149,023 inhabitants, and in 1890 but 138,259, a decrease of 11,363, or at the rate of 7.60 per cent., a ratio of decrease but slightly less than in rural New York."

From St. Paul to a point 30 miles south of St. Louis, a distance of 500 miles in the very heart of the Mississippi valley, there is but one section of twenty miles that the traveller will pass in which the counties have not less rural population than they had in 1880. The tract containing those counties covers 81,920 square miles, or nearly the size of Great Britain. Of the 141 counties in the tract 138 show less rural population in 1890 than in 1880. The less in rural population in these 141 counties was 179,744, or nearly 7 per cent. From Dakota county, Minnesota, to Clark county, Missouri, the 16 counties on the west bank of the Mississippi had lost rural inhabitants, while the 17 counties on the east bank had all lost except one. In Iowa, 43 out of 99 counties lost rural population.

It is argued that prohibition was the cause of Iowa's rural losses; cross the river into Illinois and you find that 60 out of 102 counties, a still larger proportion, have lost in rural population during the decade. The great body of the north-western and central portions of this first agricultural state in the Union has declined in rural population. In the tract reaching from Illinois to New Brunswick and Quebec and extending into 15 states, 276 of the 289 counties show less rural population than in 1880. The loss in rural inhabitants is 396,127, or 6 per cent. In Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, the Virginias and Maryland the conditions are much the same. The cotton states are the only long settled states which are an exception to the rule. In the great north central agricultural belt extending from Maine and New Jersey to the Mississippi river, there are 726 counties, of which 650 have lost in rural population. Mr. Rorg graphically writes: "East of the Missouri and north of the cotton states nearly all the well-settled agricultural neighborhoods have fewer inhabitants than they had ten years ago. It is possible to travel from the Bay of Fundy to the southern bend of the Illinois river, a distance of 1,500 miles, and not pass through a single county in which the rural population is not less than it was ten years ago; or go all the way from Boston to western Iowa, except for the space of about five miles, through counties with less rural population than they had in 1880."

The tendency to decrease of rural population is not a new one. New England has complained of the tendency for half a century. There are Massachusetts towns with less population than they had at the close of the last French war, and Virginia counties with less population than a century ago. Clark county, Maryland, across the river from Mount Vernon, has to-day 25 per cent. less residents than when the protector of Mount Vernon was first inaugurated president.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect, a specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

We do not deny that many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable for them to condemn that far-famed remedy! Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nervilline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

A district meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will be held in Madoc on Wednesday, the 15th of March. In the evening the meeting will be addressed by Mrs. A. C. Maybee, the district organiser.

Miss Phelps, the provincial lecturer of the W.C.T.U., will deliver a lecture in Madoc to night.

Yesterday was the fourth Sunday in Lent.

The action of Rev. Father O'Gorman, of Gananoque, formerly of Belleville, against Rev. Robert Moxley, for slander, will be tried at the spring assizes at Cornwall.

Rev. Dr. Potts has been appointed a member of the World's Congress Auxiliary of the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893, in the department of religion.

At St. Andrew's Church yesterday the Rev. Mr. Lang, of Wolf Island, occupied the pulpit in an acceptable manner. The morning discourse was from the following scripture text: 1st epistle of John, 3rd chapter, 1st verse, "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called children of God."

The pulpit of the Holloway Street Methodist Church on yesterday morning occupied by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Elmlson, and in the evening Mr. Cole, who is in the city endeavoring to establish a Y. M. C. A., filled the pulpit. The latter gave an excellent discourse, his remarks being principally to young men and their duties.

Very interesting services were conducted in the Tabernacle yesterday. Mr. Cole gave a fine address in the morning to young men from the subject "Consider Christ." In the evening the pastor preached from the text, "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ." The congregations were excellent both morning and evening, and the Sabbath school was the largest in the history of the school.

The services in St. Thomas' church yesterday were attended by large congregations. Rev. F. C. Powell preached in the morning from Revelations 5, part of vi verse: "And I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts and in the midst of the elders stood a lamb as it had been slain." Rev. Canon Burke preached an eloquent sermon in the evening from Mark 12, part of 49.h verse: "Be of good comfort, rise He calleth thee."

Rev. A. L. Geen assisted the pastor. Rev. S. Daw, in the services at Christ church yesterday.

Yesterday's Funerals.

"UNIE" LAKE.

The attendance at the funeral of Mr. John C. Lake's little daughter Eunice was very large. Had it been the funeral of one of our best known and most popular citizens it would have been a tribute to his memory, but for that of a little child of nearly nine years old it was almost unprecedented in numbers. From shortly after three friends commenced to gather in and around the house, and for a time the streets sidewalks on Bridge and Pinnacle streets were filled. Then, when Bridge Street Sunday School contingent of between five and six hundred was added it made such a throng as is seen sometimes on a holiday. The Rev. Mr. Baker conducted the service at the house and at the grave, the hymns that were sung being the little dead child's favorite ones. Over a hundred of the little children of the Primary Division of the Sunday school walked together at the side of the hearse to the top of Murney's Hill. The bearers were Messrs. W. J. Embury, D. Gibson, Chas. Sulman and James Reeves, junior.

MRS. RALPH MURRAY.

The remains of the late Mrs. Ralph Murray, who died on Thursday last in Schenectady, N. Y., arrived in the city on Saturday night and were taken to the residence of Rev. T. J. Edmison, from which place the funeral took place yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Edmison, after which the remains were taken to the cemetary and placed in the vault. The bearers were: Messrs. Wm. Tennent, D. B. Robertson, D. M. Waters, Dr. Wright, H. Walker, and John Stevenson.

MINIA GUNN WATERS.

That the late Minia Gunn Waters was a young lady who had many friends, was evinced yesterday afternoon when her remains were consigned to the tomb. A large number of our citizens were present to pay the last token of respect to one who in early life was stricken down. Services were held at the house conducted by Rev. J. L. George, of John Street Presbyterian Church, and were of a most impressive character. The bearers were Henry McAninch, jr., O. Dunning, Hy. Johnson, C. Ashley, D. Rose and J. Dempsey.

ISAAC WOLIVER.

The funeral of the late Isaac Wooliver took place yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended. Services were conducted at his late residence, Dundas street, by the Rev. E. N. Baker, pastor of Bridge street Methodist church. The bearers were: Messrs. D. McAninch, S. Garratt, J. H. Mills, T. Walters, J. Panter and Capt. Dunning.

THE CHOLERA SCARE.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Says It Will not Reach America.

Rev. Dr. Talmage, in an interview at Toronto last week, was asked:

"Don't you think that cholera is coming next summer?"

"No; this cold has been sent to kill the germs. I have not the least expectation that there will be any cholera. Cholera always starts in one place—India. It doesn't make any difference where it stops; it always starts again from India. I think we are going to have one of the healthiest seasons the world has ever seen, because the fright has called attention to sanitation. It is an historical fact, though, that cholera has always originated in the filth of India. Several times it has reached England, and people said, next it will come to America, but never came."

In Memoriam.

At Bridge St. Sunday school yesterday afternoon, a service was held in memory of two scholars who had died during the week —Gilbert Marsh and "Unie" Lake. A number of hymns were sung, amongst others "The sweet bye and bye," "We think of the friends over there," "The shining shore." The primary class, of which Unie Lake was a member, sang one of her favorite hymns, "Jesus loves me, this I know." Miss Effie Garrett sang the last hymn "Unie" tried to repeat an hour or two before she died "Hark there comes a whisper." Mr. F. E. O'Flynn spoke of Gilbert Marsh's life and death, and the Superintendent of the school of "Unie" Lake.

Voracity of the Rat.

Early this morning, while Dr. Bell was lying awake, a large rat, which has been troublesome for some time past, climbed upon the bed and inflicted two bites upon the doctor's head. Rats are dangerous creatures to have about a house, especially where there are young children. Many instances have been recorded where unprotected infants have been attacked and mutilated by rats. In some cases with fatal effect; and the above instance will show that even adults are not safe from their assaults.

A SENSATIONAL TRIAL.

THE PANAMA CANAL CASE IS A DAISY.

M. Arton Was Promised Protection If He Would Refrain from Implicating Certain High Officials—Another Minister Steps Down.

PARIS, March 13.—There were new sensations in the Panama trial Saturday. The audience was much larger than on the previous day, owing to the expectation of new developments, and the expectation was exhibited in the evidence given.

A juryman asked whether it was possible for Lesseps, who is aged, to have forgotten about the time testified to by Charles de Lesseps as that at which M. de Freycinet advised Charles de Lesseps not to have litigation with Baron de Reinach. Rano said that the Government was then in the throes of the conflict with Boulanger and a lawsuit between the Panama Canal Company and Baron Reinach would have been hurtful to the Republic. The question arose, so Rano testified, in regard to bringing pressure to bear upon the Panama Canal Company.

Deputy Leon Borie, Boulangist, and a bitter enemy of opportunism next testified. He created a decided sensation by stating that a man named Bianchet had offered him 25,000 francs for each deputy that he would induce to vote for the Panama Lottery Bond bill.

M. Andrieux, who is generally held responsible as the originator of the Panama revelations, next took the stand. He testified that the list of Reinach checks which he had given to the Committee of Investigation had been handed to him by Cornelius Herz in the same form as received by Herz from Reinach. Andrieux admitted in reply to questions that he had looked through Arton's papers in order to serve a political purpose. Andrieux testified further that he wrote to Arton through Deschanel in regard to the bribery charges, but that Arton declined to communicate with him lest he should compromise the latter. Arton said that he would not betray persons who had given him their confidence, and that moreover he himself would be no longer secure, if he once surrendered the list in his possession.

There was a murmur of surprise in court at this hint of hidden protection extended over Arton while he maintained reserve in regard to implicated officials.

M. Andrieux proceeded to state that Arton further informed him that he had received generous offers from other quarters in connection with the evidence in his possession, and had been promised great leniency in regard to his share in the dynamite case.

Mme. Cottu's evidence was the next sensation in the court. She said that a few days after the arrest of her husband she learned that the Government, annoyed at the turn the prosecution was taking, desired to suppress it and sought an interview with her between themselves and the Panama Canal directors. A gentleman named Goyard visited her and offered to act in the capacity of intermediary. He informed her that a true bill would not be returned if the directors bound themselves to silence. She wanted, however, to deal with a better authority than M. Goyard. She was on Jan. 16 conducted to the office of M. Soinoury, Chief of the Detective Department, who asked her whether she possessed any compromising documents which might be useful to the Ministry. M. Soinoury did not make any proposals in precise terms, but she felt that the release of her husband was being offered as a bribe for the surrender of the compromising papers. Soinoury offered to allow her to visit her husband in order that she should induce him to warn Charles de Lesseps, who had already spoken too much. Soinoury also asked permission to report the gist of the conversation to M. Loubet.

Meantime M. Targe, formerly Minister of the Interior, took the stand to reply to the evidence regarding him. He declared that Charles de Lesseps had measured him with attacks in the newspapers unless he would help the Panama Canal project.

Charles de Lesseps arose and denied having uttered any such menace.

M. Soinoury, chief of the Detective Department, took the witness stand and declared that Mme. Cottu came to his office voluntarily to ask permission to visit her husband. Soinoury swore positively that he had never threatened and had never attempted to bargain with Mme. Cottu.

The court then adjourned.

The greatest excitement prevails. Saturday M. Bourgeois, Minister of Justice, resigned his office, and the news, coupled with the exposures, has caused a wide spread ferment in Paris. M. Loubet, the former Premier, in an interview with the correspondent last night made an emphatic statement to the effect that he had given no orders to Soinoury to procure any compromising documents in the possession of Mme. Cottu as the price of her husband's release.

The sensation caused by Mme. Cottu's testimony Saturday does not abate. The attempt to propagate the opinion that she was animated by a desire to avenge the sentence of her husband when she gave her evidence against the Government has failed completely.

Mr. Soinoury, the police official who tried to get from Mme. Cottu documents compromising Royalist Deputies, has resigned from the directorship of the penitentiary department. Police Commissary Nicolle who, arranged the interview between him and Mme. Cottu will be dismissed.

The Cabinet crisis inaugurated by the resignation of M. Bourgeois has been shown to be beyond hope of repair by patchwork.

President Carnot has signed a decree giving to M. Deville temporarily M. Bourgeois' portfolio.

Henry Brisson insists upon his retirement from the presidency of the parliamentary commission of inquiry into the Panama scandal. His principal reason for resigning, he repeats, is the weakness of his health.

THE HAWAIIAN TREATY.

Doesn't Go With the Present Administration, Says a Man.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's Washington special says: "A gentleman closely connected with the administration is authority for the statement that the Hawaiian matter will be taken up immediately after Secretary Gresham add that a message transmitting a treaty of some kind will be sent to the Senate during the present special session.

"This gentleman, who is in a position to know, predicted further that the treaty would be on annexation lines, though radically different in its terms from the Harrison treaty. Features will be added, he states, which will leave no possible chance for the sugar syndicates to reap any benefits and which will relieve the United States from any financial responsibility for the support of the islands. In other words, this gentleman says the attitude of this administration is not unfavorable to annexation, but as opposed to the Harrison treaty."

NEW YORK, March 13.—The new play, "Her Honor the Mayor," was not produced Friday night at the Columbus Theatre in Harlem on account of an accident which happened to Annie Pixley. During rehearsal in the morning she slipped and sprained her ankle.

A large audience gathered, but they were compelled to return home without seeing Miss Pixley in her new role. The play will be produced just as soon as Miss Pixley is able to tread the boards again.

The following Belleville talent will assist at a concert in Tweed on Thursday night: Mr. J. Mackintosh, vocalist; Miss Jessie Robertson, elocutionist; Miss Maggie Falconer vocalist.

The name of Prof. Stanistreet was omitted in the INTELLIGENCER'S report of the I.O.O.F., "at home." The success of entertainment was almost entirely due to the professor's efforts. During the evening he presided at the piano in a very acceptable manner.

Officer Stoneburg, while walking across the lower bridge, to-day, felt the planks give beneath him. On examining the sleepers they were found to be rotten and were hardly strong enough to sustain an ordinary man. The officer's discovery has no doubt averted a serious accident.

For all derangements of the throat and lungs Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the speediest and most reliable remedy. Even in the advanced stages of consumption this wonderful preparation affords great relief, checks coughing and induces sleep.

"March to search" is the old adage. It searches out any weakness of the system, resulting from impure blood. Those who use Ayer's Sarsaparilla find March no more searching or even disagreeable than any other month. This medicine is a wonderful invigorator.

For the convenience of physicians, druggists and the general public, Chas. Clarke, will visit Belleville, Queens Hotel, on Saturday March 18th, where he can give relief to all persons suffering from rupture or deformity, such as club foot, spinal trouble, bow legs, white swellings, etc. Go and see him.

UNDER SERIOUS CHARGE

TRIAL OF THOS. DUNN FOR ALLEGED CRIMINAL ASSAULT COMMENCED TO-DAY.

The Case not Concluded to-day—Geo. Thompson has not been heard from.

The case of Thos. Dunn, for alleged criminal assault on Catherine Lentz, a deaf mute girl of Welland county, was called at 14.5 this afternoon by Justice McMahon. The following composed the jury: Messrs. Andrew Reid, John Rogers, Sidney Fox, Wm. Ferguson, Wm. J. Gill, Wm. Pringle Wm. A. Lasher, R. McTaggart, J. Reed Duncan Fraser, Paul Sharp and E. F. Lake.

The particulars in the case are still fresh in the minds of the readers of the INTELLIGENCER, and it will not be necessary to go into the minuter details here. The crime is alleged to have taken place at the Grand Trunk depot here on the 15th of September last. It is said that through the neglect of the father the girl Lentz did not reach the train on which a number of other deaf mutes were journeying eastward to Belleville in charge of one of the teachers of the Institute. In company with her brother the girl took the next train which arrived in Belleville one hour and a half after the one on which they intended to come. There was no one to meet them from the Institute and the children went into the waiting room. The boy fell asleep. After they had been in the room a few minutes a young man appeared at the door and beckoned the girl to come out. From the evidence it would appear that the girl expected some one to take her to the Institute. She went out on the platform, when another young man stepped up beside her. The first youth, who is said to have been the prisoner, took hold of her arm and walked her across a number of tracks to a commons north of the depot. It is alleged that both youths violated her person. A couple of trainmen about this time appeared on the scene when the boys were alarmed off. They ran back in the direction from which they had come and when south of the depot they met H. W. Cronk, liveryman, who was to convey the mutes to the Institute. He alleges that one of the young men was Thos. Dunn. The boys then ran to the west end of the yard and are said to have taken the next express to Trenton returning to Belleville the next day. Dunn was arrested but the other youth, who was thought to be Geo. Thompson, could not be found. Dunn was identified by the girl as being one of the boys who assaulted her.

Sunlight Prayers.

Bridge Street Methodist Church held a sunlight prayer meeting yesterday, which was well attended—an index to the interest taken in the revival services. In the morning the pastor, Rev. E. N. Baker, preached a practical sermon from Proverbs, part of the 30th verse, admonishing young men to make their aim in life higher than merely the accumulation of wealth as in death the millionaire and pauper would lie side by side and a strip of earth would hold them each.

VENICE AS IT WAS.

The Only Disadvantage was the Absence of Gondola.

The recent mild weather, accompanied by a heavy fall of rain on Saturday night, left the city in a sad plight yesterday. In many parts of the city pedestrians were only able to reach their homes by a circuitous route. Many streets were converted into miniature canals. The only advantage Venice had over Belleville was the gondola, which was supplemented in many instances by rafts ruddely constructed. The corporation men worked all day opening channels to relieve the water, and this assisted by the mild temperature, the situation was improved. Water put out the fires in the Baptist Church furnaces, in spite of which services were held at the usual hours. Residents living on Murney and Taylor's hills suffered more than those living in the lower parts of the city. In many cases the people were driven to the upper flats to escape the water. Mr. J. Davies, living on Bleecker avenue, had fifteen inches of water in his house. Residents living on Catherine, Frank, Romans, and Mofra Streets suffered most.

THE THURLOW CONSERVATIVES.

Election of Officers and Other Business Transacted.

A largely attended meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association of Thurlow township was held in the city on Saturday afternoon. Mr. H. Corby, M.P., and Mr. W. P. Hudson, M.P.P., were present and gave addresses. Owing to his Parliamentary duties detaining him at Ottawa, Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., was unable to attend. The society is at present in first-class working order and prepared to do valiant work for the cause of conservatism when called upon. The following gentlemen were elected office bearers: W. B. Northrup, M.P., and W. P. Hudson, M.P.P., Hon. Presidents; P. Mather, President; J. Conolin, 1st Vice-President; Wm. Clarke, 2nd Vice-President; H. K. Denyes, Secretary-Treasurer.

A Lively Runaway.

At about 8.30 this morning a son of Mr. John Johnston was driving up Bridge St. when near the Methodist church the horse became frightened and ran away. It turned the cutter sharply around, throwing the occupant out, and struck out at a rapid gait towards the lower bridge. When in front of Messrs. Wallbridge & Clarke's store it collided with Messrs. Davis & Palmer's delivery waggon, freeing itself from the cutter, the latter being badly damaged. The animal then ran over the lower bridge and jumped into the marble establishment of Wesse Bros. where it was captured. The only damage sustained was to the cutter.

Our Great Northwest.

ROUNTHWAITE, MAN., March 2, 1893.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—With regard to the many inquiries of Ontario people, also the reports of some weary, frozen prodicals that have returned from the west, (for instance our Huntingdon friend who returned sometime after harvest and reported 28° below. Mr. Editor did you see any Manitoba frost on his whiskers, or did you notice a chill on Hastings County on his arrival). I will give a brief account of my experience concerning the farming industry, climate, etc., of the past season.

Our train arrived in Brandon on the 15th of March, 1892 and we were agreeably surprised to find a city ten years old so far advanced. The first that came to our view was the seven elevators (not the little Ontario granary, it would just make a fair stand bin in one of these) six of which are situated along the C. P. R., and one on the N. P. R.; two railway depots, Brandon being the terminus of the N. P. R. Then the implement sheds, if the Ontario implement man could awake some morning in one of these sheds he would believe he was in Toronto fair among the implements. Ten of those wholesale houses as I termed them, running at full blast; two machine shops; a flouring mill running night and day; a sawmill; four sash and door factories, and Rosser avenue being the main business part of the town, will leave Belleville Front street in the rear.

I rented a half section of land six miles out of town on shares, each to take half of the proceeds, there being one hundred and twenty-five acres ready for the seed, to be sown to wheat and oats. On the 13th of April I began operations, the implements used were a sixteen hoe seeder and an eighty tooth iron harrow driven by three horses. All went well until the wheat was nearly sown when a snow storm set in (the old settlers told me after that it was a blizzard) well, if that was a blizzard I have seen plenty of those before I left the east, but not to seeding time. This little winter delayed farm operations about two weeks, but we finally closed seeding on the 10th of May, with one hundred acres sown to wheat and twenty five to oats, and acres here are one hundred and sixty rods, no corners off for stone piles or brush fences.

I then began breaking, which I found a peculiar king of plowing, but after some instructions from my neighbors became more accustomed to the work and enjoyed it very much, no stone, stumps, hills or brush, one hundred and ten rods of pure delight. I broke and back-set thirty acres, summer fallowed thirty-eight before harvest.

On the 18th of August I engaged a stuker and opened up the wheat field. We run seven days before we saw the hundred acres in stuke. The night I finished my father arrived from the east to see the boy start cutting, but to his surprise he found it in stuke (just a shade too low for the North West farmer.) On the 22nd of September the grain was threshed and stored in the granery, fourteen hundred bushels of wheat, free from frost and as fine a sample as I ever saw, and four hundred bushels of oats.

Then, with my three horses I started stubble plowing at $1.60 per acre and continued until about the twelfth of November when the frost closed farm operations. I give a statement of my earnings and leave you to judge whether farming in the west is profitable or not.

Wheat, 700 bushels at 50c.....	$350 00
Oats, 200 bushels at 20c.....	40 00
Hauling 700 bushels of wheat at 4c.	28 00
Plowing (including back setting fallow and stubble).....	300 00
Total.....	$718 00

You will notice from the time I began seeding till plowing closed gave me a seven months run leaving $162.67 per month. O fi farmers the east say this is a poor year that they ever saw in Manitoba, wheat not half a crop and the price two-thirds its value.

Now, Mr. Editor, I suppose you, as well as myself, have heard people say time with out number that the Northwest is nothing but a Government sham. To such people I would ask: How many dollars per month did you earn with a good crop, and how many rods of stone fence did you build and board yourself? I earnestly advise those to stay where they are, as we have no use for them here, for though such creatures four out of five is where we fine the frosted wheat, simply because they are too lazy to farm in the east and they come here with the idea of finding the gold dust without digging. They sow wheat in June, sport the balance of the summer (when they could be earning $4.00 per day), reap in October, thresh next spring and return to the east only to discourage some industrious, intelligent men who would be a prize and a success in such land. It is not the fault of the country that we have frozen wheat but the people, through mismanagement of late sowing and improper tilling of the land. I found in every case the crop of '92 was No. 1 hard where it was seeded on properly cultivated land and cut when ripe. I believe one man and three horses can manage one hundred acres of wheat and clear damage of frost to any extent from time out of ten, but a man must be awake in spring and harvest. I find many fall in cutting, as wheat can be cut quite green and make a beautiful sample. When the straw is yellow past the second joint from the bottom it is ready for the binder. It may be set in stack and capped. This prevents it from curing too quickly and there is plenty of substance in the large coarse straw to ripen it quickly.

In the spring the snow is cleared out by a different process from the east. Instead of rainy damp weather the sun sweeps its course without a cloud, its rays and a warm wind cut the snow very quickly. In fact, in less time than a person can imagine the snow is gone, the only trace is the creeks in the ravines and small lakes in sloughs. The land being a solid mass of clay the water is carried off. The sun soon draws the frost out two or three inches from the surface, and the wind (as winds are quite prevalent in spring) dries it as quickly. Then the farmer scatters the seed.

The weather generally continues bright until June when we get frequent showers till the middle of August, then very little through the autumn season.

The winter has not been so disagreeable as I expected, of course when winter began we had winter. Beautiful sleighing from the first, but no severe weather before Xmas except one week, average register for the week about 20° below, the lowest being 36°. When I left about the last of January when we experienced some cold weather for about three weeks, average register about 25° below, the lowest being 40°. The forties and fifties are generally of short duration, only for a few hours in the later part of the night. Since that the register has stood above zero more than below.

Taking all in consideration that I have seen, heard and experienced, I am greatly in favor of prairie life. There are many other features I might dwell on that would be of benefit to an intending settler with regard to locality, soil, shipping, renting, and buying, I will be delighted at any time to give any information that I possibly can.

In looking over a Manitoba latter published in the News Argus, I notice the correspondent speaks of the Loyalists of Rawdon and that he is trusting they are as much exercised over a Jesuite Premier as they are over the Rose Bible. I would ask, the Editor, does he mean those noble hearts who are loyal to the British Crown and the Holy Bible.

Now, in conclusion, I hope they may be quite as little exercised over the rebuke as they are over the Rose Bible at the present time, which is dead and buried by a government ceremony for some time past.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your columns, I remain

Yours, &c.,
WARD BADGLEY

GOUGH'S

SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2 50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

BURGLARY NEAR TROY.

ROUGH AND READY MEANS OF STEALING $5000

Martin Carey Beaten Into Insensibility by Two Burglars Who Broke Into His House and Stole His Money, Which Was Hidden in Cotton Batting.

HAMILTON, March 13.—Residents of Troy are greatly excited over a daring burglarly and murderous assault which was committed about a mile and a half south of the village early Thursday morning. The victim, Martin Carey, was terribly beaten, and lies at the point of death. The burglars stole $5000, which was hidden in the house, and so far they have evaded arrest.

Carey is a bachelor about 60 years old, and has lived alone for many years. He owns a farm of 50 acres, which is worked on shares by Andrew Ammerman, a married man who lives a quarter of a mile from Carey. The old man lives in a lonely spot, and as he has no near neighbors the burglars could not have selected a better victim. He has a good appreciation of the value of money, being close and miserly, and has accumulated considerable wealth. It is said that he has no confidence in banks, and kept his money hidden away in the house.

About 2 o'clock Thursday morning two men broke into the house, battering in the door with a stick of wood. They were not cautious burglars and did not care whether they alarmed the old man or not, knowing that he was alone in the house. Going to Carey's bedroom they dragged him out of bed, kicked him as he lay upon the floor and then tied his hands and feet and gagged him. Then they coolly went through the house in search of money. Every room was ransacked and some boards on the kitchen floor were removed. The search was unsuccessful, and the burglars returned to the bedroom and renewed their brutal attack on the helpless old man, kicking him into a state of insensibility. It is not known if they compelled him to tell where the money was hidden, as he is still speechless, but at any rate the thugs got about $5000 which was stowed away in a bundle of cotton batting in the bedroom.

The money was in coin and bills. After securing the plunder the robbers gave the poor old fellow a couple of parting kicks and made their escape, leaving him bound and gagged and in a dying condition. The house was left in a terrible state of disorder, everything being topsy-turvey.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock in the morning Nelson Ammerman, nephew of the man who works the farm, went to the house to do some chores. He found the door wide open, and it rather startled him when he discovered Carey bound and gagged lying on the floor. He hurried for assistance, and sent to Lynden for a doctor. It was not long before Dr. Biggar arrived and did what he could for the old man. Carey's hands and feet were untied and the gag was removed from his mouth. He recovered consciousness, but he had lost his power of speech, and it was with difficulty that the neighbors found out what had happened. They had to ask him questions and he would either nod or shake his head in reply. It was in this way that they discovered how much money had been taken. "Did they take any money?" was asked. The old man nodded. After a great deal of trouble it was learned that $5000 was stolen. It is thought that the burglary was committed by men who knew the premises. It was common talk that Carey kept a large amount of money in the house, being afraid to bank it.

Yesterday Dr. Biggar did not have any hopes that Carey would recover. He was terribly beaten, his body being black and blue from the kicks of the brutes.

Carey's condition is unchanged to-day, and as he has not recovered his speech it has been impossible to get all the story of the burglary from him. Some of the neighbors doubt that $5000 was stolen from the old man, but they think a large amount was taken.

DIGNITY UNKNOWN.

The Oklahoma Legislature Goes Out With a Very Bad Smell.

GUTHRIE, O.T., March 13.— Saturday was the last day of the session of the Territorial Legislature, and in the scenes that were enacted upon the floor were disgraceful in the extreme.

For 60 days the Legislature sat and quarreled. Within the last few days, however, the members awakened to the fact that the people of the Territory wanted legislation, but in the hurry and confusion of the closing hours what was done was so hopelessly jumbled that in most things the Territory is worse off than it was before. During an attempt to repeal the Anti-Gambling bill yesterday members called each other liars, and at times almost came to blows. Charges of bribery were openly made.

Seventeen Babies in Eight Years.

NEWCOMB, N.Y., March 13.—Mrs. Ellsworth Miller of Cold Spring recently presented her husband with triplets, two girls and a boy. During the last eight years and seven months Mrs. Miller has become the mother of 17 children. She has had three sets of triplets, three pairs of twins and two single births.

Mrs. Miller is 31 years old. She was married to Mr. Miller on Oct. 10, 1883.

Eight of the 17 children are living.

Mrs. Miller has an aunt who has been the mother of 22 children, 10 of them being quintuplets.

The Seating Trouble.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 13.—Collector of Customs Milne Saturday morning received a despatch from Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries Smith re proposed protective sealing legislation. Accompanying the despatch reads: "Russian Government proposes this year prohibiting seal hunting and seizing sealers cruising in radius of 30 miles Commander Island and Robbin Island and within 10 miles of the Russian coast. Warn sealers accordingly."

Father of Twenty-One Children.

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 13.—Mr. Charles Maranda, an old patriot who took part in the engagement at St. Charles, has just died in the parish of St. Simon at the age of 79 years. He was the father of 21 children, 17 of whom survive him.

General Store Burned.

HASTINGS, Ont., March 13.—Mr. Henry Cross' general store in Fenella was burned on Saturday morning, together with contents and dwelling, including the postoffice and telephone office. The fire caught from the stove pipes and was beyond control when discovered. Everything was consumed. Loss about $3000, insured for $2400.

Killed on the Track.

HENRYVILLE, Ont., March 13.—The body of John Tynan, an old settler of the Township of Charlby, was found yesterday on the railway track two miles north of Henryville, having been run over by a train. Coroner Riece has decided to hold an inquest.

BANK CONSOLIDATION.

Three Great Institutions of Rome Combine Under a New Title.

ROME, March 13.—The shareholders of three issue banks of this city have sanctioned the consolidation of the three institutions under the name of the Bank of Italy. The combined capital will be 300,000,000 lire ($60,000,000), of which 60,000,000 lire is paid up. The excessive amount of the capital is rendered necessary by the fact that so much is locked up in real estate as an outcome of the Government's desire to avert a crash growing out of the building crisis that has existed in Rome since 1888. Of the new capital 60,000,000 lire will be held by the shareholders of the Banca Nationale. It is hoped that the combined concern will be strong enough to take over the whole of the Banca Romana's liabilities, involving a loss of 50,000,000 lire. As compensation the Government will reduce the tax on note issue.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Hagyard & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectorial Balsam This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying tonic in use. A short time ago two very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.

SAMUEL BARR, Toronto Junction.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint—Mr. Victor Auge, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with three physicians, and have taken many medicines which were recommended without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE QUESTION OF SUNDAY OBSERVANCE DISCUSSED.

It Arose From a Resolution By Mr. Charlton In Connection With Canada's Exhibit At the World's Fair—The Treaty With France Not Satisfactory.

OTTAWA, March 14.—After routine Mr. Laurier asked whether a returning officer had been appointed for Vaudreuil, and was informed by Mr. Foster that the same officer who acted at last election had been reappointed, and the writ had been issued. Nomination on 5th, polling on 12th of April.

In reply to Mr. Edgar's question about the evidence in the Caron commission Mr. Costigan said that the evidence was printed and had been distributed. The exhibits were being printed and would be ready as soon as possible.

The following bills were read a third time and passed:

Relating to the Canada Life Assurance Company.

To incorporate the Woodmen of the World.

To revive and amend the act to incorporate the Equity Insurance Company and to change the name to St. Lawrence Insurance Company.

The following bills were read a second time and referred to committee:

To incorporate the North American Canal Company.

To incorporate the Canadian Gas Association.

To amend act respecting the Nova Scotia Permanent Benefit Building Society and Savings Fund.

On the motion for the second reading of the Divorce bill from the Senate for the relief of Martha Ballantyne, the House divided and the second reading was carried 72 for to 31 against. The bill was referred to Private Bills Committe, as were also the bills for the relief of James Balfour and Edmund H. Heward.

The notices of motion were run through, and those unopposed were carried.

Mr. Charlton then moved the following resolution:

"That in the opinion of this House the Canadian department of the Columbian Exhibition should be closed on Sunday, in accordance with British example at previous exhibitions, in deference to the Christian sentiment of the country and as a recognition of the duty resting upon an avowedly Christian people to refuse by official act to do violence to Christian principles, and to decline to lend aid or countenance to any course that will deprive official, caretaker or laborer of Christian liberties or privileges, or will invite or compel any class of the population to violate divine requirements relating to the observance of the Lord's Day as a day of rest."

Mr. Charlton spoke at some length in support of his motion, claiming that the opening of the exhibition on Sunday was opposed to the Christian sentiment of the people of Canada. He did not want to leave the matter to the Government, but desired to have an expression of opinion from the House.

Mr. McMullen thought it would be a national disgrace if the Canadian section was open on Sunday.

Mr. Amyot said Sunday was the only day on which workingmen would have an opportunity of visiting the exhibition, and they ought to have an opportunity of doing so.

Mr. Maclean said that while he might lay himself open to the charge of being a Sabbath breaker, he nevertheless held that this was a case that when in Rome do as the Romans do. The mover of the resolution had said it was in the interest of the workingman. The speaker was just as much a friend of the workingman as Mr. Charlton. Yet he recognized that with the increasing complexities of civilization there must be more or less Sunday labor, and therefore a law ought to be passed declaring that no man should be compelled to work more than six days out of seven, and he would support a law to that end if introduced by Mr. Charlton. Great companies who had to inflict Sunday labor on their hands did in many cases, and ought to in all, increase their number of hands by one-sixth and compel one-seventh to knock off every day. In this way they give all a day of rest. This was the practical philanthropic view of the question.

The question of Sunday cars had been up in Toronto not long ago and 10,000 of the voters of that city, including the Anglican Bishop and the Roman Catholic Archbishop, had, with other clergymen, voted for it and 14,000 against it. Next time it came up it would carry.

Many good men had favored the opening of the exhibition on Sundays. He was not ashamed to admit that he had spent Sundays in the museums and picture galleries of Europe, and a few months ago he was in Chicago and spent a profitable Sunday afternoon in the new art gallery there. The feeling of many of the best people of Chicago was that if the exhibition was closed on Sundays the people would go to saloons and beer gardens instead. [Hear, hear.] It was not necessary for us to take any stand at present, but to leave the matter in the hands of the Government and see what Great Britain and the other colonies did.

Mr. Foster would like to say a few words before the vote was taken. The practical side of the question was in regard to Sunday labor in connection with the many businesses and different kinds of labor, such as the running of trains and the different lines of travel whilst the exhibition was in progress. But Canada was not the manager of the exhibition. The exhibition was held and entirely within the control of the United States. Those who went there were invited to exhibit their different articles. As to whether it would be open or closed purely depended on the United States. It might very well be that the result which the United States will arrive at will be opposed to by some, but that will not affect the conduct of the United States. Whether the exhibition remained closed or open on the Sabbath would be determined alone by the United States. Those trains would go there and the labor would go on just the same no matter how the Canadian Parliament might protest or not protest. The only thing Canada could do was to close the Canadian department, and that was of no effect so far as labor was concerned.

But before referring to that he would like to have a word to say in respect to those who favored the exhibition being open on Sunday. There were those who favored such buildings being open on Sunday who were just as good men in every respect as those who wanted to see it closed; and he would not say one word against the latter. There was only a divergence of views between the two parties. Britain opened her galleries of art and museums to permit those who worked all the week days to visit the works of art and view the progress of the world. After all it was man who made his own temple. It was man's own frame of mind that constituted the good, and not the letter of the law or the enactment of a statute. He could go to the museum and his soul be elevated to God just as well as in a place of worship. He was not yielding to anyone for the worship of God and the observance of the Sabbath. Some of the noblest philanthropists in the United States asked that the exhibition should be open on Sunday so that the triumphs of arts and sciences might be witnessed.

As to the Canadian department, after all, what was it? The Canadian building! He was entirely in favor of having it closed. But the exhibits of Canadians was everywhere separate. One section were alongside another particular exhibit of articles of the same kind from other countries. Canada could not close these. The only thing that could be done was to draw something over the Canadian section.

What Great Britain would do was not known. He would suggest that the question should be left in the hands of the Government, which was as solicitous of the observance of the rights of Sabbath as any government was. Canada would be guided greatly by Great Britain in the matter. He suggested that, having made this explanation, Mr. Charlton withdraw the resolution.

Mr. Scriver was surprised to hear the Minister of Finance speaking in favor of the cultivation of the artistic æsthetic in preference to the religious.

Dr. Christie favored the resolution.

Mr. Daly moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Charlton characterized the course of those who favored the adjournment as sneaking and cowardly. [Cries of order.]

Mr. Speaker asked Mr. Charlon to withdraw the words, and the latter did so.

Mr. Maclean said that while the British Government at some previous exhibitions had kept their exhibit closed, they did so without any resolution of Parliament, like the one now submitted. Mr. Charlton said he was pained at the prospect of Sabbath desecration. He (Mr. Maclean) had too been pained when he had heard that hon. gentleman charged in this House with running his tugboats on Sunday and who had not seen his way to repudiating the charge. Mr. Charlton had said that to open the exhibition on Sunday would permit of large excursions of workingmen and all the riff-raff, all pandemonium, would be let loose. In other words, this professed friend of labor was now characterizing workingmen as of pandemonium. Mr. Charlton had spoken a great deal in this House against reduction of trade. Mr. Maclean hoped that Mr. Charltou would be heard less hereafter advocating restriction of morals and heard often in support of reduction of trade.

After some further discussion the members were called in, and the House divided on Hon. Mr. Daly's amendment, which was carried, 76 for to 34 against.

Mr. O'Brien voted with the Opposition and Messrs Bechard, Leduc and Mignault, Liberals, with the Government.

After recess Mr. Reid moved his resolution, That in the opinion of this House cheese, the product and manufacture of any foreign country, should not be admitted for entry or in transit unless the name of the country is plainly marked, stamped, branded or labelled in legible letters, both on each cheese and box containing the same, so as to indicate the country of its origin.

Mr. Reid spoke at some length in support of his motion, pointing out the injury which was being done to Canadian cheese by American cheese being marked as Canadian and shipped through Canada.

After some discussion Hon. Mr. Foster pointed out the difficulty there would be in interfering with goods passing through in transit, and the motion was finally withdrawn.

Just before the adjournment Mr. Foster made some explanation of the new French treaty. By the French Tariff Act of 1892 the tariff was entirely reconstructed and all existing tariffs were practically abolished. Maximum and minimum tariffs are provided, but, so far as Canada is concerned, the minimum tariff is as high as the old tariff under which Canadian goods were admitted. Mr. Foster's explanation was lucid, but it looked as if most of the advantages were on the side of France, and after Mr. Foster's statement that he would not ask for the ratification of the treaty this year, it looks very much as if it would not be ratified at all.

Mr. Laurier pointed out that under the proposed treaty France was to get all the advantages under this treaty that were accorded to any other country under a subsequent treaty and, therefore, if we negotiate a treaty with the United States France would get the same benefits.

Mr. Foster replied that in that case it could be cancelled on a year's notice.

Mr. Maclean pointed out that the most serious objection to the treaty was that the Canadian industry most vitally affected had not been consulted in the matter. He referred to the native wine industry, now a large interest in the Niagara peninsula, in the St. Clair peninsula and in Pelee Island. Last week he had met a large deputation of these men in Toronto, and now that they knew how they were to be affected they proposed to come to Ottawa and protest against a treaty which would drive sound native Canadian wines out of our own market in favor of trashy stuff made from prunes and drugs in France. He hoped hereafter, now that we had a department of Trade and Commerce, that the first thing undertaken in negotiating a treaty would be to ascertain how Canadian interests were affected.

Mr. Davin is on the warpath after the Comptroller of Customs, and gives notice that he will enquire on Wednesday whether the Comptroller of Customs is correctly reported as having said in the course of a speech at a banquet in Kingston on Friday that" our friends (meaning Orangemen in Ireland) over there will never submit. Britain may cast them out, but if she does she has no right to look for their further allegiance. They are preparing for action. Their unalterable determination is never to submit to Home Rule, and they will have the sympathy of the Orangemen in Canada. Aye, more than sympathy, they shall have our active aid if that active aid be necessary. We shall be unworthy of our ancestors if we fail in our duty in such a crisis."

Mr. George Taylor, chief Conservative Whip, received a letter yesterday from Sir John Thompson dated at New York on Friday, in which he says:

"We were all delighted at the splendid send-off which we had on leaving Ottawa. Nothing could have been finer. When we saw the decorations of the car and the abundance of beautiful flowers we realized more than ever before the pleasure it is to serve the country with so noble-hearted a set of men."

Sir Charles' Success.

LONDON, March 14.—The Evening Standard applauds Canada's efforts in the French treaty, the text of which has been published here. The paper says: "England may well feel some sort of envy at Sir Charles Tupper's success, and possibly some doubt in the wisdom of England's past generosity in giving away everything to France beforehand."

Young Stanley Improving.

LONDON, March 14.—The condition of Hon. Arthur Stanley continues to improve. Some traces of the fever yet remain, but the rheumatic affection is greatly decreased.

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES

AFTER YEARS OF TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

STATEMENT OF MR. WM. McNEE.

For eight years I was troubled with a sore on my leg which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines but with no benefit. In 1883 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and keep my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot on the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream and my leg swelled to twice its natural size.

ELEVEN RUNNING SORES

developed on it which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs. in four months). Friends advised me to go to the Hospital; but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B.B.B., after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I washed the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the sixth bottle my leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose bone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as anyone, and all this I owe to B. B. B., which certainly saved my leg, if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, it will cure you as it did me.

Yours truly,
WM. McNEE, St. Ives P.O., Ont.

Mr. F. C. Sanderson, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district.

Cure For Headache,

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed he headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used. I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered —A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

Take a Sheep.

There is a temperance lesson in the following anecdote: A farmer once employed a young man to labor on his farm, without knowing anything of his habits. All too soon the farmer found that his new hand was addicted to drinking alcoholics, and this habit interfered with his usefulness.

"John," said the farmer to the man, "I'll give ye one o' my best sheep if ye'll give up drinkin' while ye work for me."

"It's a bargain," declared the man.

A grown son of the farmer, overhearing this agreement, looked up and asked, "Pa, will you give me a sheep, too, if I will not drink this season?"

"Yes," replied the father, "you may have a sheep."

Then the little boy spoke up, and said, "Pa, will you give me a sheep, too, if I'll not drink?"

"Yes, son, you shall have a sheep also."

After a moment's pause, the little boy turned to his father, and said, "Pa, hadn't you better take a sheep, too?"

"I dunno, I dunno," the father replied, doubtfully; and then suddenly concluded, "I declar' I'll try it and see!"

The old gentleman was heard afterward to declare that he made the best investment of sheep that season that he ever made in his life.

ABANDONED FARMS IN RHODE ISLAND.

The Ottawa Journal in its issue of Saturday, the 11th inst., says:

A Rhode Island paper says that an advance report of the commissioner of industrial statistics for Rhode Island on the question of abandoned farms in this state shows some startling statistics that few, probably, would have been prepared to believe except they came from an official source. The report shows that in the nearby townships of Burrillville there are eighty-nine abandoned farms, upon the majority of which the grass is not even cut. In Coventry there are sixty-seven; in West Greenwich sixty-three; in Hope Valley forty-six; in Scituate forty-five; in the township of Foster there there are nine and in South Kingstown there are three. The large number of deserted farms in Burrillville and Coventry is said to be due to the regular and yearly drain upon the farms for mill help, the people in those sections finding more ready money in working in the factories than in planting their full time, winter and summer, upon the farm. In West Greenwich there has been a constant going away of the young folks to the cities, and farm lands have decreased so rapidly in value in a very few years that land worth $50 an acre only a short time ago is now worth but $2 an acre. In Scituate the farm lands deserted are in some respects in a very bad condition of demoralization, with excellent old farm houses gone to decay.

"The total list of deserted farms in this state," concludes the paper in question, "is appalling for the size of the community. This is the sort of problem which some people in Canada think annexation to the United States can solve.

A SENSATION IN CHURCH.

Three Thousand People Moved to Tears at a Revival Service.

The vast crowd of people that attended the Crossley and Hunter service at the Metropolitan church, Toronto, on Sunday night, witnessed a most touching scene. Mr. Hunter addressed the large gathering at length and with powerful effect upon the subject of temperance. Mr. Crossley, who followed, was interrupted by a well-dressed, intelligent looking young man, who rose from a seat near the platform and said: "I would like to say something. It is very important." He then asked Mr. Hunter to speak with him in private. The evangelist and the penitent retired to the vestry, where the latter told his story.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS FATHER

are among the leading business men of the city of Ottawa. The former is, or rather was, a confirmed victim of the alcoholic habit. On Saturday his father decided to take him to an asylum at Guelph to go through the gold cure. Arriving in Toronto, they missed the train for Guelph, and had to spend Sunday in the city. By chance they wandered into the Metropolitan church. The evangelist's words effected the young man greatly, and he felt convinced that only by first experiencing a change of heart could he successfully combat the terrible dipsomania. Mr. Hunter prayed and talked with him, pointing out the simplicity of the plan of salvation. Shortly the young man professed conversion, and returned with Mr. Hunter to the body of the church, where he stood up on the platform and testified of his salvation and of the power of the grace of God. The father, who was seated near the middle of the building, left his seat, mounted the platform, and, throwing his arms around his son's neck, blessed him over and over again. The incident created a mighty sensation, the vast assemblage being moved almost to a man to tears. Perhaps no event attended with such pathetic circumstances ever occurred in a Toronto church before, and certainly no more convincing proof of the power for good, with which Messrs. Crossley and Hunter's evangelistic efforts are attended need be asked. The meetings will be continued this week and probably next.

Smith and family and Herbert Chase and wife, from the village, have moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. Milligan.—Roads are filled to overflowing with water, and travelling for foot-men is almost impassable.—On Thursday night, the 2nd inst., a runaway horse, with only part of its harness on, was seen making it way home from Wellington. About a mile behind came a smashing cutter with a young fellow into it, who, from his actions, was pretty full. His companion, a married man, was into a rig with one of our young men from this place, and their broken cutter was drawn behind. The two drunken fellows were taken to their home by their friend. They reside in Consecon.—The Hillier cheese meeting was held here in the town hall on Wednesday.—Mr. Davidson, of Seymour township, preached here in the Methodist church on Sunday.

A BRAVE EDITOR.

He Defends His House Against an Armed Mob.

NEW YORK, March 14.—A Panama letter says: Political feeling in Peru is running high, and the newspapers of the interior give frequent accounts of unusual acts of violence growing out of local discussion between union civicas, or followers of Dr. Rosas, and members of the constitutional party, which has proclaimed Gen. Caceras as its candidate for the presidency.

In Cuzro recently a party of Rosas' friends in broad daylight attacked and sacked the office of La Reforma, one of Caceras' supposed newspaper organs, smashing the presses, dumping the type into the street and pouring the ink into the gutter.

Two reporters and the foreman were mortally wounded and one printer was killed. The mob then visited the residence of Dr. Colungue, the editor of the paper, pelted it with stones and forced an entrance. Colungue, though he was confined to his bed by fever for a week, arose, armed himself with his rifle and two revolvers and defended his home and family.

Forty shots were exchanged, and, reinforced by his two sons aged 12 and 16, the editor succeeded in driving the attacking party away. The younger boy was killed by a shot from the mob and Colungue was wounded in a dozen places, his arm having since been amputated.

A DOG'S VALUE.

A Poet Sues to Recover $5000 Damages and Gets $10

TORONTO, March 14.—Brooke vs. Toronto is the unostentatious designation of that cause celebre of Poet John Brooke and his dog, which has dragged its weary length through the courts for the last three years. In June, 1889, Poet Brooke had a mastiff dog of the feminine persuasion. One day along came those heathen pirates, the dog catchers, and corralled the poet's canine, which was running at large without a tag. Lady Dora, for that was her name, was taken to the pound whence she was released by her devoted master. Shortly after she had a fine litter of puppies, having accomplished which she peacefully gave up the ghost. The poet alleges, however, that it was not puerperal fever that took her off, but a spinal injury received while in durance vile. Reckoning on the deceased canine's prolific powers the poet yesterday in the Court of Assize filed a suit for damages amounting to $5200. An interesting exhibit is Poet Brooke's statement of claim, which reads as follows, spelling and phraseology verbatim:

Actual march antitable value of property.....	$ 600
Puppies in utero.....	300
Prospective damage did me. My dog Lady Dorah would of bred for 7 years, 4 litters each year, 7 a bitter & merchantable at $350 each bitter.....	4,300
	$5,100

This sum, with the accumulated costs, made up the sum that the poet claimed. When Mr. Brooke has not been in the throes of composition he has been prosecuting his dog case.

Mr. Biggar appeared for the city and Mr. Reed for the plaintiff, and there was quite a legal tilt as to what the bylaw meant by running at large.

His Lordship held that Lady Dora was at large, that her prolificness might decrease, that her progeny might deteriorate and instructed the jury to fix the value of the dog on its own intrinsic worth. This the jury, after short deliberation, settled as $10.

His Lordship will deliver judgment this morning as to whether the city is liable for the amount or not.

DIED AMID SQUALOR.

Did This Woman Come to Her Death in Consequence of a Husband's Neglect?

TORONTO, March 14.—Mrs. F. J. Martin, 84 Northcote-avenue, died suddenly about 11 o'clock Sunday night under somewhat suspicious circumstances. The policeman on the beat was startled to see a man rush down the street in his night-clothes. Catching up to him, the man explained that his wife had taken a fit and that he was going for the doctor. Together they went to 9 Beaconsfield-avenue, the residence of Dr. J. O. Orr who, on arriving, found the woman cold, stark naked and dead. The room was squalid and bore the impress of the direst poverty—little furniture, and no clothing on the bed.

Martin, who is a man of dissipated habits, is designated in the directory as a laborer, but between his sprees follows the occupation of peddler. His story is that, having retired early, he woke up and missed his wife from his side. Reaching over the edge of the bed he felt her cold face. Becoming alarmed he hastened for a doctor. The body was taken to a neighboring undertaking establishment.

Coroner Orr was notified and opened an inquest, which was postponed till 10 o'clock today at the Gladstone House, as there is suspicion of gross and criminal negligence on the husband's part.

Martin, the neighbors say, has not been working. Mrs. Martin was a sickly woman and three months ago a doctor paid her one visit, since which time she has had no medical attendance. The body of the dead woman is greatly emaciated and Coroner Orr is of the opinion that she died of starvation.

LONDON, March 14.—A special cane to The News correspondent in London, from Genoa, states that Sir John Abbott's health is not in so much better condition than when he first took up his residence in southern climes. In view of this the executive of Canada has decided to return to Canada almost immediately.

On March 22 he will leave Genoa and will embark on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm for New York. The doctors deem that quiet home treatment will be more efficacious now.

More Probably Lord Aberdeen.

LONDON, March 14.—A statement is published here that Lord Brassey has been offered the post of Governor-General for the Dominion of Canada. It, however, does not come from an official source and not much importance is attached to it. The rumor probably arises from a confusion of the governorships of Canada and Australia, for Lord Brassey is something more than a possibility for the latter position.

COL. RANKIN IS DEAD.

HE HELPED TO MAKE THE HISTORY OF CANADA

Trained as a Civil Engineer—Fought as a Rebel—Traveled With Indians—Became a Member of Parliament—Ended as a Miner.

WINNIPEG, Ont., March 14.—Col. Arthur Rankin, father of McKee Rankin, the actor, died yesterday morning after a two months' illness from dropsy.

In the death of Col. Arthur Rankin, Canada loses a citizen who has occupied a very conspicuous place in its history for more than half a century. The story of his life is the history of his country and he himself is one of the heroes in the tale. He remembered by those who have known him as a thorough gentleman.

Arthur Rankin was born in Montreal in 1816. There he received his education and was trained for his profession as a civil engineer. Coming west when a young man, and at a time full of stirring incidents, he soon became a conspicuous figure. The mutterings of discontent over the old family compact were beginning to be heard from one end of the country to the other and young Rankin was amid the rebellion of the young Rankin joining the Loyalists as an officer.

It was on Dec. 4 that 400 patriots crossed from Detroit and landed a short distance above where the ferry-house now stands and in an hour were utterly defeated and routed at the battle of Windsor. It was for the valor displayed on the field this day that young Rankin enjoyed the distinction of having his name publicly honored in the House of Lords by the distinguished Lord Brougham.

To be a gentleman in those days was to be of necessity a disciple of the code of honor and until the duel was made a crime by law he never allowed an insult to go unchallenged if he felt his adversary entitled to his recognition. Sometimes to a few friends he would forget his usual reticence and recount the incidents of his repeated attempts during a session of Parliament, away back in the fifties, to induce the premier, the late Sir John A. Macdonald, to challenge him for his utterances on the floor of the House. But the wily statesman allowed his irritated adversary to hog his wrath and in after years they became warm friends.

In 1840 a very romantic courtship ended in the marriage of Mary, daughter of Col. Alexander Mee, to Col. Rankin, and the social position that the young couple occupied for forty years in their home at Thornhill and in eastern cities is evidence of how happy the union was. Three years later, in his 27th year, Mr. Rankin started on his tour to England with a large band of Ojibway Indians, giving exhibitions of the red man in all his characteristics.

Ever since the rebellion Arthur Rankin had been strongly interested in questions of national interest, and in 1854 the opportunity to enter public life, for which he had been waiting for a long time, at last came. Col. Prince had been called up from Parliament to the Legislative Council and at the end of a keenly fought contest with his son, the late Albert Prince, Arthur Rankin became a member of the House of Commons for the County of Essex, at a time when two or three of the greatest questions in the history of his country were soon to be adjusted. Lord Elgin was Governor-General.

Six years before this time he had written an article in a Canadian journal advocating a confederation of all of the provinces, which at that time received a good deal of attention. Long after this, and 18 years after his public advocacy of the scheme, he had the supreme satisfaction of seeing it all accomplished by the union of all parties and all the provinces concerned.

In addition to his public duties Col. Rankin engaged in many important enterprises, sometimes meeting with great financial success and as often falling in with misfortune. Almost 50 years ago he was led by the tales of explorers to investigate the rumors of mineral wealth on the shores of Lake Superior, and on Dec. 4, 1840, opened the first mine in the Bruce mining district, an enterprise that was afterwards consolidated into the Montreal Mining Company. When the Cathcart came down the Detroit River in the spring of 1847, with 300 tons of copper ore consigned to Baltimore, it carried the first cargo from that rich field of mineral wealth that ever came down the lakes.

His very last utterances in reference to passing events were made but a few days since. "For my own country," said he, "some great change will surely come within the next quarter of a century, and if I were young again the scheme of imperial federation would commend itself strongly to me. It may be mythical and perhaps impossible, but nothing can be fairly called a myth that all agree would be a success if it could be accomplished."

LADY MOWAT DEAD.

She Had Been an Invalid For Several Years.

TORONTO, March 14.—Last Friday Lady Mowat, wife of Ontario's Premier, was stricken with paralysis, the immediate cause of which was said to be a clot of blood on the brain. She was at Dr. Holford Walker's private hospital, Isabella-street, where early last night her relatives were summoned in momentary anticipation of her death. She rallied, however, and recognized those around her. But at midnight she died.

Lady Mowat was nearly 63 years of age; she was the daughter of the late John Ewart of Toronto and married Sir Oliver 30 years ago. There are five children: Mr. Fred Mowat, sheriff of the city; Mr. Arthur Mowat, Mrs. R. W. Bruce Biggar, Mrs. Thomas Langton and Miss Mowat.

Suicided With a Sickle.

BRUSSELS, March 14.—Charles Mitchell, a well-to-do farmer on lot 13, concession six, Township of Morris, committed suicide Sunday evening by cutting his throat with a sickle. The act was committed half way between the house and barn. About three years ago he showed symptoms of insanity and was sent to the asylum, but recovered. He leaves a wife and family.

Ben Goes a Hunting.

We do not offer up many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nevaline, and it would be unreasonable for them to condemn that far famed remedy! Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nevaline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Pretty Papers!

There is more in these two P's than you may suppose.

We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during the week. You'll remember the great improvement that was made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. There seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advance has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOUR trade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of these designs and colorings, and feel perfectly safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced up to date.

One pleasing feature is that these very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c., per roll as well as in 25, 35 and 50c. papers.

But He Fears We Cannot Get the Latter Concession—He Is Replied To by Dr. Montague, Who Says His Policy Is a Shot-Gun Prescription—The House Is Treated To An Interesting Debate Between the Two Members.

OTTAWA, March 15.—At 3.27 o'clock Hon. Mr. Foster moved that the House go into committee of supply, and immediately Mr. McCarthy rose and moved the following resolution:

That since the introduction of the protective system sufficient time has elapsed for the establishment and development of such manufacturing industries as under existing conditions can be successfully carried on in Canada; moreover, many manufactories, established behind the ramparts thus erected, have formed combinations and trusts which prohibit competition and crush out all who maintain independence.

That the existing tariff, defensible only as a protective measure, has proved in many instances oppressive and burdensome to the great mass of the consuming classes and especially to those engaged in agricultural pursuits, is unfair and unequal in its incidence and is productive of discontent verging on disloyalty among those who suffer from its injustice;

That no sufficient reason has been adduced or exists requiring investigation respecting the foregoing facts, which are notorious, or any further delay in the adoption of remedial legislation, which is imperative;

That in the opinion of this House the tariff ought to be at once amended in respect of the matters herein indicated, and also by the substantial reduction of customs duties in favor of the United Kingdom, in whose markets all Canadian products are admitted duty free, and of those nations which under treaty obligations with Great Britain would be entitled to the same advantages, graduated, however, so as not unnecessarily to prejudice the business of the country nor to do wrong to those who have imported and paid duties in accordance with its provisions;

And this House declares its readiness to make a like reduction in favor of such other portions of the empire or with such other foreign countries, including the United States of America, as are willing to reciprocate in matters of trade with Canada on fair and equitable terms.

He said that he made no apology for bringing up the trade question again, although it had been fully debated already, because it had so far been treated as if the National Policy had always been the policy of the Conservative Party, and free trade always the policy of the Opposition. This was not so. The National Policy had only been adopted in 1876, and it was proposed to show what was intended when the policy was adopted.

He then quoted the resolutions introduced by Sir John Macdonald in 1876, 1877 and 1878 to show that Sir John had not at first contemplated any great amount of protection as opposed to free trade. He referred to the speeches of Mr. Colby and others, some of whom, like Mr. Colby, he classed as protectionists and others as still adhering to free trade. He quoted from the campaign speeches of 1878 to show that it was anticipated that the National Policy would secure the home market to the farmer, and quoted freely from Mr. Colby's speech to show that it was not anticipated that protection would increase prices or lead to create rings or combines. It was not intended that the system of protection should be permanent, but that it should be used for the fostering of industries until they were able to support themselves, and that there should then be a return to free or freer trade.

He thought that the time had now come when those manufactures which were likely to continue could support themselves. It had been contended in the initiation of the policy that prices would not be advanced or combines formed; and that if such combines were formed they would be promptly put down. The two propositions on which he had supported the National Policy were that prices would not be enhanced, and second that combines would not be formed, and if they were, the protection to those combines would be taken away.

He then proceeded to argue that these anticipations had not been realized, and he held that the time had come when protection should be taken away. There was not an industry now which was not in a combine or on the practically a monopoly. In any case there was some trust or other combination. He held that some advantages had resulted from the National Policy; but there had been industries established long before the National Policy came into existence. He challenged the correctness of the census statistics of industries, and attributed the great increase in the number of employes to the difference in the way of paying the enumerators in 1891. In 1881 there was but one cause and incentive to find persons employed in industrial pursuits, because in 1891 the enumerators were paid 15 cents each instead for all the employes found. He said we were not to attribute all the increases to the National Policy, because some were such as baking, blacksmithing, etc., would exist without the National Policy.

He had analyzed the returns of 1881 and 1891 with the result that in 1881 there were 112,000 employes engaged in industries which could be affected by the National Policy. For 1891 he had not the full returns, but he had taken from the tables what he thought and found that in 1891 there were 168,333 persons engaged in industrial pursuits depended on the National Policy. This was the home market provided for the farmer. He then entered into an analysis of the output of the protected industries, which he estimated at $265,000,000, and claimed that the people of Canada were paying about 20 per cent. of that amount in excess of what they ought to pay. He dealt with the questions of cottons, and entered into an elaborate calculation to show that, while the price of raw cotton had fallen very much and was lower to-day than was ever known, the price of the manufactured article had not decreased in anything like the same proportion. All the cotton companies since the promoting of the combine had entered their stock and paid handsome dividends of from 10 to 20 per cent. on the inflated capital.

Taking up bar iron he quoted prices in Liverpool, Montreal, Hamilton and Toronto to show that the rolling mills were making about sixty per cent more than they should. Next he took up wall paper, the duty on which, he said, varied from 85 per cent. to over 200 per cent. Continuing, he claimed that he had shown that the prices of goods manufactured in Canada were unduly increased and that the people were demanding a general reduction of duties.

In this connection he took the opportunity of laying on the table 117 petitions from Patrons of Industry, which, he claimed, fully represented the farmers of Manitoba and the Northwest. He contended that the people of this country demanded a tariff reform, and tariff reform they would have. (Applause.)

Discontent existed, and it was caused by the tariff. He quoted from the reports of The Globe's commissioners to show that an annexation feeling exists, and held that oppression always succeeded to cause disloyalty.

Mr. Maclean: Then why don't you give Ireland Home Rule? (Laughter.)

Mr. McCarthy: I am not discussing the Home Rule question. If anyone likes to bring up the Irish question I shall not hesitate to express my opinion. He continued that the tariff was exciting an annexation feeling, and said he did not want a trade policy which would drive even Tories to adopt annexation. He had no sympathy with the men who cried out for annexation as a relief. He thought there were constitutional means of redress, and they were by reducing the burdens of the people.

Turning to the position of the farmer he held that he was taxed on all his raw material as well as on all the manufactured goods he consumed. In Manitoba alone about $100,000 duty had been collected on agricultural implements last year. About one third of the agricultural implements in Manitoba were imported from the United States, and he estimated that on account of the 35 per cent. duty the farmer got from $300 to $400 less on $3000,000 a year in excess of the duty to the Canadian manufacturer.

He then took up the question of barbed wire, and quoted from a letter which stated that the four barbed wire manufactories in Canada had formed a combine. He next came to binder twine, and said that the exact reduction of duty only saved to the farmer 3½ per cent. He claimed that the farmer was neglected, but entered into a calculation to show that the total increase in home market was about $12,000,000, which annual sum he said with what it was taken into account that the output of the farmers of Ontario alone was about $200,000,000. He thought that all this benefit the farmer got from his protection was about $1.70 per head.

Turning to the policy which he proposed, he said that he wished it to be understood that he was opposed to any policy which discriminated against Great Britain. He thought it mean in us to take advantage of British free trade and to discriminate against British goods. He favored preferential trade with Great Britain, but questioned whether it was wise to wait until Great Britain adopted some policy of fair trade. A great change had, however, taken place lately. The people to the south of us had declared for free trade.

Mr. McIntyre: No, no.

Mr. McCarthy continued that Mr. Cleveland had declared himself in favor of free trade, which was shown by the Democratic platform in Mr. Cleveland's inaugural address.

Mr. Tisdale: Not a word about free trade in it.

Mr. McCarthy explained that he meant that the Democratic party was in favor of a revenue tariff and was opposed to protection. He went on to advocate an immediate reduction of the tariff. It would be time enough by and by to try to make preferential terms with Great Britain. He admitted that protection was gaining ground in Great Britain. The farmers of England were worse off to-day than the farmers in any other part of the world. (Great applause.)

He did not consider it a 6 o'clock.

After recess, Mr. McCarthy continuing said that the prospects of preferential trade with Great Britain were so remote that it would not be wise for us to postpone action on that account. The adoption of his resolution would not preclude preferential trade arrangements being made with Great Britain later. Of the food products imported into Great Britain, 90 per cent. came from foreign countries and 10 per cent. from the colonies. If a tax was put on food products in Great Britain it would mean a tax of about $14,500,000, and it was doubtful whether any British Government would take such action, at least in the near future.

He claimed there was no necessity for delay in making the tariff changes from speeches of Hon. Mr. Ouimet, Sir John Thompson and others to show that only a short time ago several of the ministers were of the opinion that action on the tariff should be taken at the present session.

What he advocated was as an immediate reduction of the tariff on a revenue basis. He proposed to reduce the tariff immediately towards Great Britain. He did not propose to reduce it toward the United States, but hoped that some arrangement will be come to before long for freer trade between Canada and the United States.

With respect to the loss of revenue, he thought that the increase in imports would compensate by the time for the loss by the reduction of rates. He concluded by quoting from some of his own speeches to show that he was not entitled to be a protectionist. He had always thought that the National Policy would only exist for a limited period.

In seconding the motion, seconded by Mr. Hodgins, the amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply rejected above. Mr. McCarthy concluded at 9.15, and was greeted with great applause when he resumed his seat.

Dr. Montague, who arose amid cheers, said that it was a very difficult task to follow one who had such a parliamentary experience as had Mr. McCarthy. It was also a regret that he so pardoned, as well as those who were probably associated with him, that they could not join in the cheers which were given the hon. gentleman who had so very long acted with them, but who seemed now to be out of the Conservative party, but having done so he did not suppose that the member for Simcoe took away all the wisdom from the caucus room. To-night the member for Simcoe gave to the House a shot-gun prescription. The member for South Oxford had the ways the credit of placing many rare specimens of resolutions on the journals of the House, but the laurels were now taken away from him, and the one Mr. McCarthy had moved would go down in time as the intelligence of all future nations. (Cheers and laughter.) He then proceeded to show the course that Mr. McCarthy had pursued in connection with the Imperial Federation League, of which he was a leader, which was wholly inconsistent with his actions of to-day.

After referring to different resolutions which were passed by the League, he quoted from a speech of Mr. McCarthy in Ottawa when he said that there should be a policy of give and take.

Mr. McCarthy: Hear, hear!

Dr. Montague: Yes, but you want to give all and take none. Continuing, he went on to say that Mr. McCarthy was either not consistent then or he must be inconsistent to-day. Proceeding, he argued that Britain knew that we had a strong neighbor to the south of us, and that to maintain her strength on the American continent it was to her interests, where her money was also invested, to see that she protected us. Britain knew that Canada required a revenue. She knew that we had a grand and great work in the Canadian Pacific Railway, which she was also interested in. It was Britain's interest, therefore, to see that she contributed to the success of Canada and not cast too heavy burdens upon us. What would the miserable three or four per cent. amount to which Mr. McCarthy referred to in Toronto? (Hear, hear.) Britain's trade went through Canada. Did he believe that sentiment controlled Britain? If he did he was counting a long way without his host.

Britain opened her markets to the world, and in a few years it was said that the markets of the world would be open to her. But many years have passed, and still the bars against her have not been taken down, but were getting higher. (Hear, hear.)

He (McCarthy) admitted that a few years it was not impossible that Britain might adopt protection. The reason why Britain purchased our products was because they were better than anyone else could get. (Hear, hear.) If we could get better, wheat, flour, etc., to Britain it was because they were the best she could get. There was a time when Canada appealed to Britain to take down her barriers and that appeal was not heard in vain. (Cheers.) She did not disregard the voice of the colony. (Hear, hear.) Then in 1891 the then member for South Oxford moved a resolution that we should take down our barriers against the United States in the expectation that they would follow suit and take down theirs against us. The member for Simcoe was putting a similar resolution, only that he was inserting the word Britain instead of the United States. (Cheers.) For our trade with Britain was to remain great we would require to have busy industries.

Then, when Canada went to seek for better trade with the United States, as she might do, Mr. McCarthy ought to see that his resolution would be at once a barrier against us obtaining it. The member for Simcoe turned out to be a particular friend of the farmer. He congratulated him on having obtained a promise from us that he was only dressing himself in the wornout garments of his friends opposite, in which they had cut a very sorry figure since 1878.

Mr. McCarthy's practical knowledge to benefit the farmers was full of a practical kind. Just see what was imported into Britain in the way of what the farmer required. He then showed that it was all luxuries, or nearly so, that was imported. There might be some iron and a line of clothes which were imported and used on the farm. That was the chief difference between the Opposition and the member for Simcoe was that while he condemned the National Policy right at the inception, they held that it was wrong all the time. (Hear, hear.) Now Mr. McCarthy came forward with a new policy for the Government. If Mr. McCarthy would look to Europe and the United States he would find that the majority of all great nations showed that they must build up their industries through a 13, 14 or 15 years protection, but through many years, yes centuries of protection. (Cheers.)

Those who voted against that resolution would not be voting in a feeling against British or in favor of combines, but they would be voting confidence in the Administration. (Cheers.) He asked Mr. McCarthy to rise in his seat and say where the farmers were better off than they were in Canada to-day.

The position of the Government to-day, he said, was most favorable when they stated they would enquire into the whole matter and that they would change the tariff as the circumstances of the country required. He (Mr. McCarthy) objected to it because he says there was no reason for delay. The hon. gentleman's movement upon the question of mutual trade and preferential trade ought to warn him to make haste slowly upon these matters. (Hear, hear.)

A SOLDIER OF THE QUEEN,

Death of the Last Survivor in Canada of the "Noble Six Hundred."

At Toronto last night Private Edward Beckett late 17th Lancers, who is believed to have been the last representative in Canada of the "noble six hundred," died. The gallant old soldier had seen much hard service. His Crimea medal bore four clasps, "Alma," "Inkerman," "Sebastopol" and "Balaclava." He was also present at some of the fiercest engagements of the Indian mutiny. He was a native of Birmingham and immigrated some seven years ago, to Toronto. He was nearly 70 years of age at the time of his death. The last time the old soldier was seen in public was at the annual banquet of the Army and Navy Veterans held at the Walker house three years ago, on which occasion he gave thrilling and graphic descriptions of the immortal charge.

The deceased was a brother of Mrs. G.S. Tickell of this city, and was known to a number of citizens, having visited the city frequently.

M'CARTHY'S POLICY.

Ginns named after him (Mr. McCarthy) are being established in various parts of Canada. They have laid down an definite idea upon the tariff as their policy. It was wise that they have not done so, for if in future was to be a policy for all that they might wake up some morning to find the whole platform upon which they have had built floated out from under them and they without a policy or anything to maintain and sustain them.

What was the reason for this great haste, Mr. McCarthy said, for the suffering masses of Canada? Oh, the burdens that are bearing upon the farmers of this country! He told about the horrible burdens upon the Canadian farmer and he wound up by showing that the only farmers that could compare with the farmers of Canada were a thousand times worse off than the farmers of this Dominion.

Mr. Cameron: He cannot find them in America.

Dr. Montague: He will not name them in America, he will not name them in Europe. The honorable gentleman may perhaps say that silence did not always give consent. He favored the N. P. at its inception, but he did not think it has done just as it ought to have done. He (McCarthy) guarded himself somewhat cleverly by quoting from his speeches in order that those who followed him might not quote them. But he did not quote all his speeches, and for fear that he might have forgotten them, and they are good speeches, he would read these speeches of his hon. gentleman for the information of the House. He would see that he said in 1883 "The policy has been beneficial on the whole."

He said that after the N.P. had been in force nine years, mind you. And again: "The condition of our people will compare favorably with that of any other people who are known to us, or of any other people that we are brought into contact with; and I am sure it will be found that the policy we adopted here and which the country has twice ratified by a very large vote has on the whole been exceedingly beneficial." [Cheers.]

Place it alongside of a statement that the N.P. is actually causing disloyalty! Once more he said: "I need not say that the N.P. is necessary for this country and that it has brought comfort to many a distressed home." [Cheers.]

Mr. McCarthy: Where was that reported?

Dr. Montague: In the Standard, the last copy of The Standard. The speech was made in February, 1887, and the hon. gentleman will find on the last page of The Standard that is bound in the library. [Cheers.]

His conversion was as sudden as the conversion of Saul of Tarsus on the road to Damascus, but instead of going as Saul did keep on the guard of peace and commerce, he went abroad to preach the gospel of gloom and despair. [Cheers.] Where were the changed conditions? Let him point them out. We have more industries, we have more people employed. That he will admit. We have more capital. Our credit was better in markets of the world. There was money in the savings banks, a fact which in that same speech at Bowmanville he declared was a test of the people's prosperity. There was more money in banks. There were more bank notes in circulation. The prices were lower than they were in 1887, and yet he says the burdens are falling on the people.

He (Montague) then went on to show how he accused Mr. Blake of making an acrobatic feat at Bowmanville when he accused the latter of supporting the N.P. and said that Mr. Blake had gone back on all his principles. But Mr. McCarthy had done the same thing to-day. [Cheers.] He (McCarthy) supported it in 1885, he supported it in 1886, he supported it in 1887, he supported it in 1888, and by his statement made at Stayner he said that he was always consulted by the chieftain of the Conservative party. He did not wish to undervalue the services which he performed to that chieftain, therefore if he was consulted by hon. gentlemen he was as responsible as anybody else, perhaps more than his chieftain's fellow followers, for the policy which he placed before this country. [Cheers.]

In 1891 he accepted a Conservative nomination, and in his speech at Stayner he declared that he agreed in the main with the Liberal-Conservative party, and that the points, those points of which he disagreed with the party, were so small that he did not see fit at his nomination to address a single word with regard to them.

And then there came that trying time in the history of the Conservative party and the history of this country when the old chieftain, who through many years, in storm and sunshine, had led the Conservative forces to victory at Ernesville, on the banks of the Ottawa, [Hear, hear,] fighting that hopeless contest with a relentless foe from the result of which there was no appeal. When the end came the Conservative members of both Houses met with sad and gloomy hearts to express their sorrow for the demise of the greatest Canadian that has ever occupied a place in public affairs, and the member for North Simcoe, who was the mouthpiece of the Conservatives of the two Houses on that occasion, penned an address to the widow of that deceased statesman.

The charges preferred against the N.P. were the same old charges which had been heard in that House many times over. He made statements that would put Sir Richard to blush for their enmity without one word of proof. [Hear, hear.] The only proof produced was The Globe. Well, he was hard up for proof. [Laughter.] In The Globe Mr. McCarthy also found that there was disloyalty lurking in some quarters of Canada, disloyalty because of the N.P. That could not be disloyalty with Britain, because Britain had nothing to do with the N.P.

If it was political union with the United States these people desired it was not a tariff of 30 per cent. that they were fleeing from to go to a country where the tariff was 30 per cent. Sir Richard Cartwright had accused the manufacturers of Canada of stealing $30,000,000 from the Dominion Treasury, but to use the language of the member for North Norfolk, the member for Simcoe swept him one better and said they amounted to $90,000,000. [Hear, hear.]

The statement was too ridiculous to need contradiction. The statement also that the foundries were making 60 per cent. profits was simply nonsense. He showed that the arguments of Mr. McCarthy in regard to cereals and agricultural implements were equally erroneous. As for the latter, they were as cheap as in the United States. In the North west to-day the price of binders was only about five per cent. difference either one way or the other between Canada and the United States. He gave statistics to show that under the N.P. the cotton industries in Canada increased so as to give employment to an increase of 7000 hands. Before Mr. McCarthy could talk of combines he would have to show that they had increased prices.

In conclusion he reviewed the last portion of Mr. McCarthy's amendment respecting special trade relations with the United States, and showed that Canada had always been willing to have fair trade with the United States or any other country. In a very brilliant peroration he drew a bright picture of the development of the country and a most hopeful forecast for her future. At a quarter to eleven he took his seat amid loud and prolonged applause.

The House adjourned at 12.10 a.m.

Mr. Large has received to-day the official notification of the manner of the admission of exhibitors at the Columbian Exposition. Each exhibitor will find entitled to one pass for himself and such employes and attendants as will be actually required to instal and take care of it during the exhibition. The necessary certificates to obtain reduced fares to Chicago and return for exhibitors and their employes are now ready and can be had on application to Mr. Larke. It is daily becoming more evident the necessity for pushing forward the exhibit from Canada. A letter advises that 20,000 cars are now under way for Chicago, and there is reason to expect that there will be a blockade in the exhibition grounds and the Chicago yards.

The Committee on Agriculture met this morning, Dr. Sproule in the chair. Prof. Saunders made a long and interesting statement of work in the Central Experimental Farm, especially as related to the hybridization of plants, in the course of which he said that more experiments had been made last year in this district at the central farm than any other place in the world. He exhibited three cases of grains in which were exhibited the parent heads, male and female, and the crosses which had been obtained by mixing the seed and pollen. This was especially interesting in the case of crosses of two-rowed and six-rowed barley, which had resulted in a variety of from two-rowed to five six-rowed.

Mr. Gobeil, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was also examined and gave some information with respect to what is being done by the department in quarantine matters. The work at all the quarantine stations, he said, was well advanced. Grosse Isle would be entirely completed and in working order by the first of June. The Indian frontier against the possibility of Russian encroachment.

The British recently occupied Chilas, beyond Chitral, with a garrison and fortified the place with the intention of holding it permanently. The mountain tribes took offence and made an attack on the fort, which was bravely defended by the British. The conflict was desperate and sanguinary and the natives were at length driven off with a loss of 200 men. The British then took the aggressive and marched against the entrenched villages of the hostile tribes.

Owing to the mountainous character of the country the expedition was extremely hazardous, but the British troops acquitted themselves gallantly, carrying all after village, under the command of Major Daniell, who was himself shot through the chest while leading his men in an assault on one of the villages. Every point occupied by the hostile natives was carried, the British losing 23 killed and 37 wounded in the fighting.

The tribesmen, finding themselves unable to resist any longer, submitted to British authority. The result of the struggle greatly strengthens the British position at what was considered its weakest point in the vicinity of the Hindu Koosh.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March. 14.—The danger from a flood in the Mississippi, Minnesota, Stratt and St. Croix Rivers is past for the present, as the storm of last night is followed to-night by a cold wave. KANSAS CITY, March 14.—A mine explosion occurred at McAllister yesterday, by which eight men are dead by a count now known. A HINT IN FORESTRY.

Tree Growing a Profitable Industry Under Certain Circumstances.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington has a Forestry Branch, and in many of the Northern States Commissioners are appointed to look after the forests of the States and encourage their preservation because of their great value to the whole property interests of the country. In the Western States in which are, or were, extensive treeless tracts, the planting of large areas to forest trees, valuable either for timber or protection from the very prevalent bleak winds of those regions, has been encouraged and stimulated by suitable legislation. The Eastern States, more heavily timbered, are agitating the matter more and more earnestly as the evil effects of depletion of large areas become apparent, and strenuous efforts are being made in New York and New Hampshire especially, to have the State buy the timbered lands around the head waters of the larger rivers in order to conserve the agricultural and commercial welfare of the country watered by the outflowing streams. The matter comes up every winter in our own State Legislature, and it is not necessary to give the very strong arguments which are used in its behalf.

The particular point to which attention is called at this time is the profit of planting timber trees on the rough, hilly, rocky pasture lands in Western New York, especially in the southern tier of counties. Even in so heavily timbered a State as Maine, the farmers are beginning to see the importance, from a pecuniary point of view, of planting timber trees. It has been successfully tested in Southern New Hampshire, and the Lewiston, Me., Journal says there is no reason why the young forest growth should not have as much protection as game, and that on the thin, rocky soils white pine can be grown with little care and great profit.

A sapling pine growth is a constant source of income after the trees are 10 or 12 years old. Those left 25 to 30 years are large enough to be sawed into box boards, or staves, bolts, If the trees were planted on fairly good soil the distance between the rings of branches will be long enough for barrel staves. If the ground is poor the trees grow more slowly, and the distance between the whorls is less, but great enough to supply staves for mackerel kits, tubs, etc. The timber is worth more if barrel staves can be cut, but in either case a tree 25 or 30 years old will yield many dollars' worth of clear timber.

Speculators are beginning to buy large tracts of rough land in the New England States because they can get them at low prices. If a few old, scrubby pines are growing thereon, they are willing to pay more, because these trees and the land spontaneously if stock is kept out a few years. Young pines two or three years old, however, can be obtained for $10 or $12 per thousand, and if thickly set, say 250 trees per acre, systematic cutting can begin in 10 years, and a continual crop is sure for 20 or 30 years, worth from $40 to $60 per acre every year. As no cultivation can be given after the trees are five or six years old, it will be seen that as a permanent investment there can be nothing better on land that is not otherwise valuable for more than $10 to $25 per acre. On high-priced lands near the cities and village crops yielding immediate returns are of course the more profitable, but there is a good deal of cheap, rough land in Western New England on which the planting of pine, walnut, catalpa, hickory, maple and other hardy timber trees would prove a better investment than the buying of more land, lending money to a neighbor on a farm mortgage, or buying wheat or corn options in Chicago.—Cor.

We do not deny that many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nervuline; would it not be unreasonable for them to condemn that far-famed remedy? Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nervuline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most agreeable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

We do not Steal.

Two men were passing up street yesterday. They stopped suddenly in front of the Oak Hall. "Look at that," one said, the other said: "They must steal them." These remarks were made about the knock-about hats we are selling for 25 cents. A large window full of them attracted the man's attention, and the price astonished them. No, we do not steal them, but we buy cheap and are satisfied with a small profit.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

H. W. YOUNG TELLS THE COURT THAT HE FIRED THE SAYLOR BLOCK.

Says he was to get $20 from Geo. A. Booth to do the Job—Booth on Trial—Damaging Evidence Foimed Against the Accused.

When the court resumed yesterday at 2 p. m., W. Kerr, Q.C., crown prosecutor, moved that the sentence of the court be passed on H. W. Young, in the three several felonies—arson, larceny, and shop breaking—to which he had pleaded guilty.

Sentenced to Seven Years.

His Lordship said that it was one of the saddest things in life to see a youth of his age (17), on the threshold of life, standing in his position. He had heard from good authority that his father occupied an honorable position in the community in which he resided. It must indeed be sad for that father to see his son standing in a felon's dock on such serious charges. It was easily seen that influences not for the prisoner's good had been exerted. Society, however, was bound to protect itself, and the strong arm of the law would reach out in defence of that society. His Lordship said he could send the accused to penitentiary for fifteen years, but that he would not impose so harsh a sentence on one so young. He intended, however, to mark the offence by such a sentence as would forever be a warning and a lesson to all young men who thought they could get a livelihood at the expense of society. The accused was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary at Kingston.

The prisoner, a beardless youth with dis hayvaled hair and reckless mein, seemed to take his sentence indifferently. There might have been the slightest tremor gather about the tightly set jaws as the prisoner was led away to his cell by the gaoler, but it was not noticeable to the reporter who sat within a few feet of the accused, closely scanning a face which already bore the appearance of a hardened criminal.

Booth on Trial.

Geo. Booth was then put on trial for arson.

The following jurymen were sworn in:—Andrew Reid, Paul Sharp, Rawdon; O. P. Hunter, Joshua Lang, Henry Hanley, John N. Lazer, Thos. Luscombe, Henry D. Hampton, Belleville; Alexander Gemmell, Hungerford; Duncan Fraser, Madoc; R. McTaggart, Tyendinaga.

The prisoner Booth sat in the box immediately behind his counsel, Mr. E. Guss Porter and R. C. Clute, Q.C. His confinement in gaol seems to have told on him. His face bore a deeper pallor and was much thinner than when he was arrested. His unfortunate young wife—a sweet little thing to whom every heart, in the court room went out—sat to the left of Mr. Clute. Her eyes were reddened and downcast and were only lifted when she felt the nervous twitch of her husband's hand on her coat as he spoke a word to her.

Wesley Saylor was the first witness called. He said he was a grocer, doing business in Trenton, on the corner of Elgin and Balsam streets. Mrs. Rawe, with her daughter, Mrs. Elion Westfall, occupied part of the second story. On the morning of Nov. 30th last the premises in question were partially destroyed by fire. The fire took place about three o'clock. Prisoner Booth formerly ran a rival grocery near witness. Witness and accused had business dealings with each other which had always been satisfactory, but he could not say that they had always been friendly. About five or six months before fire witness' premises were burglarized and a quantity of cigars stolen. Booth about a year ago sold out his business, which was bought by a man named Young, with whom Booth engaged as a clerk. A few weeks after the cigars were stolen witness happened to go into Mr. Young's store and saw several boxes of cigars similar to those stolen from his store. He asked Mr. Young where he got the goods and the latter said he bought them from Walter Strong, a traveller for Wm. Patterson. "I thought it was strange," continued the witness, "that Mr. Young should have the 'Sweet Lillian' cigar, since they are not a brand generally made for the trade." Under cross examination before Mr. Porter witness said he knew nothing bad about the prisoner.

Caleb B. Saylor sworn, said: Resides in Trenton; am father of previous witness; remembered day of fire; was in premises on day before fire; was assisting my son in his business; thought fires in the stores were out when I left at 6 p.m.; fire could be put in a small tin can; fire took place 3 a.m. on 30th Nov.; when I heard fire alarm I ran to my son's store; rear part of store was then ablaze; from the nature of the fire I thought coal oil had been liberally thrown about the premises; the place was entirely gutted; remember having seen a large quantity of tobacco in the east part of the store before I left on the night before the fire, but did not see it the next day.

Cross examined before R. C. Clute, Q.C.—When I reached store, all of the doors seemed to be secure; was present when the doors were opened; noticed at once that the tobacco in question was missing; was not on bad terms with prisoner Booth; it was said that a quantity of the tobacco was afterwards found in an ice house.

Herbert Kemp, sworn said: Remembered the night of the fire; was in the employ of Mr. Wesley Saylor as clerk at the time and had been for a year past; was employed in the retail department; left the store at 9 o'clock on the night previous to the fire; went to all the doors except the front door and saw that they were fastened on the inside; there was not much fire in the stoves when I left; was aware that the premises had been burned until 7 o'clock the next morning, when I went to Mr. Saylor's house for the keys; remember seeing the tobacco before he went away the night before; did not see anything the next morning.

Cross-examined before Mr. Porter—Knew that Mr. Saylor and Mr. Booth had been doing some business with each other; had business relations only a couple of weeks before the last fire.

J. R. Bridgland testified: Live in Trenton; remembered and was present at Saylor fire; when I reached premises the fire was in full progress; had never noticed how store was heated; did not see any tobacco before fire; went up stairs first; smoke was very dense; saw Mrs. Rawe, she said to me: "Get El." There was no one else in the room, and I told the old lady she had better leave the building; I went towards the back hall way, when I fell to the floor almost suffocated with smoke; I heard moaning, and crawled on my hands and knees to Mrs. Rawe's room; she refused to leave the building without her daughter; I was forced to leave the premises on account of the smoke.

Cross-examined before Mr. Clute.—Did not succeed in inducing Mrs. Rawe to leave the building; Mrs. Westfall was taken out by Mr. Booth at the risk of his life; believed Booth was at one time a fireman; do not know anything bad about Booth.

Daniel Duff, under oath, submitted the following evidence:—Had been a fireman in Trenton for several years; remember Saylor's fire; during the fire I went into the building by the front entrance; there was not much fire when I got there; did not see any coal oil.

Cross examined before Mr. Porter:—I found Mrs. Rawe; there was no fire in that part of the building; Mrs. Rawe's clothes were burned off from the explosion of the lamp which she had been carrying.

Henry Watson William Young, sworn, said:—Am 17 years of age; live in Trenton; know prisoner at the bar; became acquainted with him about three years ago; was frequently in his company; remember the first Saylor fire because I myself fired the building; Booth was to pay me $20 to do the job; he told me that if it was not for Saylor he (Booth) could do a bigger business in dried apples; conversation took place in Mr. Booth's shop during the daytime; Booth told me how to do it; I at first refused, but finally consented; he told me to soak a lot of rags in coal oil, leave them against Saylor's back door, touch a match to it and run home and go to bed; when my father could swear that I was at home when the fire broke out, which would not likely occur for some time after; Booth told me where I could find the coal oil; I put an eight quart pail of coal oil on the rags and touched the lot with a match; rags were placed on the ground close to the rear door; this was about midnight; I went to bed; went down street next morning at 8 o'clock; saw prisoner that day in his shop; Booth said would try a better scheme next time, since the blaze the night before had only scorched the door; I was not to do it for two weeks; Booth about a dozen times and talked it over; he wanted me to do it a week before I did; I was afraid to do it; he said I could get into the Saylor building by prying up a window in Mr. Mayer's store, which was adjacent; I could not get window up and Booth told me to break glass which I did; got into Saylor's store and took tobacco out; Booth told me to throw coal oil all over the place but it did not need it; there was coal oil on the floor; I put tobacco in Geo. Burch's ice house; dug a hole in saw dust day before; after setting fire to the premises I ran home in order that my father would not know that I had been out of the house; father lives about half mile distant from Saylor block; when I heard fire bell, got up and went to fire; I saw Al. Holbrook and he said "For God's sake don't follow me; they might suspect me." I had told him that I was going to fire the building. Soon after I met Booth and he said "For God's sake don't acknowledge that to any person." I said that I would not; he wanted me to bury the tobacco in his ice house, but I could not as it had been converted into a stable; Booth said tobacco would be all right where it was, until the middle of Feb.; I was to go to the woods and return about that time to remove the tobacco; I asked Booth if he had lots of money and he gave me five dollars; I went to Marmora that day and worked twenty-one days in the woods; I thought they would find the tobacco and I got uneasy and decided to return to Trenton; as I was driving to Marmora from the shanty I met Terrance Tierney; he had on Booth's overcoat; he asked me to get in the rig with him, which I did and we drove to Marmora where we found Booth; we had a drink together at a hotel, after which we went up to Pringle's hotel; Booth called us into a room and said: "Pete, they are hot on us in Trent; you had better go to Detroit." He asked me how much money was coming to me; I said I did not know, but I could get my money from my present employer; we drove to the diamond, where the C.P.R. crosses the C.O.R.; Booth gave me $10; do not know whether Tierney got any money or not; Booth took the train to Tweed; Tierney gave Booth a song and dance for more money, but Booth said he had no more with him; as we got on the train, Tierney said "look after mother"; Booth said, "she will not starve." We went to Toronto and remained there the next day; we stayed up late during the night, playing poker, and consequently missed our train. Instead of going to Detroit we went to Oscoda, Mich.; when we got to Oscoda we were broke, and wrote to Booth for more money; he did not send any money, but came in person to Booth said he had sent us $10 to Detroit; Booth said he was then out of gaol on $1,000 bail; he got us to sign affidavits that we had not run away on account of the fire; we returned home the same day; when we got to Trenton, Booth said we would probably be arrested, and instructed us to say that the reason he went to Marmora was in order to get our affidavits that he was innocent of any connection with the crime; when we were arrested, Booth wanted me to swear that Wesley Saylor was the man who fired the building, and that he offered me $50 to do the job; I did not agree to do so, but led him to believe I would; I made this statement in confession; while in gaol Booth wrote several letters to me, in which he wanted me to say that I was sorry I had run away from him at Marmora, and left him in such a bad fix; I wrote a copy and signed it, but would not send it away at all.

At 6:10 his Lordship adjourned the court until 9:30 to-day. The jury was instructed to remain in the court house during the night.

To-day's Evidence.

When court resumed this morning the examination of Young was continued. The prisoner read a letter, which was addressed to him while both were confined in gaol at Belleville, in which Booth wanted witness to lay the affair on Saylor; witness said about two dozen letters passed between Booth and himself while in gaol; we put them under a rag on the window sill; witness identified one of the caddies of tobacco exhibited.

Cross examined before Mr. Clute—Am a little deaf; have gone to school about a year; have not been to Sunday school for five years; drink, smoke, steal and lie a little; sell fire to Saylor block on both occasions; have stolen cigars from Saylor's grocery store before; smoked a few and put the rest in my father's cellar; do not remember having many boxes, save six or seven I believe; got into the store on that occasion the same as I did on Nov. last; Booth owned a block which at one time was occupied by father; know that my father left premises, but do not know whether at Booth's request or not; do not remember whether I said I would get even with Booth or not; did not think of any danger to the women upstairs; had not read the story of Jesse James, but had heard of him; heard that my father found the cigars which I had put in his cellar; did not tell Davy Harris that I was going to set fire to the Saylor block; told Holbrook that I had set the building on fire; Holbrook said he thought it was me.

Witness—Feathers. (Laughter)

Witness continuing: Did not take anything else but the tobacco; was at Harris' on the River Road the night before I set the second fire; there were three or four boys and three or four girls; left Harris' about 12:30; got through with job and got away planted between two and three o'clock, did not distribute any coal oil about the interior of the premises; went directly home afterwards; did not try to awaken those people living over the store; did not think of anyone being in the building; when the fire broke out I awoke the people in our house and went down to the burning building; never tried to put out a fire before going to the woods spoke to Terry Tierney about the fire; told him that Booth wanted him to do the job; at Marmora, Booth said I was charged with the fire; was warned by Holbrook not to fire the building; I wanted Tierney to assist me in the work; Booth did not want me to go to Toronto, but to Detroit; he gave us the address of a "free and easy;" when we got to Toronto; did not say to Tierney after I crossed the line that "they can all go to h—l;" after being in gaol only few days I told Tierney that I had had nothing to do with Booth except to ask him for a cigar after we were put in gaol; a man named Wannamaker, who keeps a grocery in connection With Booth's, said he would give $10 to see Saylor burned out; that if he saw Saylor's place on fire he would throw a pail of coal oil on it.

Henry F. Young was the next witness: An father of the previous witness; remember the Saylor fire; was told that my son had something to do with it; saw Booth in his store and told him Harry had been accused of the crime and that he (Booth) had agreed to give him $20 to do it; I did not believe the report at first, but Booth's conduct convinced me that it was true; Booth, however, denied it when I asked him why he sent the boys away; he said on account of the talk about town; I said that it was an impudent thing to send the boys away if they were innocent; I then went out; heard that Constable Coleman had gone north for my son; from information which I got from Booth, I believed the story was true; I was then advised by some to tell the truth; knew Booth's family; identified letters marked exhibits No. 1, 2 and 3 as being in Booth's handwriting.

Cross examined before Mr. Porter—Am a grocer, doing business in Trenton; started business with part of the stock formerly owned by Booth; was formerly a farmer; had a barn burned down once; slight balance on rent due Booth by me; he never asked for it and I never volunteered payment; had no further dealings after I left his store; my place of business is not far from Saylor's; remember telling Mr. Saylor that I bought certain cigars from Walter Strong.

Court adjourned for lunch at 1:15 p.m.

A telegram was received yesterday by Mrs. M. W. Maclean, from her husband, Rev. M. W. Maclean, who is at Riverside, California, with their son George, stating that the latter was failing. Upon receipt of this sad intelligence, Mrs. Maclean made preparation to proceed south; this morning she left the city. A number of the members of St. Andrew's Church were present at the station to wish her God speed. It will be remembered that some months ago the Rev. gentleman took his son to California for the winter, hoping that the warm climate might tend to improve his delicate condition. Such, however, seems not to have been the case. The sympathies of our citizens will be extended to the family.

To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

D. M. WATERS

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

She hid her face on his shoulder as she answered, He was speaking foolishly, think he wanted to—to kiss me . . . . I was very glad that you came in.'

'Was that the first time?' . . .

'Yes, the first. And I did not even see him again until that Saturday night, when he found me in the study—and——'

'And asked you to run away with him!'

'Yes. Indeed, I had not led him to think that I would do any such thing, father. I told him never to speak to me again. If it had not been for Ethel's sake, I think I should have called someone—but I did not like to make a disturbance.'

'No, dear, no. And you—yourself—you did not care for him!'

'Oh no, no, no!'

'It has been a terrible tangle—and the knot has been cut very rudely,' said Mr. Brooke, in a musing tone. 'Of one thing I am quite certain we were not fit to have the care of you, Lesley—you and I. You would never have been in this position, my poor child, if we had looked after you.'

'It isn't that which troubles me,' said Lesley, trying to steady her voice. 'It is —that you have to bear the brunt of it all. If it had not been for me you would never have been here. It has been my fault!'

'Not your fault, child,' said her father. 'The fault did not lie with you, but with that unfortunate young man, for whom I am truly sorry. Don't be unerbid, Lesley; look things straight in the face, and don't blame yourself unless you are perfectly sure that you deserve to be blamed.'

And there the conference ended, for Miss Brooke entered at that moment, and Lesley thought it advisable to leave the choice of a subject of conversation in her hands. Caspar had many visitors that day, and many letters of advice and condolence, for few men were blessed—or cursed with as many friends as he. Among the letters that reached him was a note without signature, which he read hastily, and as hastily consigned them to the fire. This note was written in uneven, crooked characters, as if the writer's hand had shaken as she wrote and ran as follows :—

'I ought not to write to you, but how can I keep silence! There is nothing that I am not capable of bearing for my friends. If you will but confide in me—I am ready to do, to bear, to suffer anything—to forgive anything. Let me see you; I can speak more freely. If you should be set at liberty in a day or two, I shall hear. You can then come to me; if not I will come to you. But you need have no fear for me; I shall take some means to prevent recognition.'

The envelope was plain and of common texture; but the note-paper was handmade, with a faint, fine odor as of some sweet-smelling eastern wood, and bore in one corner the letters 'E R,' interwined in deep blue thus. There is no doubt in Caspar Brooke's mind as to the person from whom it came

He received it about three o'clock in the afternoon. If he wished to decline the proposed interview, he knew that he must write at once. In his heart he knew also that it would be better for him and better for her that the interview be declined. What had he to do with Rosalind Ramsel? He was accused of murdering her brother; it was not seemly that she should seem him—even although the world were not to know of the visit. The world would know sooner or later—that was the worst of it; ultimately the world knows everything. But why should she wish to see him? Had she information to impart? If she had, it would be foolish, from merely conventional reasons, to refuse her admittance, supposing that she really wished to come. And in a day or two at most he would certainly be able to go, if necessary, to her.

But the fact was, he did not believe that she had any information to impart. She did not say so. Probably she only wished to express her faith in him, and to assure him of her friendship. Rosalind had been his friend through many a long year. She had always shown herself kind and sympathetic—in spite of one or two interludes of coldness and general oddity which Caspar had never felt able to understand. It would be pleasant enough to hear her say that she trusted him—he could not help feeling that. For, although he had passed as the master of very lightly when taking to Lesley, he was secretly hurt at the absence of his wife. He could have almost worked himself into a rage at the thought that Olly, too, think me guilty! he asked himself. 'She ought to know me better, although she does not love! She ought to know. And she does know, but she is too cold, and too proud to say so. For, warm hearted Lesley has tried to win her sympathy for me and has failed. Well, I never expected otherwise; she never gave me what I wanted—sympathy, understanding, or love! And how can she blame me'—the thought stole unawares into his mind—'if turn for sympathy to one who offers it!'

Yes, Rosalind would sympathize, and there would be no harm in listening to her gentle words. He had the pen in his hand and paper and ink before him; a word would be enough, if he wished to see her visit. But he would not write it; if she liked to come, she might come—he would be glad to see her. Besides her letter wanted explanation; for what had she to forgive!

He pushed the writing materials away from him, and went to the fireplace, where a small fire was burning very dimly. The day was cloudy, and the afternoon was drawing in. He crushed the coal with the heel of his boot in order to make a flame leap up; then leaned his elbow on the narrow mantlepiece and gazed down into the glowing embers.

The door opened and closed behind him, but at first he did not look up. He thought that the attendant had come to light up by the gas or bring him some tea. But when he heard no further sound, he said coldly and stirred and looked up; and in the dim light he saw beside him the figure of a woman cloaked and veiled.

Was it Rosalind? No, it was not—for Rosalind Romaine. Not Lesley—though it had a look of her! And then the woman gave a tremendous leap (although no one would have suspected it, for his massive form and bearded face remained as motionless and calm as ever), for it dawned upon him that the visitor was no other than Lesley's mother, his wife, Alice Brooke, who had quitted him in anger twelve years before.

'I beg your pardon,' he said courteously. 'I did not see—I had no idea who it was. Will you not sit down?'

He handed her a chair, with a bow as formal as that of a complete stranger. Perhaps the formality was inevitable. Lady Alice put her hand on the back of the chair and felt that she was trembling.

'I hope I am not intruding,' she said, in a voice as formal as his own.

'Not at all. It was most kind of you to come. Pray sit down.'

She seated herself in silence, and then put up her veil. He remained standing, and for a moment or two husband and wife looked each other steadily in the face, with a sort of curiosity and with a sort of wonder too. The years had not dealt unkindly with either of them. Lady Alice had kept her slender grace of figure and her gentleness of expression, but the traces of anxiety and sorrow were so visible upon her delicate face that Caspar felt a sudden impulse of pity towards the woman who had suffered in her loneliness more than he had perhaps thought possible. As she sat and looked at him, a certain pathetic quality showed itself with more than usual vividness in her soft eyes and drooping mouth, he was conscious of a desire to take her in his arms and console her for all the past. But he caught back the impulse with an inward scorn laugh of scorn. She had no doubt come to run needles into him, as she used to do in those unlucky days of poverty and struggle. She had a knack of looking sweet while she was doing it, he remembered. It would not do to show any weakness now.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Hagyard & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectorial Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and, heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

A Bad Blood Cured.

Gentlemen,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying bottle in use. A short time ago I was very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.

Samuel Blain, Toronto Junction.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, boils, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint.—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines which were recommended without relief, but after taking a gut of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

How many more of us sorrow for what we have done than rejoice for what we have done.

Pretty Papers!

There is more in these two P's than you may suppose.

We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during the week. You'll remember the great improvement that was made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. There seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advance has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOUR trade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of these designs and colorings, and feel perfectly safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced up to date.

One pleasing feature is that those very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c, per roll as well as in 25, 30 and 50c. papers.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

DISCUSSING A TUNNEL AND MUNCHING APPLES.

Another Attack on Bribery at Elections—Nickel Coinage Adopted—Divorces Granted—Fresh Water Fishing—An Old Election Case.

OTTAWA, March 16.—Two annual customs were observed yesterday. One was discussing that great bore, the proposed Prince Edward Island tunnel, and the other was the distribution of apples amongst the members of the House and of the press by Mr. George Taylor, chief Government Whip.

Mr. Taylor established the custom a year or two ago of sending a barrel of winter apples into room 16 for the Conservative members and the Press room, but this year he improved on himself by sending in two barrels, with the result that the whole House was treated to apples. Every desk in the House was decorated with four or five apples, and much munching varied the business of the first half hour of the House.

In the five minutes before 6 o'clock, and which may be the last opportunity this session for private members to get their motions before the House, Mr. Maclean got the House to adopt a resolution in favor of a nickel coinage in place of the present five cent pieces and the copper cents. He contended that this metal was better for the purpose than copper; that it was clean, white and odorless, that several countries had adopted it, and that Canada, seeing that she had the largest supply of nickel, ought to use it and to try and induce England to use it and then the other great countries would follow suit.

A small amount would be required for Canada, but the amount of metal required for the subsidiary coinage of the world was enormous and Canada, if she had this wide market for her nickel, would experience a great impetus to her mining industry.

After recess the following bills were read a third time and passed:

To revive and amend the Act to incorporate the Moncton and Prince Edward Island Railway and Ferry.

To revive and amend the Act to incorporate the North Canadian Atlantic Railway and Steamship Co.

Respecting the Columbia and Kootenay Railway and Navigation Co.

The House then went into committee on Mr. Weldon's bill to disfranchise persons who have taken bribes at elections.

Mr. Jeannotte at once tried to repeat his trick motion that the committee rise, but this time it was voted down and the House passed the whole evening in committee on the bill, but did not make any great progress, only four clauses being carried. On the fifth clause Mr. Jeannotte moved an amendment, that the person offering a bribe should be disfranchised as well as the person accepting it, which was carried, and the committee rose and reported progress and the House adjourned at 1.40.

It is not likely that the bill will be reached again this session.

Owners of Yorkshire coach horses have supposed that their animals were the finest that had been omitted from the premium list of the Chicago Exposition, and have asked that a special class be made for them. A letter from Mr. Buchanan, chief of the agricultural department of the fair, to the Canadian commissioner, received to-day, states that this is impossible, but that the Yorkshire coach horses were found in most cases to have been registered in the Cleveland Bay stud books, and therefore they could be shown and would be eligible for the awards offered in the Cleveland Bay class.

Letters from Chicago say that Mr. Dimock is urging forward the preparations for the installation of the Canadian exhibits as rapidly as possible.

A very large deputation from Collingwood, Thessalon, Spanish River and other places on Georgian Bay, had an interview with Hon. John Costigan, acting Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to-day with reference to recent changes in the regulations for fresh water fishing. These regulations provide that next year the size of the mesh in the gill nets shall be increased from 4 3-4 inches to 5 inches, and the length of the net used shall be limited to 6000 feet for each boat.

At present the boats use nets running from 15,000 to 20,000 feet. A very large business is done on the Georgian Bay in freezing fresh fish, and a considerable amount of capital is invested. The deputation claimed that the business would be practically ruined by the new regulations. Mr. Costigan promised that the matter should receive consideration.

It is not often that a controverted election case outlives the Parliament for which the election was held, but such a case is being heard at the Supreme Court this morning. It is that of Lee against Waldie, the defendant being John Waldie, who represented Halton in the last Parliament. His election was protested, but he won his case, and after various vicissitudes the matter reached the Supreme Court. Meanwhile the Parliament was dissolved, and at the last general election Waldie was defeated, but still the Supreme Court has to give its decision as to whether Mr. Waldie was legally entitled to his seat. Mr. Aylesworth, Q.C., appeared for the appellant and Mr. E. A. Grant for the defendant. The reason for carrying on the case thus far is to settle the question of costs.

At a meeting of the Railway Committee of the House to-day a bill to incorporate the Automatic Telephone and Electric Company was passed. The head office of the company will be in Montreal, but it is the intention of the promoters to do business all over Canada, and in this way it may become a formidable opponent of the Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. Ferguson represented the new company before the committee, and Mr. Gemmell was present on behalf of the Bell Company. The latter proposed some amendments to the bill, which were to the effect that the company should be subject to the control of municipalities in which they proposed doing business and submit a list of rates to the Governor-General-in-Council before doing business.

These amendments were adopted. A clause was also inserted preventing the company from amalgamating with any other telephone company.

The Private Bills Committee of the Commons passed the Martha Ballantyne divorce bill this morning. Mr. Gibson, M.P., was in charge of the bill.

The divorce case of James Balfour, which was also referred to this committee, some objections being taken to the insufficiency of the evidence in the House, was also passed. It will be remembered Mr. Amyot said that the only ground on which the Senate had granted the divorce was on the admission of guilt on the part of Mrs. Balfour.

An act for the relief of Edmund Holyoke Howard was also passed.

At the Public Accounts Committee to-day Mr. McMullen moved for all vouchers and papers connected with expenses of Lieut.-Governor Royal, Northwest Territories.

TO COMMEMORATE WAR.

An Observation Tower to Be Built at Lundy's Lane.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 16.—The Lundy's Lane Observatory Company has been formed to build an observation tower on the famous battle ground and cemetery, located on Drummondville hill, just about a mile from the Falls. A site has been secured for $5000 by the company, on which the observatory will be constructed.

It will rest on the neighborhood of $8000. There will be a two story large frame building 50 feet square. A part of this will be used for the purpose of storing the relics of the Lundy's Lane Historical Society, and make a very interesting museum.

These relics have been gathered from the battlefield by recent excavations made in that vicinity. The tower and observatory will be constructed of steel, with roomy platforms to carry visitors to the commodious parapet above. It will probably be operated by electricity.

The tower will overlook quite a distance above the Brock monument. It will be equipped with a telescope and be provided with every facility for obtaining an unobstructed view of the magnificent scenery surrounding the historic battleground.

The company which will erect the structure consists of John A. Orchard, president; James Wilson, secretary-treasurer, and James A. Lowell, M.P., Rev. Canon Bull and H. C. Symmes as directors.

FOUND WITH DYNAMITE.

Two Brothers in Paris Arrested for Hatching a Plot.

BRUSSELS, March 16.—The French police have arrested two brothers named Schoupp on suspicion of hatching an Anarchist dynamite plot, in connection with the notorious French Anarchist Malatin, who was accused of being concerned in Ravachol's crimes and who is wanted by the French authorities for aiding and complicity in the deadly explosion at the Very restaurant.

Two infernal machines and a quantity of arms were found in the lodgings occupied by the Schoupp Bros., and the police believe Mathieu is in Brussels engaged in contriving some villainous plot, to be consummated possibly in Paris. The police are on Mathieu's track.

Gladstone's Ally.

LONDON, March 16.—The House correspondent of The Standard says that Mr. Gladstone has agreed to restore diplomatic relations with the Vatican on the condition that the Pope use his influence in favor of the Home Rule Bill. An intimation says the correspondent, will be sent to London to negotiate a final agreement with the Government. He will not be received at court.

An Assassin's Work.

MADRID, March 16.—A trusted man servant yesterday attempted to assassinate the Countess Goumaz, a member of the old grandee families of Spain. The man wounded both the Countess and her maid with a revolver, and thinking he had fatally injured them blew his brains out. The Countess and maid may recover.

The Grand Old Man Better.

LONDON, March 16.—After a long and careful examination of Mr Gladstone yesterday Sir Edward Clark allowed him to go downstairs to attend a small dinner party.

Mr. Gladstone will go to the seaside for a few days, at Sir Andrew Clark's orders, to recuperate.

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES
AFTER YEARS OF TERRIBLE SUFFERING.
AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

STATEMENT OF MR. WM. McNEE.

For eight years I was troubled with a sore on my left leg, which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines but with no benefit. In 1883 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and keep my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot on the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream and my leg swelled to twice its natural size.

ELEVEN RUNNING SORES

developed on it which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs. in four months). Friends advised me to go to the Hospital; but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B.B.B. after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I was then on the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the fourth bottle my leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose bone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as anyone, and all this I owe to B.B.B., which certainly saved my leg, if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, it will cure you as it did me.

Yours truly,
WM. McNEE, St. Ives P.O., Ont.
Mr. F. C. Sanderson, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district.

Cause For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recomended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before the bottle was used, I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold that rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequence must be bad. The most common one of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what comonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throats, etc., if attended to in time are easily sub ued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous disease. Nine cases of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered
—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN.—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and DYSPEPTIC CURE. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat food of any kind. I daily decreased from 210 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen K. D. & D. DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and expect to do so this year. Now that I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try the grand medicine. It certainly saved my life. I have expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating one bit when I say I am able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

A Dinner Pill—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Fennings Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

THE KEMPTVILLE CASE.
DEVELOPMENTS POINT MORE AND MORE TO MURDER.

Prof. Ellis Completes the Analysis of the Stomach of the Deceased—Another Mystery Connected with the Case—The Dead Man's Will.

TORONTO, March 16.—Prof. Ellis of this city has completed the analysis of the stomach of Alexander Kennedy, one of the victims of the recent poisoning case at Kemptville, Ont., and will forward his report in time for the inquest which will be resumed on Tuesday next.

Government Detective Greer has been confined to his house at present returning from the Woodstock and Collingwood, but will probably leave for Kemptville to-morrow.

The autopsy upon the body of the most complicated in the criminal history of Ontario. Since the inquest local authorities have been at work and many new developments have been discovered regarding the crime, for a crime it is now universally admitted to be around the district.

Alexander Kennedy, the male victim, was one of the best known figures in and for he would drive his cutter to Kemptville when that place was a mere roadside stopping place with no pretensions. By trade he was a blacksmith, and he and his brother John carried on a most successful business.

Mrs. John Kennedy was about 60 years of age and had a fine robust constitution.

It now transpires that the will of the deceased, which has been searched for with unflagging energy by several of his relatives and friends, cannot be found. The deceased, Sandy Kennedy, as he was familiarly called, made a will on Monday, Dec. 5, 1892.

A thorough search of the rooms and outhouses, as well as the extensive kitchens, has been made for any further clues or evidence, but without result. The whole affair is still clouded in mystery, causing an indissuadable feeling that continues to keep the people talking about the tragedy.

It may be said that suspicion at first rests on the girl Lizzie Poole, the adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, who made the porridge on the fatal morning, and it is affirmed that some green stuff was found sprinkled over the front of the dress she wore the morning of the death, but this lacks confirmation. Suspicion has also spread to other points, and a large amount of comment was expressed over the fact that no inquest was held on the body of Mrs. Kennedy, and that the previous evidence taken on Sandy's death appeared to have been considered sufficient to satisfy the law.

A Missing Tug.

CINCINNATI, March 16.—A special from Sandusky, O., says: The tug Heim, belonging to Cleveland parties, is reported missing on Lake Erie. She went out into the lake Tuesday with a crew of five men and has not yet returned. Search was made, but the boat could not be found.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY MAR. 16.

THE INDUSTRIAL CENSUS.

That part of the census relating to industrial establishments is being made the object of a general attack by the Liberal press and partisan orators. Before the census was begun there were preparatory outcries from the same quarters that it would be inaccurate and would swell the total population beyond the actual figures. It is being sought to create an impression that the industrial statistics are wrong, by confounding the words manufactories and industrial establishments. While in one sense the meanings are the same, popularly they differ. The census bulletins, however, plainly state what the statistics of "manufactures" include. An industrial establishment, they declare, is a place where one or more persons are employed "in manufacturing, altering, making up or "changing from one shape to another material for sale, use or consumption." A quarry is not counted under the census head; a lime burning establishment is. A blacksmith shop is; a butcher's shop is not. The census publications make the meaning of the words perfectly plain. No one need be deceived by them. Those who are raising the cry of "stuffed census" are not themselves deceived. They are only trying to deceive others. There is, moreover, in the census of population evidence of the general accuracy of the census of industrial establishments. The number of these in 1891 is given as 75,768, and in 1881 as 40,923. The increase is 25,848 or 51 per cent. The increase in the number of employes was from 254,935 to 367,865 or by 44 per cent. The population of Canada in 1881 was 4,324,810, and in 1891 it was 4,829,411. The increase was 11½ per cent. But while the total population showed only this moderate growth, there was a much larger increase in the towns and cities, where industrial establishments and factories are located. Cities and towns of over 5,000 inhabitants increased at the rate of 40 per cent., towns of over 3,000 inhabitants by 45 per cent., and villages over 1,500 inhabitants by over 20 per cent. In the ten years cities and towns of 5,000 population or over increased in number from 35 to 47; towns from 3,000 to 5,000 from 38 to 45; towns from 1,500 to 3,000 from 55 to 91. In the division of population residents of villages of less than 1,500 people are counted as rural, though among their inhabitants are many who make their living in industrial establishments. In most cases the growth of these had been in keeping with that of larger centres. It is not to be presumed that they differ from the thirty-six rural villages that in the decade rose above the 1,500 population limit and came under the urban classification. The people who gathered in all these rural or urban villages, towns and cities, and made up their increase in population, gathered to work. If there was not an increase in the field open to industrial operatives there would have been no increase in urban population, villages under 1,500 inhabitants being excluded, was 38 per cent. The increase in the number of employes in industrial establishments, in rural as well as urban districts, was 44 per cent. The growth of the minor villages, excluded from the population calculation of urban districts, but included of course in the court of industrial establishments, would easily account for the difference of 6 per cent. between the two increases, that of urban population and that of industrial employes, and even for the difference of 13 per cent. between the increase in urban population and the increase in the number of industrial establishments. The figures objected to by those who, for partizan purposes, attack the accuracy of the industrial census are in practical accord with those of the population census which the same people accept.—Gazette.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—We commend the following to our new Council. We are constantly asking the question, How is it that no factories are locating amongst us? The answer is easily given, Because they are getting better terms elsewhere.

In an article in Harper's Monthly for February, on New Orleans, page 385, the following occurs: "Louisiana exempts from license and taxation all establishments employing not less than five hands in the manufacture of textile fabrics, leather, shoes, harness, saddlery, hats, flour, machinery, fertilizers, chemicals, furniture, and all articles of wood, marble and stone, stationery, soaps, ink, paper, boats, and chocolate."

It is well known that the new south since the war has made rapid progress; the plan adopted, as stated above, has had much to do with it. The Americans know that sufficient inducements have to be made in order to entice manufacturers to locate in a place. It would not matter if other towns were not doing it. Look at Toronto. Let our city take a step in this direction, and I venture to say ere this year ends you will find parties ready to come. Commence with those who are exporting their goods now, establishments who bring in the cash from surrounding towns and villages and spending the money here. We notice the assessor is again going the rounds with his book endeavoring, if possible, to raise the assessment in order to meet the interest on our debt and the current expenses of our city, salaries, &c. There are no new factories of any importance locating here and empty houses are quite numerous, and scores of men out of work. Belleville, taking into consideration its position, should be a hive of industry. We trust that this council will make itself conspicuous and begin to legislate for the good of the place, bury all party feeling, look around for a beginning, and we say adopt the old proverb "Begin at home." Exempt those who are building up the place by bringing in money, the results of sales elsewhere, employing labor and spending it here. We know of factories here who have to compete in other places with those factories who not only have exemption from taxes but have bonus besides. Gentlemen of the Council of 1893, look around and adopt measures that will bring prosperity to our city, and you will earn the gratitude of those who wish well, and are anxious that methods be adopted to that end. Yours &c.,

CITIZEN.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Grand Lodge in Session at Montreal.

The 18th session of the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England, opened in Montreal on Tuesday afternoon. There were present over 100 delegates. During the afternoon, an address of welcome was given by Mayor Desjardins, of Montreal, which was replied to by G. President Stroud. From the Grand Secretary's report we gather the following information: Seventeen new lodges had been opened during the year; the number of members initiated in Canada last year was about 2,000. The numerical strength of the society is 12,800, including 160 honorary members. The total receipts for the year were $7,062.27, the total expenditure $6,229.34, leaving a cash balance of $832 92. During the year $19,636.72 was paid out in sick dues, $11,892 74 to lodge surgeons and $7,909.00 for funeral benefits. Notwithstanding that $68,551 50 had been handled by lodge secretaries during the year $200 would cover the deficits and defalcations.

There are 22 juvenile lodges, with a total membership in good standing of 677. The average age of the members is 11. These figures show how the boys avail themselves of lodge privileges. Among the paid for sick benefits, $194.52; paid to doctors, $444.30; cash received, $741; cash in bank, $887; cash in hands of treasurer, $484; total lodge funds, $1,265,85.

A Large Machine.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., March 16.—The Carnegie Steel Company has ordered a new press for its armor plate works at this place, an enormous piece of machinery that will cost over $1,000,000, from Wilworth & Co. of Manchester, England. It will be the largest piece of machinery of the kind in this country and perhaps in the world.

The press will have a capacity of 16,000 tons. The machine will arrive here by the first of next year. It is claimed that by the aid of this machinery the company will be able to make the greatest forgings in the world, and a plate of 200 tons can be worked in one piece.

Sailed For Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The steamer Australia sailed shortly before 3 yesterday afternoon for Honolulu. The Hawaiians will receive news of the withdrawal of the treaty of annexation by the Australia.

The revenue cutter, Richard Rush, is still lying in the stream awaiting orders. It is the general belief that she will carry the Government Investigation Commission to Honolulu.

Columbus In Wood.

HAMILTON, March 16.—Kasper Ostler, an employe of the Hamilton Screw Works, has completed an immense wood carving representing the landing of Christopher Columbus on American soil. Ostler has been employed on the work for seven hours a day for the past seven months. All the details of the carving are historically correct in every particular. Commissioner Lark has secured space for the work in the Canadian department at the World's Fair.

Horrible Fanaticism.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 16.—An anti-Baptist fanatic has been arrested in Latvig, Government of Saratoff, for having murdered a girl of 14 years. He had been preaching before a roomful of people in a private house concerning his power to raise the dead.

At the end of his sermon he strangled the girl with the consent of her parents in order that he might demonstrate his pretended ability to bring her back to life.

THE GERMAN ARMY BILL.

CAPRIVI HOLDS GALLANTLY OUT AGAINST OPPOSITION.

He Wants the Peace Effective Up to His Idea of a Standard. Refuses Concessions Offered by Those Who Have to Bear the Heavy Taxes.

BERLIN, March 16.—After a series of conferences with Chancellor Von Caprivi Herr von Bennigsen has offered for the National Liberal party to agree to an increase of the annual number of recruits by 48,000.

Although this concession is an increase of 8000 men above the former offer of the National Liberals, and was stated by Herr von Bennigsen as the ultimatum of his party, Chancellor Von Caprivi declined it.

The Chancellor still holds out for the full increase of 60,000 provided for in the Army Bill. His attitude toward Herr von Bennigsen's proposal is believed to seal the fate of the Army Bill in the committee.

It is generally believed that the measure will be defeated at the second reading in the committee to-morrow.

Discussion of the probability of dissolution of the Reichstag is becoming general. The Kreuz Zeitung to-day expresses the opinion that in view of the Government's determination to pass the bill without alterations an appeal to the country has become inevitable and urges the Conservatives to prepare their organization for a general election. Several Radical journals take a similar view of the situation. In some quarters the conviction exists that a Cabinet crisis is at hand. Everything points, however, to Chancellor Von Caprivi's retention of his post.

Don't Like Russia.

LEIPSIC, March 16.—Count Misbach, Baron Maltzenhan and other Agrarian Conservative leaders, declared at a public meeting they would support the Army bill only upon the condition that the Government abandon its purpose of concluding a commercial treaty with Russia.

BLAKE IN ENGLAND.

He is in General Request for Platform Speaking.

LONDON, March 18.—The Echo says: It is noteworthy that Mr. E. Blake, M.P. for Longford, the Canadian Ex-Minister, is more in request for platform work than any other member of Parliament on the Government side. He is in the west of England to-day, in the Midlands or the North the next day in a Metropolitan constituency the next again; and on every occasion Irish Home Rule fills up his hour's speech. If there be any single man who can make Home Rule what the British Philistine calls "respectable," that man is Mr. Blake, the Nationalist M.P.

Mr. Blake's appearance is eminently "respectable." And his discourse is sententious and solid, in the style loved of the average Briton. There is something substantial and reassuring about the air and demeanor of the Ex-Minister of Justice for the Canadian Dominion. Mr. Blake is called an orator. That depends upon what one means by orator. Bright and Gladstone are orators in the true sense—the sense in which we say that a poet is born, not made. In this sense Mr. Blake is not an orator. He does not, and cannot, move his hearers. He cannot inspire them, elevate them. He is fluent, correct, ratiocinative (like a lawyer), sententious, wise, but the very reverse of poetic.

DR. BARNARDO'S HOMES.

Inspector Moylan Is Hauled Over the Coals.

LONDON, March 16.—There was a crowded meeting in Exeter Hall yesterday on behalf of Dr. Barnardo's homes.

The report of Mr. Moylan, the Inspector of Canadian Penitentiaries, was again discussed. A statement was read from this gentleman denying that his report, which alleged that criminals were shipped from Great Britain to Canada, applied to or condemned child emigration. No details, however, were contained in the communication giving specific instances of the alleged action of poor guardians in Great Britain in shipping criminals to the Dominion.

Therefore a resolution was moved by Canon Gulderson, seconded by Rev. Mr. Myers, regretting that Mr. Moylan had refused to communicate the desired details, and protesting against the use of such language as was contained in his report on the Canadian penitentiaries.

A CHINESE HORROR.

Villagers Who Had Suffered By the Pirates Get a Chance for Revenge.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The steamer City of Rio de Janeiro arrived from Yokohama and Hong Kong. A Yokohama paper prints an account of the extermination of a band of pirates in a Chinese village last January. On the 15th of that month two piratical crafts, having run into one of the inlets in the vicinity of the city of Shehpu, called Fan-tu, for shelter, some of the pirates landed. Fan-tu had suffered repeatedly from depredations of the numerous sea pirates along the coast of Chekiang, and had lost some of their number at the hands of the desperadoes. Some of the pirates who landed were recognized by the inhabitants of the village. A consultation was held, and 300 well armed villagers surrounded the pirates in the early hours of the morning. They burst open the hatches and doors of the cabins and poured a stream of bullets upon the 50 or 60 pirates who were huddled together for warmth on the lower deck of the junks.

Thoroughly taken by surprise, hardly any resistance was made. All of the pirates but two were almost hacked into mincemeat by the exasperated villagers. The two pirates who were not treated in this way were saved to be made away with in a different manner.

It seemed that among the villagers who had been killed by the pirates was a son of the patriarch of the village. At daylight the two pirates saved by the community were led to the grave of the young man and after being secured to a couple of stakes put up for the purpose, two of the nearest relatives of the dead man plunged their knives into their breasts, and ripping open their bodies extracted their hearts, which were then put smoking hot on a plate and placed on the table, upon which were already lighted candles and an incense burnt.

The female relatives of the deceased, dressed in mourning colors of white, gathered by the side of the grave, crying and calling out to the spirit of the dead to receive the sacrifice that was being offered as vengeance.

The villagers ransacked the piratical junks and got gold, silver, cash and silks, satins and furs. The junks were towed into the stream and burned.

Are a nuisance and we think it behooves publishers to examine into the merits of many articles puffed up in their columns. We do not deny that many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable for them to condemn that far-famed remedy? Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nerviline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Fifteen years ago a young man named Muller, living at Sandwich, Ont., bade farewell to his wife to go to England to receive a fortune which had been bequeathed to him. He could not return as soon as he expected, and his correspondence with his wife ceased after two years. She went home to her parents in Montreal, and only a short time ago met her husband there. He explained that hearing she was dead he had married again. The second wife was dead, however, and he remarried the first one.

NOT GUILTY.

Geo. A. Booth Acquitted on the Charges of Murder, Arson, Burglary and Larceny.

THE JURY DELIBERATE THREE HOURS

A Strong Defence put in by his Counsel, E. Guss Porter, and an Eloquent Appeal to the Jury by R. C. Clute, Q. C., frees Booth—Great Demonstration by the Crowd when the Verdict was announced.

The case of Queen vs. Booth was continued before Justice McMahon at two p. m. yesterday. As the trial proceeded, it was evident the defence had been prepared with a great deal of care, and as each witness for the defence was sworn, the case for the crown was appreciably weakened. The counsel for the defence seemed prepared for every charge against their client, and made one of the ablest defences that has ever been made in a Belleville court.

The prisoner's wife, who sat close beside him during the long trial, and who has been most active in defence of her husband during h's confinement in gaol, bore up nobly through the trying ordeal.

Charles Dodds, sworn, said: Live at Marmora; was at Mellroy's hotel (Providential) when Mr. Tierney came in and told Booth that I had shown him the way to Marsh's camp; Booth called me out and asked me what I would take to show Mr. Tierney the camp; it was about ten o'clock at night; I could not go as I was working for McIlroy, so we then drove through Marmora on the following day; did not know where they met.

Daniel McIlroy, sworn, said: Am proprietor of the Providential hotel at Marmora; saw prisoner at my hotel about ten o'clock at night in company with a young man named Tierney; they went out shortly after and I did not see them again.

Frank Pringle, sworn, said: Am proprietor of the Pringle House in Marmora; saw prisoner in my house in company with Tierney and Young one night in January last; they had a rig; remained over night at my place; Booth told me he was going to the "diamond" and the other two were going on with the rig; Booth paid the bill.

Cross-examined before Mr. Clute: Booth did not register; did not find out his name until the next day.

John Bell, sworn, said—Am station agent at the "diamond"; saw prisoner there about fourth or fifth of January; sold him a ticket to Tweed, a distance of eighteen miles.

Anson Raymond, sworn, said.—Live in Trenton; was in Marmora about middle of first week in January; saw prisoner there about 11 o'clock in company with Tierney.

To Mr. Porter witness said he saw prisoner at Mr. Gladney's store. Do not remember whether he said he was going to Tweed or not, to buy dried apples; know nothing against Booth's character.

The crown rested their case here.

Mr. Clute asked to cross examine Mrs. Ella Westfall, who was called by the crown. Witness said she lived in Trenton; lived over Saylor block; do not remember how I was taken from the burning building; know Booth by sight; know nothing against his reputation.

Ella Hallisy, sworn, said: Live in Trenton; worked for Mr. Henry Young; remember finding some cigars in the cellar; told Mr. Young, and he said not to say anything about it; that he would try and get them back to the owner as easily and quietly as possible; saw the boxes afterwards on a shelf in Mr. Young's store; the boxes were behind boxes of blasting powder; I told him that his cigars did not show up very well; he said they would do, after closing the lid of one of the boxes which I had opened; I had taken the box from behind the baking powder, but Mr. Young pushed it back.

David Beatty, sworn, said: Live three miles south of Tweed; was in Tweed in the early part of January last (4th) and saw Booth, do not know what he was doing there.

W. R. McCue, sworn, said: Live in Trenton; know Booth and Young, jr.; during a lawsuit of McCue vs. Fitzpatrick recently, I had a conversation with Harry Young; he asked me how the lawsuit was "coming on"; I said that if he was in my place he would burn Fitzpatrick to the ground, and that he would help me do it.

John Marsh, sworn, said: Am turnkey of gaol; was present during conversation between prisoner Young and Mr. Porter; was standing about six feet away; Young and Mr. Porter sat side by side; Mr. Young wanted to see Mr. Porter for his counsel, that his counsel was not coming back; Mr. Porter only conversed privately about a minute; everything written was with the knowledge of the prisoner and was read over to him; there were questions asked and given; he requested certain changes in the affidavit which were made by Mr. Porter; prisoner was sworn before Mr. Morden; Mr. Porter asked if the paper was correct and the prisoner said it was; that he only wanted to tell the truth; have no other recollection of Mr. Porter seeing Young.

L. A. Appleby, sworn, said: Am gaoler; remember going into gaol with Mr. Porter, Mr. Young asked to see Mr. Porter for counsel and I informed him that Mr. Porter stood at the door and asked prisoner if he wanted to see him; Young said he had made a statement and that he wanted to contradict it; Mr. Porter said he had no time then, but would see him in a few days; while it would be difficult it would be possible for the prisoners to converse from their cells until their removal to different parts of the building.

W. S. Morden, sworn, said: Was called into gaol to take an affidavit for prisoner Young; I asked him if he understood it and he said he did; he seemed to be an intelligent fellow and after he expressed himself as being satisfied with it I administered the oath.

Joseph Thompson, sworn, said: Am a prisoner in the gaol; remember when Young and Booth were brought in; from their position in the gaol it was impossible for Young and Booth to converse without the other prisoners hearing them; Young told me that Booth had nothing to do with the fire; that he was sorry he had made a confession against Booth and that he was going to send for Mr. Porter to contradict it; Young wanted me to write him some letters which he wanted to lay on Booth; he offered me a ring to do it; Young told me that Saylor had offered him $25 to burn the building; he wrote a note and asked me to give it to Booth; in the note he apologized to Booth for laying the crime to him and that he was going to make a correct statement before Mr. Porter; I told Booth what Young had said.

Cross examined: I carried two or three notes between Young and Booth; I did not want to appear in evidence, but I told Young that if he swore against Booth I would confess what he had told me; Young said if I did he would get in the box and swear that I had said I would swear the cover off a bible to clear Booth; Young said to me: "I will fix you."

Terrance Tierney, sworn, said: Was arrested at the time of the arrest of Young and Booth; had a conversation with Young a few days before the fire; Young wanted me to assist him in stealing a cup full of silver; I refused; knew Booth; has a wife and two children; Booth wanted me to go to Marmora to get young to come back to Trenton to straighten up some lies Young was telling about him, which was injuring his business; we went to Marmora; I went to the shanty and got Young; Booth wanted young to go to Trenton; Booth gave me $10 and told me to watch Young as he thought he was going to skip; Young had a grip packed; he wanted me to go to Toronto on C.P.R. and go down to Trenton on the G.T.R.; I said no; the first thing I knew Young made a run for the depot; asked him where he was going; he said to Michigan; I said "If that's so, I'll go too;" We got on the train together and when near Michigan Young made a full confession to me, stating that he had burned the building; when we got to Oscoda I got Young to write Booth when I knew Booth would come as once; Young slept well that night; I remarked next morning that I did not see how he could sleep so soundly when he was the cause of the death of the old lady; I asked him why he did not wake the woman up by throwing a stone against their window; he said he was not going to run any chances for the sake of them; when Booth came to Oscoda Young said he would not return, and Booth said he would make him; Young wanted to get off on the way back, but Booth would not let him; Young always contended that Booth never had anything to do with it; Young said he did not know the reason why Booth wanted to take him back; in Michigan, Young said they might all go to —— now, that he was out of reach; Booth did not give us any addresses to go to in Michigan.

Lewis Geelehaus, sworn, said: Am bailiff, living in Trenton; Booth's reputation is good for anything I know; he always carried out his agreements with me; I would put confidence in him; he did not show any ill feeling against Saylor at the time he was sold out that I know of; remember Saylor bidding for the stock which was knocked down to Mrs. Booth.

Dr. Jacques, sworn, said: Am Mayor of Trenton; knew nothing bad about Booth's character; if there had been anything bad about his character I would likely have heard of it in a small place like Trenton.

Dr. Moran, recalled, said: I know nothing against Booth's character.

G. W. Hyde, sworn, said: Am a merchant in Trenton; have known Booth seven or eight years; was at the Saylor fire; saw Mr. Booth at front door, calling for some one to go up stairs to rescue Mrs. Rawe; he had been in the building and rescued Mrs. Westfall; he appeared to be choking; his reputation is good so far as I know.

A. Forbes, sworn, said: Am a practising solicitor living in Trenton; before going after Young, Booth advised with me as to what to do; I advised him to go after the boys; Booth's reputation was good.

P. J. O'Rourke, sworn, said: Am an ex-Mayor of Trenton; have always known Booth as a good citizen.

O. D. Macaulay, barrister, swore that he had known Booth since he was a boy; always had a good character.

Mr. Clute—That's the case, my lord.

Mr. Clute commenced his address to the jury at 6:15, and made an eloquent plea for the prisoner. He spoke for half an hour.

Mr. Kerr followed in a stirring address, which lasted thirty minutes.

His Lordship went into the case fully, and analyzed it very clearly to the jury. His charge was against the accused.

The jury retired at 7:30 and at 10:15 brought in a verdict of

Not Guilty.

The court room was crowded to the doors. The verdict was received by Booth's friends with considerable demonstration. The court had to call upon the constables to restore order.

The same jury was empanelled to consider the other charges preferred against the accused. No evidence being offered by the Crown, His Lordship acquitted the prisoner. In discharging him Justice McMahon gave him a few words of advice which the accused is not likely to forget for the rest of his life.

The jurymen and witnesses received their pay this morning. Justice McMahon left at 11 a.m. for Toronto. Mr. Kerr accompanied him as far as Cobourg.

There are a few, and only a few business houses that do a strictly one price business. A customer should prove positively to his own satisfaction that he is dealing in a one price house. GOUGH'S

SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

GOUGH, The Regulator of Prices,

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

THE LAST SURVIVOR.

THE ONLY LIVING CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE.

Dies in Toronto—Mrs. G. S. Tickell, a Sister of Deceased, Furnishes Some Interesting Reminiscences in the Career of an Old Soldier.

A reporter of the INTELLIGENCER to-day interviewed Mrs. G. S. Tickell, Church street, and gleaned some interesting facts of the career of her brother, Edward Beetham, late of the 17th Lancers, who died in Toronto on Tuesday night. The deceased was the last survivor in Canada of the "Six Hundred." He was born in Cheltenham, England, sixty-eight years ago, and was a descendant of a long line of war stock. His grandfather on both sides were officers in the English army, and served with honor under Lord Nelson. The deceased naturally had a strong liking for the army, and at an early age left his native town and went to Birmingham, where he connected himself with the militia. His first important service was during the Irish troubles, when he was promoted to the rank of sergeant. The distressing scenes in Ireland during the potato famine, as witnessed by Sergt. Beetham beggared description. In some cases the British soldiers shared their rations with the starving tenants. After returning to London he joined the 17th Lancers and enlisted in the Crimea with a broken leg. Being of a strong and rugged nature he had completely recovered by the time they reached the Crimea. It was due to a strong constitution that he was able to endure the terrible hardships and privations to which the soldiers were subjected to during that memorable campaign. By the time clothing arrived the militia were almost reduced to nakedness, while half starved to death. The deceased gave as much as a sovereign for a mere crust of bread. He served in the battles of Alma, Inkerman, Sebastopool, and Balaclava. It was during his service in Crimea that the deceased contracted rheumatism which was the immediate cause of his death. From Crimea he was ordered to India to assist in quelling the Indian mutiny. He had a brother in India serving in the civil service at the time whom he had not seen for twenty-five years. Before they met his brother was killed with sunstroke. During the engagement three horses were shot from under him. During his many engagements, the only injury he sustained was from a horse falling on him. His service in India was short when the troops were called home. On his return to England he claimed his discharge for foreign service, which counts two years for one year's service in England. Retiring from the army, he joined the Birmingham police force, and was at one time in the detective service.

He immigrated to Toronto with his family seven years ago. He was quoted for his bravery and courage, and would risk his life to save that of a human being. Some time ago in Toronto he saved a woman who was in imminent danger of being run down in the street. Had it not been for his promptness in snatching her from her position, she would have been killed. He refused to accept any reward, stating that he had done nothing that a British soldier would not have been glad to do. He saved a number of lives by his bravery.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL, as a medicine, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And, because of that, there's something unusual in the way of selling it. Where every other medicine of its kind only promises, this is guaranteed. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It is the only guaranteed remedy for every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood. Dyspepsia, Biliousness, the most stubborn Skin, Scalp and Scrofulous affections, even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earliest stages, all are cured by it.

It purifies and enriches the blood, rouses every organ into healthful action, and restores strength and vigor. In building up both flesh and strength of pale, puny, scrofulous children, or to invigorate and brace up the system after "Grippe," pneumonia, fevers, and other prostrating acute diseases, nothing can equal the "Discovery."

You pay only for the good you get.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

And she—what did she think of him? She was too absorbed with the considération of any change in him than with what she intended to say. What impressed her most were the infectious of his quiet, musical voice—a voice as unroughened and as gentle as when it wooed her in her father's northern castle years before! She had forgotten its power, that it made her tremble now from head to foot with a sort of terror that was not without a charm. It was so cold a voice—so cold and calm! She felt that if it once grew tender and caressing her strength would fail her altogether. But there was not much fear of tenderness from him—to her.

After that involuntary and rather awkward pause, Lady Alice recollected herself and spoke first.

"You must be very much surprised to see me!"

"I am delighted, of course. I could wish—with a slight smile—that the apartment was more worthy of you, and that the circumstances were less disagreeable; but I am unfortunately not able to alter these details."

"And it is exactly to these details that you owe my visit," said Lady Alice with unexpected calmness.

"Then I ought to be grateful to them, no doubt."

She moved uneasily, as if the studied conventionality of his tone jarred on her a little; and then she said, with an effort that made her words sound brusque,

"I mean that under ordinary circumstances I should not have come to see you. But these are so strange—so extraordinary—that you will perhaps pardon this intrusion. I felt—on reflection—that it was only right for me to come—to express—"

She faltered and he took advantage of her hesitation to say with a quiet smile—

"I am very much obliged to you. But you should not have taken all this trouble. A note would have answered just as well. I suppose you wish to express your indignation at the little care I seem to have taken of Lesley. You cannot blame me more severely than I blame myself. If she had been under your care I have no doubt that we should not be in our present dilemma; but is is no use fretting over what is past—or inevitable. I can only say that I am exceedingly sorry. Will you not loosen your cloak? This room is rather warm. I can't say well ring for tea, I am afraid. You should call on me at Woburn Place, if you want tea."

She loosened her cloak a little at the throat as he suggested. She had taken off her gloves, and he could see that her slender white hands were trembling. Somehow it occured to him that he had been unkind—but he did not know how or why. His words were commonplace enough. But it was his tone that had been a little cruel.

"I did not come to make reproaches or complaints," she said at last, in a low voice.

"No. That was very good of you. I have to thank you, then for your forbearance."

There was still coldness, still something perilously like scorn in his tone. It was unbearable to Lady Alice.

"Why do you talk in that way? she broke out suddenly. "I came to say something quite different; and you speak as if you wanted to taunt me—to insult me—to hurt in every way possible! I do not understand what you mean."

"You never did," said Caspar. The scorn had gone now, and the voice had grown stern. "It is useless for us to talk together at all. You have made intercourse impossible. I have no desire to hurt, taunt or insult you, as you phrase it; but, if I am to speak the truth, I must say that I feel very strongly that it is you and your behavior to whom we owe the greater part of this trouble. If you had been at my side, if Lesley had been under a mother's wing, sheltered as only a mother could shelter her, there never would have been an opportunity for that man Trent's scandalous approaches, which put a stigma on my poor child for the rest of her life, and may—for aught I know—endanger my own neck! I could put up with the loss and harm to myself; but once and for all let me tell you, Alice, that you have neglected your duty as a mother as much as I have neglected mine as a father; and that if you had been in your proper place all that ruin and disgrace and misery would never have come about."

The broken and vehement tones of his voice showed that his feelings were powerfully affected. Lady Alice listened in perfect silence, and kept silence for some minutes after the conclusion of his speech. Caspar, leaning with one shoulder against the mantelpiece, looked frowningly before him, as if he were unconscious of the fact that she had taken her handkerchief out of her muff, and was pressing it to her cheeks and eyes. But in reality he was painfully alive to every one of her movements, and expected a plaintiff rejoinder to his accusations. But none came. The silence irritated him, as it had formerly irritated him with Lesley. He was obliged at last to ask a question.

"Since you say you did not come to reproach me, may I ask the motive of your visit?" he asked.

"I scarcely think that it is of any use to tell you now," said his wife, quietly. She had got rid of her tears now, and had put her handkerchief away. "I had a sort of fancy that you might like me to tell you with my own lips something that I felt rather strongly, but you would probably resent it—and it is only a trifle after all."

She arose from her chair and drew her fur-lined cloak closely around her, as if preparing to go.

"I should like to hear it—if I am not troubling you too much," said Caspar.

She averted her eyes and began slowly to draw on her gloves. "It is really nothing—I came on a momentary impulse. I have not seen you for a good many years and we parted with very angry words on our lips. Did we not—but I need not go to that—although you were sometimes angry—I never knew you to do a cruel thing—you were always kind—kinder than all creatures that were weak (except, perhaps to me); and I am quite sure—sure as I stand here that you never done the thing of which you are accused. There!—and she looked him straight in the face—"it is a little thing, no doubt; you have hosts of friends to say the same thing to you; but my tribute is worth having, perhaps, because, after all, I am your wife—and in some ways I do understand!"

Caspar's face worked strangely; he bit his lip hard as he looked at her.

"You are generous, Alice," he said, in a low voice, after a pause that seemed eternal to her.

"Oh, no. Why should you call it generous! I only wanted to say this—and also—that if I could be of any use to you now, I am ready. A little thing sometimes turns the course of public opinion. If I were to go to Woburn Place—to stay with Lesley for instance—so that all the world would see that I believed in you—"

"But—I shall be at Woburn Place myself in a day or two, on bail; and then—"

"I could stay," said Lady Alice, again looking at him. Then her eyes dropped and the color mounted to her forehead. He made a sudden step towards her.

"Alice—is it possible—after all these years——"

"No, it is not possible," she said, with a little laugh that had something of a sob in it, "and I don't think we should ever get on together—and I don't love you at all, except for Lesley's sake—but, just until this horrible affair is over, if I might show everybody that I have all possible faith in you, and that I know you to be good and upright and honorable—just—till then, Caspar, I should like to be at your side."

"But whether Caspar heard the whole of this speech must remain forever doubtful, as, long before its close, he had taken her in his arms and was sealing the past between them with a long kiss which might vardly be called the kiss of peace.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, most so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. "Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have access to their medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Pretty Papers!

There is more in these two P's than you may suppose.

We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during the week. You'll remember the great improvement that was made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. There seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advances has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOUR trade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of the designs and colorings, and feel perfectly safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced on to date.

One pleasing feature is that these very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c. per roll as well as in 25, 35 and 50c. papers.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

D'ALTON M'CARTHY'S AMENDMENT DEFEATED.

The Majority Against It Was 52—Laurier Voted for It—The French Treaty Affair Up Again for Explanation—It Is Signed.

OTTAWA, March 17.—It may now be considered as definitely settled that, "barring accidents," as the sporting gentry say' prorogation will take place before Easter. Mr. Foster said as much in the House this afternoon, and in order that this may be accomplished Wednesdays have been taken for Government business for the balance of the session, it being arranged that on the only private members' day left, Mondays, the order for Wednesdays will be followed, which will give an opportunity for public bills and orders to be reached again.

Quite an interesting discussion sprang up on the French Treaty, caused by Mr. Lister when the orders of the day were called reading the cablegram which appeared in yesterday's Montreal Star with reference to the alleged indignation caused in England, and the statement made by Mr. Foster in the House on Monday night that he would not ask for the ratification of the treaty at present.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the whole telegram was based on an error. He had not said that he would not ask for the ratification of the treaty this session, but that under the circumstances he would not press for its ratification at present. As to the insult to France which the despatch spoke of, he could not understand how any insult could be offered. It was a fundamental part of the treaty that it should be ratified by the Canadian Parliament and the treaty had been submitted to Parliament with a full and frank explanation of its provisions, for the consideration of Parliament.

Mr. Edgar read two telegrams from Sir Charles Tupper to Sir John Thompson, and from Sir John Thompson to Hon. Mr. Bowell, dated Feb. 6, which were in the supplementary papers relating to the treaty brought down last night. These telegrams showed that on that day Sir John Thompson wired that no draft treaty had been received, and no ratification should be made until approval was cabled, as it was not clearly understood what either side proposed.

Sir Charles Tupper's reply to this was that the treaty had been signed before the cablegram had been received.

Mr. Davies said that the impression left on the mind of the House by Mr. Foster's speech on Monday night certainly was that he did not propose to ask the House to ratify the treaty this session.

Mr. Mills condemned the treaty, which he thought one-sided, and said that if the Government had made a mistake in agreeing to such a treaty it was well that it had been reserved for ratification by Parliament. He approved of Mr. Foster's course in not being in a hurry to ask Parliament to take action.

Mr. Lister tried to create the impression that Mr. Foster had said that Parliament would not be asked this session to ratify the treaty.

Mr. Foster said that his words were before the House and meant neither more nor less than what he had said. A matter of this kind should be considered calmly and fairly without any political bias. It was a question between this country and France.

The clause about the ratification of the treaty by Parliament was a fundamental one. He did not think it would be any insult to France if Parliament rejected the treaty. Only a few months ago the French Government had negotiated a treaty with Switzerland, which the French chamber rejected, and nobody suggested that any insult had been offered to Switzerland.

Sir Richard Cartwright wanted the Minister of Finance to tell the House on Monday whether it would be asked this year to ratify the treaty.

Mr. O'Brien wanted to know whether the treaty had been made by the authority of the Government.

Mr. Foster thought that the papers before the House would sufficiently show the amount of authority which had been given.

Mr. Tarte said: "Was Sir Charles Tupper really authorized to sign the treaty? If not, it would be best that we know it now."

Mr. Foster said that the papers would show all the authority which had been given. He had not given any verbal authority when he was in England.

The matter then dropped and the debate on Mr. McCarthy's amendment was resumed.

Hon. Mr. Ives, who was greeted with applause on rising, said that Mr. McCarthy had stated that there was great discontent in the country—"discontent verging on disloyalty." How was this discontent shown? He referred to the small majority of the Government after Sir John Macdonald's death, when it was down to 15 or 20, and of the result of the bye-elections, which had run the majority up to 65 or 70, and argued if there had been any such discontent in the country as Mr. McCarthy claimed it would have shown itself during the bye-elections.

Quite recently there had been six bye-elections and every one of them had been carried by acclamation. [Applause.] This did not show discontent with the Government. The member for North Simcoe may be discontented, but that did not prove that the farmers of the country were unhappy. [Laughter.]

He then took up Mr. McCarthy's statements with reference to the cost of cotton and other articles, and said he defied anyone to show that it cost a family of seven persons $20 a year more to live than it would under a revenue tariff.

As to Mr. McCarthy's idea of making a reduction of 10 per cent. in favor of Great Britain, he pointed out that all the countries having treaties with Great Britain which contained the most favored nation clause would get the benefit of that reduction, and he read the names of some 25 countries with which Great Britain had such treaties, to show how general the reduction would be. He continued at considerable length to answer the statements made by Mr. McCarthy.

Mr. Coatsworth said that Mr. McCarthy made a speech not so good as he frequently heard from members on the back benches, and not at all of the character that was to be expected from a lawyer of so high a standing as was the member for North Simcoe. There was no policy which any government could divine that would not operate more against one class than the other. The Opposition could not say but free trade would do this.

In his opinion there was no policy which more favorably met the views and wishes of all classes than the National Policy. Mr. McCarthy was greatly worried over the farmers, but he has not one word to say in favor of the mechanics. There were some 720,000 mechanics against 400,000 farmers. These mechanics desired consideration just as well as the farmers. He had not one word to say against the farmers, for he had farmers in his own constituency.

What Mr. McCarthy asked simply was to take one-third off the duties now imposed on goods imported from Great Britain. That was all he asked. Mr. Coatsworth gave a long list of articles, showing that the tariff was not oppressive on the masses, but that the duties were principally placed upon luxuries.

Mr. Coatsworth continued the debate after recess and Mr. Kenny followed, making a splendid speech.

Hon. Mr. Laurier endorsed the resolution of Mr. McCarthy with the exception of the last paragraph, which proposed a reduction of duties on our imports from Great Britain and all the numerous countries with which she has favored nation treaties. He agreed that such a policy would inevitably and above all prevent the accomplishment of the treaty of reciprocity with the United States, upon the advisability of which both sides of the House were agreed, only varying in their ideas of its extent.

Hon. Mr. Foster: And yet you are going to help him carry it. [Hear, hear.]

Hon. Mr. Laurier: The hon. gentleman's interruption is too thin to have any weight. He went on to say that he would have to accept the resolution as a whole, because the rules of the House forbade his amending any one part of it. Would he be justified in voting against it on that account and so declare it was not true that the tariff ought to be reduced, that the farmers were not oppressed, and that there was no discontent in the country? [Opposition cheers.] Nay; the chief reason he had for supporting the resolution was its strong and vigorous condemnation of the National Policy.

Mr. O'Brien spoke on the same lines as McCarthy. He said it was the Government, and not he, who were deserting the N.P.

Mr. McNeill said that it was with great regret that he had to oppose Mr. McCarthy, with whom he had been personally and politically associated for so many years and with whom he was to-day on the best of terms. The reason why he opposed McCarthy was because he was forsaking Conservative principles.

Mr. Casey rose amidst cries of "Question." He asked for five minutes and got it.

Mr. Foster: You are no worse off than I am, because I had a speech prepared and had to bottle it up again.

The House divided at 1.10 a.m. and the amendment was lost on the following division: Yeas, 64; nays, 116.

The House adjourned at 1.45 a.m.

Hon. Mr. Costigan to-night gives notice of two bills, one "an act relating to the custody of juvenile offenders in the Province of New Brunswick," which is intended to make provision for the judges in the province committing juvenile offenders to the reformatory recently established through Lady Tilley's efforts, and the other, "an act respecting public officers," which relates to the issuing of a commission by the Governor-General on payment of fees.

Hon. Mr. Foster to-night gives notice of the following resolution: "That it is expedient to provide for the payment to two commissioners to represent Canada at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, of such sums for their services as are determined by the Governor-in-council."

In this connection it may be stated that a rumor has been floating about for some time that Senator Tasse and Mr. Adam Brown, ex-M.P., are likely to be the two commissioners.

The bill consolidating the Maritime Province sugar refineries was thrown out by the Banking and Commerce Committee this morning. Speeches were made against the measure by several members. Among the speakers was Alexander McKay, who entered a vigorous protest against the bill being allowed to pass. He took strong grounds against combines generally, and, while admitting that Parliament cannot altogether prevent consolidation of business interests, it should not sanction any measure to facilitate such combines. While the bill only affected the Maritime Province refiners, who could say when they might unite with the other refineries, if not in a pooling of receipts, at least in a partition of territory, or some arrangement whereby competition in the trade would be destroyed, and the public left to the mercy of a monopoly?

Mr. Boyle of Monck also spoke against the bill.

Cure of Headache,

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used. I was cured. It is an article of great value.'

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,
Wotton, P. Q.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

A Central Assembly of Six Hundred Members to Be Formed at Belfast—A Government Council of Sixty to be elected—Be Patient, Enroll, Combine.

LONDON, March 17.—A Unionist manifesto has been issued over the signature of the Duke of Abercorn, the Marquis of Londonderry, the Earl of Erne, Lord Arthur Hill, Colonel Saunderson, the Mayors of Belfast and Londonderry and others.

The manifesto announces the formation of an Ulster Defence League, not merely to continue the struggle for the Union, but to prepare to meet any contingency.

The signers call upon Unionists to qualify at once as members of the league. The two necessary qualifications of every successful applicant for admission are that he be a full grown man and pledge himself to be faithful to the cause of Union.

Those enrolled as members will send delegates to Belfast to form a central assembly of 600 members, who will elect a governing council of 60.

The last words of the manifesto are: "Be patient, enroll, combine."

PASSED BY PROXY.

Charges that Certain Dental Students Have Duped the College.

TORONTO, March 17.—Dean Wilmot sometime ago received an intimation from Belleville that several of the students who had tried the matriculation examinations were represented by proxy. Several letters to this effect have been received from an anonymous source, and the Belleville students feel their position keenly but can do nothing to redeem their position.

Naturally they are eyed askance by the other students, who suspect that they are present under false pretences.

The dean has handed the letters over to the boys, who are doing their utmost to trace the ownership of the scurrilous pamphlets.

The idea is prevalent that they emanated from a student who was plucked in trying the examination and is venting his spleen in this cowardly manner.

The council meets on March 28, when an endeavor will be made to sift the charges to the bottom, and ascertain if there is any foundation for the charges contained in the anonymous letters.

Dr. W. E. Wilmot, secretary of the college, refused to speak of the matter further than admitting that the letters had been received.

A Negro Lynched.

EDITORIAL ARRVITIES.

The Sons of England Grand Lodge, which was in session at Montreal, reaffirmed its adherence to British connection as one of the fundamental principles of its constitution. These sons are true to their name.

Mr. McCarthy made the charge in his tariff speech that the Montreal Cotton company was watering its stock to secrete its earnings. Messrs. Stevenson, Blackaller & Co., agents of the company, point out that the new capital stock to be issued is to be paid for by the shareholders at the rate of one hundred cents on the dollar, and is to be used to enlarge the company's business. That is not watering stock.

A member of the Toronto Young Liberal club has given notice of a resolution, protesting against any Candian Government official accepting a title from the British Government. The British lion should kindly consider himself sat upon. Nothing short of an honorary position in a U. S. regiment, would in all probability suit this individual Grit.

The announcement that President Cleveland has withdrawn the Hawaiian treaty from the Senate, means that the whole scheme of annexation has been abandoned. The agitation arose from the desire of certain interested individuals to benefit themselves, and the new President has very properly sat down on the project. Uncle Sam has quite enough to look after within his own boarders without performing the spread eagle act over other territories.

SPORTING NEWS

The curling season is not yet over by any means and the boys expect to have some fun on the ice before the season breaks up.

The Shamrock lacrosse club, of Peterborough, has organized with the following officers: President, Frank Fairen; captain, Fred White; executive committee, Fred Metcalf, P. Carroll and T. McNamara.

The Amherst Island winter races yesterday drew a large crowd. The three minute trot resulted as follows: 1st, Golden Prince; 2nd, Bayonet; 3rd, Jessie M.

Con. Millan had quite a thrilling time yesterday while proceeding to the Amherst Island races with his horse, Billy S. White on the ice off Lemoine's Point the runners of his sulky cut through the thin ice, and broke the vehicle into pieces. A sleigh was borrowed from a farmer, and the journey continued. When near the foot of Amherst Island the wind caused the sleigh to slide to one side, when it upset and threw the driver outand knocked horse down. The horse was bruised and cut to some extent, and the sleigh was broken. However, the journey was continued, and the island reached without any further mishap.—News.

We do not deny that many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable for them to condemn that far-famed remedy! Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nerviline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

It is a Very Sad Thing.

Many who suffer with coughs, colds and lung troubles leading to consumption, imagine there is no hope for them, when in reality there is every hope if Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is taken regularly. Spread the news everywhere that this wonderful remedy will make flesh and blood, cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and lung troubles tending to consumption. The Greatest Ye

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' dress capes. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

M'KEE RANKIN'S AFFAIRS.

His Brother has Entered an Action Against Him to Recover the "Canuck."

Mr. McKee Rankin, who was seen in Windsor yesterday, has this to say of the suit brought by his brother: "The only part of 'The Canuck' that George wrote was the horse race scene. All the remainder of the play I wrote myself. The horse race scene I bought from Geo, for $500 and that was understood to be in full settlement of his claim. My father left no will. He sold a section of land on the north side of Lake Superior to Mr. Goodersham, of Toronto, on condition that he receive a hundred dollars a month during his lifetime. My father left a statement, giving me the right of redemption of a number of pictures, valued at $3,000, and some silver plate, all of which are heavily mortgaged. This comprised almost the entire estate." Mr Rankin is a well known Canadian actor, and his presentation of the "Canuck" at Belleville, is remembered here as a master piece.

BURNED TO DEATH.

The Terrible Death of a Child Near Stirling

A very sad and fatal accident took place on Tuesday morning last, by which the three year old son of Mr. Andrew McGee, who lives a short distance east of Stirling, lost his life. It appears that when the parents arose in the morning, they left him sleeping. Mr. McGee went to the barn to do the chores, and while there he called his wife to assist him. During their absence the child got up and came down to the stove, and in some way which is unknown, its night dress caught fire, burning it all off. His screams were heard by the parents and upon hurrying to the house Mrs. McGee found him as above. Medical aid was at once sent for and everything possible was done to save his life, but the injuries proved fatal, though he lived several hours after the accident.

A Successful Minister.

The Milwaukee Sentinel of the 4th inst. contained an interesting column descriptive of Trinity M. E. church of that city, and the work done by the popular pastor, Rev. Henry Ostrom. This beautiful church, located in the most charming part of the city, has made almost phenomenal progress during the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Ostrom. A debt of $6 000 has been entirely removed, a new parsonage erected at a cost of $3,500, and a picturesque mission chapel erected in another part of the city, where it was much needed, costing $2,000. In addition to all this, the Church society has subscribed to foreign missions, on the missionary plan, no less than $15,000. The contributing person receives a small interest during life, the principal going to the missionary society at the death of the donor. Referring to this great work the Sentinel says:

"It has been through the earnest solicitation and practical foresight of Rev Henry Ostrom, who is the present pastor of this flock, that most of this wonderful year's work has been accomplished. His labors among the people of Bay View must form a monument to his memory. The members and friends of the church will ever hold in loving remembrance his sympathetic ministrations among them."

Rev. Henry Ostrom is a native of this County, and his mother and sisters reside here. It is highly gratifying to hear of his success in his chosen work.

"St Patrick's Day in the Morning."

The wearing of the shamrock was more general to day than for years past. Many of our leading professional and business men walked down to their offices with Ireland's national emblem decorating the lapels of their coats. In the school yards, the children of Irish parentage also donned the modest national emblem. The flag on the Government building was early flung to the breeze. The Separate schools were closed in honor of the day, and services were held in St. Michael's church.

Curling Notes.

A contest has been in progress for some time between the "colts" of the curling club for the possession of a pair of granite stones donated by the President, Mr. Jos. D. Clarke. Last night the final game was played, the contestants being Messrs F. Lewis and J. McFee. The former, after a hard fight, was victorious, the score being Lewis 13, McFee 12.

DRIVEN FROM HOME.

Because His Daughter Taught Colored

MARION, S. C. March 17.—B. W. Crowe and his family have been driven from the town of Nolan by anonymous threats, destruction of their property and fear of assassination. Crowe is a white man and his daughter taught a school for negro children. On Saturday night the school was overturned and destroyed. Crowe received anonymous letters threatening him with death unless he left town before April 1st. He departed yesterday.

Aiding Canada's Trade.

LONDON, March 17.—Mr. John Dyke, the Government agent at Liverpool, was yesterday summoned as a recognized expert to give evidence before the House of Lords on the Manchester ship canal, which will probably be completed for next year's Canadian trade.

He stated that the canal would be of great benefit to Canada's trade, as it would give a more direct access than via Liverpool to the vast masses of the consumers living in the manufacturing districts.

Sons of England.

CHAMPION STANBURY.

THE AUSTRALIAN OARSMAN IS IN AMERICA

He Will Be Backed For Any Amount Against Any Canadian Or Yankee—Says He Is Anxious To Row William Beach Coming on the Next steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—James Stanbury, the champion oarsman, and his trainer, Aleck McLean, arrived on the steamer Alameda from Australia yesterday morning.

Stanbury has been induced to come to America by what has been heard concerning the big events to take place during the World's Fair at Chicago.

"I am very anxious to row anyone," said he, "and I will post a deposit to bind the match at any reasonable time any opponent may name, mile and a half straight away or three miles with a turn would satisfy me."

"I have learned that Gaudaur recently issued a challenge to the world. I am prepared to accept this challenge and will find all the backing he will name. The same proposition is open to any other man in this country or England."

Stanbury said further that the ex champion of Australia, Wm. Beach, would probably come hither on the next steamer.

LADY MOWAT'S FUNERAL.

An Immense Concourse of Friends Pay Their Respects to Her Memory.

TORONTO, March 17.—The funeral cortege of the late Lady Mowat was one of the largest ever witnessed in Toronto. The service was of the simplest character. There were no pallbearers. The chief mourners were Sir Oliver Mowat, Sheriff Mowat, Arthur Mowat and Rev. Dr. Mowat. The Lieut. Governor and staff were present. The Provincial Government was represented by Hon. Messrs. Fraser, Hardy, Ross and Gibson, and these connections and friends were also present: Mr. Justice Maclennan, Col. Duff C. R. W. Biggar, George Ewart, C. O. Strange, Dr. Primrose, Thomas Langton, Herbert M. Mowat, Joseph E. Mowat, Major Cregg, Edward Cregg, D. W. Murray, Prof. McLaren, Principal Kirkland, B. B. Hughes, George Kiely, J. S. Cartwright, deputy minister. S. F. Bastedo, private secretary to Sir Oliver; W. T. Burton of Hamilton, Canon Cayley and others.

The service at the house was conducted by Rev. Dr. Caven, Prof. McLaren and Rev. Dr. Mowat, brother of the deceased.

The staff of the Parliament Buildings were all in attendance.

THE TROY BURGLARY.

Martin Carey Tells the Story of the Assault.

HAMILTON, March 17.—No arrests have yet been made in connection with the Troy burglary, but they are pretty strong suspicions. Old Martin Carey is sufficiently recovered to talk of the affair. He says that two tall men with their faces blackened and otherwise disfigured forced his door open about 2 o'clock.

They demanded his money, but he refused to give it, saying that he had deposited it in the bank a few days before. They choked and struck him, but he refused to yield up the fruits of many years' hoardings. So finally they bound him hand and foot, gagged him and covered him with a horse blanket. They then proceeded to search for gold, cutting the floor and walls at every place where there was any trace of an opening.

At last they took down some old nails that hung from the ceiling and were filled with onions and other garden seeds. Upsetting these on the floor they found that in the bottom of one was the gold and in the other was the bills. They then took the blanket off Carey and also him bound and gagged, in which condition he was found next forenoon.

Carey's bed consists of a box filled with pea straw. His house is a hovel, and the township assessor says it is the filthiest human abode in Beverly. Some years ago the old man was robbed of a large sum of money.

IN HARD LUCK.

A Carpenter's Terrible Tumble From a Shaw-street Building.

TORONTO, March 17.—George Beckway, a carpenter of Bracondale, was engaged on a new building on Shaw-street yesterday when he slipped from the scaffold and fell 20 feet to the ground. His spine was injured by the fall and the lower part of his body paralyzed. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance. The injured man is suffering much from shock, and it is difficult yet to ascertain whether he will survive or whether the paralysis will be permanent.

High School Burned.

NEWMARKET, March 17.—Last night the High School building was completely destroyed by fire. The conflagration is supposed to have been caused by the furnace pipes overheating and igniting the woodwork. The fire had made considerable progress before it was discovered. When the alarm sounded the brigade turned out promptly and rendered their services, but too late to save the building or contents.

The loss is estimated at about $7000; partly covered by insurance.

Fire at Uxbridge.

UXBRIDGE, March 17.—About 5 o'clock a.m. yesterday fire was discovered in the liquor store of W. Roddy. The firemen were promptly on hand and put it out; not, however, before considerable damage had been done.

The building, which is owned by the Henry estate, is badly damaged inside. The loss has not yet been ascertained, but is fully covered by insurance.

AN ELECTION TROUBLE.

Lord Mountstephen Charged With Interfering in the Election.

LONDON, March 17.—Lord Mountstephen has been taking a hand in the political fight in Banffshire and has got into hot water over it. The constituency was thrown open by the appointment of the former representative, Hon. R. W. Duff, a Home Ruler, to the Governorship of one of the Australian colonies, replacing the Earl of Jersey, who recently resigned.

Sir William Wedderburn was the Gladstonian candidate and Mr. Grant the Unionist. Dufftown, Lord Mountstephen's native place, is in Banffshire and the peer wrote letters to his friends there and advised them to vote for Mr. Grant in the election. By so doing his lordship infringed a resolution of Parliament against peers interfering in elections. Accordingly the matter has been brought to the attention of the House of Commons.

Mr. Gladstone, in referring to the charge, said that, seeing that this peer was opposed to the Government in politics, the Government would leave any action to be taken in the matter to the House. However, no action has yet been taken.

Lord Mountstephen's efforts in behalf of Mr. Grant were futile, for Sir William Wedderburn was returned by a majority of 771.

A LIBERAL GAIN.

Banffshire Sends a Supporter of Gladstone to Parliament.

LONDON, March 17.—The election in Banffshire, Scotland, yesterday, of a member of Parliament to fill the place of Robert William Duff, Liberal, recently appointed Governor of New South Wales, resulted in the choice of Sir William Wedderburn, Liberal, by 3166 votes to 2395 for J. A. Grant, the Conservative and Liberal-Unionist candidate.

The election was sharply contested, notwithstanding the severity of the weather and the fact that many of the roads were blocked with snow. At the general election in 1889, Duff, Liberal, had 2293 votes to 1424 for Barry, Independent.

A few nights ago some burglar or burglars effected an entrance into the INTELLIGENCER office and prying open the till stole about fifty cents in cash together with about seven dollars worth of stamps. Another drawer was broken open, in which there was nothing of value. An attempt was also made to get into the vault. A hole was dug into the plaster with rude instruments and several brick removed, when the burglars desisted in their work.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

CAMPBELLFORD.

The Gilmour and Rathbun Co. are repairing the old booms and piers at Bradley Bay and Crow Bay, making ready for an early drive of saw logs. Mr. W. McKiel has the job. The river is beginning to open up, and the prospect for the lumbering class is looking cheerful.—Mr. J. W Hamly has sold out his stationary business to Mr. G. Herkins and T. Bowen.—Mr. Frank Dunk has bought out the restaurant business from M. H. Drayden.

TWEED.

Mrs. Edwar Breen, aged 32, daughter of the late Patrick Gaboodie, passed away on Wednesday night. She was only sick 30 hours. She leaves a husband and five small children to mourn her loss.—Mrs. James Beatty, aged 79, wife of the late James Beatty, died on Sunday evening. She leaves five sons and one daughter to mourn her loss.—We are pleased to be able to report that A. McGowan, Reeve of Tweed, is some better.—J. M. Robertson, hardware merchant, has moved into his new store. Mr. Robertson has the finest stock in town.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bell, of Thurlow, were visiting friends in Tweed last week.—Miss Effie Wright has returned home after spending several weeks in Kingston.—Miss Minnie McCann has returned home after spending several weeks in the west.—Mrs. M. BANCROFT.

To write of the severity of the present winter, or past, let us hope, would be, to speak theologically, a work of supererogation, as the papers have been full of reports on the subject, but if deep snow, high winds, heavy drifts, no mails for a day or two, with the thermometer down to 37° below zero be anything different to other places why the above has been our case.—At last this part of the county has reached the condition that has long been foreseen and expected and this winter but very little business has been carried on in lumbering operations, the merchantable pine being exhausted so that the farmers have no profitable market for their produce, some have teamed out their grain, &c., to the C. O. R., but the cost of transportation reduces the price received to an absolute loss on the production, and it is to be feared that a large exodus of our settlers will take place unless railway facilities are continued further north. We are pleased, however, to observe that the Dominion Government has taken the right view of the case, and a grant of $6.000 per mile for 20 miles to Bancroft for the C.O.R. has been proposed, and the first reading for this amount passed, so that this part of the county may soon have the advantage of a railroad and surely the directors of this line will not reject the the aid offered this time, seeing that if they do not extend their line their traffic will be nothing, as will be evident from the fact that a number of other lines are in progress or contemplated, namely, the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound, the Brockville, Westport and Parry Sound and the C.P.R. from Eganville to Parry Sound. Why they should require so many lines in one direction we leave them to explain, but one or more is under contract to pass through the north eastern part of this county. Then last, but not least, the Irondale and Bancroft line is rapidly progressing, the work having been continued through the past winter, and connection with Bancroft will be made in the course of this year, as the line has a Government bonus of $6,300 per mile. All this promises unfavorably for the southern part of the county and for Belleville, unless the C.O.R. extension, as referred to above, is built. Then Belleville would do well to secure running powers on the North Hastings line from Eldorado to Bancroft as the south is still our natural outlet.—Deer are suffering great destruction from the wet this season as the crust will carry these animals, but not the deer. Number, however, are on their track, as it is more profitable to chase the wolves than the deer, the bounty being $10 besides the pelt.

COMMITTEE WORK.

The Market Fees and the Sanitary Condition of the City All Discussed.

Two of the Civic Committees met yesterday afternoon, namely, the Executive and the Market and City Property. The object of the meeting was to consider some means to remedy the unsanitary condition of the city building, and also to discuss the market fees. It will be remembered that at a recent meeting of the County Council a committee was appointed to wait upon the City Council and endeavor to impress upon the latter the advisability of modifying the market fees. The matter was fully discussed yesterday and a sub-committee composed of Ald. Lingham, Ponton, Wills, Collins and Landenberger was appointed to consider the matter and recommend modifications if they deem it prudent.

As to the unsanitary condition of the city building, a sub committee composed of Ald. Lingham, Lococmbe and Robinson was appointed to inspect the building and see what was required to be done.

For the Boys and Girls.

The Easter school holidays are now for one week. Formerly they included two days only, Good Friday and Easter Monday. A few days from now, taken from the midsummer and Christmas holidays, and added to the Easter term. The school closes on Thursday the 30th inst., and reopens on Monday, 10 h of April.

Tenders for Bridge Tolls.

A meeting of the Bridge Company was held yesterday afternoon, to consider the tenders which had been received for the privilege of collecting the tolls on the Bay of Quinte Bridge, from the 1st April, 1893, to 1st April, 1894. A number of tenders were received, the highest being Mr. Richard Arnott for $4,650, which will probably be accepted. Another meeting of the Company will be held shortly.

A Curiosity.

Mr. George I. Thomas, butcher, has a curiosity. Last fall he purchased, amongst other cattle, a two-year old steer, which bred upon its head an unusually large horn. It appears that the animal, when a year old, was injured about the head by colliding with a fence, in consequence of which one of the horns grew out straight. Yesterday the animal was slaughtered. At the butt the horn is 18 inches in circumference, and it is some 17 inches in length. The other horn is of a natural size and shape. Mr. Thomas intends to have it mounted and sent to Chicago.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled knee which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Mayhew of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used, I was cured. It is a article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequence must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious and sure remedies for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vitiated phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

AMUSEMENTS

Mr. W. W. Power returned from Toronto last night, and to a reporter this morning said, his mission in that city was to secure talent for some very grand concerts, which are shortly to be given at the Queen's Opera house. Among those secured, is Miss Florence Mabel Glover, a young soprano, whom Mr. Power claims will make a great hit here. She was secured for the "G. T. Ry. employee's" concert, which will be given on April 7th. This is the young lady who sang before "Alexandra" when that lady was last in Toronto, and who received such a very flattering letter from this famous primadonna. Mr. Power also made an offer to Mr. Fred C. Whitney, manager of the Academy, in Toronto, for the appearance of the Laura Schirmer Mapleson Grand Operatic Co., which Mr. Whitney is managing. This company will shortly appear in Ottawa under the immediate patronage of the Governor General. It is to be hoped that the local manager can see his way clear, to bring this elegant company here, as in our opinion no artist in the world to-day, outside possibly of Patti, has the reputation of Laura Schirmer Mapleson. The programme consists of operatic and ballad selections and one act complete of the operas of "Martha" and "Faust"

Huntingdon Council.

TOWN HALL, Moira, March 1.

Council met on this date. Members all present. Minutes read and approved. A communication was received from Mrs. J. Maynes, stating that she was unfortunately able and willing to keep her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Outwater, so that no necessity existed for the Council to grant them anything in the way of charity. On motion, Mr. Ketcheson was ordered to go and see the old people, and try and induce them to live with Mrs. Maynes. An order was given the clerk for $5.40 for registering 28 births, 12 marriages, and 14 deaths, for 1892. Mr. Ketcheson moved, seconded by Mr. McMullen, that Mr. Downey sell to the best advantage the timber on the road allowance between con. 12 and 13, across lots 4 & 5. Council adjourned for an hour.

Council resumed. The Auditors' report was read, and on motion adopted; also the special audit and report of receipts and expenditures from Dec. 31 to March 1. Jno. Graham applied respecting arrears of taxes on lot 16, con. 10. The clerk was instructed to get statement of arrears from Co. clerk. The collector's time was extended to May 29th. On motion of Mr. Downey, seconded by Mr. McMullen, $5 was granted to Wm. Sargent as charity. Council adjourned.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

A Dealer Says It Likely to be Higher Than Ever.

A Belleville coal dealer stated Monday that although coal was likely to drop perhaps 50 cents per ton in April, that the coming season will likely see coal a higher price than at any time heretofore. This was the universal opinion among Buffalo and Detroit coal men, with whom he had recently conforred. The reason given is that there will be an almost certain great scarcity of cars, owing chiefly to the World's Fair traffic. Coal cars have never been in sufficient supply, and box cars have had to be used; these, it is believed, will not now be available. Already coal men are putting forth every effort to obtain a stock for next season's trade.

A Grievance.

A lady comes into our store, selects a boy's suit and asks to have it sent up to see if it will fit. Our Oak Hall store is ready to please sends it up. It suits all right, we get our pay in one month, two months, three months, a year and perhaps never. We do not give credit and we hope our customers will not take too much advantage of approbation, or we will be forced into adopting the cash system—credit is a few merchants have already done. Our customers must just consider a minute that "approbation does not mean credit.

A Pleasing Event.

A happy event took place at the residence of Mr. Philip Badgley, 3rd concession, Tyendinaga, on Wednesday evening, 8th inst., in the marriage of his eldest daughter Nancy Adelade, to Mr. Marvel Brown, of Thurlow. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. J. Young, of Canifton, in the presence of about 40 invited guests. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, which were useful as well as ornimental, and received the heartiest congratulations and best wishes of all present.

SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

KENNEDY RE-ARRESTED

The Escaped Prisoner From Picton Gaol, Again in the Toils.

PICTON, Ont., March 17th.—The prisoner Kennedy, who escaped from the Picton gaol on Wednesday night, was found yesterday at a farm house 7 miles east of Picton. His feet were so badly frozen that he could not walk, and was obliged to remain at the farm house.

Special Mention.

Sick Headaches yield to BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Dr. Low's SULPHUR SOAP is a delightful shampoo. It cleanses the scalp and darkens grey hair.

"March to search" is the old adage. It searches out any weakness of the system, resulting from impure blood. Those who use Ayer's Sarsaparilla find March no more searching or even disagreeable than any other month. This medicine is a wonderful invigorator.

For the convenience of physicians, druggists and the general public, Chas. Clubbe, will visit Belleville, Queens Hotel, on Saturday March 18th, where he can give relief to all persons suffering from rupture or deformity, such as club feet, spinal trouble, bow legs, white swellings, etc. Go and see him.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning grey, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.

The Grand Trunk railway will issue to World's Fair exhibitors and employes tickets at first-class fare and one-third for the return trip to Chicago during the months of March and April, good to return until May 15th, '93, on surrender of certificates which will be supplied by any Grand Trunk agent.

A full meeting of the supreme executive of the Independent Foresters was held at Ottawa last week, and arrangements were made for Dr. Oronhyatekha, the Supreme Chief Ranger, to visit Great Britain for the purpose of instituting high courts in the three kingdoms. The doctor expects to sail on April 22.

THE WAY SHE LOOKS

troubles the woman who is delicate, run-down, or overworked. She's hollow-cheeked, dull-eyed, thin, and pale, and it worries her.

Now, the way to look well is to be well. And the way to be well, if you're any such woman, is to faithfully use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That is the only medicine that's guaranteed to build up woman's strength and to cure woman's ailments. Is a "female complaint," irregularity, or weakness, and in every exhausted condition of the female system—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

There is only one medicine for Catarrh worthy the name. Dozens are advertised, but only the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure you, we'll pay you—$500 in cash!"

A LOVE KNOT

Is sometimes hard to tie, a difficult tie, as it were. The ties we sell are not those of love, but they are lovely, and if used judiciously and with proper taste, may lead to love ties. At any rate all men of proper taste, love to wear proper ties, ties which even though they may not bind, at least indicate a proper harmony between the wearer and the dictates of fashion. Ties of fashion, fashion ties, stylish ties, lovely ties. That's what we sell. Spring ties, ties as bright and varied as the flowers that bloom in April and May. Come and see them.

We have just opened 75 dozen of the very latest. Also 25 dozen spring gloves to hand, Kid, Kangaroo, Antelope, Swede and Naps. All the best make, only at CHAPTER XXXVII.

"OUT ON BAIL."

Miss Brooke was electrified. Such a thing had never occurred to her as possible. After a separation, of dispute, of ill-feeling on either side, here was Lady Alice appearing in her husband's house, and expressing a desire to remain in it. She came to Woburn Place on the evening after her interview with Caspar, and at once made known her wishes to Doctor Sophy.

It was a curious interview. Miss Brooke sat bolt upright on a sofa, with an air of repressed indignation which was excessingly striking; Lady Alice, half enveloped in a soft black fur, was leaning back in the lowest and most luxurious chair the room afforded, with rather more the air of a grande dame than she actually wished to convey. In reality her heart was very soft, and there was moisture in her eyes; but it was difficult for her to shake off an appearance of cold indifference to all the world when Miss Sophia Brooke, M.D., was in her society. She had never understood Doctor Sophy, and Miss Brooke had always detested her.

'Am I to understand, Lady Alice,' said the spinster, in her stiffest voice, 'that my brother wishes you to take up your abode in this house during his absence?'

'Yes, I think so,' said Lady Alice, equably. 'He has wished me to take up my abode here for some time past.'

'Indeed!'

The note of incredulity in her voice angered Caspar's wife.

'I think you hardly understand,' she said with some quiet dignity, 'that I have been to see Mr. Brooke this afternoon. Strange circumstances demand unusual treatment, Miss Brooke. I consulted with my husband as to what we had better do, and he agreed with me that it would be better for Lesley if I came here—at any rate for the present.'

'Better for Lesley!' Miss Brooke was evidently offended. 'I do not think that you need put yourself to any inconvenience—even for Lesley's sake. I will take care of her.'

'But I happen to be her mother,' said Lady Alice, with a touch of amusement in her voice. It struck her as odd that Miss Brooke only amused her now, and did not make her angry at all. 'And we have the world to think of, besides.'

'I scarcely thought you would have troubled yourself very much about what the world said,' remarked Aunt Sophy severely. 'It has said a good deal during the last ten or twelve years.'

'At least it shall not say,' responded Lady Alice, 'that I believe my husband guilty of murder. I have come back to prevent that.'

Miss Brooke looked at her doubtfully. She was not a person of very quick perceptions.

'You mean,' she said at last, 'that you have come back—because——'

'Because he was accused of murder,' said Lady Alice, clearly, 'and I choose to show the world that I do not believe it.'

And Lesley entering from the library, heard the words, and stood transfixed for a moment with pure delight. Then she sprang forward, fell on her knees before her mother, and embraced her with such fervor that Miss Brooke put up her eyeglasses and gazed in surprise.

'Mother! my own dearest mother! you do believe in him, then! and you have come to show us that you do! Oh! how delighted he will be when he knows!'

A little color showed itself in Lady Alice's face. 'He does know,' she whispered, almost with the coyness of a girl.

'And he was delighted was he not? It would be such a comfort to him—just now when he wants every kind of comfort. Oh, mamma, it is so good of you, and I am so glad. Aunt Sophy, are you not glad too?'

Lady Alice tried to stifle this naive utterance, but it would not be repressed, and Aunt Sophy had to rise to the occasion as best she could. With rather a grim face, she rose from her seat and took the step forward towards her brother's wife, holding out a very reluctant hand.

'I appreciate your motives, Lady Alice, and I see that your conduct be out of service to my brother.' Then she relapsed into a colloquial tone. 'But how on earth you mean to live in this part of London, I'm sure I can't imagine. No doubt it seems rather smoky and grimy to you after Mayfair and Belgravia.'

'London is generally a little smoky,' said Lady Alice, smiling in spite of herself. 'Thank you, Sophy; I thought you would do me justice.'

And the hands of the two women met in a friendlier grasp than ever in the days of yore.

'I must see about your room,' said Sophy practically. It was her way of holding out the olive branch. 'You would like to be near Lesley, I suppose. We shall try to make you comfortable, but, of course, you won't expect the luxuries of your own house here.'

'I shall be very comfortable, I am sure,' said Lady Alice.

'What does she mean by talking in that tone?' cried Lesley, hotly, when Doctor Sophy had left the room. 'It was almost insulting!'

'No, my darling, no. It is only a memory of old times when I was exacting and dissatisfied. You see that I must have seemed so, then. I had not much experience in those days; and then your father was quite as much of a reformer as he seems to be now,' said Lady Alice, laughing, in the room; with half a smile. Then the smile died quickly away, however and was succeeded by a look sad and a sigh.

'Ah, poor Caspar!'

'He will be home in a day or two. Everybody says so.'

'I trust so, dearest. And I will stay with you till he comes home.'

'Oh, but now that you have come, mamma, you will never be allowed to go away again.'

'I never said that, Lesley. I have come to maintain a principle, that is all. A wife ought to show that she trusts her husband, if he is falsely accused.'

And then Lad Alice lowered her eyes and changed the subject, for it suddenly occured to her that she had not been very ready in her younger years, to give the trust that now seemed her husband's due.

But she settled down quite naturally in her husband's home during the next few days. Lesley, remembering the discomfort of her own first few weeks, expected her to say that the house was hideous and the neighborhood desirable. But Lady Alice said nothing of the kind. She thought it a fine old house—will built and roomy—far preferable she said to the places she had often occupied in the West End. With different furniture and a little taste it might be made absolutely charming. And when she got as far as 'absolutely charming,' uttered with her chin pillowed on one hand, and her eyes roving meditatively over the drawing-room mantelpiece, Lesley smiled to herself, and gave up all fear that she would ever go away again. Lady Alice had evidently come to the conclusion that it was evidenly her duty to see that Caspar's house was thoroughly redecorated from top to bottom.

But she did not come to this conclusion all at once. There were days when the minds of mother and daughter were too full of sorrow to occupy themselves with upholstery and bric-a-brac. And the day of the adjourned inquest, when Caspar Brooke was allowed to go to his own house on bail, was one of the worst of all.

He came home quietly that afternoon in company with Maurice Kenyon, greeted his family affectionately, but with something of a melancholy air, then went at once to his study, where he shut himself up and began to write and read letters. The cloud was hanging over him still.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation which may be proposed you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.00) by addressing Hoyt & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon tea-moon, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are shocked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectorial Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

Gentlemen,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying tonic in use. A short time ago two very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.
Samuel Blain, Toronto Junction.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

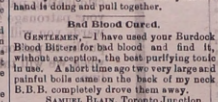

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidneys.—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills, as a cure for kidney, and liver complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines which were recommended without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

Pretty Papers!
There is more in these two P's than you may suppose.
We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during the week. You'll remember the great improvement that was made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. There seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advance has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOU Retrade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of these designs and colorings, and feel perfect y safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced up to date.
One pleasing feature is that these very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c, per roll as well as in 25, 35 and 50c. papers.

CURE

HEAD

ACHE

Cure For Headache,

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed he headache vanishes.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes:—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. My Mother of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used, I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be had. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore runner of more dangerous diseases. Consumptives of the consumptive date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp beds, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for all diseases of the throat and lungs is recommended by Bible's A-ti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicoid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

A Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered

—A Great Modern Triumph.

Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspepsia Cure, as case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could eat but very little, and my weight decreased from 210 to 110 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight. I can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty of your Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and to say to the many sufferers of consuming others of its merits as a certain cure for dyspepsia.

Signed, Jean Valcourt,
Wotton, P. Q.

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating pain after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a wonderful corrective of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into a healthy nutriment. These are just the medicins to take if troubled with indigestion or dy-pepsia.

CROSSING TO JORDAN.

HOW OBSTACLES GROW SMALL AS YOU APPROACH THEM.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Preaches at Detroit of the Passage of Joshua's Host—The River Became a Wall and the Pathway Was Dry Before Them—The Eloquent Preacher Draws Analogies to Help Us on Life's Journey.

Detroit, March 12.—Rev. Dr. Talmage, who is now visiting this city, preached today in Fort Street Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Dr. Radcliffe is pastor, to a large and interested audience on the subject of the Crossing of the Jordan by the Children of Israel, the text being from Joshua 3: 14-17—"And the priests that bare the ark of the Covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the midst of the Jordan, and all the Israelites passed over on dry ground, until all the people were passed clean over Jordan."

Washington crossed the Delaware when crossing was pronounced impossible, but he did it by boat. Xerxes crossed the Hellespont with two millions of men, but he did it by bridge. The Israelites crossed the Red Sea; but the same orchestra that sounded the triumphal song of the one army sounded the strangulation of the other. This Jordanic passage differs from all. There was no sacrifice of human life—not so much as the loss of a linchpin. The vanguard of the host, made up of priests, advanced until they touched with the brim of the river. And when immediately the streets of Jerusalem were no more dry than the bed of that river. It was as if the water had been drawn off, and then the dampness had been soaked up with a sponge, and then by a touch of the rod had been wiped dry. Under goes a great army of Israelites, the hosts in uniform; following them the wives, the children, the flocks, the herds. The people look up at the crystalline wall of the Jordan as they pass, and think what tremendous power it would come to them of, before they got to the opposite bank of that Ajalon wall, that wall should fall on them; and the thought makes the mothers hug their children close to their hearts as they swiften their pace. Quick now; get them all up on the banks, the armed warriors, the wives and children, flocks and herds and let this wonderful Jordanic passage be completed forever."

Sitting on the shelved limestone, I look off upon that Jordan where Joshua crossed under the triumphal arch of the rainbow woven out of the spray; the river which received baptism by which Christ was sprinkled or plunged; the river where the axe—the borrowed axe—miraculously swam at a prophet's order; the river illustrious in the history of the world for heroic faith and omnipotent deliverance, and I am brought out a universe yet to transpire in your life and mine—scenes enough to make us, from the sole of the foot to the crown of the head, tingle with infinite gladness.

Standing on the scene of that affrighted, fugitive river Jordan, I learn for myself and for you, that, that obstacles, which are touched, vanish. The text says that when these priests came down and touched the water—the edge of the water with their feet—the water parted. They did not wads in chin deep, or waist deep, or knee deep, or ankle deep, but as soon as their feet touched the water it vanished. And it makes me think that almost all the obstacles of life need only be approached in order to be removed. Touched, but touched vanished. It is the trouble, the difficulty, the obstacle far in the distance that seems so huge and tremendous.

The Apostles Paul and John seemed to dislike cross dogs; for the Apostle Paul tells us in Philippians, "Beware of dogs;" and John seems to shut the gates of heaven against all the canine species when he says, "Without are dogs." But I have no fear that when these animals are furious, if they come at you, if you will keep your eye on them and advance upon them, they will retreat. What they will be so or not, I cannot tell; but I do know that the vast majorities of the misfortunes and trials and disasters of your life that hound your steps, if you only look at them and your eye on them, and advance upon them, and cry, "Begone," they will think and will go.

There is a beautiful tradition among the American Indians that Manitou was traveling in the forests when he came to a river. He came to a barrier of brambles and sharp thorns, which forbade his going on, and there was a wild beast glaring at him from the thicket; but, as he determined to go on his way, he did pursue it, and those brambles were made to bend and those thorns were found to be only phantoms, and that beast was found to be a powerful ghost, and the impassable river that forbade him rushing to embrace the Yaratilda proved to be only a phantom, river. Well, my friends, the fact is there are a great many things that look terrible across our pathway, which, when we come to them, are only the phantoms, only the apparations, only the delusions of life. Difficulties touched are conquered. Put your feet into the brim of the water, and Jordan retreats. You sometimes see a great duty by standing, it is a very disagreeable duty, you say: "I can't go through it; I haven't the courage, I haven't the intelligence, to go through it." Advance upon it, Jordan will vanish.

I always sigh before I begin to preach, at the appalling undertaking; but as soon as I start it becomes to me an exhilaration. And any duty undertaken with a confident mien becomes a pleasure, and the higher the duty the higher the pleasure. Difficulties touched are conquered. There are a great many people who are afraid of death in the future. Good John Livingston once, on a sloop coming from Elizabethport to New York, was dreadfully alarmed by the approach of a storm. He was going to be drowned as a sudden gust came up. People were surprised at him. If any man on the world was ready to die, it was good John Livingston. So there are now a great many good people who shudder in passing a graveyard, and they hardly dare think of Canaan because of the Jordan that intervenes, but once they are down on it, sick-bed, then all fear of it are gone; the waters of death dashing on the beach are like the mellow voice of ocean shells—the smell of the blossoms of the tree of life; the music of the heavenly choirs comes stealing over the waters, and to cross now is only a flood tide. How long the boat is coming! Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly. Christ the Priest advances ahead, and the dying Christian goes over dry-shod on coral beds, and flowers of heaven, and paths of pearl.

Again, this Jordanic passage teaches me the completeness of everything that God does. When God put an invisible dam across Jordan, and it was halted, it would have been natural, you would have supposed, for the water to have overflowed the region all around about, and that great devastation would have taken place. But when God put the dam in front of the river, he put a dam on the other side of the river, so that, according to the text, the water halted and reared and stood there, and not overflowing the surrounding country. Oh, the completeness of everything that God does!

One would have thought that, if the waters of Jordan had dropped until they were only two or three feet deep, the Israelites might have marched through it, and have come up on the other bank with their clothes saturated and their garments like those of men coming ashore from the wreck of a vessel, and that would have been a wonderful a deliverance; but God does something better than that. When the priests had touched the waters of Jordan and they were drawn off, one might have thought there would have been a bed of mud and slime through the whole army should pass. Draw off the water of the Hudson or Ohio, and there would be a good many clays, and perhaps many weeks, before the sediment would dry up; and yet here, in an instant, immediately, God provides a path through the depths of Jordan, it is so dry, the patsengers do not even get their feet damp. Oh, the completeness of everything that God does! Does he make a universe?—it is a perfect clock, running ever since it was wound up, the fixed stars the pivots, the constellations, the intermovings, wheels, and pendorous laws and weights and weights making perpetual; the stars in the great dome of night, striking the midnight, and the sun with brazen tongue telling the hour of noon. The blazing comet has a chain of law that it cannot break. The thistle-down flying before the schoolboy's breath is controlled by the same law that controls the sun and the planets. The rose-bush in your window is governed by the same principle that governs the tree of the universe on which the stars are ripening fruits, and on which God will one day put the hand and bless you for the fruit—a perfect universe. No astronomy has ever proposed an amendment.

If God makes a Bible, it is a complete Bible. Standing amid the dreadful and delightful truths, you seem to be in the midst of an orchestra where the wailings over sins, and the thrillings over pardon, and the martial strains of victory make the chorus like an anthem of ete nity. This Book answers to every phase of truth, to every wave of which Christ walks—sometimes in the darkness of prophecy, again in the splendor of noon, when he walks on Galilee. In this Book apostle answers to prophet, Paul to Isaiah, Revelation to Genesis—glorious light, turning midnight sorrow into the noontide joy, and dispersing every fog, hushing every tempest. Take that Book—it is the kiss of God on the soul of lost man. Take every other complete Bible! No man has ever proposed any improvement.

God provided a Saviour; he is a complete Saviour—God-man—Divinity and humanity united in the same person. He fed up the starry pillars of the universe and the towers of light. He planted the cedars and the heavenly Lebanon. He struck out of the rock the river of life, singing under the strong, singing under the throne. He quarried the sardonyx and crystal, and the spot of the heavenly wall. He put down the beryl for the foundation of the wall, and heaped up the amethyst for the capital, and swung the twelve gates, which are twelve pearls. In one instant he brought out a universe, and yet He became a child, crying for his mother, feeling along the sides of the manger, feeling for the teat. Omnipotence sheathed in the muscle and flesh of a child's arm; Omnipotence strung in the optic nerve of a child's eye; infinite love beating in a child's heart; a great God appearing in the form of a child one year old; five years old, fifteen years old. While all the heavens were ascribing to Him glory, and honor, and power, on earth men said, "Who is this fellow?" While all the heavenly hosts, with folded wings about their faces, bowed down before Him, crying "Holy, holy!" on earth they denounced Him as a blasphemer and a sot. Rocked in a boat at Gennesaret, and yet He it is that undirked the lightning from the storm-cloud, and dismasted Lebanon of its forests, and holds in the five oceans on the tip of His finger, as a leaf holds the raindrop. Oh, the complete Saviour, rubbing His hand over the place where we have the seam, yet the stars of heaven the adorning gems of His right hand. Holding us in longed for the day when we were to go barefooted, and after teasing our mothers in regard to it for a good while and they consented, we remember it was delicious sensation of the cool grass when we put our uncovered foot on it. And the time will come when these graves we wear now, too, will be out of the sharp places of this world, shall be taken off, and with unsaudalled feet we will step into the fields of the river with feet untrammelled, free from pain and fatigue, we will gain that last journey, when, with one foot in the boat of the river and the other foot on the other bank, we struggle upward. That will be heaven. Oh, I pray for all my dear people a safe Jordanic passage. That is what the dying Christian husband felt when he said, "How the candle flickers, Nellie. But it is out I shall sleep well to-night, and wake in the morning.

One word of comfort on this subject for all the bereaved. You see, our departed friends have not been submerged—have not been swamped in the waters; they have only crossed over. These Israelites are just as thoroughly alive on the western banks of the Jordan as they had been on the eastern banks of the Jordan, and our departed Christian friends have only crossed over—not sick, not dead, not exhausted, not extinguished, not blotted out; but with more healthier sensation, more stouter pulses and keener eyesight, and better prospects; crossed over! their sins, their physical and moral disquiet, all left clear this side, an eternally-flowing, impassable obstacle between them and all human and satanic assault. Crossed over! Oh, I shake hands of congratulation with all the bereaved in the consideration that our departed Christian friends are safe.

BRIGGS AND SMITH.

A Large Majority of Presbyterian Ministers Vote Against Them.

Cincinnati, O., March 18.—The ballot of the Presbyterian ministers on the Briggs and Smith heresy case and on the doctrine of inspiration, which was taken some time ago by The Cincinnati Post, is practically complete. A few scattering votes from far distant regions—in Asia and Africa—will drop in during the course of the next two months, but these cannot change the result.

Blank ballots were sent to every twelfth Presbyterian minister whose name was found on the church roll in the General Assembly minutes of 1892. Of the 225 ballots received, 229 endorsed the deliverance of the General Assembly at Portland on the inerrancy of the Scriptures.

Professors Briggs and Smith are overwhelmingly defeated by a majority equal to that in the last Presbyterian general assembly at Portland. The Bible is also endorsed as a book practically without error and containing the true messages of God to man. Higher criticism as explained by Prof. Briggs is condemned as destructive and as not to be tolerated.

Against this vote stand 50 ballots from ministers who do not approve of the deliverance and are mostly on the side of Prof. Briggs and Smith.

A dozen or more of the dissenters declare, however, their faith in the Bible as an inerrant boon, but claim that the general assembly at Portland overstepped its rightful powers in enforcing a new dogma on the church.

MET DEATH IN THE BUSH

A SAPLING THAT BECAME A CATAPULT.

John Dodds, a Farmer Near Jerseyville, Killed By a Flying Branch From A Falling Tree—His Head Was Horribly Mangled.

Dundas, Ont., March 18.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday near Jerseyville, resulting in the death of Mr. John Dodds, a well-to-do farmer. The unfortunate man went out to the woods some time during the forenoon, and commenced cutting down trees which were to be sawn into wood during the day. Mr. John Stenabaugh and himself.

Mr. Dodds had felled a tree of small size, and then undertook to saw it into lengths. Then, as the large one cleared itself, the latter returned to position with lightning speed and a broken limb which was entangled in its branches was driven with terrible force, striking the unfortunate man on the right side of the head and crushing the skull and almost cutting off the whole upper portion.

Hamilton, March 18.—A writ has been issued by S. F. Washington, on behalf of Melvin Long of Nelson, claiming $5000 damages from Fulford & Co. of Brockville, proprietors of the Pink Pill remedy. Long was advertised in all the papers in February as the "Halton Miracle," and there was a column and a half of elaborate description of Mr. Long's sufferings from inflammatory rheumatism and how he was cured by taking Pink Pills.

Mr. Long objects to having himself advertised as a freak, and has instructed his solicitor to enter an action for damages. The subject of suing for libel all the papers that published the article is also under consideration.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my sight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my body, breaking out in scales. My hair was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one scale. It got down my entire body; my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and peel off in large scales, and would crack and bleed when scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable by a board of the Cuticura Remedies, and after using boxes of Cuticura Ointment, I could get no change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, one box of Cuticura, and one cake of Cuticura Soap, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the Remedies. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and not to my weight.

BEHRING SEA ARBITRATION.

London Free Press: During the absence of Sir John Thompson at Paris, attending the Behring Sea conference, the Hon Mackenzie Bowell, Senior Privy Councillor, will act as Premier—Hon. Mr. Foster, Finance Minister, leading in the Commons. Alluding to the appointment of Sir John Thompson as Canadian Commissioner for this distinguished service, the Empire says: The precedents established by the choice of Sir John Macdonald to assist the Imperial representative in negotiating the Washington treaty in 1871; the selection of the Hon. George Brown to act with Sir Edward Thornton in 1874, in endeavoring to secure a reciprocity treaty with the States; the appointment of Sir A. T. Galt in connection with trade negotiations with Spain, and of Sir Charles Tupper in 1888, whose diplomacy so successfully evolved the Fisheries Treaty, have now been followed by Sir John Thompson's appointment as one of the two British arbitrators on the Behring Sea commission. The Court of Arbitration now stands as follows:

Arbitrators—Great Britain, Lord Hannen and Sir John Thompson; United States, Justice John M. Harlan and Senator J. P. Morgan; Italy, Marquis Visconti Venosta; Norway and Sweden, M. Grasr.

Agents—Great Britain, Hon. C. H. Tupper; United States, ex-Secretary J. W. Foster.

Counsel—Great Britain, Sir Richard Webster, Sir Charles Russell and Mr. Christopher Robinson; United States, Mr. J. S. Carter and Judge H. B. W. Blodgett.

It is not saying too much to assert that of all the seven arbitrators Sir John has the most thorough grasp of the Behring Sea question, and with his power of mastering details and presenting a clear strong logical case, the strongest hope may be entertained that the interests of Canada in the arbitration will be carefully guarded. Hon. Mr. Tupper, the British agent, is likewise thoroughly posted, and his vigor and ability will stand our interests in good stead. Not only do the good wishes of the Conservatives of Canada follow Sir John Thompson in his mission, but we feel sure our Liberal friends can consistently wish him every success.

VESTED RIGHTS.

The action of the City Council in rushing through the Electric Railway By-Law is commented on by many very unfavorably, inasmuch as it affected vested rights. Whilst there are those who say, give us cheap light, and we care not whose pocket is affected. It should be remembered that when the present gas company invested capital in their works, it was with the understanding that they had a vested right, otherwise this capital would not be interested, and until it is shown that an unreasonable profit is made by the company, their rights should be carefully guarded by the council, if it is expected that capital will be forthcoming for any enterprise in the city. It may be said that the action is in the direction of economy, to which we reply that the council is paying for many more expensive electric lights than their contract calls for, simply because the lamps are in existence and no member of the council seems to have the cause of the city sufficient at heart to demand the reduction called for by the contract between the city and the present lessee of the gas works.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL ASPIRANT.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy is evidently desirous of figuring as the Canadian Gladstone. In one respect he certainly imitates the great English statesman very successfully, that is in going back on his former convictions. In other respects he reminds us of the story of Salmoneus, who strove to imitate the thunder of Jupiter by building a bridge of brass, and driving furiously over it in a brazen chariot. He soon found out to his cost that he was not Jupiter, and the division of Thursday night may perhaps convince Mr. McCarthy that he is NOT GLADSTONE.

Patriotic Resolution.

The following resolution was passed unanimously at the Grand Lodge Sons of England at the meeting held at Montreal this week:

"That believing the interests of Canada will be best conserved by its continuance as an integral portion of the British Empire, this Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England Benevolent Society hereby re-affirm the clause in the constitution of the society with the maintenance of British connection as one of the fundamental principles of the Sons of England, declares its unswerving devotion to the throne of Great Britain, and calls upon all loyal citizens to deprecate in the strongest terms the agitation recently inaugurated in the Dominion with the object of securing the annexation of Canada to the United States."

Holding the Train.

"Madam, we miss the train at B—."
"But can't you make it, sir?" she gasped;
"Impossible, it leaves at three,
And we are due a quarter past."
"Is there no way? Oh, tell me, then,
Are you a Christian?" "I am not.
"And are the other men among the men
Whom in the train?" "No—I—forgot—
I think I see a fellow over here,
Quite the engine, claim to be."
She threw upon its engineer
A fair face white with agony.

"Are you a Christian?" "Yes, I am."
"Then O! sir, won't you pray with me,
A little long way, that God will stay,
'Tis God will stay the train at B—?"
"I will do so good; its due at 4 per,
And—" Yes, but God can hold the train;
My dying child is calling me,
And I must see her face again:
Oh won't you pray?" "I will," a nod
Emphatic, as he takes his place.
When Christ has given the arm of God
They grasp the power that rules the race.

Out from the station swept the train
On time,—swept past wood and lea;
The engineer, with cheeks aflame,
Prayed "Oh Lord, hold the train at B—"
Then flung the throttle wide, and like
Some giant monster of the plain,
With panting sides and mighty strides,
Fast hill and valley swept the train.

A hal, a minute, two are gained,
Along those burnished lines of steel
His glances leap, each nerve is strained,
And still he prays with fervent zeal;
Heart, hand and brain, with one accord,
Work, while his prayer ascends to heaven—
"Just hold the train eight minutes, Lord, Help us make up the other seven."

With rush and roar through meadow lands,
Past cottage home, and green hill sides,
The panting thing obeys his hand
And speeds a score with giant strides;
They say an accident delayed
The train a little while, but He
Who listened while His children prayed,
In ANSWER heard the train at B—.

"March to search" is the old adage. It searches out any weakness of the system, resulting from impure blood. Those who use Ayer's Sarsaparilla find March no more searching or even disagreeable than any other month. This medicine is a wonderful invigorator.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning gray, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.

A. P. Noakes, Mattawa, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled for years with rheumatism and nervous debility, and after using six boxes of your Dr. Williams Pink Pills am entirely restored to health, and can do a good day's work." Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50. Dr. Williams Med., Co. Brockville, Ont.

Talk's Cheap.

There's lots o' quaint ol' sayin's
I've noticed in my day—
Big truths and solid principles
Told in the shortest way.
My father sut to have one,
An' this is how it ran:
"Talk's cheap, my boy," he sut to say,
"But money buys the lan'."

I own the sayin' honest,
Undaunted, rough and rough;
But then it tells just what you mean,
An' tells it hard enough.
An' when you git to thinkin'
How short is life's mortal span,
It's well to min' "that talk is cheap,
But money buys the lan'."

'Twon't do to boast an' bluster
An' brag an' try to bluff;
An' don't you git to thinkin'
That words 'ain't up to snuff,"
It is an' while you're blowin'
Your own basoo, my man;
There's scores of people say'n, "talk is cheap
But money buys the lan'."

Significance of Intermarriages.

The American nation exhibits in it heterogeneous character the results of the divinely directed law, without the operations of which all other means toward the development of a common impulse of patriotism would be hindered and crippled, writes John Lambert Payne. An appeal to statistical facts is here opportune. By reference to the census returns of 1881—those for 1891 being unfinished—it will be seen that there were then living in the United States 57,531 persons having native fathers and foreign mothers, and 1,337,664 who had native mothers and foreign fathers. These figures, while clearly establishing the fact I had just indicated, also show the nature of the intermarriages which had taken place up to that time. It was a significant thing that the affinities formed between foreign men and native women were considerably more numerous than those between native men and foreign women.

JULES FERRY DEAD.

The Effect of Heart Disease Caused By Stating that in the Ribs.

PARIS, March 18.—Jules Francois Camile Ferry, the celebrated French statesman, is dead.

M. Ferry's death was caused by heart disease, due to the effects of a bullet striking a rib near the base of the heart, at the time he was attacked by Aubert in 1887.

He was seized with spasms early in the morning and despite every effort made by the physicians who were hastily summoned the convulsions continued to grow in violence until at 6 o'clock in the evening he expired in a terribly severe storm.

The news of M. Ferry's death astounded the city. No other event since Gambetta's death has made such a deep impression. Only three evenings ago he was at the opera, and yesterday he presided over the Senate. The extra editions got out immediately after the announcement of the death are still selling everywhere in enormous numbers.

Last week M. Ferry resigned the presidency of The Patrie newspaper and the presidency of the National Republican Association that he might devote himself entirely to his duties in the Senate.

The general feeling is that although his election to the presidency of the Senate was contrary to the wishes of M. Carnot and M. Ribot, his death is a serious loss to the Government. In the case of another cabinet crisis he, in his official capacity, would be the first man to whom M. Carnot would have been found to turn for advice. It was well known even now that M. Ferry's supporters in the Senate compelled his election in the room of M. Leroyer, who was believed to be the qualities necessary for such a part in the next crisis.

With M. Carnot as President, M. Ribot as Premier, M. Casimir Perier as President of the Board of Agriculture, regarding Canadian cattle is regarded as the best obtainable by those in Dominion circles in London.

The opposition of the farming interests of the United Kingdom, excepting part of Scotland, prevents but the immediate rescinding of the schedule.

It was, therefore, decided by Mr. Gardner that arrangements should be made for a systematic inspection of the lungs of all Canadian cattle landed during the first few weeks of the season. It is the belief that a very short period of this treatment will remove every reasonable doubt of Canada's freedom from the disease. However, Mr. Gardner refuses to name a specific date for the removal of the restrictions, but he says the more healthy the cattle that arrive the sooner the embargo will be removed.

Canada's policy, therefore, is to hurry along all the healthy cattle that she can, insisting, meanwhile, upon a most rigorous inspection at Montreal.

A CONSUL ASTONISHED.

A Bomb Exploded in His Palace at Rome.

ROME, March 18.—Yesterday a bomb exploded on the Ancini Mattai Palace, the residence of U.S. Minister Potter. The explosion did but slight damage.

The United States Minister called at the Foreign Office this afternoon and told Signor Brin, Minister of Foreign Affairs, he was convinced that the explosion was not intended to injure him or affront the United States Government. He expressed his regret that such an embarrassing incident had occurred and assured Signor Brin of the sympathy of the United States Government and its willingness to let the affair pass unnoticed.

Signor Brin thanked him for his visit and two hours later returned the call to inform him that the Italian Government felt the deepest regret on account of the inconvenience caused to him and his family by the explosion.

AN AFRICAN PLAGUE.

He Blew Himself and Nine Others to Atoms.

BERLIN, March 18.—A miner named Bohme purposely exploded 10 pounds of dynamite in the iron mine Volkmarskeller in the Harz district. He and six other miners were torn to atoms.

Upon leaving home this morning he gave his wife a letter which he said was not to be opened till noon. The letter said merely that Bohme would never return.

Bohme's motive is supposed to have been revenge, as he had had trouble recently with the superintendent of the mine and was constantly quarreling with his fellow-workmen.

A PLAGUE IN AFRICA.

Caused by Lengthy Drought and Famine Sickness.

CAIRO, March 18.—Prolonged drought is causing much damage in the north of Africa. There has been no rain in the Vilayet of Barca for five months and Tripoli has suffered almost as badly. Famine sickness is rife and the plague prevails everywhere, due to the poisonous emanations from putrifying carcasses.

One half of the population of Bengazi, the chief town of Barca, is dead, among the victims being the Governor and the Cadi of the district and many Europeans. The Italian Consul and all of the rich Europeans have fled to Egypt or Malta.

Blake Will Not Lead.

LONDON, March 18.—Mr. Edward Blake rejects the suggestion that he may lead the Irish party. Mr. Blake further states that he has no intention of remaining in England after the Irish Home Rule battle is won. He states he has formed too many ties after 30 years' residence in Canada to lightly overcome the desire to return to his familiar fireside.

Political Progress in Norway.

CHRISTIANIA, March 18.—The Storthing has passed by a vote of 94 to 50 a resolution asserting the right of Norway to a separate consular service abroad and complete autonomy at home in all matters not described in the Act of Union of 1814 as pertaining to the union of Norway and Sweden.

Rosebery to Travel.

LONDON, March 18.—The Standard's Rome correspondent says it was reported that the Earl of Rosebery will accompany Queen Victoria on her Italian trip and will meet in Florence the Italian and German Ministers of Foreign Affairs.

Gladstone Welcomed.

LONDON, March 18.—Mr. Gladstone was received with cheers Friday when he entered the House of Commons after his recent illness. All the Irish members of Parliament and many of the British Liberal mobs wore shamrocks in their buttonholes in honor of St. Patrick's day.

Bradstreet's Report.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Wholesale trade throughout the Province of Ontario is fairly satisfactory and prices generally are firm, except for grain, which is dull.

Spring trade in Nova Scotia will be later this year than last year, as the interior is still covered with large accumulations of ice and snow.

Bank clearings at Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Halifax aggregate $19,982,000 this week, which is 5 per cent. more than last week and 15 per cent. more than in the week one year ago.

There were 33 business failures reported in the Dominion this week against 48 last week, 37 in the like week a year ago and 30 in 1891.

The "squeeze" at Montreal yesterday was the customary period of tight money prior to the opening of navigation, aggravated by bankers and others there having sent to Ottawa a few days about $500,000 to New York to loan.

WELLINGTON.

The special evangelistic services in the Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. O. R. Lambly, are increasing in interest and power. An afternoon prayer service is now daily held at 3 p. m., and the good work is spreading and growing. The Rev. M. J. Bates, conference evangelist, will be present on Sabbath and following week to assist the pastor in this good work.

Quack Advertisements.

Are a nuisance and we think it behooves publishers to exclude into the merits of many articles puffed up in their columns. We do not deny that many meritorious articles are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe suffering by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable for them to condemn that far-famed remedy? Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nerviline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of the pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief.

It is a Very Sad Thing.

To see young and beautiful people die when they might just as well live and enjoy health and strength. Many who suffer with coughs, colds and lung troubles leading to consumption, imagine there is no hope for them, when in reality there is every hope if Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is taken regularly. Spread the news everywhere that this great Emulsion will make flesh and blood, cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and lung troubles tending to consumption. In big bottles 50c and $1 at all Drug Stores.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES
AFTER YEARS OF TERRIBLE SUFFERING.
AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

STATEMENT OF MR. WM. MCNEE.

For eight years I was troubled with a sore on my leg which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines but with no benefit. In 1893 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and keep my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot on the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream and my leg swelled to twice its natural size.

ELEVEN RUNNING SORES

developed on it which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs. in four months). Friends advised me to go to the Hospital; but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B.B.B., after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I washed the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the sixth bottle my leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose bone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as anyone, and all this I owe to B. B. B., which certainly saved my leg, if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, it will cure you as it did me.

Yours truly,
WM. MCNEE, St. Ives P.O., Ont.

Mr. F. C. Sandison, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district.

DIED IN CALIFORNIA.

George Maclean Passes Away Before His Mother Reaches His Bedside.

A telegram was received here to-day from Riverside, Cal., announcing the death at 3.15 this morning of Geo. Maclean, son of Rev. M. W. Maclean, pastor of St. Andrew's church. The deceased last fall, in company with his father, went to California in search of health. The change did not seem to do him any good, and he continued to grow gradually worse until, as the telegram states he "passed peacefully away." Mrs. Maclean left last Wednesday for his bedside and the fact that his mother might arrive before his death seemed to brighten the sufferer. Mrs. Maclean, however, will not reach Riverside until to-morrow noon. The remains will be brought to Belleville for burial. The deceased was born in Kingston twenty three years ago. The family soon after moved to Port Hope, attending in Belleville seven years ago. The deceased was educated at high school here. After leaving school he entered the office of John Bell, Q.C., as a stenographer. A naturally delicate constitution developed lung disorder, and after everything that medical skill could do was found to be of no avail, the deceased was taken to California. The family have the sympathy of their friends in their bereavement.

A SAGACIOUS DOG.

A St. Bernard Undoubtedly Saves a Child's Life.

The wonderful sagacity of the St. Bernard dog was demonstrated in a remarkable manner this week. Mr. Wm. Clarke, butcher, was shipping hogs. While the men were away a monstrous boar got out of its pen and entered a yard where Mr. Clarke's daughter was playing. As soon as the boar saw the child he made for her. In an instant a magnificent St. Bernard dog, the gift of Mr. Phil. Hart, bounded to the rescue. He rushed onto the animal and furiously attacked it, finally driving it out at the other end of the yard. The child was rescued by Mrs. Clarke. The dog remained watch over the hog until the men returned several hours afterwards. The child would have been killed but for the interference of the dog.

AMUSEMENTS

Mr. Power received a telegram from Mr. Whitney, of Toronto, this morning, that he would put in the Laura Schirmer Operatic Co., for one night only, Wednesday March 29. They will come direct from Ottawa in which city they will appear under the patronage of their Excellencies the Governor General and Lady Stanley of Preston. Miss Mapleson has already appeared before the crowned heads of nearly all the European nations, and is undoubtedly the finest singer that has ever visited this city. This will be indeed a great treat to the music loving people of Belleville, as Grand Opera is something very unusual in this city. It is altogether likely that the opera produced will be "Faust."

If there is a man in Belleville, or in this part of the country, who has any doubt that the Oak Hall cannot save them $8 to $10 on a spring overcoat, let them go to their tailor, get samples of their $20 coats, then come and make a comparison with our $10 coat. When we claim to save you $8 or $10, we do not mean to give an inferior piece of cloth, fit or trimmings, as that would not be saving your money. Whatever you do see the good Oak Hall $10 coat before you buy.

Died From Paralysis.

On Tuesday afternoon, February 28th, Mrs. Wm Hannah, who resides on Everett street, was stricken with paralysis. She has since remained in an unconscious condition until last evening when she expired. The deceased, who was born in this city 57 years ago, was married to her sorrowing husband some seven years ago. She leaves but one child, a boy 3 years of age. To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

The Price of Coal.

MR EDITOR,—I observe that a coal dealer in this city has informed the INTELLIGENCER that the prospects are favorable for higher prices next winter. This is not pleasant news for consumers. The information, however, suggests a few questions. Why has coal sold for 50c. a ton more in Belleville, during the season now closing, than in Kingston? There, the best quality was retailed at $5.75 per ton; here, we had to pay $6.25. A Kingston paper, noticing this matter, remarked that consumers in that city knew there was no combination of coal dealers for the purpose of raising the price. Was there a combination here? It certainly costs as much to take a ton of coal to Kingston as to Belleville. Will that coal dealer who poses as a prophet please rise and explain? Yours, &c.,

A POOR MAN.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Fittingly Celebrated by a Grand Concert in the Opera House.

The very prettiest concert which has been seen in Belleville for a long time, was that given by the congregation of St. Michael's in the opera house last night, under the direction of Mr. J. N. Doyle, organist of that church. The ensemble singing, the lovely costuming, and posing of the children of Loretto and the smooth manner in which everything was carried out showed splendid management and good taste on the part of that young gentleman. In Mr. N. B. Falkiner he had the co-operation of a most edifying chairman, whose manner and fine eloquence lent dignity and grace to the occasion. Mr. Falkiner's opening address was a jewel of eloquence, magnanimous sentiment and broad intellectuality. His subject, St. Patrick, he treated with the innate grace of a scholar and liberal-minded gentleman. St. Michael's was honored highly and it will not, from the evidence of the applause which greeted his remarks, forget that honor in a long time.

Miss Marie De Lorme, of Hamilton, was the prima donna of the evening. She has an extraordinary beautiful mezzo-soprano voice which she handles with marvellous grace. We hope to hear her often again in Belleville. Miss E. Downs was in splendid form. Her clear, fresh, soprano voice was a revelation and the wonder was evinced that she is not heard oftener. The piano duets of the Misses St. Charles and Misses L. Lynch and A. Fahey, all pupils of the Sisters of Loretto, showed the splendid effect and careful training of the good sisters. Miss. Annie Nicholson was most pleasing in her beautiful recitations, which were some of the best features of the evening. Mr. Geo. Fax, as usual, had the house all his own way. The audience regretted very much that Mr. Frank Lewis, always a pleasing singer, was unable to attend owing to a severe cold. Mr. J. N. Doyle was never in better voice and he proved firmly the often expressed opinion, that there is scarcely in this country a more pleasing or richer voiced baritone. The closing chorus when the National Anthem of Ireland and God Save the Queen were sang together was typical of the fine broad, edifying sentiment of the whole entertainment which was a credit to Belleville and the Irish race. The accompanists were Misses Winnie Vorce and Lena Mackie, who acquitted themselves splendidly.

THE IRISHMEN VICTORIOUS

St. Patrick's Day Honorably Upheld by the Irish Curlers.

As is usual on St. Patrick's Day, when ice is available, an Irish rink challenges all comers to a friendly contest. Yesterday was no exception to this rule. The Irishmen, with the influence of St. Patrick hovering about them, were able to defeat the Scotch rink easily. At 3 o'clock the game was commenced in the presence of a large number of spectators, who took much interest in the match. Mr. F. Dolan skipped the successful skip and with his rink played a first class game. Mr. Thos. Thomlie skipped the defeated rink. At the close of the lovers of the "green" took a decout lead which they maintained until the over. At times some difficult shots were made, players upon both sides. The players' score were as follows:

Irishmen.	Scotchmen.
M. D. Ward	A. Harris
J. Bonar	J. Gordon
J. V. Jenkins	D. B. Robertson
F. Dolan, skip—28	T. Thompson, skip—9

The score by ends was as follows:

IRISHMEN 1 1 2 1 3 1 2 3 1 4 4 2—28.

SCOTCHMEN—3 1 1 2 2—9.

IN THE EVENING.

Whilst the game was in progress during the afternoon a challenge was given to the successful rink to play in the evening against a Canadian rink. This the Irishmen accepted, but were defeated. They had in the afternoon played for three hours, and were in consequence not in a condition to play again in the evening against fresh players. Mr. Jenkins skipped the Irish rink and Mr. Jos. D. Clarke, the Canadian rink. Sixteen ends were played, at the conclusion of which the Canadians were 5 shots ahead. The score was:

Irishmen.	Canadians.
M. D. Ward	E. H. LaMoche
J. Bonar	P. Ritchie
F. Dolan	W. H. Biggar
J. V. Jenkins, skip—10	J. D. Clarke, skip—15

NOTES.

An old Scotchman yesterday afternoon consoled his countrymen by saying that it was well for the Irish that there was no curling on St. Andrew's Day.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES UNDER DISCUSSION.

Four Judges Appointed—Exports and Imports—Lieutenant-Governor Chapleau Wants Better Health and is Going to Europe for Three Months.

OTTAWA, March 18.—Yesterday was to a large extent a wasted day. The House was in supply nearly all the afternoon and evening on the supplementary estimates for the current year, but very little progress has been made, the time being mostly taken up discussing the quarantine items, without anything very new or useful being adduced.

Previous to going into supply Hon. Mr. Mills called attention to the position of American consuls in collecting fees for certificates on goods exported from Canada to the United States. He thought this was an extra charge put on Canadian goods, as he did not think this charge was made on goods entering the United States from other countries.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that he could not tell whether those fees were established by law or not, but it had been the practice for years for American consuls to collect fees. The consuls were paid by fees, and he believed they collected them in other countries.

The Steamboat Inspection Act passed through committee and was reported.

The act to amend the act relating to holidays passed through committee, was read a third time and passed.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, passed a few minor items and the balance of the time up to 6 o'clock was taken up discussing the quarantine items in supplementary estimates.

After recess the Act to amend the Act incorporating the Eastern Canada Savings and Loan Co. was read a second time.

A number of private bills were read a third time and passed, amongst them the following:

To further amend the act to enable the city of Winnipeg to utilize the Assiniboine River water power.

Act respecting the Canadian Power Co., amended by Select Standing Committee on miscellaneous private bills.—Mr. Tisdale.

Act for the relief of Martha Ballantyne.—Mr. Sutherland.

Act for the relief of James Balfour.—Mr. Sutherland.

Act for the relief of Edmund Holyoake Heward.

Act to incorporate the Automatic Telephone and Electric Company of Canada.—Mr. Girouard (Jacques Cartier).

Act to incorporate the Atlantic and Pacific Railway Company.—Mr. Bergin.

Act respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.—Mr. Baker.

Act to incorporate the Grand Council of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association of Canada.—Mr. Devlin.

Act respecting the British America Assurance Company.—Mr. Cockburn.

House again went into supply.

To-day's Canada Gazette will contain the appointment of W. W. Fitzgerald of London as county judge of Welland; Junior Judge Barrett of Bruce to be county judge of Bruce, and A. B. Klein of Walkerton as junior judge; also of Neil McLeod of Charlottetown as County Court judge of Prince County, P.E.I.

The exports for the month of February were $9,770,822, a decrease of $347,069 on same month last year.

The total value of goods entered for consumption last month was $7,989,834, an increase of $56,589 over February last year. Duty collected, $1,582,239, a decrease of $209,336 from same month last year.

Notice is given of application for incorporation by letters patent of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company, headquarters at Waubaushene, Ont., capital $200,000.

Deposits in Government savings banks last month were $222,512, and withdrawals $210,379.

Lieut. Governor Chapleau has been granted three months' leave of absence to visit Europe for the benefit of his health. His Honor Chief Justice Taschereau will be administrator of the province during Lieut.-Governor Chapleau's absence.

FRANCO-CANADIAN TREATY.

In Paris the Greatest Surprise is Manifested at Canada's Action.

LONDON, March 18.—Sir John Thompson, the Dominion Premier, arrived here yesterday.

He will at once be notified by the Imperial Government of the strange position which the French Canadian Treaty has been placed by the declaration of Hon. Geo. Foster in the Dominion Commons, and

The prevalent English view of the matter is reciprocated in France. In Paris the greatest surprise is expressed at Canadian action. The matter is a theme of general comment in French political circles, and comparisons are being instituted between Canada and Newfoundland.

It is to be regretted that owing to the contradictory statements and conflicting reports arising over the bait question and the troubles on the Newfoundland French shore, France regards her ancient treaty rights as worthless. Owing to the action of the Canadian Government in the matter of the French treaty, there is a disinclination to place the Dominion in the same category.

Another result to be feared, these Paris advices state, is that the whole thing will throw discredit on the Canadian representatives in the Behring Sea arbitration.

In London there is no abatement of the harsh expressions that I called on Wednesday. The British officials are much incensed, and the more the matter is talked about the worse this feeling grows.

I may instance the extent of the indignation by saying that one official expressed the opinion that Canada's action was unparalleled.

It must seriously hamper the extension of treaty-making powers to any of the colonies since Canada occupies a first position.

Another official says that Great Britain can't afford to be made a laughing stock of to the world through a colonial minister.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Pretty Papers!

There is more in these two Ps than you may suppose.

We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during the week. You'll remember the great improvement that was made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. These seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advance has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOUR trade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of these designs and colorings, and feel perfectly safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced up to date.

One pleasing feature is that these very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c. per roll as well as in 25, 30 and 50c. papers.

THE GERMAN ARMY BILL

A VIOLENT POLITICAL CONTEST SEEMS IMMINENT.

Stirring Events Will Follow the Rejection of the Army Bill—Dissolution of the Reichstag and an Appeal to the Country.

BERLIN, March 20.—Before the final vote on the Army Bill the committee left the Government face to face with a definitely hostile majority Chancellor von Caprivi had conferences with Herren Richter, Rickert, Bennigsen and Lieber, the chiefs of the parties represented by the committee. The negotiations left the Government and the committee more hostile than ever towards each other. Only the Conservative and Free Conservative members of the committee supported the bill. The Chancellor gave as resolute a rejection to Herr Bennigsen's compromise proposals, though they largely conceded the Government's demands, as he did to the proposal of Herr Lieber, which conceded nothing. Herr Lieber's proposal, about which much mystery has been maintained, showed that the Center party had no desire to further treat with the Government. His proposal was practically the submission of a new bill providing for the reduction of the present peace effective with a reduced term of service, the Government having the option in the event of emergencies to retain in active service the men who had served their term.

The report of the committee will be submitted to the Reichstag after Easter. Every indication now points to the Reichstag supporting the committee. The determined attitude of the Chancellor proves that Emperor William has resolved to take an extra step. It is now expected that the Reichstag will be dissolved at the end of April. The closing speeches in the committee had a pronounced election character, being cast directed to criticism of the bill than to attacks upon the Government.

Herr Richter declared the rejection of Herr Bennigsen's compromise was an event in the light of which the whole political situation was to be viewed. He added that he was proof that there was no possibility to deal with a Government behind which was an imperious will. All the parties, he said, were pledged to the defence of constitutionalism against absolutism.

Herr von Bennigsen denounced the stand made by Chancellor von Caprivi as precluding all hope of an arrangement and assuring the certainty of shipwreck to the bill. He declared that the obstinacy of the Government would precipitate a general election. Were the ministers aware, he asked, of what dissolution implied? It would bring to the surface the whole political confusion and would cause disorders hitherto unknown to the German electors. Herr Bennigsen warned the Government that they had no chance to rally the country to their side. They could rely upon the Conservatives, the Conservatives, and not even the Conservatives unless they made terms with the agrarian faction.

Then Freiherr von Buol-Berenberg, a Centrist, posed as an advocate of financial retrenchment, repeating all the old arguments on that question.

Chancellor von Caprivi rightly characterized the Centrist proposals as the negation of the object of the bill. Herr Bennigsen's proposal he rejected on the ground that the Federal Governments must adhere to the complete scheme of reorganization submitted to the Reichstag. The Chancellor held that the reiterated appeal of the Government to consider the burdens upon the Empire was insulting, and he declined to reply to Herr Bennigsen's predictions about the results of the committee's refusal to pass the bill. Finally the Chancellor tried to defend the action of the Government as entirely constitutional. He resented Herr Richter's remarks about absolutism and suggested that he might yet obtain the support of the National Liberals. Nothing, however, seems to justify this suggestion unless the Government's policy is modified. The National Liberals would be in opposition at a general election, and Herr Bennigsen, who is now Provincial President of Hanover, would have to resign his post. But the question is, is dissolution inevitable? The Emperor must first obtain the consent of the Bundesrath or Federal Council, the Bavarian and Saxon members of which are known to be absolutely hostile to an appeal to the country, preferring the withdrawal of the Army Bill. If the Bundesrath refuses the Emperor's demand for the dissolution of the Reichstag, Chancellor von Caprivi must resign. If dissolution occurs the outlook for all parties is perplexing.

Herr von Kleist-Retzow at yesterday's meeting of the committee promised the Government the united support of the Conservatives. He spoke with too much assurance. Herren Mirbach, Manteuffel and other prominent Conservatives are already threatening to desert the Government unless the Chancellor's commercial treaty policy is abandoned.

Amid the complications of an electoral contest some of the National Liberals oppose while others would support the Government. Some of the Conservatives in the event of an appeal to the country will ask for the support of the electors mainly on the anti-Jewish platform. Others will stand purely Government candidates. The Freisinnge, Centre and Socialist parties with their clearly defined platforms would probably reappear in the Reichstag so reinforced as to compel the Emperor to yield or raise a tremendous contest between the monarch and Parliament. The last words of Herr Bennigsen pointed to these issues. If the Government, he said, persisted, Germany had reason to dread that she would be thrown into conflicts of such immeasurable consequences that it would be doubtful if the present generation would ever again see a settled condition of public life.

The Reichstag Commission to which the measure was referred has passed the bill relating to spies and to high treason. It applies to spies upon fort works, arsenals, war ships, etc., and fixes the penalty upon conviction at from two to five years' imprisonment, to which may be added a fine of from 1500 to 5000 marks.

Owing to the political crisis Chancellor von Caprivi will not accompany Emperor William on his visit to Rome, where His Majesty will take part in the celebration of King Humbert's silver wedding.

The National Zeitung recognizes a singular article from The Diritto, a newspaper of Rome, urging Germany to rupture her alliance with Austria and to join Italy, thus leaving her free to develop the activities that are now hampered by the Austrian alliance. The National Zeitung and other papers declare that the proposal to form an Italo-German alliance obviously directed against the Holy See is merely a chimera.

Signs multiply that a crisis in national politics is at hand. The flat refusal of Chancellor von Caprivi to abate the demands of the Army Bill one jot or tittle has been a disagreeable surprise to conservative men of all parties. The defeat of the Army Bill in committee is an unmistakable portent of its defeat in the Reichstag, as in the present temper of the parties hardly 190 of the necessary 190 votes can be rallied to its support. An early dissolution is apparently inevitable.

The prospect of a general election is regarded by all except Socialists and anti-Semites with gloomy forebodings. Of the leaders of the great parties only Bebel-Liebknecht and Singer will go light-hearted to the polls in the confidence of victory. The National Liberals, through Herr von Bennigsen, have done their utmost to avoid a crisis and are especially dejected, not only on account of Chancellor Caprivi's utter disregard of their offers of assistance and advice, but also on account of the desertion of Dr. Johannes Miquel, their representative in the Prussian Cabinet.

In official circles there is considerable talk about the advisability of the Emperor formally calling upon the masses to rally round him and support despotism who will accept his guidance without question. Such an unusual course undoubtedly would result in the dissolving of the Emperor as to the regard which people feel towards him.

From William First a personal appeal to the people, especially in view of Prince Bismarck's endorsement of it, would have had enormous influence, and its object would have been approved by the vast majority of the voters. Coming from the present Emperor, with his short-lived varied record, it would probably be treated with comparative indifference.

The large gains generally allowed to the social Democrats in discussions of the general election have caused much apprehension among the old parties. The keenest observers agree that the present growth of Socialism, despite the weakness of the social Democratic leadership, is due directly to the disappointing results of the Emperor's labor policy.

During the week Gen. Von Kaltenborn-Stachan was again upon the point of retiring from the Ministry of War, but his resignation was deferred in view of William's approaching visit to Cabinet and Parliament, and he probably will remain in office until the general reorganization of the Cabinet, which will follow the final decision of the Chancellor's fate.

The admirers of Prince Bismarck are preparing to celebrate his birthday in grand style. It is a question, however, whether he will be able to respond in person to the greetings of the pilgrims to Friedrichsruhe. He is still weak and condemned by Dr. Schweninger's orders to idleness. He is subject fits of despondency, which cause the family much anxiety.

The United Press correspondent had an interview to-day with Dr. Johannes Miquel, Prussian Minister of Finance, concerning the critical situation created by the attitude of the parties towards the Army Bill. Dr. Miquel's opinions on the subject are regarded as exceptionally important, as he is being accused daily of intriguing to precipitate a Cabinet crisis in connection with the bill to oust Count von Caprivi and to secure his own elevation to the Chancellorship.

In the event of a dissolution of the Reichstag, said Dr. Miquel, the majority of the Chancellor von Caprivi would support the Army bill. The South Germans and the Rhinelanders, who would suffer most from an invasion by the French army, would be especially anxious to return deputies who would favor strengthening the army to the full extent demanded by the Government.

In my opinion, however, the wisest course would be to effect a compromise with the present Reichstag and thus avoid the disadvantages suffered by the country from its general election. A majority for the present measure in modified form could be secured by some diplomatic negotiations with the Clericals and the Radicals (Freisinnige).

Dr. Miquel made no more direct reference to Count Von Caprivi's policy than that contained in his recommendation of a compromise.

The Chancellor's refusal to compromise, however, is the cause of the present critical condition of affairs.

The War Office has decided to adopt the cloth cuirass invented by a Mannheim tailor to resist the force of the small bore bullet.

A SWINDLE ALLEGED.

Creditors of J. H. Turner Want to See the Color of Their Money.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The creditors of J. H. Turner, a real estate dealer who came here from Woodstock, Ont., eight years ago, claim to have been swindled by him out of over $400,000 and are seeking to regain their money. Turner conducted all his real estate operations through his typewriter, Miss Lizzie O'Donnell, and his practice was to sell the same piece of land to several different parties. Two Fresno ranches were each sold twice and the property in Santa Cruz County was disposed of four times in like manner.

Turner also secured the confidence of a number of money brokers here and others, whom he induced to invest $100,000 in the Owens Valley Water Company, a scheme to irrigate the lands in Inyo County. They gave their cash in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $25,000, with the verbal understanding that they were not to be used until they could be paid from the profits of the scheme.

The banks will bring suit to collect the notes and the makers of them have nothing to show for their money. These facts were brought out by a suit filed by Turner to dissolve an attachment on some Fresno lands. Turner's office was closed and it was stated that he was at home in a dying condition.

A SOLDIER'S SUICIDE.

He Did Not Wait For An Enemy's Bullet.

WINNIPEG, March 20.—Details of the suicide of Lance-Corporal Piercy of the North-west Mounted Police at Edmonton are just to hand. It seems he was confined to his room at his home, and during the temporary absence of his medical attendant he reached for a loaded gun, placed the muzzle in his mouth and blew the top of his head off. Piercy was a great favorite and stood high in society. He leaves a wife and family.

To Rival the Carnegies.

PITTSBURG, March 20.—A powerful syndicate, composed of Pittsburg and Eastern capitalists, is being formed here to engage in an enterprise which will rival in magnitude the combined Carnegie interests. An emissary has been sent to Europe to interest capitalists there in the project.

The plans have progressed so far that the promoters are now engaged in negotiations for a site. One of the sites looked at is at a point above Monongahela City. The plant will be devoted to the manufacture of iron and steel of light and heavy grades, and it is said the syndicate even proposes to compete with the Carnegies in the making of armor plate.

Arrived in Irons.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Five sailors, who had a hand in murdering Mate Fitzgerald of the American bark Hesper in the South Seas, arrived Sunday in irons on the barkentine Tropic Bird from Tahiti, in charge of two French gendarmes. They were transferred to the county jail, and will be tried here.

Cure For Headache.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B.B.B., cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. Once the cause is removed the headache vanishes.

Don't wait for somebody else to show you how to do right.

A. M. Hamilton Warkworth, writes—"For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. My Maybee of this place recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is an article of great value."

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their affections from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are too numerous to be particularly supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered—A Great Medical Triumph.

GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Norman Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I suffered as at no time did my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well known, and people in the section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this great medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merits in a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

THE KEMPTVILLE CASE
AN ANALYSIS OF THE STOMACHS DISCLOSES POISON.

The Inquest Will Probably Be Further Adjourned, As the Government Has Not Yet Received New Evidence In he Colling wood Murder.

TORONTO, March 20.—Government Analyst Hills, Saturday, sent in his report of the analyses of the stomachs of Alexander Kennedy and Mrs. John Kennedy to Coroner Buckley of Prescott, who has the Kemptville poisoning case in hand. It is understood that poison was found in the stomachs of both the children. The adjourned inquest will be held in Kemptville evening, and will probably be adjourned, as Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright has been unable thus far to send an officer to Kemptville. Detectives Murray and Rogers arrived at Halifax last night on the steamer Sarnia with the two who had forged Hewson and Godolphin. Detective Greer was to have left for the scene Saturday, but received a telegram from Collingwood stating that he was wanted there at once on the Jennie Wench murder case, as new evidence had developed, and he will not likely return until the end of the week.

Meantime there are few new developments in the Kemptville case. As to whom the guilty party is continues to be a mystery and may or may not be brought to light in the near future. John Kennedy, the husband of the deceased Mrs. Kennedy and brother of the late Alexander Kennedy, is reported by the local press to have said on several occasions that it would never be found out—and it may even be so. The principal theme appears to be the will—who has it? or what has become of it? It is said that the late Alexander's will was drawn by B.E. Sparham in 1884, leaving all his estate to Mrs. John Kennedy, but two years later declared invalid. Accordingly he then made a new one, which was drawn by George Kidd, in which the bequeath of all his estate to John Kennedy. On Dec. 3 last he had another will executed, in which he left all his chattel property to his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Kennedy, and his real estate to be equally divided between his brothers and niece, Miss Jessie McPherson.

The disappearance of this will as a mystery as the murders, as it was seen a few days before the poisoning in its customary place and position. The deceased gentleman owned a considerable amount of real estate and a substantial cash balance.

The affair still occupies the time and the talk of the place, and as the excitement and speculation continue suspicion is said to be deepening round the unfortunate young girl, Lizzie Poole, who has been removed to Brockville, and the longer the discussion exists it is evident there are many residents who will be prone to add additional, probably imaginary, circumstances to what has appeared and wrongly or rightly accuse this adopted orphan of the crime.

BAIT ACT REPEALED

Newfoundland Government Repeals the Famous Measure.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 20.—The Government has decided to repeal the French Bait Act enacted five years ago to prevent the French from getting bait, thus enabling Newfoundland to compete with the French system of bounty on all fish exported from French possessions. The Bait Act, which also affected American fishermen has never been rigidly enforced. The proposed new law provides that French and American fishermen may buy all the bait they require on payment of a license fee of $15 a ton register every season.

To Test the Geary Act.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Chinamen in New York and its vicinity have raised a large fund to test the constitutionality of the Geary law. It was reported Saturday that the New York and Brooklyn Chinamen have already subscribed $30,000. The inhabitants of Mott, Dover and Pell streets were jubilant to-day when they learned that their brethren in the west, and especially in and about San Francisco, had raised $60,000 for the same purpose.

FREE TRADE.

The reform party are appealing to the farmer vote as against the manufacturer, whom they represent as a monster, fattening upon the toil of the agriculturist. Many reformers like Mr. Clute advocate free trade in dazzling light as a panacea against hard times, poor crops, and poor prices.

The prosperity of England is held up as an example of the effect of free trade. To the English farmer free trade has allowed the products of cheap lands to enter into free competition with the products of the high priced land he cultivates, whilst, at the same time the farmer in England has a heavy share of the burden of taxation, as a revenue has to be raised, of which sum in that free trade country no less than £19,-900,000 is collected from customs. The following are a few items that the English farmer has to pay towards the Government revenue, besides paying his local rates as here. If he makes an affidavit or statutory declaration he pays 50c. If he makes an agreement or memorandum of agreement under hand only, he pays 20c. For every bank cheque he gives he must contribute 2c. If he gives a bank note payable on demand, if it does not exceed £5 he pays 2½, and in proportion up to £500, for which he contributes $2.10 to the revenue. If he owns a carriage fitted to be drawn by two horses he pays $10.50. If drawn by one horse $5.25. For the privilege of riding in his own modest two wheeled gig he pays $3. If he keeps a dog, unless solely for the purpose of tending cattle and sheep, he pays $1.50. If he gives a mortgage, under hand only, he pays 25c for every $500 or parts thereof. For a licence to use or carry a gun he pays $2.50. For a game licence for a year he pays $15.00, but if for only fourteen days he pays $5. If he insures his life he pays 25c on every $500 insured. His lands bear a special tax, and even the money he leaves when he dies is taxed. Such would be the condition of the farmer in Canada if the present Government was superceded by a free trade Reform government, as a revenue must be raised by any government in power.

THE GAS QUESTION.

We published some days ago the average illuminating power of the gas supplied by the various gas companies in Ontario for last year, as given by the Government Blue books. The following, therefore, which we clip from an English exchange, will be of interest. Our readers can make the comparisons, while on the whole will reflect favorably on the Ontario Companies:

"Edinburgh among the large cities in the United Kingdom, enjoys the reputation of having a gas commission which supplies it with gas of a higher illuminating power than is manufactured in any other place. In Glasgow the gas is of 21 candle power, in Aberdeen it is from 22 to 24, in Dundee it is of 25 candle power. No corporation or private company in England supplies gas at all approaching to the illuminating power of Scottish gas. The Manchester and Leeds gas is equal to 16 candles, while in London the gas ranges from 14 to 20 candle power. Only the other day the great Gas light and coke Co, Westminster, which has a capital invested in gas plant of over eight millions sterling, gave notice to its consumers of 20 candle gas, that no more of that quality would be made, and that only gas of 16 candle power strength would henceforth be supplied at 3s. 1d. per 1,000 cubic feet. In Ireland the gas is very much of the same quality as English gas. In Dublin, where the supply is in the hands of a private company, the gas is of 16 candle power; in Belfast, where the corporation has it in hand, the illuminating quality of the gas is the same as that of the Irish capital."

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

TABERNACLE CHURCH.

There were fine congregations at the Tabernacle yesterday. In the morning, Mr. Crossley, the pastor, preached from the text "Secret things belong to God, but things revealed belong to us and to our children." In the evening Mr. Cole, Sec. of Y.M.C.A., gave a splendid address from the words, "This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them." The services throughout the day were full of interest and profit.

BRIDGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

Greater interest is being evinced in the daylight Sunday morning prayer meetings. The services yesterday were conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. N. Baker, whose sermon in the morning was to the children; in the course of the sermon he referred to the bright boy of seventeen who was so lately condemned by the court, and said that it was a lesson to all parents to train their children for God.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The Rev. Dr. Smith, of Kingston, delivered two able sermons in St. Andrew's church yesterday, taking his text in the morning from Luke vii., part of verse 12: "And he was the only son of his mother, and she was a widow." In the evening, he preached from the 13th and 14th verses of the same chapter, explaining the meaning thereof in a lucid manner. At the morning service, reference was made to the death of George Macleau, son of the pastor of the church.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Baptist church was crowded to the doors last night, when the rite of baptism was administered to four candidates, viz., J. Hitchen, F. Gooch, J. Lamoombe, and G. Clarke. The Rev. Mr. Marshall preached an eloquent sermon from Matt. xxvIII. v. 16 to 20. He expounded in an able manner the views of his church, taking especially the 19th verse of the chapter, where Christ commanded his disciples to "go unto all nations and baptize them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost," as a foundation for their church.

CHRIST CHURCH.

Rev. A. L. Geen preached in this church yesterday morning, and the rector, Rev. S. Daw, preached in the evening. Large congregations were present at both services.

Mr. James Mason's condition shows no sign of improvement.

Mrs. Rogers of Consecon, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. E. Guss Porter.

Mr. John White, ex-M. P., is in the city.

PRINCESS KAIULANI.

Fears For the Safety of Her Hawaiian Garden Spot Allayed.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Princess Kaiulani, accompanied by Theodore Davies, Mrs. Davies and Miss Davies, arrived last night at the Brevoort House from Washington. The Princess and her party will remain in this city until next Wednesday, when they will return to England on the steamer Majestic.

Princess Kaiulani is well satisfied with the result of her somewhat hurried visit to President Cleveland, although according to her own statement there is no official significance to be attached thereto. It was purely and simply a social call, the object for which the Princess came to this country having been accomplished before she met President Cleveland.

Mr. Davies, who has throughout acted and spoken for Princess Kaiulani, said: "The appointment of a commissioner by the President to go to Hawaii and thoroughly investigate the matter of proposed annexation is the very thing we want. If the majority of the voters in Hawaii want to be annexed then we are willing to be annexed, but not until it is demonstrated at the polls."

Capt. Hooper of the revenue cutter Rush at San Francisco has received definite orders to hold himself in readiness to convey President Cleveland's special envoy, ex-Congressman Blount, to Honolulu.

SUNDAY OPENING OF THE FAIR.

The Board of Control Practically Declare in Favor of It.

CHICAGO, March 20.—The Board of Control of the National World's Fair Commission met Saturday. Sunday opening of the Fair, which was discussed, was brought to a focus by the adoption of a resolution asking the local directors to take immediate action to provide $570,000 for the expenses of the jury if awards. The executive committee took no action on the question and referred the question to the finance committee.

The significance of the resolution lies in the fact that if the local directory takes no action Secretary Carlisle will be compelled to withhold a portion of the $2,500,000 appropriated by Congress for the use of the local directory. This, it is claimed, will absolve the local directory from its obligation to comply with the Sunday closing proviso which accompanied the appropriation.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE.

A Reading Locomotive Blows Up With Fatal Results.

MAHONEY CITY, Pa., March 20.—While engine No. 394 of the Reading Railroad was standing on a siding at the station yesterday morning the boiler suddenly exploded, totally wrecking the engine. Engineer John Schuyler and Fireman William Wells, who were in the cab at the time, were so seriously scalded that they cannot survive. The hot coals from the firebox were scattered in all directions and falling on buildings in the vicinity set fire to and destroyed a number of them. For a short time excitement ran high, as there were fully a dozen houses on fire. Many buildings were badly shattered by the force of the explosion.

Lennox Nominees.

NAPANEE, Ont., March 20.—A meeting of the Reform Association of Lennox, called for the purpose of nominating candidates for both Dominion and provincial elections, was held Saturday. D. W. Allison was unanimously chosen as candidate for the Dominion, and E. E. Ayleworth was nominated for the Local.

Swung to a Gate Post.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 20.—Jesse Jones, who shot and killed Sheriff John Burdett of Campbell County on a Knoxville and Ohio train yesterday morning, was taken from the jail at Jacksboro last night and swung to a gate post. There were not over a dozen men in the mob, and the lynching was done so quietly that the citizens knew nothing of it until this morning.

THE SARNIA IS IN PORT

THE STEAMER WAS JUST SEVEN DAYS OVERDUE.

The Government Cruiser Newfield Found Her and Accompanied Her to Port—All the 700 Odd Passengers Are Well.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 20.—Nine o'clock last night it was announced from the signal station that the steamer Sarnia and steamer Newfield were off the port, and considerable excitement was caused thereby. The Sarnia, of course, had to anchor at quarantine for inspection by the health officers. The Newfield came on up, and crowds assembled at Marine and Fisheries wharf to get any news she had.

The Newfield was not sighted the disabled ship about noon and run down to her. Carrier pigeons were released at intervals from them till 5 o'clock, but they failed to reach their lofts. The Newfield encountered a hurricane yesterday from 3 to 6 o'clock and sustained considerable damage.

The Sarnia will not come up to the city till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, and the only communication held with her last night was by the port officer. Steamer press representatives are not allowed on this boat, which is a Dominion Government steamer. But from those on her it was learned that the Sarnia's engineers had, after working night and day, repaired the broken shaft so that the steamer took in her sea anchor at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon and went ahead under steam at about eight knots an hour.

All the 700 and odd passengers are well and provisioned for, their ship's larder being ample for all their wants.

The Sarnia's officers say that the latitude and longitude given by the steamer American in her report at New York were totally wrong, the disabled vessel being two or three hundred miles from the position given by the American.

The Sarnia is able to go ahead, but cannot go astern, and therefore must anchor to stop, and tugs will be employed to bring her to the city to-morrow morning.

The ship's arrival has lifted a great load of anxiety from the minds of the community, and therefore those present who were interested forget to censure the captain for not taking a tow when he had the opportunity, so glad are they to hear now that the human freight so long on the ocean are all alive and well.

None of the steamers arriving at Halifax yesterday, although they came different courses, saw or heard any tidings of the missing Narnia.

Captain Alexander Read, the ship's husbandman to look after the needed repairs, went down to quarantine on the Argus. He had a short interview with Captain Couch, who said that the Sarnia had only broken her machinery about half an hour before the American spoke her. The damage was the breaking of the after crank shaft in the bearings, just aback the engine. The delay was caused by the great difficulty in getting the couplings connected in order to change the forward crank to the place of the after crank shaft. When the repairs were completed the ship was about 260 miles from St. Pierre.

Upon the engines being started she steamed about eight miles an hour and during the heavy northeast gale Saturday made as high as ten knots.

The wife and two children of Mr. Fauvel, M.P. for Bonaventure, are on board. One of the children, a miss of 10 years, has crossed the Atlantic seven times.

Following are saloon passengers by steamer Sarnia: J. M. Murray, A. H. Davidson, M. Dodd, G. Gandin, J. E. Rogers, R. W. Godolphin, T. Vale Mad, Miss W. and Master Tarvel and maid, Mr. and Mrs. Payne, C. W. Bengough, E. Lecoco, S. D. Rose, G. Harcombe, J. Tickle, E. Whitton, J. Cook, Miss M. Warren, Col. Warren, T. Kenyon, W. Wilson, M. A. Wright, H. Palmer, R. L. and Mrs. Carr, Capt. Bame, S. French, Mr. and Mrs. Walker and child, Lieut. Knatchbull. J. Mitchell.

THE BOY AND THE BOMB.

Another Dynamite Outrage at Rome—Attempt Made to Blow Up a Military Barracks.

ROME, March 20.—Another dynamite outrage was attempted yesterday at the Polazzo Altieri, the headquarters of the Guardia Nobili, one of the military organizations whose duty it is to attend the Pope and to be present at great religious functions at the Vatician.

Early this morning a boy who was passing the Palazzo Altieri saw a mass of what he at first thought was mortar lying upon the steps of the palace. He ran up the steps and was surprised to see a burning fuse extending from the mass. The boy stamped out the fuse with his feet and then notified the police.

Gendarmes were sent to the palace and were not long in ascertaining that what the boy had at first mistaken for a mass of mortar was a powerful bomb containing dynamite or high explosives. The bomb was encased in a thick coating of plaster of Paris which in the opinion of experts, would have added to the destruction that would have been wrought had an explosion occurred.

The news of the attempted outrage has caused considerable excitement.

A number of arrests of Anarchists have been made in the city recently and the fact has apparently caused the friends of the men arrested to attempt these outrages as a means of revenge. It has transpired since the explosion of yesterday at the Ancini Mattai palace that the police have been warned from some unknown source that attempts would be made to cause explosions in various parts of the city.

Notwithstanding the warning the miscreants who planned this morning's affair had no trouble in placing their bomb on the steps of the palazzo Altieri, which is one of the best known buildings in the city. Orders have now been issued, however, that a strict watch be kept on all suspicious characters, and the police hope to soon have the conspirators in custody. Another warning was received to-day that further attempts would shortly be made to cause explosions.

FIRE AT MONO ROAD.

A Considerable Amount of Damage Was Done.

MONO ROAD, Ont., March 20.—About 10.30 a.m. fire was discovered in the Wellington Hotel, occupied by T. P. Sparrow. It was caused by a defective chimney. Hotel and outbuildings, stable and shed were totally destroyed; contents not insured.

The tin shop occupied by R. J. Adams was totally destroyed; part of the contents saved; $500 insurance on contents.

A large hall occupied by the I.O.F. was totally destroyed; contents all saved; no insurance.

C. S. Judge's general store and postoffice had a narrow escape; building and contents badly damaged; no insurance.

C.P.R. station and grain warehouse, occupied by L. Colle & Co. of Toronto, for a while were in extreme danger but by the efforts of the officials of the company they were saved.

Killed by a Dynamite Explosion.

WHITE PLAINS, March 20.— Saturday two Italian blacksmiths, John Nichola and Joseph Barbiono, were killed by an explosion which occurred in a blacksmith shop upon the property formerly owned by Col. Hayes and where a new stock is being laid out by Contractor J. A. Neville of New York. The bodies of the victims were hurled 200 feet and the shop was blown into splinters. The explosion was caused by a premature explosion of dynamite, it is thought.

Foreign Finances.

LONDON, March 20.—Discount rates were firm during the last week at 1½ for both three months and short bills. The balance of trade promises to remain against the United States, which, in the opinion of London financiers, will probably continue to lose gold. Silver continues weak and remarkably quiet.

Palatable and Potent.

The great objection to cod liver oil has been its nauseous taste. This has been entirely removed by the process of preparing "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," which is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the greatest creator of new blood in the world. It has cured thousands of consumptives by rebuilding their constitutions. Everybody is talking about the wonderful power of this Emulsion. In big bottle 50c. and $1, at all drug stores.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THEIR GENTLE ACTION AND GOOD effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection.

ALL DISORDERS CAUSED by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. Try them.

"What's in a name?" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

Mr. Wm. Curry, of Frankford, was in the city yesterday accompanied by his wife and child. When entering home, at the top of Murney's hill the horse became frightened and ran away. The occupants were thrown out, but fortunately none were injured. The horse ran for about 9 miles before it was stopped. Some damage was done to the cutter.

Contractor George Wilson was seen by a reporter to-day. Asked if he had heard anything as to the withdrawal of Mr. John Bell's interest in the new hotel, Mr. Wilson replied in the negative. "It is news to me," continued Mr. Wilson. "We are still drawing material for the building, and as soon as the frost leaves the ground we will commence excavations, and clearing away the site."

The funeral of the late Mrs. Wm. Hanna took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. Services were conducted at the house by the Rev. J. L. George. Mr. Hanna is a member of Mr. T. S. Miss May Clark, one of Belleville's accomplished sopranos, and a young lady of rare talent, left to-night in company with Mr. W. W. Pope for Indianapolis, where she has accepted a position as leading soprano in one of the first churches of that city. Miss Clark will enter on a course of study in both vocal and instrumental music. She will receive vocal instructions from Dr. F. X. Arens, who has studied under the best American and European masters and who has himself a national reputation. The doctor is preparing a chorus for the "May Festival" to be given at the World's Fair in Chicago in which Miss Clark will take a leading part. Mr. Pope will accompany her as far as Detroit. Belleville loses no mean artist when Miss Clark severs her connection with the Bay city. While her many friends wish her success, all regret the loss of so estteemable and accomplished a young vocalist.

HUNGERFORD ELECTION CASE.

JUDGE FRALECK DECIDES THAT THE JUNIOR JUDGE HAS JURISDICTION.

He Further Enlarges the Case Until March 30th—The Trial will be Concluded at Tweed.

At 11 a.m. to-day Judge Fraleck delivered judgment, as to his jurisdiction in the Hungerford election petition, as follows:

As to the jurisdiction of the County Court Judge it appears to me that the amended or consolidated Municipal Act, 1893, was passed in its present shape having the judgment of Mr. Justice Street, in Doherty vs. McLay, 13 P.R., 56, in view.

It was intended that county judges should have jurisdiction in these matters. Mr. Justice Street's judgment held that jurisdiction to be taken away by Rule 1,038. But the Legislature re-enacted the Municipal Act retaining the clauses giving jurisdiction to county judges, and they seem expressly to meet the judgment in Doherty vs. McLay by striking out section 193, which provided for a writ from the High Court of Judicature, and by altering the latter part of section 188 by striking out the words "direct a writ of summons, &c.," and substituting "grant an order or fiat, &c."

Proceedings, it seems to me, can now be taken either in the High Court or County Court, and the latter part of section 212 mentions "cases pending in such County Court," which would have no meaning if it had been the intention of the Legislature to preclude the jurisdiction of the County Court.

As to the next point. At first the powers of the junior Judge were prescribed within narrow limits. By Ont. Stat. 36, Vic. Chap. 8, sec. 47 (1873), the junior judge had the duties and powers of the senior judge during his absence.

By Ont. stat. 1874, 37 Vic. c. 7, sec. 58, "Wherever in this Act or in any statute "now in force in Ontario, or which may "hereafter be passed, any power or authority is conferred upon the judge of a county "court, the like power and authority shall "be possessed and may be executed by a "junior or a deputy judge." Sec. R.S.O. 1887, c. 46, sec. 12, if anything still further enlarges the powers of the junior judge. I think the junior has concurrent jurisdiction with the senior judge. As to the notice being defective, I have decided this matter in favor of the relator on a former motion.

As to the right to permit the electors who voted at the said election, or any of them, to state and declare under oath how or for whom they voted at the said election, though this point argued by Mr. Clute was not argued by the counsel for the relator pending the decision as to the jurisdiction, I think it is, perhaps, as well here to point out two important decisions, one in the court of Appeal, Ont., and the other in the Supreme court. In re Lincoln election, 4 Ont. A.R. 206, the Hon. Chief Justice Moss, who gave this judgment, at page 210 states: "The "next question relates to cases in which it "cannot be shewn, except by statements "of the voters themselves, either that they "voted, or for whom they voted. As to "these we are asked, Can the statements of "the voter be received as evidence that he "voted or for whom he voted, either by "proving statements so made, or by calling "the voter as a witness to give evidence?

"It must be judicially recognized that "the special object of the Legislature in "adopting the method of voting by ballot "was to protect voters against coercion and "intimidation. It is obvious that these influences might equally affect subsequent "statements made by an elector with respect to his vote. It would therefore, in "our opinion, be repugnant to the whole "policy of the Act to admit such statements, either with or without the sanction "of an oath . . . . . Again, by section 115, "it is expressly stated that no person who "has voted at an election or return, be required to state for whom he has voted. "Although this does not in any express "terms extend to the case of the voter "voluntarily tendering himself as a witness, "it is obvious that even in that case, he "must be subject to cross-examination. "We think that this section should be in "furtherance of the objects of the Act, be construed as absolutely exclusive of such "testimony."

"We, therefore, answer this question in the negative."

In the Haldiman case, Reports of Election Cases Vol. 1 at page 547, Mr. Justice Strong in referring to charge No. 6 in the Notice of Appeal, states:

"Nothing could be made of this charge "without admitting the evidence of voters "to show how they voted. This I hold "cannot be done. To do so, in my opinion, would be a direct violation of the Act "which recognizes secrecy. Sec. 7 of the "Dominion Election's Act enacts:

"No person who has voted at an election "shall in any legal proceedings questioning "the election or return, be required to "state for whom he voted. It is no answer to this to say that secrecy is imposed "for the benefit of the voter and that he "can waive it, for I hold secrecy to be imposed as an absolute ruled of public policy, "and that it cannot be waived." Also, see remarks of Mr. Justice Taschereau in this case, page 559.

Now section 272 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1892, is as follows: "No "person who has voted at an election shall "in any legal proceedings to question the "election or return, be required to state "for whom he has voted."

It will, therefore, be see that this section of the Municipal Act, has been copied from the Dominion Election's Act—verbatim, and that the two are identical.

If the Counsel for the relator can show me any other and better authority pointing the other way, I shall be happy to consider it.

E. Guss Porter and A. R. Dougall, Q.C., appeared for the relator; R. C. Clute, Q.C., and O. E. Lyons for Mr. Murphy.

The case was further enlarged until Thursday, 30th inst., when it will be considered at the town hall at Tweed.

Seed Testing and Distribution of Seed Grain.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—Knowing that farmers generally are much interested in the above subjects, permit me to place before your readers the following:

SEED TESTING.

The work of testing the germinating power of grain and other agricultural seeds is now in active progress at the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa. Up to the present over 1,600 samples have been tested and reported on this season, and on the whole with very gratifying results, showing a good percentage of vitality. There are, however, some districts in the Dominion from which samples have been received of very poor quality and quite unfit for seed. In some parts of Manitoba the harvest season of 1891 was very unfavorable and considerable quantities of grain were left out in stook or stack all winter and threshed in the spring of 1892. A number of samples of such grain have been tested and they show a very low percentage of vitality, many of them ranging from 15 to 40 per cent. only, and are quite unfit for seed. In some other parts of the Dominion, and especially in some sections of Ontario and Quebec, the weather during the last harvest period was very wet, and the grain in the stook was subject to repeated wettings before it could be housed, and in the meantime some of it sprouted. A large proportion of such samples also show a low degree of germinating power, and if sown as seed will be likely to result in poor crops.

Any farmers desiring to send further samples for test should forward them without delay: the packages should contain about one ounce each, and they can be sent to the Experimental farm free through the mail. The samples are tested and reports can usually be furnished in about ten days.

SEED DISTRIBUTION.

Last year 16,905 sample bags of promising sorts of grain, weighing 3 lbs. each, were sent free through the mail to 9,144 farmers residing in different parts of the Dominion. This large quantity of grain, over 25 tons, was all of first quality and consisted of the most promising sorts which have been tested at the several Experimental Farms. By instruction of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a similar distribution is now in progress for this year, and already over 5,000 samples have been sent out, and a large number are being mailed daily. The object of this distribution is to place in the hands of good farmers in all parts of the country samples of the best varieties of oats, barley, wheat, peas, &c., so that there may shortly be available for seed in every district in the country, and eventually result in the displacing of impure and enfeebled sorts, with varieties possessed of greater vigor and fertility. The number of samples sent to one applicant is limited to two in each case, and on this basis a very large number can still be supplied. With careful and judicious handling these 3 lb. samples will generally produce from one to three bushels the first year, and at the end of the second season the grower usually has seed enough for a large field. The advantages resulting from this large distribution of the best sorts of grain obtainable will no doubt in a few years be generally manifest in an improvement in the quality and an increase in the quantity of the average grain crops of the Dominion. A circular is sent with each sample which the recipients are expected to fill up and return at the close of the season, with particulars as to the character and growth of the grain. The request is also made that a sample of not less than one pound of the product be returned to the Central Experimental Farm, so that information may be had as to the measure of success attending its growth. Samples are sent to applicants as long as the supply lasts. Letters can be sent to the Experimental Farm at Ottawa free of postage.

WM. SAUNDERS,
Director Experimental Farms.

Ottawa, March 9th, 1893.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—Will you be good enough to give space for a few words concerning the Young Men's Christian Association about to be organized here? It ought to be well known that on this continent alone about fourteen hundred such Associations are at work. Above thirteen millions of dollars have been, within 25 years, invested by the shrewd christian business men of the United States and Canada in buildings and property for the carrying out of the objects contemplated by this organization. Twenty-five such buildings are in use in Canada. These buildings are in charge of some of the brightest young christian men that can be found; for let me say, that a noodle, or a namby pamby, "goody-goody" young man, could no more do the work that is being done in scores of these societies, than a simpleton could run a first class business house. These men know Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour, and they have, many of them, left bright worldly prospects in order to give their life to mould and fashion the work of these Associations, so that they shall be of true blessing and helpfulness to the all round man. We purpose having such a man in charge of the work here when we open up, as we hope to do within a few weeks. We still need $500 for fitting up the rooms, baths, and gymnasium, and we shall not cease our canvas until we have secured what we require. Truly yours,

THOS. S. COLE.

New Law Firm.

W. C. Mikel and A. A. Roberts, barristers, of this city, have formed a partnership under the firm name of Mikel & Roberts, and will continue in the offices occupied by Mr. Mikel, Bridge st. Mr. Mikel passed his studentship with Bell & Biggar, Flint & Sherry and the late Geo. D. Dickson, Q.C., entering into partnership with the last named gentleman on being called to the bar and continued till Mr. Dickson's death. Since then he has been practising alone. Mr. Mikel has successfully conducted a number of important cases, and, though a young man, is considered one of the prominent counsel of the city. Mr. Roberts was a student with the late S. Z. Burdett, L.L.D., Q.C. and Geo. E. Henderson, Q.C., County Crown Attorney. While in the latter's office he conducted the preliminary investigation of the Trenton serious case which led to the conviction of Young.

A Reminder.

The ladies are reminded of Mr. W. Flint Jones' millinery opening, which takes place to morrow (Tuesday). Mr. Jones says he will make the largest display he has ever made, and wishes all the ladies to call and see it. The show of jackets, dress goods, etc., will also be attractive.

MARRIAGES

NASH—ALLEN—On March 16th, C. M. NASH, druggist, Sacramento, Cal., eldest son of Dr. Nash, Belleville, to BELL, youngest daughter of Parker Allen, Adolphustown, Ontario.

GOUGH'S SPRING HATS.

We have just received a large shipment of the latest New York and European styles in all kinds of Hats for Spring 1893. Intending buyers will do well to give us a call before making their purchases. We show a beautiful line of Christie Stiffs at 50c. worth $1.00. For $1.00 and $1.50 we give you a choice of 100 different styles of fine fur felt hats usually sold at $2.00 and $3.00. In Fedoras we are showing something very fine for $1.00. See our 'Varsity and Boy's Caps at 15c., they are beauties. Don't forget to see them.

This week we will pass into stock 1000 children's suits ranging in price from 75c. to $2.50 per suit. We do not claim to beat the world, but we do claim to be ahead of all competitors within hailing distance. To prove our claim and establish our position firmly in your estimation we ask you to visit our store. Remember we are the only clothiers in Belleville who mark their goods in plain figures. We never could understand if a man's price is honest why he should be afraid to mark it on his goods plainly, and there's something wrong when he don't. We opened in Belleville a year ago the first of this month and we ask a discriminating public if we have not lowered the price of clothing 50 per cent. since. Do we deserve your patronage? For this we say "yes!" For take Gough out of the town, and 24 hours afterwards you will pay as much for your clothing as ever. Therefore we say it's to the interests of the public to patronize the man who regulates and makes other dealers sell at honest prices. Next week we will talk furnishing goods to you and you may look out for something startling in that line.

GOUGH, The Regulator of Prices,

354 Front Street, Belleville.

N. B.—We ask the public to pay no attention as to what our competitors may say about us. Prove and praise us accordingly.

AN UNFORTUNATE MAN.

Isaac Arnold With a Foot Badly Frozen is Sent to Gaol.

Isaac Arnold, a demented youth who has served three years in Kingston for burning a school house in Cobourg, and who was dismissed a few months ago has been confined in the Belleville hospital since Feb. 23rd. He was making his way up from Kingston and stopped over night with a family in Thurlow township. Next morning he was seen that his right foot and leg were terribly frozen and the victim was taken to the hospital where he remained until yesterday. During the morning Sgt. Downs received a telephone message from the matron stating that there was a patient in the institution who refused to observe the rules and asked for his removal. The sergeant went to the hospital and placed Arnold under arrest. The victim's foot was found to be in a very bad condition. He was taken to the police station and out of compassion for the sufferer Gaoler Apple by placed him in comfortable quarters in the gaol. This morning Magistrate Flint sent him to gaol for a month.

The prisoner was seen by a reporter today. He says that his only offence was that he wanted to sit in a chair while his foot rested on another. He denies that he was unruly. By his long confinement in bed his head was racked with pain, but the matron, he alleges, refused to allow him to sit up.

Dr. Farley, who had examined the victim's foot, was also seen by a reporter. He says the gaol is not a proper place to send a man in Arnold's state. It would be impossible to give the victim necessary care.

A Horse Drowned.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Robert Slavin, of this city, was driving a team through what is known as Anderson's marsh, in Prince Edward county, when they broke through the ice. Before assistance could be secured one of the animals was drowned. The other was rescued after considerable difficulty, and after being in the water nearly two hours.

PALE, WEAK WOMEN need a tonic strength giving, flesh building medicine like Milburn's Beef, Iron and Wine.

The Time has Come.

When the nice spring weather comes (and we expect it is about here now) we must all take off our heavy winter coats. It is not right to go from a heavy overcoat to no overcoat at all, and every man needs a light weight outside coat. You do not have to pay $18 or $20 as formerly; the Oak Hall have come to your assistance with a $10 coat, which is just as good and as nice as any tailor can make for double the money.

DON'T BE FOOLED by the dealer who brings out something else, that pays him better, and says that it is "just as good," Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is guaranteed. If it don't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back. No other medicine of its kind is so certain and effective that it can be sold so. Is any other likely to be "just as good"?

As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer, nothing can equal the "Discovery." It's not like the sarsaparillas, or ordinary "spring medicines." At all seasons, and in all cases, it purifies, invigorates, and builds up the whole system. For every blood-taint and disorder, from a common blotch or eruption, to the worst scrofula, it is a perfect, permanent, guaranteed remedy.

A LOVE KNOT

Is sometimes hard to tie, a difficult tie, as it were. The ties we sell are not those of love, but they are lovely, and if used judiciously and with proper taste, may lead to love ties. At any rate all men of proper taste, love to wear proper ties, ties which even though they may not bind, at least indicate a proper harmony between the wearer and the dictates of fashion. Ties of fashion, fashion ties, stylish ties, lovely ties. That's what we sell. Spring ties, ties as bright and varied as the flowers that bloom in April and May. Come and see them.

We have just opened 75 dozen of the very latest. Also 25 dozen spring gloves to hand, Kid, Kangaroo, Antelope, Swede and Napa. All the best make, only at

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc. (By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

He knew well enough that if he had been a poor man, of no account in the world, he would at that moment have been occupying a prison cell instead of his own comfortable study. For presumption was strong against him; and it had taken a great deal of influence and extraordinary high ball to secure his release. At present he stood committed to take his trial for manslaughter within a very short space of time. And nobody had succeeded, or seemed likely to succeed, in throwing any doubt on the testimony of Mary Trent. He was certainly in a very awkward position if might be a very terrible position by-and-bye.

He was aroused from the reverie into which he had fallen by the entry of a servant with a note. He opened it, read the contents slowly, and then put it into the fire. He stood frowning a little as he watched it burn.

After a few moments of this hesitation he rang the bell, told Sarah that he was going out, and left the house. The three women in the drawing-room upstairs, already nervous and overstrained from long suspense, all started when the reverberation of that closing door made itself heard. Losley felt her mother's hand close on hers with a quick convulsive pressure. She looked up.

"He has gone out!" Lady Alice murmured, so that Losley alone could hear her. "He does not come—to us!"

Losley did not know what to say. She was surprised to find that her mother expected him to come. But then she was only Caspar Brooke's daughter, not his wife.

Lady Alice lay back in her chair, closed her eyes and waited. She had once been a jealous woman: there were seeds of jealously in her still. She sat and wondered whether he had gone for sympathy and comfort to any other woman. And after wondering this for half an hour, it suddenly occured to her mind with the vividness of a lightening flash that if things were so—if her husband had found sympathy elsewhere—it was her own fault. She had no right to accuse him, or blame him, when she had left him for a dozen years.

"I had no right to blame him, perhaps, but I have still a right to know," she said to herself. And then disengaging her hand from Losley's clinging fingers, she rose and went downstairs—down to the study which she had so seldom visited. She seated herself in Caspar's arm-chair, and prepared to wait until he returned. Surely he would not be long!—and then she would speak so him, and things would be made clear.

Caspar's note had been written by Mrs. Romaine. It was quite formal, and merely contained a request that he would call on her at his earliest convenience. And he complied at once, as she had warranted he would do. Her confidential maid opened the door to him, and conducted him to the drawing-room. It was dusk and the lamps had not been down. Oliver Trent's funeral had taken place the day before.

Mr. Brooke did not sit down. He knew that the interview that was about to take place was likely to be a painful one, but he did not guess in the least the turn that it would take. Did Rosalind believe in his guilt? Did she know what manner of man her brother Oliver had been? Was she going to reproach or to condole him? She had done a strange thing in asking him to her house at all, and at another time he might have thought it wiser not to accede to her request; but he was in the mood in which the most extraordinary incidents seem possible and scarce anything could have seemed to him too bizarre to happen. He felt curiously impatient of the ordinary conventionalities of civilized life. Since this infraculous thing had come to pass—that he Caspar Brooke, a respectable, sane, healthy minded, man of middle age, should be accused of killing a young scamp like Oliver Trent in a moment of passion—the world seemed somewhat crazy and out of joint. It was not worth while to stand very much on ceremony at such a conjuncture; and if Rosalind Romaine wanted to talk to him about her dead brother he was willing to go and hear her talk. And yet as he stood in her dainty little drawing room, it came over him very strongly that he ought not to be there.

He was still musing when the door open ed, and Rosalind came into the room. He did not hear her until she was close upon him, and then he turned with a sudden start. She looked different—she was changed. Her face was very pale; her eyelids were reddened; she was dressed in the deepest black, and over her head she had flung a black lace veil, which gave her—perhaps unintentionally—a tragic look. She held the folds together with her right hand, and she spoke to him quietly.

"It was kind of you to come here," she said.

"You summoned me. I should not have come without that," he answered, quickly.

"No, I suppose not. And of course—in the ordinary course of things—I ought not to have summoned you. The world would say that I was wrong. But when have been friends for so many years now, have we not?"

"I always thought so," he answered, gravely. "But now—I fear——"

"You shall,"—with a strange vibration in her voice—"you mean that we must never be friends again—because—because of Oliver——"

"This accusation must naturally tend to separate the two families," he said, in a very calm, grave voice. "Even when it is disproved, we shall not find it easy to resume old relations. I am very sorry for it Rosalind, just as I need not tell you how sorry I am for the cause——"

She interrupted him hurriedly. Yes, yes, I know all that; but you speak of disproving the charges. Can you do that?"

He was silent for a moment. "I shall do my best," he said at length with some emotion in his voice.

"And if it is not disproved—what then?" she asked. "Suppose they should call it murder!"

Caspar drew himself up; a certain displeasure began to show itself upon his features.

"Need you ask me?"

"Yes, I need. I want you to consider the answer that you would give. I have a reason."

Her eager eyes hot and burning in her face, that was strangely white, pled for her. Caspar relented a little, but bent his brows as he replied—

"The extreme penalty of the law, I suppose. It is absurd—but, of course, it is possible. It is not a case in which I should expect penal servitude for life to be substituted, supposing that I were found guilty. But I fail to see your motive for asking what must be to me a rather painful question."

"Oh, you are strong! You can bear it!" she said, dropping her face upon her hands. Caspar gazed at her in amazement. He began to wonder whether she were going out of her mind. But before he could find any word of consoling tendency, she flung down her hands and spoke again. "I want you to fix your mind on it for a moment, even although it hurts you," she said. "You are a strong man—you do not shrink from a thing because it is a little painful. Think what would is mean for yourself only; for yourself only; for your friends, for those who love you! A perpetual disgrace—a misery!"

"You seem anxious to assume that I shall be convicted," he said still with displeasure.

"I tell you that I am doing so on purpose. I want you to think of it. You know—you know as well as I do—that the chances are against you."

"And if they are!"

"If they are—why then do you incur such a risk!"

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

A Valuable Hint.

When you are attacked by cough or cold do not delay, but commence at once to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This old standard remedy removes all irritation, loosens the phlegm, and heals the mucous surfaces, curing coughs and colds of all kinds.

Let your right hand know what your left hand is doing and pull together.

Bad Blood Cured.

Gentlemen,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood and find it, without exception, the best purifying tonic in use. A short time ago two very large and painful boils came on the back of my neck B.B.B. completely drove them away.

Samuel Blain, Toronto Junction.

For Sprains and Bruises.

No other remedy cures sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, chilblains, sore throat, rheumatism, etc., so promptly as Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It is an old standard remedy that has given perfect satisfaction for 30 years.

The Medicine for the Liver and Kidney Complaint.—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for kidney and liver complaint. I have doctored for the past three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines which were recommended without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills, I was quite relieved, and now feel as free from disease as before I was troubled.

Pretty Papers!

There is more in these two P's than you may suppose.

We write of new Papers, large stocks of which have been opened during this week. You'll remember the great improvement that we made a year ago in the designing of paper hangings. There seemed to be nothing too artistic that designers were not able to reach. The advance has been steady right along these lines, and pretty as were the papers a year ago, they are prettier still this year. In selecting our lines for YOUR trade we have spared no pains in selecting the most artistic of these designs and colorings, and feel perfectly safe in saying, we are now showing the most artistic wall hangings produced up to date.

One pleasing feature is that those very artistic effects are shown in papers at 12½ and 15c, per roll as well as in 25, 35 and 50c. papers.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

URGING HASTE IN IMPROVING OUR CANAL SYSTEM.

Further Enquiry Into N. Clarke Wallace's Home Rule Speech—He Will Speak in His Defence—The Case Against Connolly and McGreevy.

OTTAWA, March 21.—Practically all of yesterday afternoon's session was taken up by Col. Tisdale, who spoke from 4 o'clock to 6 on his motion with reference to the Essex Canal.

The motion which Col. Tisdale spoke to is as follows, but as he had not concluded his remarks at 6 the motion was not seconded up to the hour and keeps its place on the order paper, so that it will be the first order again next Monday:

"That in view of the early completion of the canal around the St. Mary rapids, upon the Canadian shore, and of the enlargement and increased depth of our canal system to the Atlantic seaboard, and also of the ever-increasing volume of traffic tending in that direction, it is desirable that Canada should have a complete and uninterrupted waterway from the head of Lake Superior to the Atlantic ocean through her own territory; that in furtherance of such object the Minister of Railways and Canals should with all reasonable despatch proceed to have made explorations and surveys to ascertain the most direct and feasible route for connecting Lake St. Clair or the River St. Clair by canal with Lake Erie through Canadian territory, and report the same with approximate estimate of the cost thereof to this House."

He traced all the treaties and diplomatic relations between the United States and Great Britain from the time of the first treaty in 1783 to show that insofar as they related to Canada the in terpretation put on them by the United States had always been unfair and disadvantageous to Canada.

He referred to the war of 1812, and quoted the works of American authors and the records of Congress to show that the latter people were the aggressors, the United States regarded that war as a most uncalled for, unjustifiable attack on the rights of the British North American provinces, which were not implicated in any sort of way in regard to the causes of the war.

Coming down to 1888, he said that the same spirit animated the Government of the United States, and quoted from American authorities in support of his contention that their action throughout had been of the most unfriendly character.

He touched upon the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 and the abrogation by the United States authorities, and entered fully into the whole subject of our trade negotiations with the United States from that time down to 1888.

In the same way he took up the abortive treaty of 1888 and showed the way that the United States treated Canada in that regard. He pointed to our fishery relations with the States, and said that under the modus vivendi they were using our fisheries as well as if the treaty of 1888 had been in existence. As to reciprocity, Canada had made every effort she could with respect make to the United States to obtain the same. The wonder was, said he, that Canada had been so patient, owing to the treatment she had received at the hands of her neighbor. He cited the treaty under which the St. Clair Flats Canal, which is in Canadian territory, is used by both nations, although the United States claim it almost as their own. The canal which he proposed from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie would be 50 miles shorter than the present route, and would be completely in Canadian territory as to be beyond any dispute. He quoted from engineers' reports to show the practicability of the route, and showed that the expense would not be very great. He had not concluded at 6 o'clock.

In reply to Mr. Henderson Hon. Mr. Costigan said it was not the intention of the Government to introduce any legislation this session for the purpose of preventing speculation in space in cattle ships from Montreal next summer.

Mr. Casey is trying to rival Mr. Davin in his anxiety to know what the speech made by the Comptroller of Customs on the Home Rule question on Wednesday, and to-day asked whether Mr. Wallace had been correctly reported.

Hon. Mr. Foster replied that the Government had no information on the subject, which caused an audible smirk. But Mr. Casey was not abashed and to-night gave formal notice that he will bring the matter up on the next motion to go into supply, which will be to-morrow; and as Mr. Wallace promptly replied that he would be in his place to defend his action, it may be expected the Irish question will occupy the attention of the House for at least a portion of the time to-morrow.

After recess a number of private bills went through committee, were sent to third time and passed, amongst them the act to incorporate the Cleveland, Port Stanley and London Transportation and Railway Company and the act respecting the London and Port Stanley Railway Company.

The House then went into committee on Mr. Weldon's bill to disfranchise persons who have taken bribes.

The whole evening was spent in committee and the bill was practically passed with some amendments, but portions of it were reserved, and the committee finally rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again, which really means that it will not be reached again this season.

F. Bonnell's Sardines, 11.30.

The celebrated case of the Queen v. Nicholas K. Connolly and the Hon. Thomas McGreevy for conspiracy will commence in the Assize Court to-morrow morning before Judge Falconbridge and will probably last 5 or 10 days, as there are a large number of witnesses to be examined and an enormous amount of evidence taken before the Committee on Privileges and Elections in 1891 to be produced.

This case, it will be remembered, arose out of the inquiry by the Privileges and Election Committee of the House of Commons in 1891 into certain charges made by Mr. Tarte, M.P., that Mr. McGreevy, then M.P. for Quebec West, had with Connolly and others conspired to defraud the Government out of large sums of money in connection with the construction of a cross wall in Quebec harbor, and also for fraud in dredging and excavating earth from that harbor. As a result of that investigation Mr. McGreevy was expelled from the House of Commons by resolution of the members, and a Minister of the Crown resigned his position in the Government. An information was subsequently laid against Messrs. McGreevy and Connolly and others for misdemeanor, and on the matter being heard by Judge Ross, acting for the Ottawa police magistrate, he discharged all the defendants except Messrs. McGreevy and Connolly.

The trial of the case has been postponed two or three times, owing to either the crown or the defendants not being ready with the evidence.

The Crown will be represented by Mr. J. K. Kerr, Q.C., Crown prosecutor; Mr. E. B. Osler, Q.C., and Messrs. O'Connor and Hogg. Mr. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and Mr. Leigh, Q.C., will appear for Mr. Connolly and John A. Gemmill for Mr. McGreevy.

It is said that Mr. George Goodwin and Mr. John O'Leary of Ottawa are the successful tenderers for the last nine sections of the Soulanges Canal, which constitute the central portion and is all excavation.

The Committee on Agriculture, at its meeting this morning, adopted a resolution which was of very great importance, in view of the decision of the Imperial authorities to determine the question of the removal of the embargo against Canadian cattle by the result of an examination of the lungs of the first shipment of cattle this season.

Mr. Smith (Ontario) moved and Mr. McGregor seconded the following resolution, which was adopted: "That the Government appoint a competent veterinary surgeon who is to be sent to England and whose duty it shall be to attend at each and all places where and when the slaughter of Canadian herds and the autopsy in every case is being conducted, to protect Canadian interests against injury either by incompetent or inefficient examination and against the prejudicial interests of our cattle trade by restoration of the privilege formerly enjoyed by Canadian shippers.

The Senate has been discussing all this afternoon and evening until 10.30 Hon. Mr. Angers' bill relating to the Speaker of the Senate, which provides for the appointment of some person to act for the Speaker during his absence from the chair. The second reading was carried, 30 for to 7 against.

A USEFUL BABY.

Narrow Escape of a Whole Family From Asphyxiation.

HAMILTON, March 21.—The crying of a baby probably saved the family of Thomas Lush from death last night. Mr. Lush is a baker and lives at 483 Ferguson avenue north, his bakery being connected with his residence. Recently he had a new furnace put in his bakery and the first fire was built in it on Sunday evening. Whether it was that the chimney is too low or the dampers were not properly looked after is not quite certain, but last night the gas from the furnace escaped and filled the house, including the baker's apartments.

All the members of the family retired early except one of the boys, who did not get home until rather late. At 11 o'clock he laid down on the floor, as the crying of the baby. He rose to see what was the matter with the child, but while stooping over its crib he reeled and fell to the floor insensible.

Then the boy who had come home late was roused by the noise, and, becoming alarmed at the heavy, stertorous breathing of the other members of the family, he ran out and summoned Mr. Balfe, who a few minutes later arrived at the house. Dr. Balfe found the whole family unconscious, and far gone towards asphyxiation. He threw open the windows, and did what he could be done to rouse the family out of their stupor. His efforts were eventually successful.

To-day all the family are sick from the effects of the deadly coal-gas, but no serious results are anticipated.

WORKED IN VAIN.

Two Prisoners in London, Ont., Caught in an Attempt to Break Jail.

LONDON, Ont., March 21.—The jail officials received Mr. Justice Rose's despatch to attempt on the part of Burke and Wilson, awaiting trial on the charge of murdering Detective Phair, to effect their escape. One of the turnkeys heard suspicious noises proceeding from that quarter of the jail in which Burke and Wilson were located, and on entering the cell found the two men seated with an air of indifference.

He reported the matter to Governor Kelly. An examination of the cells revealed that portions of the bars had been filed through, and it was evident that had the prisoners been allowed another 24 hours they would have succeeded in gaining their liberty.

A quantity of rags had been lying in the window for some time and these had afforded the prisoners an excellent means of hiding their operations. The men have been deprived of all opportunity of making another attempt.

Swift Vengeance.

MORRISTOWN, Pa., March 21.—Charles Holland chopped John Kaufman's head nearly off with an ax because, as the husband alleges, Kaufman was too familiar with Mrs. Holland.

Off His Chunk.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Rev. J. G. White, a Cumberland Presbyterian minister of Stanford, Ill., in addressing the Milwaukee Ministers' Association, declared he had proofs of a conspiracy of the Church of Rome against the United States to overthrow the Government, that the Pope, Cardinal Gibbons, 60 clergymen and bishops and 10 archbishops were backing a man who was endeavoring to raise a revolution in this country, that this man was T. V. Powderly, who, under the pretext of aiding and assisting the laboring man, was plotting, with the aid of the Catholic church, to overthrow this country.

This was denied by a friend of Mr. Powderly's. Mrs. Stephens, who edits a paper here. Mr. Powderly writes, thanking her and contradicting the charge emphatically.

Eight Miners Killed.

LONDON, March 21.—A horrible accident occurred yesterday in a coal pit near Chesterfield, Derbyshire. While the cage was descending, loaded with miners going to their day's work, owing to some accident to the apparatus, it suddenly fell to the bottom of the shaft and eight of the miners were killed.

The affair caused great excitement, and hundreds of men, women and children hurried to the mouth of the shaft to see if their relatives were among the dead.

Fed the Sweets of Office.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate has confirmed the following nominations: Josiah Quincy, Massachusetts, Assistant Secretary of State; Isaac P. Gray, Indiana, Minister to Mexico; James B. Eustis, Louisiana, Minister to France.

Patrick A. Collins, Massachusetts, Consul-General at London; Robert A. Maxwell, New York, fourth assistant Postmaster-General; Wade Hampton, South Carolina, Commissioner of Railroads; William McAdoo, New Jersey, assistant secretary of the navy.

Religious Riots.

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Religious riots have broken out in Amoy. Many native Christians have been tortured, and a few have been killed. The English missionary was attacked by a mob of fanatics, and barely saved his life by flight.

Off to Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Ex-Congressman James H. Blount, Commissioner to Hawaii, arrived from Washington yesterday morning and shortly after noon started for Honolulu on the United States revenue cutter Richard Rush. He expects to be absent three months.

A Plain Statement.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Price 25c.

An apple tree will pay better than a pig with the same attention.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25c.

Roots and tubers should generally be fed with other and more nutrious foods.

In order to give quicker relief through take a dose of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spells render it necessary This widely renowned remedy also cures earache in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Boschee's German Syrup tive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately searches the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucous which stops up the air tubes which cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tight chest experienced in the cough. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation and dryness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore was in a fair way to get healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was also cured of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. Four bottles of the above VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties may be sure I should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be

Mr. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions in the book headed by 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion' one box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I desire, and the distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

There can be no good crop without good seed; grapes do not come from thorns.

"Father Mathew."

DR. CUTLER'S REMINISCENCES.

The most extraordinary character in the early days of the total abstinence enterprise was Father Theobald Mathew, of Ireland. He was a warm-hearted Roman Catholic priest in Cork, and was in the habit of visiting the workhouse in company with a benevolent Quaker, Wm. Martin. One day, friend Martin pointed to some wretched sots in the workhouse and said to him: "O Theobald Mathew, if thou wouldst only take hold of the temperance cause!" Out of the mustard-seed of this little sentence sprang a movement that soon grew into a prodigious tree. The kind hearted priest gor together a few friends, drew up a teetotal pledge, and about 60 subscribed their names after his own. Then he set out on a crusade against the whiskey bottle over all Ireland, administering the pledge to about four millions of persons in less than four years! During that time the annual consumption of whiskey sank from eleven millions of gallons to less than six millions! The "tidal wave" of cold water submerged hundreds of grog-shops, and extinguished the infernal fires of scores of distilleries.

During the year after my graduation from Princeton College I visited Scotland; and on reaching Edinburgh I found the teetotallers of that city preparing to go over to Glasgow to give a welcome to Father Mathew. He was making his first visit to the land where the religion of John Knox has been so often drowned out by the whiskey of poor Burns. Arriving in Glasgow we found a multitude of over fifty thousand people assembled on the green. In an open barouche, drawn by four horses, stood a short, stout Irishman, with a handsome benevolent countenance, attired in a long black coat; a silver medal hung upon his breast. The crowd surged around his carriage, many of them striving to grasp his hand or even to touch his clothing; for the number of Catholic Irish in Glasgow was even then very large. After the procession had forced its way through the densely thronged streets, it halted in an open square. Father Mathew began to administer the pledge, which was read out to the people, who kneeled before him on the ground in platoons. Mathew laid his hands on each one, and pronounced his priestly benediction; over the necks of many a small medal was hung. In this rapid manner the teetotal pledge was administered to many hundreds within an hour, and fresh crowds came forward. When I was introduced to the good man as an American he put his arm on my shoulder and said: "God bless you, my son!" and gave me a kiss. As I was about to make the first public temperance speech of my life (in the Glasgow City Hall), I suppose that I may regard that act of the great Irish apostle as a sort of ordination to the ministry of preaching the sound gospel of total abstinence. Father Mathew's address in the City Hall was very modest, admitting all his marvellous success to the direct blessing of God upon his efforts to deliver his native land from the curse of strong drink. The immediate revolution which he wrought in the habits of his countrymen was truly wonderful, and there are still hundreds of thousands on both sides of the ocean who are loyal members of the "Father Mathew Total Abstinence Societies." Such men as Archbishop Ireland, of Minnesota, and Fathers Cleary and Malone have caught his spirit. His dead hand is still felt; and Theobald Mathew is to-day a more vital power than Daniel O'Connell.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

A Visitor's Appreciation of Good Music.

MONDAY morning, March 20.

SIR,—As a visitor in Belleville, I desire to express my appreciation of the music rendered in John St. Presbyterian church last evening. The expression in the singing is well worthy of praise, and the congregation may well be proud of such a choir.

A LOVER OF GOOD MUSIC.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MY DEAR SIR,—In your item of yesterday, with reference to the man arrested at the hospital and brought before me, I beg to say that it was out of my power to order the man back to the hospital, even had I desired to do so. I gave the man the choice of going free or going to gaol, and he accepted the alternative of going to gaol. Had I not sent him there, where could he have gone?

I am yours, J. J. B. FLINT.

INVITED TO TORONTO.

Rev. Mr. Locke Receives an Invitation to the Yonge Street Church.

Rev. Jos. H. Locke, pastor of the George Street Methodist church, Peterborough, whose term expires in June, has received an invitation to the pastorate of the Yonge Street Methodist church, Toronto. The resolution extending the invitation was unanimously adopted at a largely attended meeting of the quarterly official board of the church. This is one of the important churches of the city, and of which Rev. Dr. Hugh Johnston, who has gone to Washington to take charge of a church there, was pastor. Mr. Locke was formerly pastor of the West Belleville Methodist church.

The Review says: Mr. Locke needs no recommendation to Toronto. He was formerly pastor of the Spadina-ave. church, and is well known in the city.

AMUSEMENTS

The announcement that Mme. Laura Schirmer Mapleson would appear in this city caused considerable flurry in musical circles. Belleville indeed can feel flattered at securing this famous singer, as she appears but one night, in Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton, and only two nights in Toronto. Her tour through Canada will be under the immediate patronage of His Excellency the Governor General. The company comprises such great artists as Mlle. Theo Doni, prima donna, soprano; Signor Berthold Banon, primo tenor; Signor Luigi Viviani, primo basso, and Her Froberger, solo pianist. This company is considered to be the best that has ever visited this city. Due notice of the opening of the plan will be given.

Resolution of Condolence.

It was moved by Bro. P.M., E. L. Palen, and seconded by P.M., S. E. Haight, and resolved that this lodge has learned with deep regret of the loss sustained by our Bro. J. S. and Mrs. Marsh in the removal by death of their son. We the members of Belleville Lodge, No. 251 of the A. O. U.W. in session assembled, beg to convey to them our sincere sympathy in this their hour of trial.—Carried unanimously. Signed on behalf of Belleville Lodge A. O. U.W., H. W. Smith, Recorder.

Sunday Funerals.

The Belleville Ministerial Association discussed the matter of Sunday funerals on Monday last, when the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That while we feel the tenderest sympathy for bereaved households, and would not willingly wound the most sensitive heart, we are deeply convinced that in the interest of religious worship, and in the interest of the friends of the deceased, and in the interest of the undertakers, who are debarred from the services of the sanctuary, Sunday funerals should be reduced to the smallest possible number.

THAT FRENCH TREATY.

OUR GRAPE GROWERS AND WINE DEALERS AGITATED.

They Object to the Stipulation in the Commercial Treaty With France Providing For the Removal of the 30 Per Cent. Ad Valorem Duty.

TORONTO, March 21.—The proposed ratification of a commercial treaty with France by the Dominion Government lowering the existing tariff on wines has caused considerable consternation among the wine manufacturers and grape growers of Ontario, and a petition will be forwarded to the Minister of Finance asking that the 30 per cent. ad valorem duty on French wines be not removed.

The firms directly interested in the manufacture of wine in Ontario are Peles Island Wine & Vineyard Co., Brantford; Ernest Girardot & Co., Concordia Vineyards, Sandwich; T. G. Bright & Co., Niagara Falls Wine Co., Toronto; J. S. Hamilton & Co., Brantford and Tilsonburg; George Barnes, St. Catharines Wine Co., Haskins Wine Co., Hamilton; Lee Montreuil, Walkerville; M. Gordon Wanless & Co., Tourmier, Sandwich; Alex. McNeill, J. S. Visger and Alex. Askin, Walkerville, and Maddison Smith, & Co., Wardroper and H. H. Roberg, Pelee Island.

The Canadian wine manufacturers claim that there are at least 5000 acres of land planted in vines, capable of producing one million and a half gallons of wine; that Ontario alone has an area suitable for grape culture at least equal to the present area of vineyards in France; and that there are about 4000 people directly or indirectly interested in grape-growing and wine-making.

They further contend that if the proposed treaty is ratified without certain restrictions, and also without equivalent advantages being granted to Canadian wine growers from the Government, our grape-growing and wine industries will be practically ruined.

Said a well-known representative of the trade yesterday: "The wine market of the United States is closed to us on account of a specific duty of 50 cents per gallon, and if the French wines are admitted at a lower rate than at present without regulations which would enable us to compete on equal terms with them the Canadian market would also be practically closed to us, as the wine manufacturers in France possess numerous advantages and privileges that we do not enjoy. For instance, French manufacturers are making from dried raisins a wine which they fortify with alcohol and blend with Spanish, Italian or Sicilian wines of a higher grade, and import in quantities for that purpose; so that admitting French wines in Canada is practically admitting Spanish, Portuguese and Italian wines also. It is well known that Canadian people favor sweet wines rather than dry wines, and that the bulk of the wine consumed in the country is sweet wine, which may be classed as light port or light sherry. Now the admission of wines of 26 degrees of strength for importation, free of the ad valorem duty, includes light ports and sherries. We are thus forced to compete against sweet wines which are produced at a nominal cost and fortified with spirits which wine manufacturers in France can distill without costly restrictions or use without any excise duties. Whereas, owing to the expensive costs of spirits, Canadian wine manufacturers have to use granulated sugar for the purpose of fortifying their wines.

"By the process of fermentation sugar converts itself into a certain percentage of alcohol when added to grape or other fruit juice, but this method, although giving satisfactory results, is far more costly than the French method of using spirits, and besides, the use of sugar prevents the early maturing of wines.

"The price French manufacturers of wine pay for spirits is so low that with their marvelous ability in blending wines, and with their knowledge of making wine with raisins, currants, prunes and flavorings, they can produce artificial wines at a nominal cost even for less than is costs us for cellarage and labor.

"The privilege of distilling spoilt wines or grape must is practically denied to us, and we are annually losing thousands of dollars, which might be saved had we the advantage of the French or California wine makers.

"It is well-known that the freight rates on wines shipped directly to Canada from France or other European ports are very much less than the rates we have to pay to our railways in Canada. For example, the freight charges on a consignment from Bordeaux to Windsor, Ont., is less than one-half the cost of the freight on a similar consignment from Windsor to Montreal, although the distance between Bordeaux and Windsor is over five times that between Windsor and Montreal. Here again, French wine makers have the advantage over us."

The Canadian wine manufacturers ask as compensation for the removal of the duty

That manufacturers should be allowed to distill their grape must, pomace or wines without any license or excise duty, subject to proper restrictions;

That for the protection of Canadian wine manufacturers and also for public protection a commission or examining board be appointed at each Canadian port to analyze and test the imported wines, and that no wines but those made from grape juice be admitted, that spurious or doctored wines, called in France Vin Freistes, be positively excluded from being imported, and that the same tests be used at the Paris Custom House the Paris commission to discover different wine falsifications be used in Canada.

Mr. J. Ross Wetherman,

editor of The Wine Merchant and Brewer, was interviewed yesterday. He said: There is much misconception as to the effect on the Canadian wine industry of the proposed repeal of the 30 per cent. ad valorem duty on French wines. It is easily understood that the Canadian grape growers should send a deputation of protest to Ottawa; how the reduction of duty will injure them is not so easy to understand.

Under the new conditions claret, with which I include Red Burgundies, is the only wine likely to make a larger showing on the import list, and as to wines of this character, I think that I shall have the support of the trade in stating that the attempts to produce a drinkable Canadian claret have hitherto proved a failure.

As extra consumption of French claret will not tell against red Canadian wines, such as Concord, etc. The one is a dinner wine, the others are not.

"Again, there is not much to fear from the competition of French white wines (Chasternes, Barsac, Chablis), with the Catawba, etc., for the only French wines that will compete in price are too thin to please the palate of those who consume the native product.

The new tariffs should be received with favor by the advocates of light table wines.

It would enable the wine merchant to sell a sound table claret at 30c a bottle.

It is but natural for the Canadian wine growers to make an outcry if a treaty were made with Spain, allowing Spanish wines to compete on all fours with the heavier reds of Canada. But that is a far cry, and somewhat foreign to the subject.

DIXON-SIDDONS FIGHT.

SPORTS VERY MUCH DISGUSTED WITH IT.

No Knock-Out Blows Attempted—Dixon Did Pretty Much As He Pleased With Siddons—Some of the Boys Left During the Last Round.

CONEY ISLAND, March 21.—A large crowd witnessed the fight last night between Champion Featherweight George Dixon and George Siddons for $2000.

The referee announced that if Dixon and Siddons were able to continue at the end of 12 rounds the decision should be a draw. This was the only condition on which the bout could be arranged as far as the decision went, but the man who had the advantage up to the end of the fight should receive $1500 of the $2000 purse offered.

Johnny Eckhardt, as usual, was the referee.

FIRST ROUND—Dixon walked around his man, feinting several times, but making no attempt to lead. He suddenly landed his left on Siddons' ribs. He jabbed his left again in the same place and received in return Siddons' left in the face rather lightly. The round was rather tame.

SECOND ROUND—Dixon sparred a few moments for an opening, when Dixon rushed in and swung his left on Siddons, and got away without any return. He repeated this again and landed left and right. The crowd hissed Siddons for remaining away.

THIRD ROUND—Dixon landed another left on Siddons' ribs and retired without any return. Another minute's walking around and Dixon landed the left again on the same place. The fans were the only blows in this round and the fighters were tame.

FOURTH ROUND—Dixon went right at his man the moment they met and landed his left on Siddons' stomach. They clinched, and after the break Dixon ran in again and landed both left and right. During the clinch which followed some one in the crowd called out: "Give it up and apologize!"

In the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds but little fighting was done, and the crowd amused themselves by guying the fighters.

In the eighth and ninth rounds a little more fighting was done, but not enough to satisfy the crowd.

TENTH ROUND—The crowd began to leave their seats and move towards the door as the boys got up for this round. Dixon forced the fighting and landed a few more good left-handed blows on the chest and stomach of Siddons. The crowd amused itself by guying the pair.

ELEVENTH ROUND—After a minute's walking Dixon landed a good blow over Siddons' heart. Dixon exhibited some temper and landed another blow on the face, following it with a light tap on the ribs with his left. This round was another exhibition of walking and feinting.

TWELFTH ROUND—About half the people in the house left before the pair came up for this round. Dixon made matters lively, however, by forcing the fighting. He drove Siddons all over the ring and landed many times with both hands, but none of the blows were of a knock-out nature.

The general verdict was that it was the poorest exhibition ever seen around these parts and will not contribute much to the popularity of the sport at this place. The sports from the large cities within 500 miles of New York are particularly indignant and disappointed.

A LONDON SCANDAL.

The Boyish Foolishness of Sir William Pearce Exposed.

LONDON, March 21.—It is now a unique week when some swell divorce suit does not force its way above the level of mere purulency into political or sociological importance. This week The Westminster Gazette staff, which was trained on the old Pall Mall Gazette in the traditions of Stead-ism, unearthed the fact that there has been an undefended divorce case passed through the courts late one afternoon in a quarter of an hour, the co-respondent in which is nothing less than a baronet and member of Parliament. When reported in attendance, though, he was only plain mister.

This cried to Heaven for redress and The Westminster promptly bawled at the top of its lungs: Sir William Pearce, Bart., Tory M.P. for Plymouth, is trying to sneak through the Divorce Court without notice. Of course, the other publications joined the hue and cry, and the Junior Association of Plymouth Tories in a panic passed a resolution calling on him to resign.

Then the facts came out. Pearce's offence dated back to 1884, when he was a young undergraduate of Cambridge and had no knowledge whatever of the law. All that was with the entire consent of the petitioning husband that his name and title were kept from the papers in the recent trial.

Pearce is a man of 31, who succeeded his father as president of the Fairfield Company on the Clyde, which built the latest and most magnificent additions to the Cunard fleet. He is said to be a nice fellow, well liked in the House and business circles, and there is a good deal of disgust manifested in the Liberal party at this attempt to make political capital by dragging up his boyish delinquency.

AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

Such Is the Opinion of the Owners of the Steamer Naronic.

LIVERPOOL, March 21.—Officials of the White Star Company here have received the full report of the steamer Coventry, which arrived at Bremen yesterday. They state their advices show that the last lifeboat of the Naronic passed by the Coventry was recently occupied by a portion of the Naronic's crew, and they express the hope that the occupants have been picked up by a passing vessel.

They also express the hope that the occupants of the other boats have been rescued. All doubts as to the fate of the Naronic has been dispelled by the sighting of her lifeboats. That she is now at the bottom of the ocean cannot be disputed, but the cause of the disaster is of course still a matter of conjecture.

It may be, judging from the latitude and longitude in which the boats were seen, that the steamer struck either a derelict or an iceberg, though it is still rather early in the season for ice to be met with as far south as the banks. It is to be hoped that the mystery of the loss of the steamer will soon be cleared up by the landing at some port of the members of the crew.

A vessel which passed Deal to-day signalled that she had on board 11 shipwrecked people and the White Star officials say there is a strong probability they are part of the crew of the Naronic. The arrival of this vessel is eagerly awaited, as should the shipwrecked persons on board be from the Naronic all conjectures as the cause that led to the foundering of the steamer will be removed.

STRUCK A RIVER.

The Rushing Stream Found At the Bottom of a Well.

AUGUSTA, Ill., March 21.—An underground river has been discovered 70 feet and one-half miles northwest of this place, between Augusta and Carthage. A few days ago William Allen dug a well on his farm in that locality, going to a depth of 33 feet. Not finding as much water as he desired he dug 44 feet further, and suddenly the auger dropped through the bottom of the well.

What water had accumulated also went through the hole. The well was plugged up with clay and debris and the well again filled with water, but suddenly the entire bottom fell out, carrying all but five feet of the wall with it.

Nothing was then left but a deep hole in the ground, at the bottom of which could be seen a swift-rushing stream. All efforts to fill up this hole have proved futile. Rubbish, stones, logs and other debris have been cast into it, but the rushing current carries it away almost instantly. Efforts have been made to sound the depth of the subterranean stream, but they, too have been futile.

DR. CARMAN ON BERMUDA.

He Speaks Entertainingly for Two Hours in the Tabernacle.

Rev. Dr. Carman delivered an interesting lecture on Bermuda, in the Tabernacle last evening. There was a large audience present and a most enjoyable evening was spent. ex Ald. W. H. Gordon acted as chairman. The Dr. carried his hearers along with him in a charming description of his travels. Hamilton was the seat of government in Bermuda, and made an inviting winter resort for invalids; the population of the Islands was about 6,000 whites and 9,000 colored. The principal means of livelihood was the cultivation of onions, peas, flower bulbs, potatoes, etc.; most of these products found a ready market in the United States. Fresh water was obtained from rain alone, which was gathered in large water-sheds and then put into tanks. The estates were composed of from twenty to twenty five acres, the houses on which were made from coralline rock, which could be sawed into blocks as easily as wood. The Church of England was the strongest religious body on the Island. The Presbyterians came next, with Methodism somewhat in the background. At Grassy Bay, the speaker was shown an old English war vessel which did service during Lord Nelson's time, but which has now been converted into a boarding house. The colored people, in consequence of their superior numbers, held the balance of power. The Islands were honey combed, and there were many large caves of note along the coast. The speaker visited the town of St. George, which is named after Sir George Somers, and is very old and dilapidated. The harbor furnished poor accommodations, and was filled with hulls of old vessels which had been sunken. There was no mud there; the roads dry in thirty minutes after a rain storm, the ground being of a very porous nature. At Hamilton are situated the British naval works, where there is a fine harbor. The speaker described the red cedar there as similar to the cedar of Lebanon, of which he had brought a sample. An interesting evening was brought to a close by a vote of thanks to the speaker.

The great objection to cod liver oil has been its nauseous taste. This has been entirely removed by the process of preparing "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," which is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the greatest creator of new blood in the world. It has cured thousands of consumptives by rebuilding their constitutions. Everybody is talking about the wonderful power of this Emulsion. In big bottle 50c and $1, at all drug stores.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on genial coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS LIKE AN ADAMANT, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Capt. Mullins left for Detroit to-day, where he will fit out the schooner Starling, which he bought from John Charlton, M.P., last fall. He will sail her on the upper lakes.

A telegram was received yesterday, stating that the Bishop of New Westminster, who was to have preached in St. Thomas church on Thursday evening next is, seriously ill with pneumonia.

At a few minutes before 11 o'clock this morning, the fire brigade was call'ed out, but their services were not required. A chimney blaze at Mr. J. Connelly's house, South John street, was the cause.

A meeting of the sub-committee, to whom was referred the question of the market bells, met last night and discussed the matter for two hours. It was finally decided to recommend some slight changes in the tariff.

John White, ex-M.P. for East Hastings, returns to British Columbia next week, where he is engaged in the milling business. As to whether he will contest the seat made vacant by the death of Mr. Gordon, Mr. White said he was not prepared to speak definitely.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning gray, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.

On Saturday while a carter was drawing a load of cedar timber over the railway track on Grier street the sleigh struck on rails. A western bound train dashed over the iron bridge and only came to a standstill within an inch of the obstruction.

A horse belonging to Mr. W. H. Biggar, having a portion of the harness and a pair of reins attached to it, ran down Front street this afternoon at a rapid pace. Near the Hotel Quinte it went upon the sidewalk on the west side of Front street and ran to Bridge street and over the lower bridge.

A happy event took place at eight o'clock last night, when Mr. Frank French was united in marriage to Miss Mary Gero, at the St. Thomas' rectory by Rev. Canon Burke. The principals were assisted by Mr. H. Green-field, and Miss B. French. The young people have the best wishes of a large number of friends.

It may be a surprise to some of the Aldermen, but it is a fact nevertheless that Belleville some time ago went to the considerable expense of securing a street sweeper. Instead of hiring old men to waste time in cleaning of the crossings such an instrument could be used to advantage at this season, while enhancing the sanitary condition of the main streets.

Probably in March, more than any other month in the year, are the ravages of cold in the head and catarrh most severely felt. Do not neglect either for an instant, but apply Nasal Balm, a time-tried, never-failing cure. Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Try it. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price—50c and $1 a bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

The reputation of Canadian barley has reached the Russian government, says the Colborne Express, and they have set an order for 100,00 bushels for seed this spring. The order came to Mr. A. Campbell of Colborne. The last of the lot was shipped from Canadian points last week. It goes to New York and thence to Finland. The shipment makes a very nice lot of barley which will give the Finns an entire change of seed.

NEW SPRING GOODS.

Coats Worn Much Shorter Than Those Lately in Use.

The Popularity of Capes Still on the Increase —The Newest Spring Goods—Varieties in Spring Millinery—New Hats—A Visit to the Different Centres of Fashion and Beauty.

"Ritchie's opening Day" is an event which is looked forward to with no little interest by the fair sex, and to-day saw the usual throng do homage to this bewildering place of fashion and beauty. Miss Irwin this season seems to have excelled all previous efforts, in an assortment of millinery which, for taste and beauty, does not furnish anything more artistic in Ontario. The hats this spring are totally different in shapes than those of last year. Some of them are extremely flat and large, while beat into every conceivable shape. Others are small, yet correspondingly attractive. A new idea is furnished in an inclination towards the poke shape in the style of bonnets, which are made both large and medium. These goods are shown in straw, and are had in every tint imaginable. The Parisian novelties for trimming are very pretty, and exceed anything of their kind ever before shown by this firm. Ostrich tips and mounts, combined with flowers, go well together. While the trimming cannot be called "fast," colors are so blended this season as to have a brighter tendency than formerly.

Especial attention this season has been paid to the mourning goods, of which there is a large stock, and so well assorted that the purchaser is bound to be pleased.

In the children's goods the shapes are somewhat large and exceedingly pretty. Some very pretty little bonnets are made up, and show off to good effect under attractive trimming.

The new spring coats show a marked difference from those worn during the summun and winter. The point of exaggeration in the length of dressy coats having been reached, there is now of course a decided reaction in favor of somewhat shorter styles. Sleeves have been also exaggerated to almost ridiculous proportions and a change, therefore, or at least a modification is about to occur, although it is to be hoped that it will be a very long time before fashion returns to the tight fitting sleeves of years ago. The popularity of cape, single, double and triple, will increase rather than diminish. It is likely that they will continue in favor for a long time, or as long at least as the immense sleeves and voluminous shoulder trimmings remain in vogue, as the cape form is much more accommodating to these than any coat or jacket, whose smaller, heavier sleeves invariably crush the more elaborate ones of the bodice. That they will be in high favor during the coming summer is already an established fact. Although a large stock is shown a number have been detained on account of bad weather.

The second and third floor of this large establishment is devoted to house furnishings, which is under the management of Mr. T. Brown. As to the assortment of goods, one need not look further than the centre window, which has been so artistically and tastefully dressed by Mr. Brown. In talking to a reporter Mr. Ritchie said that more attention than ever had been paid to this department, which embraces everything that money can buy. Some of the carpets are new in design and are very elaborate.

The dress making department is again this season under the supervision of Miss Craig and Mrs. Macleau, who are so well known to well dressed women that further reference is unnecessary.

Mr. F. Armstrong has this season assumed charge of the tailoring and gents' furnishing department, which occupies the entire north part of the building. The stock embraces a full line of fashionable goods in the newest patterns. Aside from the tailoring department the gents furnishing department is replete in the newest and latest goods.

The dress goods this year are much more showey than for many seasons and embrace a variety of styles and patterns.

W. FLINT JONES.

We'o me spring! Such is the sentiment of all the ladies to-day, who have been inspecting new spring goods; and after the long, cold, dreary winter which now has gone, how refreshing and life giving it is to welcome such a harbinger of spring as the millinery openings. Spring brings us balmy air and blue skies, and under its magic influence nature wakes to a new fresh beauty and productiveness. Welcome spring! And right royally was it welcomed to day at the establishment of Mr. W. Flint Jones. Certainly one of the finest displays of millinery, jackets and dry goods ever made in Belleville is made by this firm. The ceaseless activity, the unbounded ambition and well known enterprise of this firm is rapidly placing this business to the front, and the opening of to-day is ample evidence of prospecty and success. Of course the Millinery Department was the centre of attraction to the ladies and the rooms were thronged all day. Mr. Jones has imported from Glasgow, much of his millinery, which gives him styles not seen elsewhere and enables him to sell at the lowest prices. Miss Shannon has made the most of the large stock at her disposal and has proved herself to be a lady of great skill and good taste. Large hats will be a leading feature, mostly worn by young ladies, and small bonnets trimmed so as to be almost covered with jets will be in favor among older ladies. Flowers predominate everywhere. The French milliners are showing bold red roses, but quieter styles will prevail here. Fancy jet buckles are shown in great variety and in different colors. Ribbons and laces still continue popular and are very freely seen. Feathers are also to be much used, and are in the most delicate tints. The newest colors are anemone, amethyst, vervene, ophelia, and Nile green. Among the many beautifully trimmed hats here seen is a leghorn trimmed with two large plumes, a cream lace curtain secured by buckles around the brim, a bow of cream faille fixed cabochon in the centre, a satin bow between the plumes with a "rose de nice" bud in front. Some beautiful hats for children are seen, one being made in pale blue crepe de chene, with shirred brim and crown, the brim being made so as to be prettily dented to suit the small face, and having a deep frill of soft lace falling over the edge. It is finished with two large rosettes of lace with pale blue osprey coming from centres, and ties of pale blue silk ribbon. Turning to the Mantle Department, which is under the control of Miss McGie, a large stock of jackets, capes, etc., is seen, having been imported from Germany and also Glasgow. The Dress making rooms are still in charge of Miss Butler, who guarantees to her patrons every satisfaction. To dress goods Mr. Jones pays special personal attention, and says he has extra nice goods at extra good value. All the newest styles are in stock and every requisite for trimming is also to be seen. The show of silk embraces the latest styles for blouses, waists and dresses. In prints, muslins, lawns, sateens, etc., a large stock is kept, while in parasols an immense range is shown. These goods having been made to Mr. Jones' order in Glasgow. All the other departments are filled to overflowing and doubtless a large increase of business will reward Mr. Jones for his enterprise.

MRS. S. EUSTACE.

Mrs. Eustace opened her handsome millinery parlors for the season to-day. Within the last few weeks, Mrs. Eustace has had her store entirely remodelled, on modern ideas. The store is to-day one of the most attractive and inviting in the city, and an excellent stock of goods is displayed to fine effect. Evidence of Mrs. Eustace's taste and skill is shown in the perfect harmony of trimming and decorative novelties for which has been secured from Paris, New York, and London. There is an air of artistic display about Mrs. Eustace's parlors which is peculiarly her own, and if patrons of fashion and beauty want to see stylish goods, they have only to look into her store. An extensive and varied line of children's and ladies' wear is shown this year, while more attention than in previous years is paid to hosiery, gloves, and corsets.

BRIGNALL & THOMPSON.

The well known firm of Brignall & Thompson was this morning visited by our representative, and what was shown him in the millinery department, the eye beheld a large and varied display of hats and bonnets. These were of the latest patterns, and trimmed in an artistic manner. There were over one hundred hats on exhibition, which were much admired by all who saw them. Miss Campbell has charge of this department, which is a guarantee that it will, as usual, be one of the leading features of the firm's business, and will be run as usual during the season. A large number of sashes were also shown, of various shades. In the other departments there is also a good stock to select from.

Commercial Cable.

(Special to the Intelligencer.)

The annual meeting of the Commercial Cable company was held at the head office of the Company, New York, March 20th. The financial statements submitted show that the net earnings for the year 1892, amounted to $1,009,587, equivalent to 14¼ per cent on the capital stock. On Jan. 15, 1892, the company paid off $600,000 of its six per cent bonds, and paid off another $400,000 on Jan. 15th, 1893, having $400,000 outstanding, out of the original issue of three million dollars. The company's action in increasing the capital was unanimously ratified by the shareholders. The money thus secured will provide ample funds for the laying of a third cable, which, however, it is not the intention of the company to lay until next year. The following directors were elected: John W. Mackay, James G. Bennett, Gardiner G. Howland, George S. Coe, Jno. W. Mackay Jr., Rich'd Irvin Jr., Thos. Stanmer, Sir Donald A. Smith, H.C., M.G., W.C. Van Horne, Chas. R. Hosmer, A. B. Chandler, G. G. Ward, E. C. Platt.

A CURLING MATCH.

An Old Country Rink Defeats a Canadian Rink.

A rink composed of a Scotchman, an Englishman and two Irishmen challenged, a few days ago, a Canadian rink to play a match for a bag of flour to be given to the caretaker of the premises. This was accepted, and the game was played last night. In the early part of the match the ice was in fair condition, but as the close considerable water was upon the ice making the play rather difficult. The old country rink, skipped by Mr. F. Dolan, in the early part of the game took a lead and maintained it until the finish. A number of spectators were present, and evinced much interest in the proceedings. The players and score were as follows:

Old Country.	Canadian.
J. Brasier	E. H. LaRoche
J. Bonar	T. Ritchie
T. Thomson	W. H. Biggar
F. Dolan, skip—18,	Jos. D. Clarke, skip—11.

NOTES.

This will no doubt be the final game of the season, as the rink to-day was cut down.

The past season has been one of the best in the history of the club.

Preferential Duties.

LONDON, March 21.—At the 33rd annual meeting of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom, held to-day, a resolution introduced by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, urging upon The Government the necessity of taking into its most serious consideration the invitation of the Canadian Parliament to the Mother Country to enter into an arrangement for reciprocal preferential duties, was, after considerable discussion, rejected.

ACCUSED OF LARCENY.

A Farmer has Money and Silverware Taken from his House.

A highly respected farmer, residing in the township of Thurlow, reported to High County Constable Johnston on Saturday, that recently he has been losing small sums of money, ranging from 10 cents to $5. During last week a quantity of cutlery, consisting of silver knives, spoons, etc., were also taken. Yesterday the constable went to the place, and from a letter obtained, he was convinced that a boy in the employ of the farmer was the guilty party. He, however, denied all knowledge of the money or the whereabouts of the missing articles. A search was instituted and the cutlery was found hidden in a bed. The lad continued to deny placing them there, but offered to give his employer $10 if he would not have him arrested. He also promised to leave the country. The farmer consented to allow the boy to go, as owing to the highly respected position his parents occupy in the community, he did not wish to bring disgrace upon them. For this reason the names are suppressed.

ANOTHER CHARGE PREFERRED

Joseph Brant may Plead Guilty, and Receive a Light Sentence.

It is likely that Joseph Brant, the Indian now in gaol here charged with criminal assault on a young girl on the Mohawk reserve, will plead guilty to indecent assault, when a light sentence will be administered. The matter will be brought under the notice of the Attorney general by Geo. E. Henderson, Q.C., Crown Attorney. As to the question of bail Mr. Henderson stated to a reporter to-day that that was impossible in the case of an Indian. It appears that when the assault was committed, the Indian was not responsible for his crime, in consequence of being under the influence of liquor.

GREAT SACRIFICE SALE

—OF—

BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

A wholesale manufacturer's stock bought at 57c. on the dollar to be slaughtered. We have always got our argus eye open for these snaps, and now never in Canada has such a chance been offered to secure a suit so cheap, and other dealers should take advantage of it, as we are going to sell them away below wholesale prices. Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Children's	2	piece	suits	for 75c.	worth $3.00.
1,000	Boy's	3	"	"	" $1.50	" 4.50.
1,500	Youth's			"	" $2.50	" 5.00.
1,200	Men's			"	" $2.75	" 8.00.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1 20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30.000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

Is sometimes hard to tie, a difficult tie, as it were. The ties we sell are not those of love, but they are lovely, and if used judiciously and with proper taste, may lead to love ties. At any rate all men of proper taste, love to wear proper ties, ties which even though they may not bind, at least indicate a proper harmony between the wearer and the dictates of fashion. Ties of fashion, fashion ties, stylish ties, lovely ties. That's what we sell. Spring ties, ties bright and varied as the flowers that bloom in April and May. Come and see them.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.

(By permision of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'Mrs. Romaine,' said Caspar, gently, but with a steadiness of tone, of which she did not at first feel the import, 'I think you hardly know the force of what you are saying. I do not incur any risk unnecessarily or wantonly; I only wish the truth to be made known. What can I do more—or less?'

'You could go away,' she said, almost in a whisper.

If the room had been lighter, she might, perhaps, have seen the frown that was gathering on his brow, the wrath that darkened his eyes as he spoke; but his face was in the shadow, and for a moment anger made him speechless. She went on eagerly, breathlessly, without waiting for a reply.

'You might get off quite easily to—to Spain, perhaps, or some other place where there was no extradition treaty. You are out on bail, I know; but your friends could not complain. Surely it is natural enough thing for a man, situated as you are, to wish to escape; nobody would blame you in the least—they would only say that you were wise. And if you stay, everything is against you. You had so much better take your present chance!'

Caspar muttered something inarticulate, then seemed to choke back further utterance, and kept silence for a minute. When he spoke again it was in his usual tranquil tone.

'You do not seem to have heard of the quality that men call their honor!'

'Oh, no!—I have heard enough about honor,' she answered with a nervous, rasping laugh. 'And you—you to talk about —after—after what you have done!'

Caspar fell back a step or two and surveyed her curiously. 'God God!' The exclamation broke from him, as if against his will. 'You speak as though you thought I was guilty—as though I had—murdered Oliver!'

And she looked at him as intently as he looked at her, said only, in the simplest possible way—

'And did you not?'

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

LOVE OR TRUST.

Caspar turned away. For a moment he felt morally sick, as if from a pang of some physical pain. Distrust from an old friend is always a hard thing to bear. And so, for a moment or two, he did not speak.

'I was not surprised,' said Mrs. Romaine, quickly. 'I had been looking for something of the kind. I won't say that you were not justified—in a certain sense. Oliver acted abominably. I know. He told me what he was going to before-hand.'

'Told you what he was going to do!'

'Yes—to make Lesley fall in love with him. He did not not mean to marry her. He meant to gain her affections and then to—to—leave her, to break her heart. I suppose that is what you have found out. I do not wonder that you were surprised.'

'No doubt you have good authority for what you are saying,' said Mr. Brooke, very coldly, 'but your account does not tally with what I have gathered from other sources.'

'From Lesley herself?'

Caspar bowed his head. He was conscious of a violent dislike to bringing Lesley's name into the discussion. Mrs. Romaine went on very rapidly.

'As to Lesley, of course I cannot say. I don't know whether he failed or succeeded. Oliver very seldom failed with women when he tried. But of course, he was going to marry Ethel; that meant if he had succeeded Lesley had been thrown over. It is not like me to put things so badly, is it? I see that I disgust you. But I do not know that I need apologize. You are man of the world enough to understand that at certain crises we are obliged to speak our minds, to face the truth bodly to know what it means. Is it not so?'

'It may be so, but I am not aware that the present crisis demands such plain speaking.'

'Then you must be blind,' said his hearer, with a burst of indignation, 'blind—blind—blind! Or mad! Is that it? What sort of a crisis do you expect? What can be worse than the present state of things? Are not your life and her character at stake? Why do you not take your present opportunity and save her and yourself? Look the matter in the face and decide!'

'I would rather not discuss it,' said Caspar. 'The course you indicate is not one that would be taken by any honorable man. It is—it is—absurd.' The last was evidently a substitute for a much stronger one in his mind. 'I see no use talking about the matter. We are only giving ourselves useless pain.'

'There was a short silence. Mrs. Romaine drew her veil more tightly about her face, and seemed to deliberate. 'Caspar threw a longing glance—which she intercepted—towards the door.

'Men are such cowards,' she said at last, in a low tone. 'I have proved that in every way; I ought to be prepared for cowardice—even from you. They want to slip out of every unpleasant position, and leave some woman to bear the brunt of it. If you have, want to go now, this minute, because I have said one or two things that pain you. You don't care enough of what I think to make you wish to alter my opinion—to fight it out and conquer me; you only cool down, as you would call it. You are mistaken. I am not speaking from any momentary irritation, you may say that is the result of long thought, long consideration, long patience. It would be better for you to have the courage and the manliness to listen to me.'

'You talk in a very extraordinary way, Rosalind,' said Caspar. 'I do not understand it, and I fail to see its justice towards me. I have never refused to listen to you, have I? As for cowardice—it seems to me that you were trying to persuade me to do a cowardly thing just now; but perhaps I was mistaken. I will hear all that you have to say; if I was a scoundrus to go, it was only that I might save you from tiring or hurting yourself.'

'It matters so much whether I am tired or hurt does it not?' she said, with the faintest possible flicker of a smile on her white lips. 'That is all you think of—when one suffers—suffers physically. It is my soul that is hurt, my heart that is tired—but you don't concern yourself with that sort of thing.'

'I assure you that I am very sorry——,' he began, and then he stopped short. She made it very difficult for him to say anything so commonplace, and yet so true.

'If you are sorry,' she said in a softer tone, 'and if you want to make me happier —save yourself.'

'No,' said Caspar, roughly—almost violently—'by Heaven, I won't do that!'

'You don't wish to save yourself!' Not at that price—the price my of honor —no!'

'Listen to me,' she said, drawing nearer to him and speaking very softly. 'I have made it my business during the last day or two—when I gathered that you would be let out on bail—to collect information that might be useful to you. You could get away to-morrow or next day by a vessel that leaves Southampton at the time I have marked on this paper. It is not an ordinary steamer—not a passenger ship at all—no one will know that you are on board. It would take you to Oporto. You would be safe enough in the interior—a friend of mine who went there once told me that there were charming palaces and half-ruined castles to let, where one could live as in paradise, amidst the loveliest gardens, full of fountains and birds and flowers.'

Her voice took on a caressing tone, as if she were dreaming of perfect happiness. 'How like a woman,' thought Caspar to himself, 'to think only of the material side of life!' Then he corrected himself: 'Like some women; not like all, thank God!'

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation others may urge upon you. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for cleansing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Gives Strength and Appetite.

DEAR SIRS,—Last year I was very thin and reducing fast, owing to the bad state of my blood and appetite. A friend of mine induced me to get a bottle of B.B.B., which I did. I obtained immediate perceptible relief from it, have gained strength and appetite, and now weigh 193 pounds.

N. CLARKE WALLACE

Raises a Breeze in the House

OVER HIS KINGSTON SPEECH

Division and Government Majority of 31.

Mr. Cassy Introduced a Motion Censuring the Controller of Customs for His Speech at Kingston on Home Rule for Ireland—The House Had a Lively Debate—Pretty Severe Language Used—The Division Created More or Less Surprise—The List.

OTTAWA, March 22.—On the motion to go into supply yesterday afternoon, Mr. Cassy rose and read the following extract from Mr. Clarke Wallace's Kingston speech:

Our friends (meaning Orangemen in Ireland) over there will never submit. Britain may cast them out, but if she does she has no right to look for their further allegiance. They are preparing for action. Their unalterable determination is never to submit to Home Rule, and they will have the sympathy of the Orangemen in Canada. Aye, more than sympathy, they shall have our assistance and if more aid be necessary. We shall be unworthy of our ancestors if we fail in our duty in such a crisis.

Mr. Cassy demanded an explanation of the actions of the Comptroller of Customs, claiming that they deserved the serious consideration of the House, and closing a somewhat incoherent speech with the remark, that if a Minister of the Crown could indulge, without rebuke, in such treasonable language, then for what crime was the late lamented Mr. Riel hanged?

Clarke Wallace informed those honorable gentlemen who were anxious for information that he was correctly reported in The News of the 15th, as quoted by the member for Elgin, and that he entertained the same views now. He repudiated the charge of disloyalty made against himself and the Orangemen of Canada, and said he was following in the line laid down by Lord Salisbury when Premier of the British Empire, who held that Parliament had no right to sell the people of Ulster into slavery.

He denied all responsibility to Parliament for his views on British politics, and said he had only done as had his colleague, Hon. Mr. Costigan, in expressing his views on the question. He was an upholder of the unity of Great Britain, Ireland and Canada and was opposed to disintegration of the empire.

Mr. (Dawson Addington) Cameron said himself, held that was the highest loyalty which accepted the result of the voice of the country as expressed by its Parliament, and if Parliament granted Home Rule it would be the duty of all loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.

Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold the Sovereign, was found quite willing and abetting treason, and his conduct should not pass unnoticed by this House. He moved, seconded by Mr. McMullen, the following resolution:

Whereas N. Clarke Wallace, a member of this House and Comptroller of Her Majesty's customs, is reported by The Kingston News to have spoken as follows at a public meeting in Kingston on March 10; (here follows the extract quoted above by Mr. Cassy);

And whereas the said N. Clarke Wallace has on the floor of this House admitted the accuracy of said report, now, therefore this House declares it to be the duty of all Her Majesty's subjects loyally to submit to the law; that the constitution contains within itself the means whereby all grievances may be redressed by constitutional methods; that no change in the law should be sought to be brought about by resort to armed resistance, civil war or other physical force, and that any attempt to depose Her Majesty in respect to any portion of the empire is unwarrantable and treasonable when it did not receive the uncompromising resistance of all loyal citizens; that the action of N. Clarke Wallace in expressing sympathy with and abetting one of the acts of treason, and those who threaten to levy war in Ireland against Her Majesty is deserving of the severest censure at the hands of this House, and if allowed to pass unnoticed would expose Canada to the slanderous imputation of being disloyal to Her Majesty, the very reverse of which is the case;

And further, it is the duty of this House promptly to repudiate said utterances of said N. Clarke Wallace, lest his political connection with Parliament and the Government might lead the public to the erroneous conclusion that his views so expressed were shared in by this body, a conclusion which would give additional inflation to the utterances and add the more endanger peace and good government throughout Her Majesty's Dominions.

Mr. Devlin had expected to hear the opinion of Solicitor-General Curran and Hon. Mr. Costigan on the utterances of their colleague, the Minister of Customs, which only carried weight by reason of his official position. The most shameful language was used in Parliament that had been by Mr. Wallace, who said he and his fellow-Orangemen were prepared to take up arms and combat against the fight for the Queen in her old age. On behalf of a great section of Canadians he protested against this language, and argued that no Catholic could go on public business to the man who had so openly insulted them and expect to receive justice at his hands.

Mr. Kenny of Halifax felt it was not wise to introduce race or religious questions in this House. He held that members of Parliament should be careful in all their utterances and that the higher the position a man held the more he should weigh his words. He had no sympathy with men who said that after a bill had received the Royal assent they would fight it with arms, yet he could not vote for the amendment, which was intended to embarrass the Government. He had been sent to this House by the votes of many of the Irish electors of Halifax to support the Government, and did not see how he could vote against the Government simply because of the platform utterances of one of its members on a question outside of Canadian politics. The amendment was a motion of want of confidence.

Mr. Mills, the Bothwell Sagamore, took the constitutional ground that this was not a want of confidence motion unless the Government chose to regard it as such. The point the House was dealing with was the avowal of a Minister of the Crown that if Home Rule were granted to Ireland he would take up arms against Her Majesty.

Mr. Foster said he could scarcely conceive a more unfair rendering of the sentiments of a political opponent than that just given by Mr. Mills. He regarded this resolution as intended to embarrass the Government rather than for the good it would do the empire, but it was one that should be discussed with calmness and in a spirit of justice. He took issue with Mr. Mills interpretation of Mr. Wallace's language, and contended that it was not fairly open to that construction. While it was the wise course for Parliament to confine itself to questions germane to this country, men should not steel their hearts against liberties of world-wide interest, nor should they be narrow-minded or intolerant with regard to individual expressions of sympathy on such matters.

The House should most carefully distinguish between what a member said in his Parliamentary capacity and as a private citizen or member of some society. Illustrative of this point of his speech, Mr. Foster referred to the case of Hon. Mr. Huntington, who at a federal election in Quebec in 1888 made a violent attack on certain parts of the Roman Catholic hierarchy. Hon. Mr. Cauchon called on Premier Mackenzie to repudiate the utterances of his colleague in the Government, which utterance he had put forth in his official capacity; but Mr. Mackenzie said that, while he did not agree with Mr. Huntington's sentiments, the Government had no responsibility in the matter. Mr. Holton brought the case up in the House, whereupon Mr. Mackenzie replied that Mr. Huntington had a perfect right to say what he did, and that the Government was not responsible. Mr. Huntington was a Cabinet Minister and used the language attributed to him in a political campaign—a much stronger case than that charged against Mr. Wallace. Mr. Mackenzie treated the matter in a spirit of broad tolerance, and the House endorsed the Premier's position by letting the matter drop.

In the present case, continued the Minister of Finance, Mr. Wallace, an old member of the House, went out to an Orange meeting and discussed the question of Home Rule as he had a perfect right to do. Where in the speaker's opinion Mr. Wallace went too far was when he touched on the question of allegiance. That, however, was his (Mr. Foster's) individual opinion only. Mr. Wallace had spoken in the capacity as an Orangeman to Orangemen and the Government were not responsible for his utterances.

Mr. Foster warmly eulogized his colleague against the charge of disloyalty, and reminded the House that when an hon. member stated he prepared to shoulder his musket to fight against the Canadian volunteers, no one on the Conservative side of the House was so foolish as to propose a vote of censure.

Mr. Foster then subjected the resolution to a keen analysis, showing among other things there was not a word of truth in the allegation that Mr. Wallace had counselled armed resistance to British authority, and that the said and said assistance he had promised were in the way of sympathy and funds for political purposes. He was an upholder of Parliament would feel this was a small matter to make such a tune about, and he had confidence that the country cheerfully accord to Mr. Wallace the liberty of utterance in their private individual capacity outside of Parliament.

Sir Richard Cartwright held that Clarke Wallace's utterances to-day called for the instant censure of the House, and held that the resolution was a want of confidence motion unless the Government justified the Controller's threat of armed resistance to the Throne. He charged the Orangemen of Ireland with seditious acts and actions, and Mr. Wallace with openly endorsing their course. Mr. Wallace and his fellows were possessed of that kind of loyalty which advocated armed resistance to any act of Canada or the Mother Country which did not meet their views. He was not seriously alarmed at Mr. Wallace's threats, which were on a par with those of Orangemen who, when the Irish church was disestablished, threatened to kick the Queen's crown into the Boyne.

The Government could not escape responsibility for these utterances and "the older members of the House should see to it that these young hounds shall not run riot." As Mr. Wallace's remarks were calculated to create trouble between the two classes of Irish-Canadians, he felt the resolution was timely and correct.

Mr. Hughes followed in strong defence of the Comptroller of Customs, and the debate was continued by Mr. McInerne, who, while condemning Mr. Wallace's speech, declared he would still support the Government when a vote of want of confidence was moved against it.

Mr. Maclean (York): The debate which has intervened since I rose to a question of order some time ago has proved the very point I raised then, namely: that we have enough to do in this country to mind our own affairs without interfering in Irish politics. I wish now to tell the House that the view which I have expressed as to that is the view of the great majority of Canadians. Our people believe in Canadian politics and in their representatives attending to the affairs interesting to our own country as well as we can, and they believe also that we had better leave Irish politics and other politics of a kindred nature alone.

I, as a young Canadian and as a young member of this House, protest here and now against the introduction of Irish politics into the legislative affairs of this country.

I may say further that there has been too much Irish politics in the United States and we as a country have suffered therefrom. Irish politics in the United States has interfered as much as other issues in obtaining that reciprocity treaty which our friends opposite are so anxious for. Irish politics has prevented the negotiation of any extradition treaties between England and the United States, which treaties would be to our advantage.

Mr. Costigan: I have regretted to see so much ceremony introduced into the discussion this afternoon. I am sorry to say unfortunate thing that we cannot discuss a question of law here—because practically this is a question of law—without debating it so warmly. I do not consider that it is part of the duty of the Controller of Customs at this stage, or at any stage of the debate, to state what is meant by that newspaper article or any words in that article. We have the article here before us, and it is for us to decide what is the meaning of the words.

It is for us to decide as to whether we are right in supporting the acting leader of the House in his declaration that the Government are not responsible for anything uttered by a gentleman outside of the House.

I therefore support the Minister of Finance against the amendment.

Mr. Bergin followed, speaking up to 6 o'clock.

After recess Mr. Bergin concluded his speech. He asked the leader of the Government whether it was to be a party vote or not.

Mr. Foster said that he could only say that he would not consider anyone who

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no cough or cold medicine can compare with Dickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breath ing, thereby giving relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Dickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and hoarseness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety troubles and expense let them procure a bottle of Dickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, or a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Cox Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyrepepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmele's Pills according to direction under the head of Dyspepsia or Indigestion. One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least. These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

ON FIRE WITH ECZEMA

Terrible Sufferings of Little Baby. Seven Doctors and Two Hospitals Fail. Cured by Cuticura.

My baby boy, 4 months old, broke out with eczema. The itching and burning was intense; the eczema spread to his limbs, breast, face, and head, until he was a mass of sores. His sufferings and agonies were pitiable to behold; he had no peace and got little rest night or day. He was under treatment of seven doctors at two hospitals and by seven doctors in the city without the least benefit; every remedy we could get for love or money was faithfully tried, but he grew worse all the time. For months I expended about $3 per week for medicines, and was entirely discouraged. I purchased CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA RESOLVENT and followed the directions to the letter. Relief was immediate, the sufferings were eased, and rest and sleep permitted. He steadily improved and in three weeks was entirely cured, and has remained so, and is as fair a boy as any mother could wish to see. I recommend every mother to use it for every Baby Humor.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY MARCH 22.

THE TARIFF REFORM ISSUE.

Mr. Wm. Ives, the Conservative M.P. for Sherbrooke, Que., made a good point in his speech on the McCarthy amendment, in regard to the feeling of the Canadian people on the tariff reform issue. It is an old story, of course, that the Conservatives have beaten the Liberals in every general election since 1878. But the lesson of the fact still has its bearing. The issue in the different contests has been varied. In 1878 and 1882, it was free trade against protection. In 1887 it was, in so far as Mr. Blake the leader of the party could make it, free trade modified by a pledge to respect existing conditions, against protection. In 1891 it was unrestricted reciprocity, or commercial union with the United States, against protection. In the considerable number of bye elections since 1891, and of late especially, it has been tariff reform versus protection. The Conservative party has stood steadily on the National Policy platform of 1878, and has as steadily won. The Liberals have in the same time been free traders, modified protectionists, commercial unionists, unrestricted reciprocitarians, and tariff reformers—and on Thursday night, Mr. McCarthy made them vote in favor of the inter-Imperial preferential trade idea of the Imperial federation enthusiasts. The Liberals have as steadily lost. They to-day constitute numerically one of the weakest oppositions in the history of the Canadian Parliament. The Government supporters knowing all this, knowing, too, that during the past few months four members of the administration have been endorsed by their constituents as favorers of the protective principle, had full warrant for voting in the recent divisions as they did. By every test of popular feeling that can be applied the majority of Canadians favor protection and object to free trade. The claim is made that a majority of the farmers are free traders. Now a majority of farmers have no more right to rule the country against the wishes of a majority of the whole people than would a majority of [illegible] or shoemakers. But, as a matter of fact, if every Conservative representative of a purely city constituency in the division on Mr. McCarthy's resolution had abstained from voting the Government's majority would have been over thirty, as large numerically almost as that by which in Great Britain Mr. Gladstone is trying to pass one of the most gravely important measures ever considered by the British Parliament. There is not in the complexion of Parliament, in the results of the 54 bye-elections held since 1892 began, nor in taking the representatives of the agricultural constituencies as a separate division in the House of Commons, any foundation for the claim that the country to day thinks differently on the issue of free trade versus protection to what it did fifteen years ago, or at any particular period in the interval. The Liberals assert loudly that there is a strong feeling in the country in favor of tariff reform. They caught the phrase from the Democratic party in the United States in the campaign of last year, and took it up, forgetting, or not caring to remember, that in Canada there was no extreme McKinley tariff such as across the border gave force to the platform of Mr. Cleveland. Just as loudly as they assert to-day that Canada must have tariff reform, they asserted only a brief time ago that it wanted commercial union with the United States, and as a brief time before that they asserted it wanted free trade. There are unquestionable evidences in the country of a feeling in favor of a reduction in some parts of the tariff. There are as strong evidence that the desire is that they shall be made in keeping with the principle on which the tariff is framed, that of preserving the home market for home workers. It is on these lines the Government will fulfil its pledges, confident that the result will be alike satisfactory to the country and to its party.—Gazette.

The Farmers' Market.

Notwithstanding the large market of forty millions, to which our Reform friends so often refer, it would appear that our farmers, in many instances, receive about as much for their produce as the Yankee farmer. A letter to the Country Gentleman under date of Feb 27th, quotes the following prices at Jewell Junction, Hamilton County, in the State of Iowa: "Butter, 23c per lb.; eggs, 20c per doz; corn, 27@30c per bu; oats, 25c; hay, $5@6 per ton; cows, $18@30; horses, $70@100; fat cattle $3 25@4 per cwt.; fat hogs, $7 25@7 75; have been up to $8 50 at our railroad station. Land is still increasing in value, ranging from $35@70 per acre, according to improvement and location. They are paying 22c a pound for what butter there is in our milk at our creamery. It tests from 3.60 to 3.70 of fat to the 100 lb., and 12½c a hundred for hauling. Have been buying most of the corn for feeding purposes at about 30c per bu."

Montreal Markets.

The following are the reports of the Montreal markets, taken from the Gazette of Wednesday:

BUTTER.

Dairy stock is firmly held as supplies are moderate. Creamery is more plentiful, but in keeping with demand. Values all round are steady, within the following range: Creamery, 22c to 24c; townships' dairy, 21c to 23c; Morrisburg and Brockville, 20c to 22c; Western dairies, 19c to 21c; Western roll, new, 19c to 22c.

CHEESE.

Notwithstanding a drop of 6‡ in yesterday's Liverpool cable to 54s 6d per cwt., the local cheese market remains steady and firm, owing to the stocks here being within the limit of home requirements, and values range from 11½c to 12c, as to quality.

EGGS.

The egg market keeps fairly steady under moderate receipts, and a brisk consumptive demand. Fresh stock is quoted at 20c in jobbing lots.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

At the Eastern Abattoir market the receipts were 400 head of cattle, 200 calves and 50 sheep and lambs. Prices were not changed and trade was rather dull. The best beeves brought from 4½c to 4½c per lb, and secondary quality from 3½ to 4c, while common rough animals sold at from 3c to 3½c. Sheep were slightly higher in price at from $5 to $8, and spring lambs went at from $3 to $5 each. Calves were plentiful and ranged from $4 to $5 for common, and $6 to $10 for fair to good quality.

A SOCIAL EVENING.

Rev. S. A. Duprau is Presented with a Purse by his Friends.

On Wednesday evening, March 8, about forty members and friends of the "Centenary appointment," Bayside circuit, of the Methodist church, met at the house of their pastor, Rev. S. A. Duprau, Hillside Street, Belleville, to spend a social evening with him and his family. Having brought with them a bountiful supply of the good things of this life, the tables were soon spread, and the company partook of a sumptuous tea; after which some time was pleasantly spent. The most pleasing event of the evening (at least to the pastor) was the presentation of a purse, accompanied by the following beautiful and touching address:

REV. S. A. DUPRAU.

RESPECTED PASTOR,—We the members, and friends, of centenary appointment, feel it a pleasure to meet at your home this evening, to express, in some substantial way, our heart-felt gratitude, for the able manner, in which you as a servant of the Almighty, have conducted our services while among us. We have enjoyed the many blessings, which God has bestowed upon us, through your instrumentality, and also the many pleasant hours we have spent together. As your time is growing short, this being your last year among us, we thought we could not spend the evening more enjoyably, than by meeting with our pastor and family, on this social occasion. As a minister of the gospel, you have deserved credit for the manner and way you have lead us, by your spiritual advice, example, and earnest preaching. We now kindly ask you to accept this purse, as a token of our esteem and affection, and hope after your removal from among us, to your new field of duty, you may long be spared to labor in the Master's vineyard. Wishing you prosperity in your future life, and that God's blessings may rest upon yourself and family through the toils and cares, which lie before us here, and, that we may all meet where parting shall be no more.

Signed on behalf of Centenary Church,
MRS. A. LAWRENCE,
MRS. O. LAWRENCE.

voted for the amendment a friend of the Government.

Mr. Bergin then announced that he would support the amendment.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) strongly opposed the amendment and supported his fellow-countryman.

Mr. Davin made a rather peculiar speech, in which he charged Mr. Wallace with having at the time of the Jesuit Estate bill advised his fellow-Protestant members to vote for the bill, while he himself voted against it as one of the noble 13.

Mr. Wallace indignantly denied this statement and challenged Mr. Davin to name a single member he had so advised.

Messrs. McRay, Spencer, Boyle, Cochrane and Guillets also denied Mr. Davin's statement.

Col. Denison said: With respect to the after-dinner speech of the Controller of Customs, which seems to have excited some debate, I may say that I do not approve of indulging in it, and therefore am going to support the Government.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Tisdale, Foster, Casey, Cleveland, Langevin, Caron, Mulock, McNeill, Paterson, Hearne, Belley and Kenny. The members were called in at 11.45 and the House was divided on the amendment, which was lost, 74 for to 105 against.

The House then went into supply, passed one item and adjourned at 12.40 a.m.

Contrary to general expectation, the Coutlee-McGreevy conspiracy case was not proceeded with in the Assize Court this morning, but was postponed until 9.30 this morning. The cause of this was the absence of a material witness who, as Mr. Osler explained, left Montreal last night and should have been here this morning, but for some unexplained reason had left the train at Three Rivers. Two officers were after him and it was expected that he would surely be here in the morning. The name of the witness did not transpire in the discussion which took place in the court, but it is understood that the witness is Robert McGreevy.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council to-day adjourned without reaching any decision in the Davenport-road crossing case, Toronto.

A fight took place between two well known lawyers at this morning's sitting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council.

The question of the electric railway in Davenport-road, Toronto, was under discussion, the ministers present being Bowell, Caron, Foster, Haggart, Ouimet and Daly.

Ex-Judge Clark represented the Canadian Pacific and Donald McMaster of Montreal, the street railway.

In addressing the committe Mr. Clarke quoted some words which he said Mr. McMaster had used.

Clarke called McMaster a blackguard and struck him in the face.

The two clinched and rolled all over the floor. Their fists flew in every direction, for they both were too angry to hurt one another much.

Members of the committee and others took a hand in and finally separated the learned counsel, but not until their clothing was badly damaged.

The committee room was cleared, when Hon. John Haggart expressed his amazement that the committee should have been insulted by such an outrageous display.

Mr. Haggart pointed out that it was within the power of the committee to forbid the appearance of either of the lawyers again.

Finally it was agreed to readmit them if they would make sufficient apology.

Upon this the learned gentlemen apologized profusely to the committee and to one another and shook hands across the bloody chasm.

Russia Is Away Off

ST. PETERSBURG, March 22.—The commission appointed to investigate questions connected with the Behring Sea fisheries advises that the territorial waters around the Behring Sea Islands be regarded as extending 30 miles from land. Off the coast of Kamschatka the territorial waters should be regarded as extending 10 miles from land, since the female seals were wont to swim out 10 miles to obtain food for their young.

As regards the seizure of British ships in the Behring Sea the commission appointed by the Foreign Office says that the action of the Russian authorities was justified by the irregularity and evasiveness of the entries in the logs of these vessels.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

DeLesseps, Baihaut and Blondin Sentenced in the Panama Canal Case.

PARIS, March 22.—Charles DeLesseps, accused of corrupting Ex-Minister of Public Works Baihaut to support the Panama lottery bonds bill, has been found guilty by the jury. Baihaut, who confessed his guilt, and Blondin, who acted as go between in the bribery of Baihaut, have also been found guilty. All the other defendants are acquitted.

The court, after deliberation, sentenced M. Baihaut to imprisonment for five years, to pay a fine of 750,000 francs and to the loss of civil rights.

M. Blondin was sentenced to imprisonment for two years and Charles de Lesseps to imprisonment for one year, the one year to run concurrently with the five years' sentence already imposed on him.

All three of the convicted prisoners were condemned to pay the costs and damages demanded by the civil parties to the proceedings.

The sentences of Charles de Lesseps and Blondin were made comparatively light on the ground of extenuating circumstances in their cases.

The court also ordered M. de Lesseps, M. Blondin and M. Baihaut to pay to M. Monchicort, liquidator of the Panama Canal Company, 375,000 francs, the amount taken from the treasury of the company and paid to M. Baihaut for his influence in favor of the Lottery Loan Bill.

Acton to be Extradited.

BERLIN, March 22.—In compliance with the request of the French Government, the public prosecutor in Strassburg has been directed to secure the issue of a warrant for the arrest of M. Arton, the fugitive Panama lobbyist.

A BABY IN A BASKET.

A Prospective Emigrant Got a Parcel to Take With Him.

LONDON, March 22.—John L. Bartlett is an Ekfrid farmer who has a wife and two children. He had recently returned from a visit to the Northwest, and intended leaving for there with his family yesterday afternoon.

He has been staying at his father's place in Moss Township since his return, and the other day a little boy called and gave Bartlett's sister a closed basket, remarking at the time:

"Here's something for John to take with him." The girl took the basket inside, and after unfastening the cover she and the rest of the family were somewhat startled and surprised to find a crowing infant cradled therein. The basket was immediately covered and carried by Miss Bartlett's sister a close distance of William Coyle of Mosa Township, where it came from. The result is the arrest on a capias of the said John L. Bartlett to-day.

The charge is seduction, and it is brought against him by William Coyle, whose daughter is the mother of the child. Bartlett's goods are all at the C.P.R. station, Glencoe, ready for shipment. The girl formerly worked for him. Bail was accepted to-day, pending further investigation.

THE FRENCH TREATY.

There Is a Rumor That Sir Charles Tupper Will Resign.

LONDON, March 22.—Sir Charles Tupper has no intention of going to Canada at present. However, there is a possibility that the High Commissioner may resign his office.

In certain circles here it is generally understood that Sir Charles Tupper will step down and out, if, under the existing circumstances, the draft of the French treaty is rejected by the Canadian Parliament.

It is pointed out as showing the value of the French treaty to the Dominion of Canada, that the United States, under its new French treaty, gives absolutely free entry to 10,000,000 francs' worth of French products, while in return the minimum French tariff only applies to the products of certain States. By the draft treaty with Canada, the Dominion gets the privilege of the minimum tariff on the same products as the United States and many more besides.

It is, however, in the admission of the French products that Quebec's advantage over the United States is most clearly shown. Instead of allowing, as do the Americans, absolutely free entry, the treaty stipulates for a reduced, though still high, rate of duty on one and a half million francs' worth of French products.

Though, from reports received here, Mr. Foster declared in the House that he objected to certain clauses of the treaty, yet no official news of his declaration has reached the British Plenipotentiaries or the British Government from Canada since, as Sir Charles Tupper declares, on the approval of Ottawa the treaty was signed.

Palateable and Potent.

The great objection to cod liver oil has been its nauseous taste. This has been entirely removed in the case of our preparing "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," which is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the greatest creator of new blood in the world. It has cured thousands of consumptives by rebuilding their constitutions. Everybody is talking about the wonderful power of this Emulsion. In big bottle 50c and $1, at all drug stores.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a greasy mess, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

"What's in a name!" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

A YOUNG HORSE THIEF.

A. WIGGINS ALIAS CHEEVER, SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY ON THIS CHARGE

But Recently Liberated From the Central Prison—A Young, but Hardened Criminal.

On the 28th of February, 1892, a young man named Albert Wiggins alias Cheevers, obtained a horse and cutter, with outfit, from the livery stable of Mr. H. L. Curry in this city. He failed to return to the city, and two days later Mr. Curry, with the assistance of a police officer, recovered his propery, the cutter being found at Trenton, whilst the horse had been traded off to a farmer named Green in Rawdon township. The culprit was not found, but some time after he did a similar transaction with a horse and rig which he got from a livery stable at Picton. He was captured at Port Hope, taken to Picton and tried. Being found guilty, he was sent to the Central Prison for 6 months. On Saturday last he was released, and the police here notified. He came to the city yesterday, and was arrested. This morning he was charged before the P. M. with stealing the horse and rig from Mr. Curry. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Wiggins, although but 21 years of age, has an extended criminal record. When 12 years old he was sent to the Reformatory for three years, for stealing from his grandfather, Mr. Jos. Cheevers, who resided in this city. He succeeded in escaping twice from that institution. He then went to New York State, again got into trouble, and was sentenced to the States' prison for five years. He however was liberated after serving two years. He has been twice in gaol since for slight offences.

A HARDENED CRIMINAL.

Thos. McDonald, Who Has a Belleville Record, Charged With Larceny.

County Crown Attorney Dewart, Toronto, has written George E. Henderson, Q.C., for Thos. McDonald's past record. McDonald is the man who was arrested at East Toronto village on Thursday, March 9th, on a warrant charging him with the theft of a suit of clothes and $15 from Mr. Dufferty at Toronto in October last. After the theft McDonald went to Chicago, but returning in a few months was arrested. He was in the employ of the Grand Trunk railway. When McDonald was not in gaol he lived in Belleville. On the 11th of March 1886, he broke into a car in the Grand Trunk yards here and stole a quantity of goods for which he was sentenced to a year in the Central prison. On the 16th of March, 1889, he was sentenced by Magistrate Flint to two years at Kingston for burglary and malicious injury to property. McDonald is 26 years old. He is awaiting sentence in Toronto.

"Erin Mavourneen."

The pupils of the High School are bound to excel in designing. It has now been decided that their way of celebrating every national holiday or great historic event, will be by the production of a design, which will first be placed on the blackboards in the school. To Miss Blanche Grysler was committed the task of producing a design for St. Patrick's Day, and like her previous designs, it is appropriate and pretty. In the centre is an Irish harp, the figure of Erin on the harp, and the shape of the harp deserving special recommendation. In artistic and emblematic letters are the endearing and patriotic mottoes "Erin Mavourneen" "Erin-go-bragh," the whole being surrounded by wreaths of Shamrocks. As "a thing of beauty is a joy for ever," the design will be allowed to remain on the blackboard until, probably, St. George's Day.

Dangers of the Season.

The sudden changes in the weather in the latter part of the winter, and early spring are, a source of colds and coughs. This season is a particularly dangerous one for persons with weak lungs or of delicate constitution. A slight cold is likely to become a serious one, and the cough that follows is the one great cause of the many deaths from consumption in the early spring. Never neglect a cold or cough. Keep a reliable remedy on hand and check the first cough, that may lead to consumption. As such a remedy, the medicine called Kemp's Balsam is strongly recommended. For every form of throat and lung disorder, including the la grippe cough, croup and consumption in first stages, it probably has no equal anywhere. Get a bottle to-day.

Improvements.

Improvements are the order of the day at the Oak Hall. We are having a fine new front put in and the building all the way to the top made as good as new. We will be a little bit disturbed for a few days, but we know our customers are too good natured to mind that. We have lots of cheap goods inside as usual. We might just add that our store would not be improved if the Oak Hall in Belleville was not a success.

Who can "Down" Him?

Mr. Charles Doran, blacksmith, of Tyendinaga, was in the city to-day. Being in Mr. John Lewis' hardware store, it was suggested that he be weighed. Three guesses were made as to his weight, 400 lbs., 490 lbs. and 500 lbs. To settle it Mr. Doran consented to step on the scale, and tipped them at 406½ lbs.

Not Buried in Belleville.

We understand that no communication has yet been received from the Rev. M. W. Maclean as to the funeral of his son George. A friend of the family thinks that if the body is brought to Canada the funeral will take place at Kingston.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—I will ask you kindly to correct a very strange misstatement in your issue of this evening. I read that Mr. Frank French was united in marriage to Miss Mary Geo at the St. Thomas rectory, by Rev. Canon Burke. I have only to say that this is totally untrue. I never marry parties but in church, and never, when possible to avoid it, in Lent. I have no knowledge of the persons named, and am quite at a loss to imagine how this false information could have reached you. I will ask you to give it the most unqualified contradiction. I remain, yours truly,

J. W. BURKE,
Canon.

BELLEVILLE, March 21, 1893.

[ED. NOTE—It seems that Mr. French's intentions were good. The groom with his bride called on Mr. Burke, but receiving no response, in answer to the door bell, thought that gentleman had retired, when they repaired to the residence of Rev. A. O. Mayboe, where the marriage was performed.]

A BASEBALL LEAGUE.

An Ontario Association Likely to be Formed at a Meeting in Toronto.

It would seem that the amateur baseball league, that has been talked of and is favorably considered by local enthusiastics, was about to be organized on a proper basis. A meeting of representatives of the Toronto clubs was held in Toronto last evening and the scheme was discussed. The Empire says: "This scheme rapidly caught and was at length carried, being aided on its way by some timely remarks from Mr. A. N Garrett, who stated that A. G. Spaulding & Co. had commissioned him to offer a pennant for each district. It has been decided to call a meeting of baseball clubs from all over the province, at the Rossin House, on Monday, April 3rd, at 2 p.m., for the purpose of organizing an Ontario association. Following is a list of clubs and districts which would be likely to favor the plan:

Western Peninsula — Windsor, Amherstburg, Chatham, Blenheim, Berlin.
Western — London, St. Thomas, Galt, Guelph.
Central—Toronto (two clubs), Hamilton (two clubs.)
Midland—Lindsay, Peterborough, Cobourg, Belleville, Port Hope.
Eastern — Kingston, Arnprior, Ottawa, Perth, Smith's Falls. The meeting should be attended by representatives of the Belleville clubs. It is likely that the sport will be active here this season.

SHE WAS NOT A NUN.

Mrs. Shepherd Said to Have Been More's an Inmate of the Refuge for Bad Characters.

At St. Mary's R. C. church, Woodstock, on Sunday, Rev. Father Brady read the following letter, which refers to Mrs. Shepherd, who lectured in the opera house here recently:

Convent of the Good Shepherd.
Arce's Vale, Bristol, Feb. 26, 1893.

DEAR ——

Some little time ago we had photos sent us of "Mrs. Shepherd," when she was identified as a woman who was received into our "Refuge" in order to regain her character. The name she then went by was Isabella Marron. She was about 32 in 1883, when she was received. She remained about two years. After leaving she was a well known character in England, and we are not surprised at anything we hear she turns to.

Of course she was never a nun. Neither was she ever in the Convent—only an inmate of the "Refuge for bad characters," or Home of the Good Shepherd.

Mother Prioress is sending you a book which explains the work of our Order; you will there see what she is working her lies upon. She was a penitent only, not a consecrated, whose mention in the b'k. I remain, etc.

ST. MARY OF ST. URSULA

P. S.—The reason of her leaving was, I believe, there was no further hope of doing any real good with her.

SPORTING NEWS

A Newark, N. J., club offers a purse of $80,000 for the Corbett-Mitchell fight.

The Peterborough baseball club has elected the following officers:—Hon. Jos. Hall, G. W. Hatton; President, R. B. McKee; Vice-do., S. Ray; Sec., D. McCabe; Treas., F. L. Mackay; Manager, S. Foster; Asst. do., W. Gliddey.

Con. Millan says he is willing to wager from $50 to $100 that Golden Prince is the fastest horse ever raised in this district. He has been entered in four events and has taken a place in each—one first and three seconds.—Kingston News.

It is said that the Kingston A.A.A. intends to celebrate May 24th in a creditable manner. It is reported the celebration will take the form of an athlete tournament. There will be lacrosse, baseball, football, foot races, bicycle races, jumping, shot putting, and all kinds of athletic contests.

John D. Garrison, late of Napanee, won his race with Henderson, champion of the Olympic club, San Francisco, on the 8th inst. The Chronicle says: "Garrison is one of the best, if not the best, quarter of a mile runner that California has yet produced. The time on yesterday's race was sixty seconds, which must be accounted good for such a track and against such a strong wind. The race was for a $25 trophy."

To show the enthusiasm and pride of the residents of Cornwall, Mr. Hughes, speaking of lacrosse in Kingston, mentioned that each year the leading men of the town would send to the treasurer cheques ranging from $10 to $50, without solicitation. Another example of their generosity is the presenting their team with uniforms, one of the manufacturing industries donating the jerseys, another the caps, another material for the trousers, a tailor volunteering to make the same—and so on, every man in the town doing something to give the boys a helping hand. This is the kind of encouragement which causes a team to get out, train hard, and at the end of the season win championships.

Straw Upon the Street.

Messrs J. R. Brower and H. J. Parliament were this morning summoned before the Police Magistrate for placing pea straw upon Pinnacle street. The parties in question have been shipping apples from the old Pinnacle street station and had used the straw for packing purposes. A large quantity had been allowed to accumulate upon the street, and the chief took this means of having the nuisance, as it proved to be, abated. It was proven that Mr. Parliament had collected all the refuse that his men had thrown out, and the case against him was dismissed. Mr. Brower was allowed until Saturday to clean the portion of the street covered by the straw.

BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Boy's	3	"	"	" $1.50	" 4.50.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1.20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30.000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

GRAND OPERA "FAUST."

Never before has Belleville been visited by such a famous artist as Laura Schirmer Mapleson. This lady has the distinguished honor of having appeared before more of the crowned heads of Europe than any living artist. The musical and dramatic critic of La Revue, the leading dramatic paper of Paris, France, thus describes Miss Mapleson: — "Beautiful face, beaming with sensibility, delicacy and modesty; wavy, light brown hair, large blue eyes and finely chiselled nose, well modelled mouth and perfect teeth; figure tall, superbly moulded, hands and feet of exquisite proportions, bearing thoroughly natural and unaffected ensemble, inestibly bewitching. She was born to sing and act, and does both with as much simplicity and ease as she performs the act of speaking. Her voice flows as freely as a bird's." Mme. Mapleson and company will appear in "Faust" on Wednesday, March 29th.

Ties of fashion, fashion ties, stylish ties, lovely ties. That's what we sell. Spring ties, ties as bright and varied as the flowers that bloom in April and May. Come and see them.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.
BY
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'So you would condemn me to exile and lonliness as well as dishonor' he said. It was as much as he could do not to laugh outright at the chimerical idea.

'It is no exile to a cosmopolitan like yourself to live out of England,' she answered, scornfully. 'As to dishonor—what will you not have to suffer if you stay in England! Where is your reputation now? And as to lonelisess—don't you know—do you not see—that you need not go—alone!'

She put her left hand gently on his arm, and for a moment there was silence in the room. Her heart beat so loudly that she was afraid of his hearing it. But she need not have feared; his mind was far too much occupied with more important matters to be able to take cognizance of such a detail as the state of Mrs. Romaine's pulse.

His first impulse was one of intense indignation and anger. His second was one of pity. These feelings alternated in him when at last he forced himself to speak. Which of the two predominated he hardly knew. Perhaps pity: because it drove him, almost as a matter of self-respect to make a pretence of not knowing what she meant.

'Anything is exile to a man who leaves his home,' he said sternly. 'To a man who leaves his wife and daughter—do you understand? As for the dishonor of such a course, it seems that as if you could not comprehend that; my feelings on the subject are evidently beyond your ken. But you can understand this—first, that I should go nowhere into exile, into no new, home, without my wife; and, secondly, that she, at least, trusts me—she knows that I have not your brother's blood upon my hands.'

Rosalind's fingers had slipped from his arm when he began to speak; she knew that if she had not removed them he would have been shaken off. He could see them amongst the folds of black lace at her breast—clutching, tearing as if she had not room to breathe.

'Your wife!' she said with a gasp. 'I did not know. . . . She has been beforehand with me then! And it is she—she that you will take—to Spain!'

'There is no question of Spain. I mean to stay here in England and fight the matter out. My wife would be the first person to tell me so. I cannot imagine her speaking to me again, if I were coward enough to run away.'

'She would not do for you what I have done!' cried the unhappy woman, now as it seemed almost beside herself. 'If she believes you innocent, so much the easier for her! But I—I—believe you guilty—yes, Caspar Brooke, I believe you killed my brother—and I do not care! I loved him, yes; but I love you—you—a thousand times more!'

'You do not know what you are saying. You are mad. Be silent, Rosalind,' said Caspar Brooke, in a deep tone of anger. But she raved on.

'Have I not been silent for years! And who is as faithful to you as I have been! It is easy to love a man who is innocent; but not a man who is guilty! Guilty or not—I do not care. It is you that I care for—and you may have as many sins as you please upon your soul—but they are nothing to me. I am past anything now but speaking the truth. Have you no pity for a woman to whom you are dearer than her own soul!'

She would have thrown herself at his feet, if he had not prevented her. He was touched a little by her suffering, but he was also immeasurably angered and disgusted. An exhibition of undontrolled feeling was not the way to charm him. His one desire now became the desire to escape.

'I should have no pity,' he said, gravely, 'for my own selfishness and cowardice, if I do not took advantage of this moment of weakness on your part. It is weakness, I hope—I will not call it by any other name. You will recover from it when the stress of this painful time is over, and you will be glad to forget it as I shall do. Believe me, I shall not think of it again. It shall be in my mind as though you had not said it; and, though it will be impossible for us to continue on our former terms of friendship, I shall always wish for your welfare and hope that time will bring you happiness and peace.'

She made no answer. She lay where he had placed her, her head buried amongst the cushions, crushed to the very earth. She would not look at him, would not make acquaintance that she had heard. And he, without hesitation, went deliberately to the door and let himself out. He gained the street without being intercepted, and drew a long breath of relief, when he felt the soft night air playing on his heated brow. The moralist would have said that he came off victor; but he had a sense, as he went out along the pavement, of being only a defeated and degraded man. There was not even a sense of gratified vanity, for an offered love which did not include perfect trust in his honor was an insult in itself. And Caspar Brooke's intergrity of soul to him.

It was perhaps impossible for him—a mere—man to estimate the extent of suffering to which his scorn had subjected the woman he had left behind. Rosalind reclined as he had seen her, crouching on the ground, with her head on the sofa cushions for full two hours or more. When she rose she went to her own room and lay upon her bed, refusing for many hours either to eat or to speak. She did not sleep; she lay broad awake all night, recalling every tone of Caspar's voice, and every passing expression of his face. She was bitterly humiliated and ashamed. But she was not ashamed in the sense of shame for the sense of wrongdoing; she was only ashamed because he had rebuffed her. She was sick with mortification. She had offered him everything in her power—peace, safety, love; she had offered him herself even, and been rejected with scorn. Nothing crushes a woman like this humiliation. And in some women natures such an experience will produce dire results; for the loss of self-respect is reserved as the worst injury that man can inflict, and is followed by deadly hatred for the man who has inflicted it. It may be argued by the more logical male that woman has brought it upon herself; but no affonted, humiliated, shamed woman is an will ever allow this to be the fact. The sacrifice she conceives to have been all her own; but the pain has come from him.

This was the way in which Rosalind looked at the matter. And mistaken as she was in her view of the moralities and proprieties of the situation, she suffered an amount of pain that may well arouse in us more pity than Caspar Brooke felt for her. The burning, stinging sense of shame seemed to make her whole soul an open wound. It was intolerable. The only way out of it, she said to herself at first is to die. There was an old song that rang in her ears continuelly, as if somebody were repeating it over and over again. She could not remember it all—only a line here and there. 'When lovely woman stoops to fall,' it began, 'what art can wash her tears and stains and shame away!' And the answer was what Rosalind herself had given; the only way 'to rouse his pity' was 'to die!' She almost laughed at herself for repeating the well-worn, hackneyed, century-old ditty. People did not die nowadays, either of broken hearts or of chloral, when their lovers deserted them. And Caspar Brooke had never been her lover. No, he had only given her pain; and she wished that she could make him suffer, too. 'Revenge' was too high flown a word; but if she could see him heart-broken, ruined, disgraced, she would be—not satisfied, but she would feel her pain allayed.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Cure for Constipation and Headache

For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for cleaning up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

TWO PRISONERS RETURN

AN INTERESTING JOURNEY BY TWO DETECTIVES.

Davidson Had a 30,000 Mile Trip—He Saw Many New Lands—Godolphin's Unique Message to His Wife—It Caused His Arrest.

TORONTO, March 23.—Time and the telegraph work wonders in this world.

Two groups of passengers stepped from the G. T. R. train from the east at the Union Station yesterday. There were four in each party. The first group had hardly alighted when they were surrounded by a number of happy women. It was easy to understand that the father had come back, that wife and daughters had gathered to meet him and that the little party were appreciating all the joyousness of such a reunion.

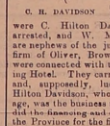

Who can describe the bitter anguish that the sight of such peaceful domestic happiness brought to the souls of two of the members of the other party. There stood on the merry group with bursting hearts and longing eyes, until blinding tears had dimmed them. They knew that not for many years would they be permitted to enjoy those blessings in their full plenitude. Comfortably some joys would be shut out from them by prison bars, for they were two fugers who had just been extradited. The shadow of the law had fallen upon both Charles H. Davidson and Richard W. Godolphin when they stepped from the train in charge of Government Detective Murray and Rogers.

The story of the forgeries, the flight, the pursuit, the capture and final return of these men is full of interest.

A LONG TRIP.

The Trouble in Extraditing a Forger from Europe.

C. Hilton Davidson, the man whom Detective Murray had in charge, and whose extradition necessitated nearly 20,000 miles of travel, and the expenditure of $3000, was formerly a nurseryman in Burlington.

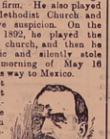

C. H. DAVIDSON

He is five feet ten inches in height, weighs perhaps 160 pounds, and has a brown beard. He was a member of the well known firm of John Davidson & Son, who for many years carried on a large nursery business near Burlington. They were C. Hilton Davidson, the person arrested, and W. M. Davidson. They are nephews of the junior member of the firm of Ewer, Brown & Davidson, who were connected with the celebrated Neebing Hotel. They carried on a very large and, supposedly, lucrative business. C. Hilton Davidson, who is about 42 years of age, was the business man of the firm. He had the business training, and was practically the Province for the firm. He also played the organ in the Methodist Church and was considered above suspicion. On the evening of May 15, 1892, he played the organ as usual in the church, and then he folded up his music and silently stole away. When the morning of May 16 dawned he was on his way to Mexico.

The reason he left so suddenly was that the Bank of Hamilton, with which he did business, had become unable to get satisfactory information regarding the makers of certain notes which C. Hilton Davidson had discounted, and when they applied to him for information his guilty conscience made Mr. Davidson think he had been discovered, so he fled.

Davidson went about cunningly. From traveling extensively he came to know the farmers well, and he knew where a certain family name was peculiarly common in a district. Then he forged notes on a mythical individual, using the name that happened to be known in that section, but with an unusual Christian name that he was certain was not liable to be duplicated in the bearers of the surname. For instance, if there were a large number of Smyths residing near Oakville, he would make a note in the name of Cholmondeley Smythe and trust to the bank being satisfied to suppose that Cholmondeley was one of the wealthy colony of Smythes known to reside in that district. Of course, when dealing with a supposedly wealthy firm like the Davidsons, above suspicion and all that, no special trouble was likely to be taken to hunt up the makers of the notes. It is not known how long Davidson continued this practice, but he may have carried it on for several years, being always careful to take up the notes before maturity and substituting other forged paper.

At the time of his flight the bank held a good many notes, some known to be good and others doubtful. With the assistance of persons doing with the business of the bank, Davidson was able to pick out all the forgeries from the good with such accuracy that only one man got dunned for a forged note and that was speedily arranged. The forged notes total up $8000.

Meantime the firm failed with liabilities of $40,000. As a result of the failure Messrs. Joers the bank decided to run C. H. Hilton Davidson down and the Attorney-General's office communicated with.

The case was placed in the hands of Detective Murray, who learned that Davidson had gone to Mexico, acting under the advice of his counsel that he could not be extradited from that country, as there was scarcely any way to bring him except through the United States. The Bank of Hamilton was bound to make an example of Davidson, as a number of forgeries for large amounts had been perpetrated on the bank, and they decided to spare no expense in running Davidson down.

On Nov. 7, 1892, Detective Murray left for Mexico, and located Davidson at Ciudad Juarez, a city of 40,000 inhabitants on the Mexican Central Railway, the other side of the Rio Grande. Davidson was employed on the Mexican Central Railway as a car checker under the name of Graham. Detective Murray applied to the local authorities for the arrest of his man and a guard of soldiers consisting of about a dozen men, headed by the Chief of Police and Mayor, was sent to his assistance. Davidson was pointed out by the officer and the Mexicans surrounded him and marched him off to the "bastile." Davidson contended that he couldn't be taken back to Canada, that he had legal services that he couldn't be removed from the country. Extradition proceedings were at once instituted and the detective proceeded to Chihuahua and conferred with the governor of that state of that name and was assured that he would see Davidson secure and ordered a double guard to be placed on the forger, as it was a common thing for prisoners to be released from Mexican jails especially if they had a little money. The officer then interviewed Sir Spencer St. John, British Minister at the City of Mexico, and after a delay of four weeks in the courts and elsewhere Davidson was handed over to Detective Murray's custody.

As it was impossible to take Davidson through the United States, Detective Murray started on his long tour across the continents. He first visited the City of Mexico and there found that there were no steamers running from Vera Cruz to either England or Jamaica. The officer and prisoner proceeded to Vera Cruz, but could find no direct steamer, the only alternative being to take a freight steamer from Vera Cruz to Santiago de Cuba, Cuba. For fear that the prisoner might demand his freedom on arrival in Cuba Detective Murray fortified himself with a letter from the British Ambassador at Mexico to the Governor of Cuba. Senor Gonzalon, to give him assistance and protection while in his domain, which the Governor willingly did, as the latter was a brother-in-law of the British consul at Santiago de Cuba. Detective Murray sailed from Vera Cruz on the steamer Carmelite Jan. 3, arriving at Santiago on Jan. 10. He remained there eight days, endeavoring to secure a steamer to Jamaica, but there is no communication of any kind between the two countries. Although the nearest point between the two countries is only 100 miles a letter posted at either point has to go via New York to reach its destination. Detective Murray offered the owner of a big $200 to land him on the Island of Jamaica, but he declined to go short of $1000. The only thing left to the officer was to take a Spanish steamer which calls at Santiago once a month and proceed to Port au Prince, Hayti. Before starting he cabled British Consul-General Arthur Irwin at Port au Prince to know what chance he would stand with his prisoner there. He replied that he could give no assistance, but would do everything in his power. Detective Murray accordingly set sail on the Spanish steamer Manuela, arriving at Port au Prince on Jan. 17. Having obtained passports for himself and prisoner before leaving Cuba, Detective Murray went ashore, leaving his prisoner guarded on board the ship in charge of the only English-speaking passenger on board, a professor in the college at Frankfort-on-the-Main, who was visiting the West Indies preparing a paper on political economy. After a conference with the British Consul-General and the latter authorizing he succeeded in getting permission to land his prisoner, provided the officer supplied guards until the ship sailed for services rendered. Detective Murray had to remain at Port-au-Prince 14 days waiting a steamer for Jamaica. During that time Davidson was confined in jail under special guard, prisoners in "white men's grave" having a fashion of taking French leave at any time.

On Jan. 29 Detective Murray and his prisoner left Port-au-Prince for Jamaica on the Atlas liner Ardine. She called on route at Guinaiva, where Detective Murray, assisted by the quartermaster, amused themselves harpooning sharks, the officer killing one of the largest specimens ever seen in the bay. After stoppages at Jaremia for a coffee cargo and at the Island of Nassa for mails for New York steamers they arrived in Jamaica Feb. 20. Davidson was placed in jail there, and on Feb. 8 officer and prisoner boarded the Royal Mail steamer Don for Southampton, where they arrived on the evening of Feb. 23.

HUNTSVILLE'S DEFAULTER

How a Scripture Quotation Resulted in Godolphin's Capture.

Richard W. Godolphin, Detective Rogers' prisoner, is a man of 5 ft. 3 or 4 ins. in height, slim build, dark complexion and wears a full beard. He is 34 years of age. For several years he had been treasurer of Huntsville village. He was a member of the English Church and was for a lengthened period organist of the church. In December last he disappeared. An examination of his accounts followed and he was found to be $8511.82 short. The auditors in their report stated:

We find from the collector's roll from 1889 that $5997.79 was collected, and only $2645.32 carried into the treasurer's account, showing a discrepancy of $44.47; and we find from the collector's roll for 1890 that $5762.12 was collected, and only $3092.25 carried into the treasurer's account, showing a discrepancy of $669.88, and we find from the collector's roll for 1891 that $3990.15 was collected and only $3231.95 carried into the treasurer's account, showing a discrepancy of $758.20; and up to the end of 1891 that $8512.62 of arrears have been left off the roll, showing a deficiency against the treasurer at the end of 1891 of $9015.16, with a probability, amounting almost to a certainty, that this deficiency was even greater, to the extent of any amounts of taxes that may have been paid and not given credit for on the collector's roll.

The Attorney-General's department was placed in possession of the facts and Detective Rogers was given charge of the case early in January. He learned that Godolphin had come to Toronto, but had left the city. Detective Newhall, who had been working on the case, informed Detective Rogers where Godolphin had exchanged Canadian currency for sovereigns, and it was concluded that the forger had gone to Europe. Rogers once more got a picture and personal letter to Scotland Yard giving information as to where his quarry would likely be found.

Later he learned that this cable had been received by Godolphin's wife:

"Must thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee."

The forger had induced a lady friend in England to send the 22d verse of the 43d chapter of Isaiah to his wife, conjecturing that the sentence, "When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee," would be sufficiently explicit to indicate his whereabouts, and it was, but it fell into the hands of the authorities. An official telegram was thereupon sent to Scotland Yard, and Inspector Jarvis, who visited Canada some time in connection with the celebrated Cream-Nelli poisoning cases, was detailed to arrest Godolphin. He found him in a cheap lodging-house in London almost penniless. He acknowledged his identity, was brought before Sir John Bridge at Bow-street, and remanded pending Detective Rogers' arrival. When the latter arrived he was again arraigned, and consented to return voluntarily.

MET IN LIVERPOOL

And Detectives and Prisoners Came on the Same Train.

On arrival at Plymouth with his prisoner Detective Murray telegraphed to Scotland Yard. Detective Rogers was notified and arrangements were made for both officers to bring their men on the Sarnia. They occupied adjoining staterooms, and everything possible was done by the other passengers to make the prisoners feel at home. Davidson and Godolphin are accomplished musicians, both having church organists in the churches to which they belonged, and they acted as accompanists at the concerts held daily. The detectives speak highly of the treatment they received at the hands of the Sarnia's officers, who did everything possible to make the trip enjoyable. Their descriptions of the accident to the Sarnia show that the telegraphed reports were inaccurate. The damage was the breaking on the night of March 11 of the after crank shaft in the coverings, just half the engine. The delay was caused by the great difficulty in getting the couplings connected in order to change the forward crank to the place of the after crank shaft. When the repairs were completed the ship was about 60 miles from St. Pierre. Upon the engines being started she steamed about 8 miles an hour, and during the heavy weather gale of Saturday made as high as 10. The passengers took the situation philosophically and were contented and satisfied. Although on the night of the 16th a terrific hurricane was set in, the wind blowing at a velocity of 83 miles an hour, and the sea was very high.

The Sarnia was spoken by both the mail tank steamer Ann rice and the Maurania the former bound for Halifax, but declined assistance, although the vessels were induced to stand by for several hours pending the result of repairs in progress. The hurricane of the 16th was pronounced by old mariners to be one of the most severe ever experienced on the ocean, and there is not the slightest doubt if the Sarnia had been laying in the trough of the sea, with her engines disabled when the storm broke, the vessel and her 200 passengers would have gone to Davy Jones' locker.

During the six days that the ship drifted pending the repairs the passengers amused themselves with music, in which the prisoners took an active interest.

Upon arrival at Toronto Detective Murray took his prisoner to Milton and lodged him in jail.

Detective Rogers placed Godolphin in No. 1 Station until 5 p.m., when he left with him for Bracebridge. He will be tried before the County Judge on Saturday, and will probably plead guilty and receive his sentence.

Murray was a Toronto broker formerly and left here to avoid criminal prosecution for fraud about five years ago.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that oppressive tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and by its keeping the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. A Wond-rful Cure. Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was had with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY as I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done so I had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect but since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmele's Pills according to direction under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion,' one box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing pain. These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

OUR DAIRY INTERESTS.

All the world knows that the County of Hastings is the original home of the modern dairy. But perhaps the majority of people even here scarcely realize the magnitude and importance of our dairy interests. We make in this county three quarters of a million dollars' worth of cheese every year; while the indirect products of the dairy might be put down at half as much more. There are sixty seven cheese factories in Hastings county, distributed over the following townships, which will give our readers some idea of the magnitude of the industry in this section:

Sidney—Bayside, Springfield, Shamrock, Sidney, Grove, Sidney Town Hall, Eclipse, Thurlow—Union, Thurlow, Ashley, Bronk, Halloway, Zion, East Hastings. Tyendinaga—Shannonville, Mountain, Melrose, Albert, Rosebud. Rawdon—Central, Plum Grove, Evergreen, Stirling, Harold, Spring brook, Enterprise, Maple Leaf, Kingston, Spry's. Huntingdon—West Huntingdon, Beulah, Glen, White Lake. Hungerford—Thomasburg, Roblin, Cedar, Clare River, Kerrins, Victoria, Tweed. Marmora—Cook's, Deloro, Marmora. Madoc—Alexandria, Daley, Madoc, Golden, Cold Springs, Spring Creek, Brook Valley, Spring Hill, Elzavir—Queensboro, Allen Settlement, Troy. Tudor—Silver, Millbridge. Wollaston—Coe Hill. Limerick—St. Ola. Faraday—Page Road. Dungannon—Bancroft, L'Amable, Walkerville. Mayo—Mayo and Carlow. Monteagle—Hybla, Green View, Maynooth. Carlow—Carlow.

These factories on the whole average 120,000 boxes a year, which call into service 25,000 cows. Cheese making has added enormously to the wealth of the people of this district. It has given stability and prosperity to agriculture here, when it has been depressed elsewhere. It is as important a source of wealth to the towns and villages as to the farmers themselves. It is, therefore, a matter for universal congratulation that the future of our dairy interests never looked brighter than at the present time. Many influences have recently led to a new and increasing interest in the industry by those engaged in it. This awakening of zeal and energy was never shown so clearly as during the past two months. The annual meetings of our cheese factories were formerly mere business meetings, at which the patrons languidly did their business and went home, or wrangled at length over trivial details of management. All this is changed. The meetings this winter at most of the factories have resembled dairymen's conventions more than mere meetings for the dispatch of business. Not that the business features have been neglected, but the patrons have come together not only to perfect the cooperative management of their affairs, but to discuss and to learn all that is new and important in connection with dairy progress. Outside speakers have been invited to these meetings, and a vast amount of information new and old has thus been disseminated. The Eastern Dairymen's Association, through its secretary and some of its directors, has done a good deal to contribute to the public education in this direction. It has made a most successful effort to do what in the past it had rather failed to do—that is, to reach the patrons, on whom the result of dairying in the last resort depends. The watchword of the association now is that if the patrons will not all go to the annual meetings of the association, the association will go to them. The members of the county association have been working in the same direction; and the press has shown greater interest in dairy topics than in former years. The result of all these influences is, as we have said, that there is an entirely new and surprising interest shown among the farmers here in the greatest of all the industries in which they are engaged.

So much has been said at these meetings that it is not possible to report it at any great length. Much of it is the old gospel which has been preached at every dairy convention for the last twenty years—and which cannot be preached too often or too earnestly. It is always new to some, and it is always important to all.

Put it is in winter dairying that the greatest progress has been made during the past two years. This, like the silo, is no longer an experiment. It is an assured success. Farmers are seeing the folly of milking their cows six or seven months in the year instead of nine or ten, and of milking them moreover only during the dry season. There is no more reason why butter should be made at the farm house than that cheese should be made there instead of at a factory. The winter creamery system has come to stay. There is not the all-most doubt that the exports of Canadian butter will increase enormously from this time forward. There is already a very lively local demand for creamery made butter, and it is likely soon to have a reputation abroad which will put millions of dollars into the pocket of the Canadian farmer. In winter dairying there is a mine of wealth, which the farmers have hitherto left almost unworked. To make it yield them the best terms, however, they must follow the advice of such advanced educators as Prof. Robertson, Prof. Dean and others who have been talking to them on this and other daily topics during the past few weeks.

A profitable adjunct of the dairy has always been the raising of hogs. The profits from this source are likely to be greater in future. The reputation of Canadian bacon fed pork is so thoroughly established in the British markets that the future of the pork industry seems assured. So long as Canadian goods maintain their supremacy, our farmers will be able to raise hogs at a good profit. As the markets have been of late, farmers have been able to convert their grain into cheese and butter and pork, and even beef, and sell it for more than the grain dealers are able to pay. Thus they have been able to meet the changed conditions of the grain markets of the world, and to prosper when those who have relied entirely on the sale of grain have been standing still or losing money.

TWO CENTS A MILE.

The New York Assembly Decides Upon Lower Fares.

ALBANY, March 23.—The members of the Legislature, the present session, have had called to their attention in loud tones the high rates of railroad fares in the interior of the state.

Nearly all the railroads charge three cents a mile, and a good many bills have been introduced lowering the rates to two cents a mile.

Yesterday there came up in the Assembly a bill of Mr. Quackenbush of Schenectady County lowering the rates of fare upon the Delaware and Hudson to two cents a mile.

Mr. Wolff of New York moved that the bill should be re-committed since there had been no hearing upon it.

Mr. Quackenbush resisted this motion, and was assisted by Sullivan of New York and Haley of Oneida.

A struggle followed the motion to recommit and it was defeated.

When the bill came before the Assembly Mr. Quackenbush told the Assembly men that the farmers of his county all wanted the bill passed. They thought three cents a mile too much.

Assemblyman Ainsworth of Oswego County said that from certain figures submitted to him he did not think the Delaware and Hudson was able financially to carry people for as low a sum as two cents a mile.

Timothy D. Sullivan, in reply, said that this talk was all nonsense, the Delaware and Hudson sold 1000 mile tickets for $20, which was two cents a mile. Poor men were unable to buy these tickets for 1000 miles, and had to pay three cents a mile. He thought the bill a just one, and it ought to be passed.

The bill was then passed by a vote of 71 to 34.

ULSTER WANTS WAR.

And Will Have It If the Home Rule Bill Passes.

LONDON, March 23.—A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, who is traveling in Ulster, writes that preparations have now gone so far that nothing can prevent bloodshed in case the Home Rule bill be passed. Despite the denials of Mr. Morley, the correspondent says it is apparent that the military authorities are seeking barracks accommodation in Belfast for a considerable body of troops.

The names of the officers who have been engaging quarters and the property owners who have been approached, he adds, could be given if necessary to prove his assertion.

The guarantee fund intended for the war chest of the men of Ulster is swelled daily by large contributions, as the liberality of the persons not even appealed to for aid has surpassed all expectations. Each of four eminent Irishmen, says the correspondent, gave £50,000, and the Mayor of Belfast has given £10,000. The total amount subscribed already is more than a million pounds.

MANITOBA'S BOOM.

Immigrants from the United States Are Seeking Homesteads.

WINNIPEG, March 23.—John Minnaker, Canadian immigration agent in Dakota, arrived here to-day with a party of well-to-do farmers who will settle in Manitoba and the Northwest. These are people with large capital, and are the sort to develop the natural resources of the country. Another party of 40 follow, and are expected to arrive here on Tuesday next.

A despatch has been received announcing the departure of 25 settlers of Nebraska with four cars of effects. Canadian agents' work is beginning to bear fruit, and it is anticipated that a regular stream will be following this way before long.

A $500 Blaze At Guelph.

GUELPH, Ont., March 23.—About midnight Policeman Fitzsimmons saw fire issuing from the Victoria stables. The building is a stone one and the firemen were able to confine it to the loft, where it started. Loss, about $500; covered by insurance.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

MEMBERS RESTING AFTER THE EXCITING DIVISION.

The Civil Service Bill—Hon. Mr. Costigan Meets a Stiff Opposition From Mr. Laurier—The Caron Affair Up Again—The Cattle Disease Affair.

OTTAWA, March 23.—After Tuesday night's storm the House yesterday afternoon was exceedingly dead and quiet.

Hon. Mr. Foster, in reply to questions, gave information from the census as to the number of the industries of Strathroy and Mount Forest, names of manufacturers and number of employes.

Hon. Mr. Patterson, in reply to Mr. Choquette, said that Lieutenant-Colonel Amyot had resigned command of the Ninth Battalion, after ten years' service, and Colonel Roy had been appointed. He further stated, in reply to another question, that it was not the intention of the Government to retire the commanding officer of volunteer battalions, after every five years' service as such, with a view to insure the promotion of subaltern officers, as the general officer commanding the district in the matter had been referred did not think it would conduce to the benefit of the service, a statement which drew forth expressions of approval from several of the military members of the House.

The act to amend the Criminal Code was read a second time and passed through committee.

Hon. Mr. Costigan moved the second reading of the Civil Service Bill, and in doing so said that he did not intend to ask the House to go into committee on the bill at present, as changes had to be made in order to provide for the department of trade and commerce. He explained the bill at some length, pointing out its various provisions.

Hon. Mr. Laurier opposed the bill. He thought that the supervisor of the civil service, provided for by the bill, would be only a detective, and that the creation of a board would be unnecessary if the deputy ministers did their duty. He concluded by moving the six months' hoist.

Hon. Mr. Costigan said that his whole object was, with the assent of the House, to get the second reading, so that he should have these amendments printed in the bill before it came up for consideration.

Mr. Laurier: But I object to the whole principle of the bill.

Mr. Foster did not think that Mr. Laurier was treating the Secretary of State fairly. The leader of the Opposition was objecting to the bill before he knew what its details were to be.

Mr. Laurier did not want to know its details, as he objected to the entire principle of the bill.

Mr. Mills strongly opposed the bill.

Mr. O'Brien and the bill was objectionable in every feature and was calculated to drive every man out of the civil service. It was impossible for any man to enter the service after this bill was passed. Every member of the civil service objected to it. The Government should withdraw the bill.

Mr. Costigan then withdrew his motion for a second reading and Mr. Laurier allowed his amendment to drop.

Mr. Costigan said he would move the second reading to-morrow.

It being 6 o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

After recess seven private bills were read a third time and passed.

On motion to go into Supply Mr. Edgar reviewed the Caron charges, going over pretty much what he said last year, touching on the evidence taken before the commission and concluding with the following amendment:

"That in the opinion of this House the evidence taken by the Royal Commission appointed last session to enquire into certain charges made against Sir Adolphe Caron, K.C.M.G., M.P., which was reported to the Government Nov. 24, 1892, and now laid before us, established facts which should have prevented the subsequent appointment of Sir Adolphe Caron to the advice of the Crown, and also renders it highly improper that he should now hold such office."

Mr. Curran made a lengthy defence of Sir Adolphe, quoting very freely from the evidence to show that the charges had not been proved.

Mr. Davis moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 11.50 p.m.

At the meeting of the Agricultural Committee this morning Prof. McEachran recommended that Parliament be asked to grant $500,000 to stamp out tuberculosis. This sum, he said, would be sufficient to buy all affected cattle, and which should at once be slaughtered. He also recommended that instead of a veterinary surgeon being sent from Canada, Sir Charles Tupper be empowered to employ three veterinary surgeons in Scotland to be present at the slaughter of cattle from Canada, and recommended for the purpose Professors Williams and Wellor of Edinburgh and McCaul of Glasgow.

Prof. McEachran announced that the Hudson Bay Company intends to slaughter a herd of cattle in the Peace River district as soon as a veterinary surgeon can get there—the herd suffering from tuberculosis. In the meantime the cattle are isolated. He claims that tuberculosis is communicable to man, this being the base for his recommendation of making a large grant for stamping it out.

The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Bill was before the Railway Committee of the House this morning. Mr. McKay proposed an amendment that caused a good deal of discussion, as follows:

"All owners of lands fronting, or abutting, on any street or highway which the railway may be carried along shall be entitled to compensation for the damage and injury to such lands by reason of the railway line carried along such street or highway, and the provision of the railway act as to the lands and their valuations shall, as nearly as may be, apply to the damage and injury to such lands, and to the mode in which such compensation is to be ascertained, and for the payment thereof priority shall be made or given before the commencement of works of construction on such street or highway."

The amendment was lost on a vote of 17 to 20.

Another amendment in these words was carried: "Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to affect the application now pending in the Court of Appeal for the Province of Ontario, in the matter of Foster v. the municipal corporation of the City of Hamilton, to quash the said bylaw No. 638, and this act shall only apply to such bylaw in case the courts should not quash the said bylaw on the said application.

Love With a Vengeance

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—J. J. Ewers, a farm hand at Gridley, yesterday took out the brains of Mrs. Christina Onstott with a sledge hammer, and then shot and killed himself. Mrs. Onstott, who was a widow, had promised to marry Ewers, but later on refused.

Big Ship Race.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Four big British ships left here yesterday on a race around Cape Horn to England. They are Bowden, Pinmore, Lord Templemore and Loch'e. All are bound for Cork except Lord Templemore, which goes to Liverpool.

The ship, City of Athens, which sails today, will join the race. The captain of each ship put up $250 and the winner will take $1000, while the second ship will save stake money. All are loaded with grain and all got away at the same time.

No Extra Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Representative Holman, who called at the White House yesterday, is authority for the statement that the President does not now intend to call an extra session of Congress. He would only call one under stress of circumstances that do not now exist.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Easter falls this year on April 2nd. The earliest and latest dates upon which Easter can fall are March 22 and April 25. In 1886 Easter fell upon the latest date, which had not occurred before in the nineteenth century and will not occur again until 1943. A reporter was to-day shown a curious instrument called the "comoplometer," a calculating machine, which is operated by keys like a typewriter. It will perform accurately addition, multiplication, division, extract square root, compute interest by the single operation of automatic keys, or which will add all the columns at a time. It will perform without any mental calculation any arithmetical problem, no matter how complex. The instrument is on exhibition at Mr. J. T. Warrington's office. Mr. F. W. Brenton has secured the agency. It is probably the only machine of its kind in Canada.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Four Young People Renounce the Single Estate.

A pleasing event took place at the residence of Mr. Robt. Thompson, in Huntingdon township, last night, when his accomplished daughter Edith was united in marriage to Mr. Richard M. Haggerty, a well-to-do farmer, and son of Mr. James Haggarty, Rawdon of Huntingdon. James Haggarty, brother of the groom, did the honors of groomsman, while Miss Maud McGowan assisted the bride. The bride is a very estimable young lady, who has the best wishes of her numerous friends for a life full of happiness and sunshine.

A ROMATIC MARRIAGE.

Capt. Arkett and Capt. Hannah Cook Wedded at Oshawa.

On Monday last at Oshawa, Capt. Geo. Arkett, of the Salvation Army, who has been for some years stationed in the north west, was married to Capt. Hannah Lucinda Cook, daughter of Allen Cook, of Oshawa, and whose last station was Toronto. The couple were supported by Miss Hellerman, of Ingersoll, and Capt. Patterson, of Toronto. The Vindicator says: The history of the love affair which has thus so happily culminated is not without a touch of romance. Some eight years ago, Miss Cook, who by the way is a comely girl of 25, was stationed in Picton, Prince Edward county, the home of her future husband with whom she was then acquainted. Through her ministration he was converted and became an officer in the army. An attachment then sprung up between them which although they have been separated for seven years has never abated. The story loses none of its interest by the report that Capt. Arkett is the heir of a very comfortable fortune.

A Cheese Board at Trenton.

In response to a circular sent out by the Trenton Board of Trade, the Presidents of several cheese factories met in Trenton Town Hall on Thursday last, and decided to organize a cheese board. Phillips, 2nd Vice Pres.; C. J. Ruttan and Thos. Steele, Auditors. The election of Secretary was left over till next meeting. The President was directed to call the next meeting on the 2nd Wednesday in May at 1:30 p.m. Letters were read from Belleville, Peterborough and Montreal buyers, saying they would attend the sales.

Nitro Glycerine.

The demand for nitro-glycerine yesterday afternoon was unprecedented in Belleville. Each hardware store was asked how much of it was in stock, and how quickly more could be had. It was understood that it was our genial and obliging City Clerk that wanted it, but for what purpose is the conondrum. Perhaps he can explain.

Cigarette Smoking.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—The above is the heading of an editorial in the Chicago Tribune for Feb. 19, which strongly urges the Illinois General Assembly to pass a bill prohibiting the manufacture and sale of cigarettes in that state. A paragraph is quoted thus: "Those vile compounds called cigarettes are poisonous, and should be outlawed. They are not safe for men to use. They are rank poison for the juniors. There is but one way to deal with this evil, and that is the radical one. As long as cigarettes are offered for sale in nearly every street, boys will manage to get them. Therefore their sale should be forbidden altogether. None should be allowed to be made in the state, and no store should be permitted to keep them. Then it would be extremely difficult for boys to get these opium soaked abominations, and they would be kept from acquiring an appetite for one of the most destructive of drugs."

Belleville is not behind other places of its size in adopting this new poison. Cannot something be done to prevent the growth and spread of this evil in our midst? Yours, CITIZEN.

SPORTING NEWS

G. W. Johnston, of Glasgow, has challenged Duncan C. Ross to contend in all-round Scotch sports for $1,000 a side.

The winter races at Harwood yesterday attracted a fairly large crowd of sportsmen. The track, which was a half mile one, was situated on Rice Lake, and was in a fairly good condition. In the free for all Connor Bros.' Fred S. won in three straight heats the first money, Elmhurst's horse, of Norwood, took second place, and McMahon's mare, of Baltimore, came third.

A bill providing that all who shall enter a horse under an assumed name in any big race for money shall be liable to imprisonment in a penitentiary for one year to three years, or in the county gaol for not less than six months, and fined not more than $1,000, has passed both houses of the South Dakota Legislature, has been signed by the Governor, and is therefore an existing law.

The Carleton Place lacrosse club was organized last week under favorable auspices. The officers elected are: President, W. McDiarmid; vice pres., C. McIntosh; captain, John McLaren; secretary-treasurer, Ab. Donald.

AMUSEMENTS

FAUST.

The Laura Schirmer-Mapleson Opera Company, Canadian tour, will be under the immediate patronage of His Excellency, the Governor General.

Miss Mapleson is not only a great singer but a very fine actress, and this coupled with her beautiful stage presence makes her without a rival on the lyric stage. She will wear new costumes specially designed by Sir Francis Leighton, President, Royal Academy. Plan open Saturday.

BISHOP OF WESTMINSTER.

He Caught Cold at Kemptville and had to Cancel his Engagements.

Particulars of the illness of Bishop Sillitoe was received here this morning. At Kemptville His Lordship caught cold, and although very hoarse, preached twice on Sunday, in Ottawa. Sir James Grant was in attendance and yesterday detected symptoms of pneumonia. He warned the Bishop of the extreme danger of travelling and lecturing and strongly advised the abandonment of any work for this week. The Bishop reluctantly consented, and having to be at home for Easter could not as he otherwise would have done, postpone his engagements simply for a week. As he hopes to be in Ontario attending the National Council on Consolidation next September His Lordship suggests that he may then fulfil his promises to this diocese.

MADOC.

Messrs. Sidmer Rose & Co. have sold the balance of their stock to the Pierce Co. of Marmora; they will move the goods to their Marmora store.—Ploughing is about used up, and business is dull.—The prospects are bright for a good spring trade.—The parties who lost their nets last fall swear vengeance on those owning boats at the lake; whether they are guilty or not we are not prepared to say; a few evenings ago the boat houses were broken open, seven boats destroyed, and a quantity of goods stolen, such as blankets, tents, etc. It is very doubtful if any action will be taken in the matter, for even if the parties were proven guilty they would not be punished; such has been the experience in the past.—The North Hastings Lumber Co. have started up the bent works and expect to manufacture a large number of cheese boxes; it is said they have some large contracts on hand, which will keep them busy all through the summer.—The Methodists held a very successful social last Wednesday.

Mr. E. D. O'Flynn, of Madoc, was in town on Sunday.

If I Should Die To-Night.

If I should die to night
And you should come to my cold corpse and say
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless c'ay;
If I should lie to night,
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe,"
I might arise to my large white cravat
And say "What's that?"

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel
Clasping my hand to show the grief you feel;
I say if I should die to night,
And you should come to me there and then.
Just even hint 'bout paying me that ten,
I might arise this while,
But I'd drop dead again. BEN KING

GREAT SACRIFICE SALE
—OF—
BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

A wholesale manufacturer's stock bought at 57c. on the dollar to be slaughtered. We have always got our argus eye open for these snaps, and now never in Canada has such a chance been offered to secure a suit so cheap, and other dealers should take advantage of it, as we are going to sell them away below wholesale prices. Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Children's	2	piece	suits	for	75c.	worth $3.00.
1,000	Boy's	3	"	"	"	$1.50	" 4.50.
1,500	Youth's			"	"	$2.50	" 5.00.
1,200	Men's			"	"	$2.75	" 8.00.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1.20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30.000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION.—Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

SOME SYMPTOMS OF WORMS are:—Fever, colic, variable appetite, restlessness, weakness and convulsions. The unfailing remedy is Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

AS A PICK-ME-UP after excessive exertion or exposure, Milburn's Beef Iron and Wine is grateful and comforting.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Lovely pink sea salmon, fresh mackeral cod, fresh sea herring, bog herring, salmon trout, whitefish, smelts, etc., at Goldsmiths' opposite post office. 239d1f

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

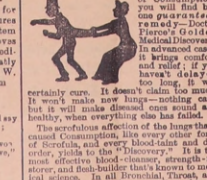

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

An attempted druggists' combine is one of the latest in Ontario—only those who have been duly licensed by their college to be allowed to sell castor oil, paris green, salts, etc. The Ontario House cannot in the face of their avowed opposition to all combines sanction such a measure.

"What's in a name!" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

Probably in March, more than any other month in the year, are the ravages of cold in the head and catarrh most severely felt. Do not neglect either for an instant, but apply Nasal Balm, a time-tried, never-failing cure. Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Try it. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price—50c and $1 a bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Major Mayne, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, is vigorously attacking the school histories authorized by the Ontario Education Department, and written by W. J. Robertson, because of misleading and inaccurate statement as to the Church of England. He says the proofs were submitted to a delegation of churchmen, the inaccuracies named and the corrections provided, but the books were issued with only a few errors eliminated.

TO STOP THE PROGRESS of Consumption, you will find but one guaranteed remedy—Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In advanced cases, it brings comfort and relief; if you haven't delayed too long, it will certainly cure. It doesn't claim too much. It won't make new lungs—nothing can; but it will make diseased ones sound and healthy, when everything else has failed.

The scrofulous affection of the lungs that's caused Consumption, like every other form of Scrofula, and every blood-taint and disorder, yields to the "Discovery." It is the most effective blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. In all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

A perfect and permanent cure for your Catarrh—or $500 in cash. This is promised by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc, etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

Caspar Brooke walked for an hour before he was calm enough to remember that he ought to go home. When this idea occured to him, he felt a pang of shame for his own forgetfulness. What would Alice think of him! And this was the first day that she had been with him in his own house for so many years. He must go home and make his apologies. Not that she would expect very much attention from him. Had she not said that she was only trying to do her duty! Probably she disliked him still.

He let himself in with his latch key, and walked straight into the study. A shaded lamp had been lighted, and but faintly illuminated the corners of the room. But there was light enough for him to see that Lady Alice was sitting in his chair. He came up to the table, and looked at her without speaking. There was a strange tumult of feeling in his heart. It wished that he could tell her how gratified he was by her trust in him, how much he prized the very things that had once irritated him against her—her reserve, her fine perception, her excellent fastidiousness of taste, even that little air of coldness that became her so well. To come into her presence was like entering a fragrant English garden after stifling for an hour in a conservatory where the air was heavy with the perfume of stephanotis.

She rose, as he continued silent, and stood on the rug, almost face to face with him. She did not find it easy to speak, and there was something in his air which frightened her a little. She made a trivial remark at last, but with great difficulty.

'You have been away a long time,' she said.

She was not prepared for the answer. He put out his hand and drew her close to him. 'You were away a great deal longer,' he said, looking down at her fair, serious face. She could not reply. 'Twelve years, is it not?' he went on. 'That's a long time time out of one's life, Alice. I feel myself an old man now.'

'No, no, Caspar!' she said, rather tremulously.

'What was it all about, Alice? You know I never really understood it. Can't you make me understand? Was it that I was simply unbearable? too disagreeable to be put up with any longer.'

'No, it was not that. I will speak the truth now, Caspar. I was jealous—I thought you cared for Rosalind Romaine.'

'But you know now—surely—that that was not true?'

'Could you swear it?' she asked, suddenly and sharply, with a quick look into his face.

'For a moment he was annoyed. Then his brow cleared, and he answered, very gravely—

'I can and will, if you like. But I thought—having trusted me so far—that you could trust me without an oath. Alice, I never loved any woman but one; and that one was yourself. Have you been as true to me as I have been to you?'

'I don't think that I ever knew I loved you until now,' said Alice, laying her head with a deep sigh upon her husband's breast.

'Love is not enough, though it is a great deal; do you trust me?'

'Implicitly—now that I have looked at you again.'

Caspar gave a little laugh.

'Then I must never let you go away from me, or you will begin to disbelieve in me,' he said.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

TWELVE SILVER SPOONS.

Lady Alice was not long in finding out that Maurice Kenyon, her husband's chief friend, was the man of whom Lesley had spoke in her letters, and also the doctor who had interested her at the hospital. She did not speak to Lesley about him; she took a little time to accustom herself to her husband's circle before she made any remarks about its members. But she was shrewd enough to see very quickly that Mr. Kenyon took more interest in her daughter than in her husband, and from Lesley's shy looks she fancied that the interest was reciprocated. She had a twinge of regret for her favorite, Harry Ducheene, and then consoled herself with saying that Lesley was not old enough to know her own mind, and that probably she would change before she was twenty-one.

She did not come particularly into contact with Maurice, however, until the Sunday after she had taken up her abode in Woburn Place. And then she saw a good deal of him. For Lesley went to sit with Ethel as was her wont, and Maurice came to dine at Brooke's. After the early dinner, Lady Alice noticed that there was some parleying between the guest and his host.

'I am going,' said Maurice in an urgent undertone. To which Caspar returned a cheerful answer.

'All right, old man; but I am going too.' And then Mr. Kenyon knitted his brows and looked vexed.

Caspar at once noted his wife's glances of inquiry. 'Has Lesley told you anything about our Sunday meetings at the Club? We generally betake ourselves to North London on a Sunday afternoon. Mr. Kenyon thinks I had better stay with you, and—I don't.'

From Maurice's uncomfortable looks, Lady Alice gathered that there was something doubtful in the proceeding. 'I will you let me go with you?' she said, by way of experiment.

There was an exchange of astonished and rather embarrassed looks all round. Caspar elevated his eyebrows and clutched his beard; Miss Brooke made curious sound something like a snort; Maurice flushed a deep and dusky red; indications which all annoyed Lady Alice, although she did not know what they quite signified. She rose from her chair and took the matter into her own hands; but all without the slightest change in the manner of graceful indifference which had grown natural to her of late years.

'That is the place where Lesley used to go,' she said. 'She tells me she sings to the people sometimes. I cannot sing, but I can play the piano a little, if that is any good. Sophy is going, is she not? And I should like to go too.'

'There is no reason why you should not,' said Caspar, rather abruptly. But the gleam in his eye told of pleasure. 'There are some rather rough characters at the club sometimes, you know. And perhaps the reception they give me to-day will not be of the pleasantest.'

Lady Alice looked at her husband with a mixture of wonder and admiration. The calm way in which he sometimes alluded to his present circumstances, without a trace of bitterness or fretfulness, amazed her. In the old days she would have put it down to 'good breeding—good manners,' some superficial veneer of good society of which she thoroughly approved; but she had seen too much of the seamy side of good society now to be able to accept this explanation of his calmness. It was not want of sensitiveness, she was sure of that; he was by no means obtuse; it was simply that his large strong nature rose above the pettiness of resentment and complaint. The suspicion under which he labored was a grave thing—a trouble, a blow; but it had not made him sour, nor borne him to the earth with a conviction of the injustice of mankind.

His wife looked and marvelled, but recollected herself in time to say after a minute's hesitation:

'I know a little more about rough characters then I once did. We saw a good many at the East End hospital, did we not, Mr. Kenyon?'

It was the first time that she had shown that she had remembered Maurice's face. Caspar picked up his cues.

'You at a hospital, Alice! Why, what were you doing there?'

'Visiting some of the patients,' she answered, with a little blush.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by names imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

PROROGATION AT EASTER NOW GENERALLY BELIEVED.

Mr. Edgar's Amendment Re Charges Against Sir Adolphe Caron Lost By a Majority of 50—Sir Adolphe Remained Away.

OTTAWA, March 24.—"It is difficult to tie ourselves down to a week from Saturday for prorogation," said the courteous leader of the Opposition "but it is most probable that the business of the House will be completed before Easter, or immediately after."

This agrees with the general consensus of opinion, and is borne out by the fact that Mr. Foster intimated yesterday that the House would sit next Saturday, and informed Sir Richard Cartwright that the supplementary estimates for 1893-'94 would be brought down on or before that date. There really does not appear to be much reason to think that this program will not be carried out.

The Caron charges were disposed of this afternoon by Mr. Edgar's amendment to the motion to go into supply being defeated by a vote of 69 for to 119 against. And is is generally believed that that will be the last "fighting" motion of the session. The estimates are well advanced and the House has been quietly and promptly getting through with those relating to public works all last evening. The Opposition has not been in anything like an obstructive or over-inquisitive mood, and the various items have been run through with promptness, after all necessary information being given by Hon. Mr. Ouimet. Taking one consideration with another, therefore, it may be regarded as almost certain that Easter Sunday will not find the House in session.

The debate on the Caron charges was resumed by Hon. Mr. Davies, who made a long and elaborate speech.

Sir Richard Cartwright followed, more for the purpose apparently of reading the draft of a facetious bill than with any idea of making a serious argument. His humorous bill was to the effect that in future any one accused of an offence should have the right to select his own judge and jury and fix his own manner of trial. Also that a person accused of one crime should be acquitted if found not guilty of some other offence with which he was not charged. For instance, a man accused of murder must be acquitted if it was shown that he was innocent of adultery and so on. It was provided that no member of a Liberal administration should have the benefit of the act.

After Sir Richard's burst of humor, Mr. McCarthy very seriously announced that he should vote for the amendment, although he did not believe that the Postmaster-General had any personal interest in the matter, or that it affected his conduct as a member of Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Ouimet strongly defended the Postmaster-General, and Mr. Ives closed the debate by giving notice of the following amendment to Sir Richard Cartwright's bill:

"That inasmuch as the Liberal party of Canada has always claimed extraordinary purity in the conduct of elections, that after the general election the judges shall not have power to unseat more than 50 per cent. of the Liberal candidates nor to disqualify more than one half of those unseated."

The House then divided and Mr. Edgar's amendment was lost by 50 majority. Messrs. McCarthy, O'Brien, Weldon and Calvin voted with the minority.

When Mr. Edgar moved his amendment yesterday afternoon, Sir Adolphe Caron left the chamber and did not occupy his seat last night or afternoon. He was about the corridor and in room 16, however, and as soon as the vote was announced he walked into the House and took his seat.

Professor Weldon has not yet given up his fight against the Nova Scotia coal deal, and this morning he will present to His Excellency a memorial signed by 80 members of Parliament setting forth the details of the deal and the injury which it may work to the other portions of the Dominion, and praying that His Excellency should urge the Legislature of Nova Scotia at its next session to amend its mining laws and charters so as to provide that whenever any company, now or hereafter to be incorporated, is declared by joint address of the Legislature of Nova Scotia to have violated its covenants or unduly enhanced the price of coal to Canadian consumers, such charge so declared shall be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada, with power to hear and determine, and in case the charges shall be sustained, to either void the lease or fine the lessees at the discretion of the court.

The Railway Committee spent a great part of yesterday in considering the bill incorporating the North American Canal Company. The object of the company is to build a 20-foot canal from some point on Lake Erie, at or near Port Colborne, to some point on Lake Ontario, at or near Port Dalhousie, or to some point on the Niagara River.

Another from some point at or near Dickinson's Landing to some point at or near Cornwall; also another canal from some point at the eastern end of Lake St. Francis to some point on the northern end of Lake Champlain, with a branch or arm therefrom to Lake St. Louis; also another canal from some point at or near Lachine to Montreal harbor.

It is proposed to use dydraulic lifts in the canal, so that seven locks only would be necessary to reach the sea from the upper lakes. It is a stupendous scheme as it appears on paper, and the capital stock is placed at $10,000,000.

Farmhouse Burned.

WARKWORTH, March 24.—The house of Samuel Ryall of Cramahe Township was destroyed by fire last night. The family had retired for the night, and about 11 o'clock Mr. Ryall was awakened by the smoke and found the partition had caught fire from the stovepipe and was all in a blaze. Everything was consumed. Loss about $800, insured for about $600.

The Tailors' Strike.

WINNIPEG, March 24.—Representatives of Winnipeg merchant tailors will leave in the morning for Montreal and Toronto to engage about 100 employes to take the places of striking tailors, all negotiations for settlement having fallen through. The strikers announce to-day that they will open up union shops here.

Deacon Arrives.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Edward Parker Deacon and daughter are passengers on the Trave, which arrived in quarantine from Bremen, via Southampton, late last evening, but were invisible as a result of inquiries made by Mr. Deacon of the steamer's officers as to the probability of reporters boarding the vessel. The officers and passengers saw but little of him during the voyage.

Woodstock's Treasurer Dead.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 24.—John D. Hood, Town Treasurer, died at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon after a short illness.

STORMS OUT WEST.

Telegraph and Telephone Services Tied Up In a Knot.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Advices from the Northwest state that one of the most furious storms known for years began yesterday, and is still raging. At Duluth a foot and a half of snow fell during the night. This morning it turned to sleet. A similar state of affairs exists in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Throughout Wisconsin there was almost a cyclone, accompanied by rain, snow and sleet. Particulars from that state are difficult to obtain, owing to the almost universal prostration of the wires. Milwaukee is absolutely cut off from the outside world. Neither telegraph companies has a wire working to the city, and the telephone wires are also down. Telegraphic communication is also slow and uncertain throughout Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri. In Minnesota few wires are working and the telephone system is wrecked.

At St. Louis the first thunderstorm of the season is raging. The lightning is terrific and has caused great delay to telegraphic business. In this city there was rain this morning, followed by a heavy fog which enveloped the city.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

Further Enquiries Fail To Overthrow the French Ministry.

PARIS, March 24.—The Government was again successful in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. A critical debate was expected in the chamber on the question offered by Deputy Lucien Millevoye, as to what further action the Government intended to take in regard to the bribery and frauds shown to have been perpetrated in connection with the Panama Canal enterprise.

The enemies of the Government hoped that the discussion might lead to the overthrow of the Ministry, but after some exciting speeches the Government succeeded in carrying the order of the day by a show of hands, which proved the attack on the ministry to be hopeless for the time at least.

UNCLE SAM'S TARIFF.

The Republic Is Deeply Interested in Helping a Reduction.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Carlisle, it is stated on good authority, intends to give much of his time this summer to the consideration of the tariff, with a view to so thoroughly familiarizing himself with the subject as to indicate in a general way the outlines for the formation of a tariff bill by the next Democratic House. He in no sense intends to prepare a bill in detail to be submitted to the Ways and Means Committee of the next House, but rather to be in a position to give them all the assistance and information they may need in the preparation of a tariff bill that will carry out in its word and intent the spirit of the tariff plank in the Democratic platform.

Nearly every mail that reaches the Treasury Department contains suggestions from statisticians and others as to the compilation of a tariff bill. Some 30 or 40 of these communications have already been received, prominent among them being that from the New York Reform Club. The general outline of the New York Reform Club's tariff propossition corresponds closely to a proposition submitted in 1885 by Edward Atkinson of Boston, Mass., to President Cleveland and Secretary Manning.

Treasure Found.

DURANGO, Mexico, March 24.—While workmen were excavating here Tuesday for a new building on the property of Francisco Ottes, near the Palace Hotel, they came upon a large earthen box, buried five feet under the surface. The box was found to be filled with old Spanish gold coins. The amount of the treasure is not known to the public, but it will reach fully $100,000. A certain percentage of the money must be turned over to the general government. It is supposed the money was buried by a Spaniard more than a century ago, as there was at that time a large colony of them employed here in working the mines.

CAVALRY MOVEMENT.

A Rumor That the Quebec Military School Will Be Transferred.

TORONTO, March 24.—The Montreal Star publishes a despatch from Quebec to the effect that two guns from "B" Battery will be moved with their detachments, replacing "A" Battery, Kingston, which will become a field division, the foot division of the latter battery and all of "C" Battery from British Columbia going to the Citadel, Quebec. The two remaining guards there will be transferred to the quarters of the Cavalry School, which is to be transferred to Toronto.

Col. Otter was interviewed last night and said he knew nothing of the matter. The matter was in the charge of Gen. Herbert solely and the General never made known his plans until they were completed.

THE ARNOLDI AFFAIR.

He Will Be Brought Up On a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

TORONTO, March 24.—Chief Justice Galt yesterday granted, upon the application of A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., a writ of habeas corpus to issue on behalf of Engineer John R. Arnoldi, mechanical engineer, sentenced to six months' imprisonment at Ottawa in addition to a fine of $1000 upon a charge of malfeasance of office.

Chief Justice Armour reserved the case for the Chancery Divisional Court, and on Jan. 9 judgment was rendered sustaining the view expressed by the learned judge at the trial that there was no evidence of intent to defraud, but there was misbehavior in office.

DEFAULTER GODOLPHIN.

He Has Asked for An Immediate Trial Before Judge Mahaffy.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., March 24.—Detective Joseph Rogers arrived in town yesterday in charge of R. W. Godolphin, the defaulting Huntsville treasurer. On information laid by Detective Rogers Godolphin was brought before Justice of Peace James Boyer at 10 o'clock for trial. He made a statement admitting his guilt to the charges of forgery in uttering and embezzlement and was committed for trial. Godolphin is now in jail and has asked for an immediate trial before Judge Mahaffy.

A WESTERN CYCLONE.

Blows Three Towns Away and Kills Many People

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—Well-authenticated reports say the town of Tupelo, Miss., the home of Congressman John Allen, was destroyed by a severe storm yesterday.

The little town of Kelly, 15 miles from Memphis, on the Memphis and Birmingham Railway, was wiped out during the same storm. No lives lost.

A cyclone swept over Northern Mississippi and Western Tennessee late this afternoon, leaving ruin in its wake. Tunica, Miss., was blown away and several people are reported killed and injured. The wires are down in every direction and it is difficult to get details.

A Plain Statement.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Price 25c.

An apple tree will pay better than any with the same attention.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladona Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25c.

Roots and tubers should generally be fed with other and more nutrious foods.

In order to give a quietus to a backing cough take a dose of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spells render it necessary. This widely esteemed remedy also cures crick in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont, writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect but since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

There can be no good crop without good seed; grapes do not come from thorns.

BREEDERS OF TROTTERS

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE OF THE ONTARIO ASSOCIATION.

Who'll Get the Initial Races, Toronto, Hamilton, Guelph Or Windsor?—Secretary Boyd On Trotting—Better Meetings This Year.

TORONTO, March 24.—Dr. McCully, president, was in the chair at the special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Ontario Association of Trotting Horse Breeders at the Rossin House yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. C. Boyd, the energetic secretary, presented a long list of entries to the various events announced. There were present besides, Messrs. Charlesworth, Toronto; Scott, Caledonia; Tovell, Guelph; and Maguire, Brockville.

Mr. Boyd will visit Guelph and Windsor this week and ascertain the feeling of the association there as to taking the Breeders' meeting.

The entries to the various stakes were considered, but as the breeding of several was not given in full, and Mr. Boyd was corresponding with the owners to get the pedigrees straight, it was considered advisable not to give out the official list until next week, when the list would be complete. The number of entries are as follows:

Yearling trot, 11 entries. Two-year trot, 22 entries. Two-year-old pace, 8 entries. Three-year trot, 20 entries. Three-year pace, 9 entries.

It lies among Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor and Guelph as to having the meeting, the date of which will likely be fixed next week.

It was also decided to advertise a $1000 guaranteed futurity stake for mares to foal in 1893, to be trotted as 2-year-olds at the annual meeting of the association in 1895, entries payable as follows: $5 payable May 15, 1893, when the mare must be named, together with the name of the stallion bred; $10 on Nov. 1, 1893, when colts must be named and color and marks given; $5 on April 1, 1894, and $10 for starters the day before the race in 1895. Forms can be had on application to Mr. J. C. Boyd, secretary, Simcoe.

"Yes," said Secretary Boyd in the evening, "there will be more trotting meetings and better ones this season than ever before in the history of Ontario. The sport is now in the hands of reputable men all over the province who encourage trotting for breeding and racing and not for gambling purposes."

"In Simcoe, my own town, we formerly gave $1200 and $1500 in purses and this summer we will hang up $3000. Yes, this will be a great year in Ontario for the useful harness horse."

MOBBED A MISSIONARY.

Coreans Tear Out His Beard and Nearly Kill Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—According to Corean advices by the steamer Gaelic, Father M. Joseau, a Catholic missionary, was terribly maltreated by a mob recently. He was passing on foot through the market town of Kinchuen, accompanied by a teacher and a boy. As soon as the crowd recognized him there were shouts of "Kill the foreigner! Stone him!"

The natives threw themselves upon the priest, knocking him down and kicked him unmercifully. After the mob had torn out his beard, they beat him and then tried to bury him alive in the sand. At last, somewhat alarmed at the consequence of a possible murder—always a serious matter in Corea—the mob dispersed, leaving the missionary and his companions half dead upon the ground.

TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

A Bag of One-Dollar Bills Creates an Unpleasant Scene.

TORONTO, March 24.—Mr. James L. McKinley of 8 St. Vincent-street missed a bag last evening containing 42 one-dollar bills. No one but the domestic, Miss Ada Yates, had been in the room where the bag lay on the table, and Mr. McKinley was inclined to believe that the girl took the money. Mrs. McKinley, too, thought Miss Yates guilty, and the trio started off for No. 2 Police Station to settle the affair.

Sergt. Cross told Mr. McKinley that nothing could be done in the way of putting the girl into custody unless a formal charge was laid against her. This he was loath to do, as he could go no further than to say no one else could have taken it.

Mrs. McKinley was about to lay the charge, but when she learned that she would have to appear in court against the accused she changed her mind and became as anxious to research the house to see if the money could have been mislaid.

Miss Yates consented to go back to the McKinley residence, and, together with a couple of officers, they returned. Mrs. McKinley stepped into the hall first, and just as Miss Yates was going to follow her the officer exclaimed, "Why, here's the very bag!" and picked up the bag under Mrs. McKinley's feet.

The money was all there. The two girls who had been in charge of the house during Mr. McKinley's absence, say the money was not there the whole evening. The accused girl went home.

A STRANGE ROBBERY.

Tied to a Fence Post—Relieved of $90 and Gold Watch.

COMBER, Ont., March 24.—William Boyes, a millhand of Staples, was held up by a gang of masked men last night near his home and robbed of $90 and a gold watch. He had been to Detroit during the day and drew $100, and while on his way home was delayed at Comber.

He walked home after nightfall, and was within the village limits when he was met by the gang, who tied his hands and fastened him to a fence post.

His cries brought neighbors to the rescue and he was released. He cannot identify any of the parties. It is thought to be parties who knew the object of his visit to Detroit.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, MARCH 24.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The proposed bill amending the Pharmacy Act will meet with formidable opposition when it comes before the Legislature. Its provisions need but to be stated to show its objectionable features. The bill proposes that no person other than a qualified chemist be allowed to keep or sell any medicine of any kind whatsoever. This prevents the sale by merchants of liniments, pills, cough mixtures, soothing syrups, bitters, sarsaparilla and patent medicines generally. The public will be compelled to go to the nearest drug store for its remedies, and in rural districts this would often entail a journey of many miles to procure even the simplest remedy. This would operate injuriously against the public. It is not likely the Ontario College of Pharmacy will be granted the monopolistic powers they are seeking. Their demands are opposed to the public welfare and are not in harmony with the spirit of the times in which we live.

WINTER DAIRYING.

Some Facts and Figures from the Government Butter Station.

Your correspondent recently visited the Dominion Government Creamery, situated at Wellman's Corners, in the township of Rawdon, county of Hastings, and found Prof. McEwen busy superintending the various operations with great skill, ever on the alert, showing his ability to handle milk, cream and butter.

This creamery was opened on the 23rd of November last, when they received 10,497 lbs. of milk, which by the Babcock tested 3.47 per cent of butter fat.

The milk delivered from 23rd of November to the 31st of December was 148,929 lbs., which yielded 6,158,81 lbs. of butter fat, and made 7,047 lbs. of marketable butter, taking an average £1 13 lbs. of milk to 1 lb. of butter.

The milk delivered in January was 51,812 lbs., the average per cent. of butter fat 4.38, which yielded 2271.08 lbs. of butter fat, 2562 lbs. of merchantable butter, taking 20.22 lbs. of milk to 1 lb. of butter.

In February they received 35,582 lbs. of milk, averaging 4 per cent. butter fat, total pounds of butter fat being 1425.-82, making 1651 lbs. of butter, taking 21.-55 a little more than 21½ lbs. of milk to 1 lb. of butter.

On the 28th Feb 21 patrons sent 5723 lbs. of milk averaging 4 per. cent. butter fat, from which was made 267 lbs. of butter, taking 22.26 lbs. of milk for 1 lb. of butter.

The following patrons on the 28th of Feb. sent as follows :

Jas. Whitton,	421 lbs. milk,	4.4 per c.
Henry Bird,	274	"	3.9 "
W. Stewart, jr.	351	"	3.3 "
Alex. Hume,	1,243	"	3.9 "
Jas. Ketchen,	142	"	3.6 "

From the 23rd of November, 1892, to the end of February, 1893, fifty-eight farmers from Rawdon and Seymour had sent milk to the creamery, and the total amount of milk received to the 28th of February, was 236,323 lbs., making 11,260 lbs. of butter.

From the above it will be clearly seen that the patrons are to be paid according to the butter fat it contains, and are therefore at liberty to use cream as they please, only receiving pay for the quality of milk delivered at the creamery tested by the Babcock.

The milk is passed through an Alexandra Separator, each patron receiving his skim milk returned, and with little delay. During November and December they ran the separator three days in the week, churning three following days. In January and February they took in milk twice a week, Tuesday and Friday, churning Wednesdays and Saturdays. A large quantity of the butter has been sold for 24 cents at the creamery, to be sent to British Columbia, and a portion is now being made into prints and sold in Toronto.

The patrons expressed themselves as being satisfied with the results, that their cows had milked longer than expected, and are in better condition than in former seasons when dry and not having the same feed and care, and are resolved to no longer board cows from 5 to 6 months without remunerating.—Campbellford Herald.

SPORTING NEWS

While on a hunting trip, and when crossing the Trent river on Saturday, Mr. Mackllu, of Asphodel, broke through the ice and narrowly escaped drowning. Several times he crawled up on the edge, only to be precipitated into the water by the ice breaking. Help arrived, when Mr. Macklin was almost exhausted, and rescued from what would otherwise have been a watery grave.

Hanlan and Gaudaur have made final arrangements for their race in July. Many admirers of exquisite sports would like to see Hanlan meet Stanbury, believing that the ex-champion of the world could wrest the championship from the Australian.

It is reported that deer are being killed by wholesale in Muskoka, and that the game inspectors are making no efforts to enforce the law. A Toronto man says he passed a man's yard the other day, and at least half a dozen deer were laid out to feed dogs and pigs. He says that scores of young men are spending their time slaughtering the deer.

DOMINION W. C. T. U.

Convention at Winnipeg—Lady Somerset Will Not be Present

By invitation of the provincial W.C.T.U. of Manitoba, the sixth convention of the National W.C.T.U. of the Dominion of Canada will be held in the city o Winnipeg, June 16th to 20th, 1893. As the Manitoba Provincial W.C.T.U. will be in session for two days immediately preceding, it is probable that the Executive will have to be held early in the morning of June 16th.

According to Article 3 of the constitution the basis of representation will be as follows: "The annual convention shall be composed of the executive committee and the provincial, corresponding, and recording secretaries and treasurer, one delegate at large from each auxiliary province, and one delegate for every one hundred paying members of auxiliary provincial unions."

All will regret that Lady Henry Somerset, Miss Willard and Miss Gordon, will not be able to accept the invitation to be present.

KIDNAPPED A BABY.

An Orangoutang Secrets a Roosevelt Street Child.

Little three-year old Maggie Daly, who lives with her parents within a few doors of a big animal emporium on Roosevelt st., New York, is the heroine of the hour in that neighborhood.

Last Sunday she entered the emporium during a temporary absence of the proprietor and his assistant. A large orangoutang, known as Miss Lulu, was the only occupant of the store when Maggie entered.

The child and the monkey became chummy. Miss Lulu at length testified her appreciation of Maggie's friendship by clasping the child in her arms, and ascending a ladder, carried the now frightened Maggie through a trap-door to the floor above.

Here Miss Lulu wrapped Maggie up in blankets, made her snug, and then descended in time to escape the observation of the store's proprietor.

Maggie cried until she fell asleep. When she awoke she screamed, and in that way was discovered, after having spent six hours in the loft alone.

Y.M.C.A. Work.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. T. S. Cole, Provincial Sec. of the Y.M.C.A., met a number of ladies in the Royal Templars' Hall, with the object of forming a Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the Association about to be formed in this city. After an interesting address, in which Mr. Cole laid before the ladies the work of the Auxiliary, the following officers were elected :—Miss Ramsay, President ; Mrs. G. Flower, Vice do. ; Miss Mary Holton, Sec. ; Miss Maud Reid, Treasurer. A committee was also appointed from the several churches for the purpose of interesting other ladies in the movement. The Auxiliary has taken upon itself the responsibility of raising $150 towards defraying the expense of plum bing and baths in the Y.M.C.A. rooms. Another meeting of ladies will be held next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, of which further notice will be given.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

"What's in a name?" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

YOUNG LAWYER MISSING.

A Warrant Out For His Apprehension, But There's Nothing In It.

TORONTO, March 24.—Ernest W. McIntyre, formerly of the firm of Armstrong, McIntyre & Elliott, barristers, King street, and formerly vice-president of the Young Liberal-Conservative Association, but now of Chicago, is in trouble. A warrant has been issued in the instance of Henry Beckett charging McIntyre with fraud, and the detectives are now looking for him.

Beckett's story is as follows: Fearing that as a result of an attorney suit pending against him last July all his property would be confiscated by the court, he mortgaged his property in Palmerston avenue and placed the money, $1100 all told, in the hands of Whitney & Son, in trust with McIntyre, who gave him notes for the amount.

Beckett says that he understood that the notes were backed by Whitney & Son as well as by McIntyre, but now he finds that the barrister only is responsible for their payment, and realizes that he has no further security.

McIntyre's friends say that he will be back next week and will settle all the notes as they come due. It is further stated that McIntyre was not acting as Beckett's solicitor at the time and that it was strictly honorable business transaction.

McIntyre left Toronto on Oct. 20 last for Chicago, and since that time has been doing a law business in the Windy City.

How to Water Flowers.

All writers on floriculture agree in the importance of moisture, but not all agree as to how water shall be applied in the effort to secure a moist temperature. "Sprinkle daily," one says. "First water over them with a whisk broom," says another. I notice that I have made use of the term "shower." I presume that the other writers quoted from had the same effect in mind that I have, but the term "sprinkle" is a misleading one, and a whisk broom is not the proper instrument to use in distributing water over and among plants. You must have something more than a mere sprinkling to do much good, and with a brush broom a mere sprinkling is about all you get. You should aim to throw water up among the branches, so that the lower side of every leaf is wet; unless this is done you but half accomplish what you aim at, and anything that does not throw a stream of water forcibly in any direction where you want it to go. Every person growing plants in the window ought to be the owner of a brass syringe made expressly for florists' use. With one of these implements it is the easiest thing in the world to get water just where it is needed, and the red spider is sure to be roused by the persistent use of it.

WRITING OVER WIRES.

A CURIOUS MACHINE EXHIBITED IN NEW YORK.

It Is Called the Telautograph and May Supersede the Telephone—By It People Can Transmit Writing by Electricity.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The World reports as follows :

The very latest thing in telegraph instruments was shown at No. 80 Broadway yesterday. It is called the telautograph, or long-distance writing machine. All the afternoon business men, telegraph experts, newspaper folk and others filled the rooms of the National Telautograph Company and watched the remarkably accurate records made by the little machine.

It consists of a transmitter and a receiver associated for use at one station. The mechanism of the machine is extremely simple and direct. An ordinary lead pencil is used in transmitting. Near its point two silk cords are fastened at right angles to each other. These connect with the instrument, and, following the motions of the pencil, regulate the current impulses that control the receiving pen at the distant station.

The writing is done on ordinary paper five inches wide, conveniently arranged on a roll attached to the machine. A lever is so moved by the hand as to shift the paper forward mechanically as the transmitter and electrically at the receiver. The receiving pen is a capillary glass tube placed at the junction of two aluminum arms.

It is supplied with ink, which flows from a reservoir, through a small tube placed in one of the arms. The electrical impulses, coming over the wire, move the pen of the recorder simultaneously with the movements of the pencil in the hand of the sender. As the pen passes over the paper an ink tracing is left, which is always a fac-simile of the sender's motions, whether in the formation of letters, figures, signs or sketches.

"There is practically no limit to the work that this machine will do," said Manager John H. Bryant yesterday. "Wherever a record is required it is invaluable. From his office a business man can send instructions to the factory, close by or many miles distant, and have them delivered in his own handwriting. A broker dealing by wire can give quotations and execute orders to buy and sell securities without danger of dispute. A physician may wire his prescription to a druggist, using the arbitrary code of the profession, confident that no mistake will be made in the transmission. A reporter, writing up a fire or an accident of any kind, can send to his paper a sketch of his subject taken on the spot. Supt. Byrnes, wishing to notify all the police precincts at once of the escape of a burglar, could not only do so as quickly as by telegraph, but he could be sure that his orders were transmitted in his own writing, and an accurate description of the man could be sketched at the same time if necessary."

Speaking of the telephone Mr. Bryant said that the telautograph would become more popular than the former instrument, because there would be no buzzing on the wires and no questions to be asked and answered perhaps a dozen times before getting a definite reply. "This turtle of ours," he said, "will keep moving along and have your message all recorded before the telephone is through buzzing. There will be no more strikes of messenger boys, for while we are waiting for the boy to come, the message written on the machine will be at its destination. Then again a man can go away and have his machine locked up in his desk. When he returns in two, two or half a dozen days he will find the messages sent to him by his friends all recorded on the roll paper in his desk."

In cities and towns the telautograph will be operated on the exchange or central station plan in much the same manner as the telephone is now worked. Prof. Elisha Gray, the inventor of the telautograph, has devoted his life to the perfection of communication by electricity. He invented the musical telephone, and history, his friends say, will give him credit for inventing the speaking telephone and the harmonic telegraph.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandruffine works QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Palateable and Potent.

The great objection to cod liver oil has been its nauseous taste. This has been entirely removed by the process of preparing "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," which is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the greatest creator of new blood in the world. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

The factory is giving very satisfactory results under Mr. Parker's management.

In last week's Review was a small paragraph, stating that a Sophiasburg man had an old Bible in his possession, printed at Amsterdam, Holland, in the year 1618. Mr. Louis Wales, of this village, can beat that record. This week he has shown us a Bible that was printed in Strasburg in the year 1696, and has been handed down to each succeeding generation of the Wales family since that time, now nearly 300 years. It is printed in the German language, with Martin Luther's portrait printed on the title page, and it is needless to say is highly prized as an old family heirloom by Mr. Wales.—Madoc Review.

The boy who wrote the following composition on "the editor" will some day shine in his chosen profession: "The editor is one of the happiest individuals in the world; he can go to any circus in the afternoon and evening without paying a penny, also requests and hangings. Has free tickets to theatres, gets wedding cake sent him, and sometimes gets a licking but not often, for he can take things back in his next issue, which he generally does. While other folks go to bed early, the editor can sit up and see all that is going on. When I am a man I mean to be an editor, so that I can stay out late at nights. That will be jolly."

The Kingston Presbytery met in Kingston on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Principal Grant was appointed to sustain the memorial of the Rev. T. B. Scott, M. D., missionary to Ceylon, in the General Assembly.

The annual report of the treasurer, W. J. Dick, showed an equilibrium between receipts and expenditures, and the fact that several congregations were in arrears. It was adopted.

The annual report of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was presented. Great interest had been shown in its work, and the membership now stood at 674.

Rev. James Rattray, of Morrow, read the report of the committee on Sabbath observance. Five questions had been submitted to 97 sessions in accordance with the circular to Presbyteries issued by the General Assembly's committee. From the response the following information was obtained: The sacredness and privileges of the Sabbath day have been taught from the pulpit and in the Sabbath school, in some cases, special sermons being delivered on the subject. Special means have been used to some extent to check the abuses of the day and to promote its religious observance, four of these being the distribution of literature, the use of secular newspapers, petitions to Parliament, and work done through ministerial associations. The most common forms of Sabbath-breaking noted, include social visiting, idleness, neglect of ordinances, driving, boating, fishing, picnicing, and in the winter skating and hockeying. Then as to secret trading, continued operation of cheese factories, parading of streets by processions with bands, and the custom of unduly protracting the hours of business, resulting in great weariness on the Lord's day. On the whole, however, the people were attached to the religious use of the Sabbath, and were observing it better than formerly. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Rattray for his thoroughly satisfactory statement.

The death of a son of Rev. M. W. Maclean, of Belleville, being noticed, Rev. Dr. Smith was asked to lead in prayer, and Rev. Messrs Mackie, George and Wilkins were appointed to prepare a resolution of condolence.

The Presbytery appointed the following commissioners to General Assembly, which meets in Brantford next June: By ballot, Principal Grant, Rev. Messrs. Macgillivray, Fairlie and Craig. Elders Balcanquel, McIntosh, Prof. Hyde, W.G. Craig, D. Nicol, Geo. Gillies, Jas. Adams, Dr. Boulter, S. Russell. By rotation: Rev. Messrs. Wilkins, Houston, Gray, Gallagher, Gandier.

Rev. Mr. Lang was appointed to Wolfe Island. Roslin and Thurlow were raised to the status of a congregation. It was decided to take legal advice regarding the rights of the Presbytery to the church building at Sharbot Lake. Twelve students applied for summer work.

The next meeting of the Presbytery will be held at Madoc. Dr. Sedgwick, of New Brunswick, who was defeated at Montreal last year, was favored as the next Moderator of the General Assembly.

KNIGHT OF MALTA DEGREE.

Exemplified Last Night by Dr. Wright Before the Masonic Brethern.

E. T. Malone, of Toronto, grand prior of the Knights Templar, of Canada, paid an official visit to King Baldwin Preceptory last night. The following representatives were present: Peterborough.—Provincial Prior B. Shorey, Cobourg.—A. Hargraft, P. Lightbourn and R. J. Craig. Trenton.—Robt. Weddell, Rev. W. T. Wilkins, Napanee.—S. C. Warner. Kingston.—W. L. Hamilton, F. Rollins. Deseronto.—Rev. R. J. Craig. Stirling—A. Chard.

Dr. Wright exemplified the Knights of Malta degree in a masterly manner and which was very acceptable to all. The Grand Prior said that he had never seen the work performed better. After the work the brethern repaired to the banquet hall where supper was partaken of followed by the usual toasts. The supper was supplied by Mr. J. F smieg. Dr. Wright occupied the chair.

CANADA'S NATIONAL GAME.

Is Belleville to Have a Representative Team This Year?

Spring is coming, and with it the question: Is Belleville to have a lacrosse club? Port Hope, Kingston, and Peterborough have already organized, and with Madoc, Cobourg and Belleville, a league might be formed, which would be of interest to sport loving people of Belleville. To lovers of field games, there is no more exciting one than lacrosse, and its votaries are numerous in Belleville. If such a club was supported by the citizens, there is no doubt that the old players with an infusion of new blood, would make Belleville one of the first places in lacrosse in Canada. It is to be hoped that steps will be taken in this matter at an early date.

They Have Arrived.

The robins put in an appearance this morning. An old adage is "one swallow does not make a summer" neither does one robin make a spring, and even if the robins have been "too previous," their coming is a good omen.

They are Beauties.

The ladies are very anxious to select their hats and bonnets early in order to have first choice. You mothers just come to the Oak Hall and do the same with your little boys' suits. Do not wait until all the nice suits are picked up, and then blame us. We just opened out yesterday 300 more of Sanford's celebrated boys' suits, and they are beauties. We will be happy to show them.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

Mining and Other Machinery Now Manufactured in this City.

Without any preliminary puffing—without any advance notices—the manufacturing industries of Belleville have received an important addition—an addition due entirely to the N.P.

The Mack Manufacturing Company, composed of Messrs. W. McMillan (an expert), for 12 years manager of the Ingersoll Rock Drill Co., of St. Henri, Montreal), Mr. Jno. S. Tower, of the same concern, (an adept in scraping joints) and Mr. H. L. Burrell, of this city, commenced operations in the old Martin foundry, on the Burrell dam.

The business of this concern will be the manufacture of rock drills and mining machinery, for which purpose they have introduced the very latest machinery from Canada and the United States. One machine, indeed, owes its existence to both countries—that is to say, it has been manufactured partially in Canada and partially in the United States. We refer to the milling machine—an instrument which seems endowed with almost human intelligence, as it not only executes work of the most intricate character, but, in the hands of an expert, will make the machinery to perform that work. In a word, it seems endowed with a degree of intelligence and skill almost human in its origin and application. The planing machine is a close second in its ingenuity, as it is one of the few Canadian inventions (manufactured by Jno Bertram, Dundas), which are exported to the States, in spite of a duty of some 45 per cent. The lathe drilling machines and other machinery of this concern are of the latest and most improved design, and as all the business is on a cash basis—as the heads of the mechanical departments are experts—and as the premises and machinery are of the first class—the work of the Mack Machine Co., will be of the first class. Being specialists, the concern will be able to manufacture much below current prices, and the industry, which at present employs 14 hands, will in a short time form an important addition to the manufacturing industries of Belleville.

That their bounds will be extended is without doubt, as they are preparing to take in the premises immediately adjoining occupied by Mr. W. H. Lott, woollen manufacturer, who is erecting a new factory to the south, which, like the premises under notice, will be furnished with power driven by water at certain seasons and at other times by steam.

We wish the fullest measure of success to the Mack Manufacturing Company.

HE WAS WORTH $34,000.

The Estate of the Late Samuel Eggleton—Who Gets the Money?

There has been a good deal of speculation as to what distribution the late Samuel Eggleton, of this city, made of his estate, and as to what it was worth. It is said on the street that the estate will realize between $34,000 and $35,000, that Mr. R. E. Clarke, grocer, Hotel street, is the sole executor, that to Mrs. R. M. Clarke is left $1 500, to Mr. R. M. Clarke's children $500 each; these are Mrs. Wm. Clarke, Thurlow; Miss Nellie Clarke, Toronto, Miss Beasle, of this city; Messrs. James D., F. M., Wm. F., R. E. and Harry, of the city. Also to Mr. F. M. Clarke's daughter Alice, $500; to Mr. W. Jeffers Diamond, his solicitor, $500; $200 to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, and to the City Mission, $200. The balance is bequeathed to relatives and friends in the Old Country. Mr. R. E. Clarke and Mr. Robt. Bogle are to go to the Old Country, find out who the relatives are, and to divide the famount as they deem best amongst them.

An Anniversary.

To-morrow will be the 53rd anniversary of Baldwin's election. Mr. Meagher said to a reporter: I was only a boy then and remember the day well, particularly as there was fully five feet of snow on the ground and the farmers were compelled to turn out the day previous and break the roads. The election was held in the old church on Pinnacle street, and although only a boy I remember well the procession that accompanied Baldwin to Trenton. Did they fight? Of course they did, as in those days no election was worth minding that had not its accompanying fight. But the great fight was at the election in 1842, when it began at the Court House between a Hungerford and a Tyendinaga farmer. In a few minutes the entire polling booth was demolished, when Baldwin jumped into a cab and escaped. Those were exciting election days, Mr. Meagher remarked, much different than the same affairs of the same kind in this pleasant day.

Death of James Johnston.

James Johnston, merchant tailor, died at 8 o'clock last night after a lingering illness. The deceased was born in this city 45 years ago. For a few years he resided in the township of Sidney, but the greater portion of his life has been spent in the city. Seven years ago he purchased the tailoring business of the late J. B. Graham, and has conducted it successfully since that time. He was married some five years ago to Miss Rachel Wilson, but had no children. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, Ancient Order of United Workmen, and the Sons of Scotland. In each of the two former societies he had $2,000 insurance on his life and $1,000 in the latter. In addition he had other insurance. Deceased had a large circle of friends in the city and surrounding country, who will regret to hear of his demise. He was a brother to John Johnston, School Inspector for South Hastings.

AMUSEMENTS

FAUST.

Why Not Clean Front Street?

Complaints are numerous to-day, and not without cause, of the disgraceful condition of Front Street. The crossings are in such a state that a lady could scarcely walk over them. Last year a street sweeper was purchased at considerable cost, but it has proved to be more ornamental than useful. The Street Surveyor or the Public Works committee, should make an effort to place the street in such a condition as to make it passable for pedestrians.

GREAT SACRIFICE SALE

—OF—

BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

A wholesale manufacturer's stock bought at 57c. on the dollar to be slaughtered. We have always got our argus eye open for these snaps, and now never in Canada has such a chance been offered to secure a suit so cheap, and other dealers should take advantage of it, as we are going to sell them away below wholesale prices. Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Children's	2	piece	suits	for	75c.	worth $3.00.
1,000	Boy's	3	"	"	"	$1.50	" 4.50.
1,500	Youth's			"	"	$2.50	" 5.00.
1,200	Men's			"	"	$2.75	" 8.00.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1.20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30,000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'Visits which were much appreciated,' put in Maurice, 'although we found that Lady Alice was too generous.'

'Until I was warned by one of the patients that the others abused my kindness and traded on it,' said Lady Alice, laughing rather nervously, 'and then I drew in a little.'

'What patient was that?'

'The name I think was Smith—the man who lost his memory in that curious way.'

'Ah yes, I remember.' And then Maurice knitted his brows and became very thoughtful; he looked as if a thoroughly new idea had been suggested to him.

Miss Brooke remarked that it was almost time to set out, if they were to go to the club that afternoon, and Lady Alice went to her room for her cloak. She was before the looking-glass, apparently studying the reflection of her own face, when a knock at the door, to which she absently said Come in,' was followed by Caspar's entrance. She, thinking that it was her maid, did not look around, and he came behind her without being perceived. The first token of his presence received by her when his arm was slipped around her waist, and his voice said caressingly and almost coldly in her ear, 'I don't know that I want my dainty piece of china carried down into the slums.'

'Am I nothing more to you than that?' said Lady Alice reproachfully.

He made no answer, but as he looked at the fair face in the glass, and as their eyes met, she thought she read a reply in his glance.

'I have been nothing more—I know, she said, with sudden humbleness, 'but it is not too late—if I can make up now for the time that I have lost—'

'The tears trembled in her eyes, but he kissed them away with new tenderness, saying in a soothing tone—

'We will see, my dear, we will see. I was only in jest.'

And she felt that he was thinking not only of the lost years, but of the possible guilt before him—that horror of darkness and disgrace which they might yet have to face.

She went downstairs to the cab that was waiting, with a new subduing sensation very present to her mind; a sense of something missed out of her own life, a sense of having failed in the duty that had once been given her to do. Hitherto she had been buoyed up by a certain confidence in her own conscientiousness and power of judgment, as most narrow-minded women are; but it now occured to her that she might have been wrong—not only in a few details, as she had consented to admit—but wrong from beginning to end. She had married not only her own life, but the lives of her husband and her child.

This consciousness kept her very quiet during the drive to Macclesfield Buildings. But nobody spoke much except Doctor Sophy, who made interjectional remarks, half lost in the rattling of the cab, by way of trying to keep up everybody's spirits. Caspar sitting opposite his wife with his arms folded and his long legs carefully tucked out of the way, had an unusually serious and even anxious expression. Indeed it struck Lady Alice for the first time that he was looking haggard and ill. The burden was weighing upon him even more than he knew. Maurice, too, seemed absorbed in thought, so that the drive was not a particularly lively one.

They got out at the block of buildings which had once struck Lesley as so particularly ugly. Perhaps their ugliness did not impress Lady Alice so much. At any rate she made no remark upon it. Her fingers were lightly pressed upon Caspar's arm; her thoughts were occupied by him.

At the door of the block in which the club-rooms were situated, a little group of men were standing in a somewhat aimless fashion, smoking and talking among themselves. Caspar recognized several of the club members in this group. 'Ah,' he said quietly to his wife, 'they thought that I should not come.' She made no answer; as a matter of fact she began to feel a little frightened. These rough-looking men, with their pipes, who nudged each other and laughed as she passed, were of a kind unknown to her. But Caspar walked through them easily, nodding here and there, with a cheery 'Good afternoon.'

Lady Alice did not know it, but the room presented an unusual sight to her husband's eyes that afternoon. The fire was burning, and the gas was lighted, for the day was cold and damp; the comfortable red-seated chairs were as inviting as ever, and the magazines and newspapers lay in rows upon the scarlet table cloth. There were flowers in the vases, and music on the open piano. Lady Alice exclaimed in her pleasure, 'How pretty it is! how cosy!' and wondered at the gloom that sat upon her husband's brow.

The room was cosy and pretty enough—but it was empty.

Caspar looked around him mutely, then glanced at his companions. Miss Brooke paused in the act of taking of one glove, and opened her mouth and forget to shut it again. Maurice stood frowning, twirling his brows and biting his lip in the effort to subdue the torrent of rage that was surging up in his heart. He would have sworn a moment afterward that Lady Alice had not been there—he did not mind Doctor Sophy so much. All that he knew, however, was to mutter 'Ungrateful rascals,' and make as if he would turn to flee.

But he was stopped by Caspar's clutch at his arm. Maurice saw that his purpose —that of haranguing the men outside—had been divined and arrested in a moment by his friend and saw for the first time that on Caspar's face that the shaft had gone home. He had shown scarcely any sign of suffering before.

'I don't deserve this from them,' said Mr. Brooke quietly, and Maurice could tell that he had gone rather white about the lips. Then in a still lower voice, 'Don't let her know. You were right, Maurice; I had better not have come.'

'I'll just go and look outside; I won't speak to them, don't be afraid—you talk to Lady Alice,' said Maurice breaking from him. But when he got into the dark little entry, he did not look outside for anything or anybody; he only relieved himself by saying, 'Oh, d—— the fools!' and shaking his fist in a very reprehensible way at some imaginary crowd of auditors. For Maurice was half an Irishman, and his blood was up, and on his friend's behalf he was, as he would then have expressed it, 'in a devil of a rage.' While he was executing a sort of a mad war dance on the jute mats in the passage, relieving his mind by some wild gesticulation and still wilder objurgation of the world, Mr. Brooke had turned back to his wife with a pleasant word and smile.

'I must show you the photographs,' he said. 'We are very proud of them. There will be plenty of time, for the members seem to be a little late in getting together to-day. Possibly they thought I was not coming.'

'It is scarcely time yet,' said Miss Brooke heroically. She knew it was ten minutes past, but she was quite prepared to sacrifice the truth for the maintenance of her brother's dignity.

'That's a good one of the Parthenon,' said Caspar negligently, putting his hand within his wife's arm, and leading her from one picture to another. 'The Colleoum you see; not quite so clear as it might be. These frames were made by one of the men and presented to the club. Not bad taste, are they! And this statuette——'

He broke off suddenly. He had been going on hurriedly and feverishly, filling up the time as best he might, trying to forget the embarrassing situation into which he had brought his wife and himself, when the sound of heavy footsteps fell upon his ear. A sound of shuffling, the creak of men's boots, a little gruff whispering in doorway—what was it all about!

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by worthless imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any substitute as others may urge upon you. Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and sure cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for cleansing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Gives Strength and Appetite.
DEAR SIRS,—Last year I was very thin and reducing fast, owing to the bad state of my blood and appetite. A friend of mine was induced me to get a bottle of B.B.B., which I did. I obtained immediate perceptible relief from it, have gained strength and appetite, and now weigh 193 pounds.

In order to give a quietus to a hacking cough, take a dose of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spells render it necessary. This widely esteemed remedy also cures catrick in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs colds, bronchitis and all lung an throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most distressing cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and luskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I found almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be,

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to direction and the first dose relieved me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least. These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

RELIGION IN THE HOME.

REV. DR. TALMAGE DISCOURSES ON THE SUBJECT.

What Righteousness in the Household Does For the Family—Is it a Profitable Thing?—The Great Preacher Draws a Sermon From Joshua's Saying.

CHICAGO, March 19, 1893.—Rev. Dr. Talmage, who is now in this city on a short visit, did not preach to-day. He prepared for the press, however, the following discourse on "Religion at Home," the text selected being Joshua, 24:15: "As for me and my house we will serve the Lord."

Absurd, Joshua! You will have no time for family religion; you are a military character, and your time will be taken up with affairs connected with the army; you are a statesman, and your time will be taken up with public affairs; you are the Washington, the Wellington, the McMahon of the Israelitish host, you will have a great many questions to settle, you will have no time for religion. But Joshua, with the same voice with which he commanded the sun and moon to halt and struck terror of light on the parade ground of the heavens, says, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Before we adopt the resolution of this old soldier, we want to be certain it is a wise resolution. If religion is going to put my piano out of tune, and clog the feet of my children racing through the hall, and sour the bread, and put crape on the door bell, I do not want it in my house. I have gave six dollars to hear Jenny Lind warble. I have never given a cent to hear anyone groan. Will this religion spoken of in my text do anything for the dining-hall, for the nursery, for the parlor, for the sleeping apartment?

It is a great deal easier to invite a disagreeable guest than to get rid of him. If you do not want religion you had better not ask it to come, for after coming it may stay a great while. Isaac Watts went to visit Sir Thomas and Lady Abney at their place in Theobald, and said he was to stay a week, and stayed thirty-five years; and if religion once gets into your household the probability is it will stay there forever.

Now the question I want to discuss is: What will religion do for the household? Question the first. What did it do for your father's house, if you were brought up in a Christain home?

The whole scene has vanished, but it comes back to-day. The hour for morning prayers came. You were invited in. Somewhat tidgety, you sat and listened. Your father made no pretensions to rhetorical reading, and he just went through the chapter in a plain, straightforward way. Then you all knelt. It was about the same prayer morning by morning and night by night, for he had the same sins to ask pardon for, and he had the same blessings for which to thank God in the store, and year after year. The prayer was longer than you would like to have had it, for the same as he was waiting for the cows that were lying under the shed, or the schoolbooks needed one or two more looking at to the lessons. But you were impressed, somehow, matic and stiffened with age, found it difficult to rise from their kneeling. The chair at which they knelt is gone, the Bible out of which they read is gone, the family is no more, the parents are gone, the children scattered north, east, south and west; but that whole scene flashes upon your memory to-day. Was that morning and evening exercise in your father's house debasing or elevating? Is it not among the most sacred reminiscences? You were not as devotional as some of the older members of your father's house who were kneeling with you at the time, and you did not bow your head as closely as they did, and you looked around and you saw just the posture your father and mother assumed while they were kneeling on the floor. The whole scene is as photographed on your memory that if you were an artist you could draw it now just as they knelt. For how much would you have that scene obliterated from your memory? All comes back to-day, and you are in the homestead again. Father is there, mother is there, all of your children are there. It is the same old prayer, morning with the same petition, closing with the same thanksgiving. The family prayers of 1840, 1850, as fresh in your memory as though they were recited yesterday. The tear that starts from your eye melts all that scene. Gone, is it? Why, many a time it has kept you right in the struggle of life. You once started for a place, and that memory jerked you back, and you could not stay.

The broken prayer of your father has had more effect upon you than all you ever read in Shakespeare, and Milton, and Tennyson, and Dante. You have gone over mountains and across seas. You never for a moment got out of sight of that domestic altar. Is my friend in the opinion this morning that the ten or fifteen minutes substracted from each day for family devotion was an economic or a waste of time in your father's household? I think some of us are coming to the conclusion that the best religion we had was in our father's house would be a very appropriate religion for our homes. If family prayers did not help you, that household there is no probability that they will damage our household.

"Is God dead?" said a child to her father. "No," he replied; "why do you ask that?" "Well," she said, "when mother was living we used to have prayers, but since her death we haven't had family prayers, and I didn't know but that God was dead, too." A family that is launched in the morning without family prayers is well launched. Breakfast over, the family scatter, some to school, some to household duties, some to business. During the day there will be a thousand perils abroad—perils of the street car, of the sandbank, of the runaway horse, of the misstep, of the aroused temper, of multitudinous temptations to do wrong. Somewhere between sunrise in the morning and ten o'clock at night there may be a moment when you will be in urgent need of God. Besides that, family prayers will be a secular advantage. A father went into the war to serve his country. His children stayed and cultivated the farm. His wife prayed. One of the sons said afterward, "Father is fighting, and we are digging, and mother is praying." "Ah!" said some one, "praying and digging and fighting will bring us out of our national trouble." We may pray in the morning, "Give us this day our daily bread," and sit down in idleness and starve to death if just prayer and hard work will give a livelihood to any family. Family religion pays for both worlds. Let us have an altar in each one of our households. You may not be able to formulate a prayer. Then there are Philip Henry's prayers, and there are McDuff's prayers, and there are Philip Doddridge's prayers, and there are the Episcopal Church prayers, and there are scores of books with supplications just suited to the dom stic circle.

"Oh!" says some man, "I don't feel competent to lead my household in prayer." Well, I do not know that it is your duty to lead. I think perhaps it is sometimes better for the mother of the household to lead. She knows better the state of the household. She can read the Scriptures with a more tender emotion. She knows more of God. I will put it plainly, and say she prays better. Oh! these mothers decide almost everything.

A young man received a furlough to return from the army to his father's house. Afterward he took the furlough back to the officer, saying, "I would like to postpone my visit for two weeks." At the end of the two weeks he came and got the furlough. The officer asked why he wanted it. "Well," he replied, "when I left home I told my mother I would be a Christian in the army, and I was resolved not to go home until I could answer her first question." Oh, the almost omnipotent power of the mother! But if both the father and the mother be right, then the children are almost sure to be right. The young people may make a wide curve from the straight path, but they are almost sure to come back to the right road. It may not be until the death of one of the parents. How often it is that we hear some one say, "Oh! he was a wild young man, but since his father's death he has been different!" The fact is, that the father's coffin, or the mother's coffin, is often the altar of repentance for the child. Oh! that was a stupendous day, the day of father's burial. It was on the officiating clergyman who made the chief impression, nor the sympathizing mourners; it was the father asleep in the casket. The hands that had toiled for that household so long, folded. The brain cooled off after twenty or forty years of striving how to get that family in right position. The lips closed after so many years of good advice. There are more tears flowing in reading a grave than in father's grave; but over the father's tomb I think there is a kind of awe. It is at that marble pillar many a young man has been revolutionized.

O, young man, with cheek flushed with dissipation! how long is it since you have been out to your father's grave? How you not go this week? Perhaps the storms of the last few days may have bent the headstone until it leans far over. Or had better go out and see whether the lettering has been defaced. You had better go out and see whether the gate of the lot is closed. You had better go and see if you cannot find a sermon in the springing grass. O, young man! go out this week and see your father's grave. Religion did so much for our Christian ancestry, are we not ready this morning to be willing to revive it in our own households? If we do not receive it, let it come through the front door, not through the back door. In other words, do not let it impinge in a way that are a great many families who want to be religious, but they do not want anybody outside to know it. They would be mortified to death if you caught them at family prayers. They would not sing in the worship for fear their neighbors would hear them. They do not have prayers when they have company!

They do not know much about the nobility of the western trapper. A traveller going along was overtaken by night and a storm, and he entered a cabin. There were no furniture hung up around the cabin. He was alarmed. He had a large amount of money with him, but he did not dare to venture out in the night in the storm. He did not like the looks of the household. After a while the father, the Western trapper, came in, gun on the shoulder, and when the traveler looked him he was still more affrighted. After a while the family were whispering together in one corner of the room, and the traveler thought they were sell, "Oh! now my time has come; I wish I was out in the storm and in the night rather than here." But the wealthy man came up to him and said: "Sir, we are a rough people; we get our living by hunting, and we are very tired when the night comes; but before going to bed we always have a habit of reading a little out of the Bible and having prayers, and I think we will have our usual custom to night; and if you don't believe in that kind of thing, if you will just step outside the door for a little while I will be much obliged to you."

Oh! there are many Christian parents who have not half the courage of the Western trapper. They do not want their religion projecting its companionship. They would like to have it near by so as to having it dominant in the household from the first of January, so o'clock a. m., to the thirty-first of December, ten o'clock p. m., they do not want it. They would father die, and have their families parading with them than to cry out in the bold words of the soldier in my text: "As for me and my household we will serve the Lord."

There was, in my ancestral line, an incident so strangely impressive that it seems more like romance than reality. It has sometimes been so inaccurately put forth that I now give you the true incident. My great-father and grandmother, living at Somerville, New Jersey, went to Baskingridge to witness a revival under the ministry of the Rev. Dr. Finlay. They came home so impressed with what they had seen that they resolved on the salvation of their children.

The young people of the house were to go off for an evening party, but my grandmother said:

"Now, when you are ready for the party come to my room, for I have something very important to tell you." All ready for departure, they came to her room, and she said to them: "Now, I want you to remember while you are away this evening that I am all the time in this room praying for your salvation, and I shall not cease praying until you get back." The young people went to the party, but amid the loudest hilarities of the night they could not forget that their mother was praying for them. The evening passed and the night passed.

The next day my grandparents heard an outcry in an adjoining room, and they went in and found their daughter implor ing the salvation of the Gospel. The daughter told them of the impressions were at the barn and at the wagon house under powerful conviction of sin. They went to the barn. They found my uncle Josiah, who afterwards became a minister of the Gospel, crying to God for mercy. They went to the wagon house. They found their son David, who afterwards became my father, imploring God's pardon and mercy. Before the week was out all the six family were saved, and David went and told the story to a young woman to whom he was affianced, and she, as a result of the story, became a Christian, and from her own lips—my mother's—I have received the incident.

The story of that converted household ran through all the neighborhood, from family to family, until the whole region was wholesel with religious awakening, and at the next communion in the village church at Somerville, over two hundred souls stood up to profess the faith of the Gospel. My mother, carrying the memory of this scene from early childhood into forth rife, in after years was received upon the salvation of her children, and for many years every week she met three other Christian mothers to pray for the salvation of their families. I think that all the members of those families were saved—myself, the youngest and the last.

There were twelve of us children. I trace the whole line of mercy back to that hour when my Christian grandmother sat in her room imploring the blessing of God upon her children. Nine of her descendants became preachers of the Gospel. Many of her descendants are in heaven, many of them sitting in the Christian communion. Oh! pay for her to spend the whole evening in prayer for her household! Right before the throne of God, surrounded by her children. In the presence of the Christian Church to-day, I make this record of ancestral piety. Oh! there is a beauty, and a tenderness, and a sublimity in family religion.

There are two arms to this subject. The one arm puts its hand on all parents. It says to them: "Don't interfere with your children's welfare, don't interfere with their religious impressions, don't you by anything you do, put out your foot and trip them into ruin. Start them under the shadow, the shelter and the saving help of Christian parentage. Catechisms will not save them, though catechisms are good. The rod will not save them, though the rod may be necessary. Lessons of virtue will not save them, though they are very important. Becoming a through and through, up and down, out and out Christian yourself will make them Christians."

The other arm of this subject puts its hand upon those who had a pious bringing up, but who have as yet disappointed the expectations excited in regard to them. I said that children brought up in Christian households were like Baking Powder, make a wide curve, were very apt to come back to the straight path. Have you not been carrying on, through all or most of your parents brought you up. Might it not be possible that you would be an exception to the general rule? I said that, and that you might spend your eternity in a different world from that in which your parents are spending theirs.

I feel anxious about you; you feel anxious about yourself. Oh! cross over into the right path. If your parents prayed for you twice a day, each of them twice a day for twenty years, that would make 29,000 prayers for you. Think of them!

Up the memory of the cradle in which your childhood was rocked with the foot that long ago ceased to move, by the crib in which your own children slumber and by night under God's protecting care, by the two graves in which sleep those two old hearts that beat with such long for your welfare, and by the two graves in which you, now the living father and mother, will find your last repose, I urge you to the discharge of your duty.

WEARY OF LIFE.

Richard Freeman Tried to Cut His Own Throat.

CHATSWORTH, Ont., March 25.—For two years old Dick Freeman, as he is commonly called, has been in failing health and during the last six months has been confined to bed for the greater part of the time. Yesterday he was in a despondent frame of mind and a close watch was kept upon him, though it was not expected that he would attempt to take his own life.

While his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas Hanbury, was busying himself about the out of the house for a short time, and his wife left the room for a few minutes, the old man cut his throat with his pocket knife.

Just how he obtained the knife is not known, but it is altogether probable that he got it during the night, as his wife heard a noise in the bedroom and upon opening the door to see what it was saw blood spurting from the gash he had made in his throat.

The neighbors were alarmed and assistance procured and the wound dressed. He has been a resident of this place about 25 years and owns considerable property but no children.

THE FIRST IN THE U.S.

Sir Julian Pauncefote Is Now an Ambassador.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The State Department has received official information that Queen Victoria has raised the rank of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the representative in Washington, from that of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to that of ambassador, and that his credentials as such are on their way here.

Under the provisions of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill of March 1, 1893, President Cleveland is authorized to confer the same rank upon our representative at London.

Hitherto no ambassador has been accredited to the United States, because the United States would not confer that title upon any of its ministers abroad, and reciprocity is always observed in diplomatic representation.

Sir Julian Pauncefote will be the first minister to Washington to hold the title of ambassador, but it is highly probable that France, Germany, Russia and Austria will be prompt to follow the example then set by England and change the titles of their ministers to ambassadors, thus necessitating in international courtesy a corresponding change on our part.

An interesting question thus arises as to whether or not the change of title will necessitate the resubmission of all these appointments to the Senate for reconfirmation.

FISHING LICENSES.

Their Withdrawal By the Government Only Temporary.

TORONTO, March 25.—The fishermen of this and other districts have been much exercised over a notice which has been sent out by England and the various Fishery Inspectors stating that no licenses are to be granted them this season. As no reason was given for this the notice considerable consternation was caused among the fishermen, who saw themselves practically deprived of their sustenance for a season, to say nothing of the expense incurred in the way of preparing nets, fitting out boats and putting up ice for the annual catch. It was complained that the American fishermen, who observe no close season, could get them not only all the fish that belong to their own side, but most of the Canadian fish too.

As a result of inquiries in the Provincial Secretary's Department it was learned that the measure was merely a temporary one and that not long after the opening of the season, which usually begins on May 15, the fishermen would have their licenses restored to them.

For some time there has been an amicable dispute between the Dominion Parliament and the Ontario Legislature as to what was the real standard of each body over inland fisheries. To settle all perplexities on the subject the matter will in a few days be referred to the Supreme Court to define the extent and limitations of the respective jurisdiction of federal and provincial fisheries departments over inland waters. It is not apprehended that there will be any serious delay in the settlement, as both parties are actuated by a desire to see the question finally and amicably settled.

While the question is puzzling, however, it was considered wise to avoid any further cause of dispute by withholding licenses from all parties. These will be re-issued as soon as possible after the settlement and in time, it is hoped, to allow the fishermen to begin operations at the usual season.

DID NOT INTEND TO KILL.

TRAGEDY NEAR GANANOQUE OVER A QUARREL ABOUT SAND.

Two Old Men Attempt to Terrify One Another By Shooting in Order to Secure Possession of a House—One Shot Through the Door.

GANANOQUE, Ont., March 25.—A case of shooting occurred yesterday eight miles east of here, by which John Fitzsimmons lost his life. The ownership of a house and small piece of land in the locality mentioned and near the St. Lawrence River was in dispute. Fitzsimmons claimed it by right of purchase from all the heirs but one, and Mrs. Joles claimed it as the heir whose interest had not been purchased.

Three weeks ago Mrs. Joles' family moved into the house and took possession of the property, which was yesterday to that time unoccupied. They lived there undisturbed for two weeks, when one night John Fitzsimmons and three of his sons appeared at the house and forcibly ejected Mrs. Joles' family, throwing their effects out on the road.

There was considerable resistance, and the affray was the cause of several charges for assault, etc., at the police court here.

The cases were tried here on Monday and Tuesday last, when the Police Magistrate reserved his decision till to-day. This morning he dismissed all but two of the charges and fined John Fitzsimmons and one of the sons $5 each and costs for assault.

Whether this decision was taken as upholding Mrs. Joles' rights to the property or not, is not known; but this forenoon she and her husband took their effects back to the house with the intention of moving in again.

Charles Shipman is Mrs. Joles' father, and his story as he happened to be passing the place when his daughter and son-in-law reached there with their things. They called him to assist them in unloading, and he went over to the house. Just as they stepped at the door the door was pulled open from the inside and John Fitzsimmons appeared in the doorway and forbade them entering. Shipman attempted to parley with him and attempted to go in the house. Fitzsimmons then, according to Shipman's story, fired several times with his revolver and this beat Shipman unmercifully over the head with it. Shipman retreated and Fitzsimmons retired to an inner room and closed the inside door.

At this time Shipman's son, who had been hunting ducks, came along with his gun, loaded with duck shot. Shipman took the gun and, going to the door, called out that he was not afraid now, as he could shoot, too. He pointed the gun at the inside door, expecting Fitzsimmons would open suddenly and would be cowed by the sight of the gun. But the door did not open and in the excitement the gun held by Shipman went off, accidentally, as he says, the shot going through the door. Waiting a few minutes and calling in Fitzsimmons, without obtaining an answer they burst open the door and found him lying dead on the floor, the shot having penetrated his chest.

Shipman then came to Gananoque and surrendered to the Police Magistrate. Shipman was badly cut about the head. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Emery, who probed them but found no shot. Shipman is now in charge of the chief constable, and will be taken to Brockville jail to-morrow.

A coroner has gone from Lansdowne to hold an inquest. Fitzsimmons was a large man, 57 years old. One of his sons is a merchant and postmaster at Rockport.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

At a recent meeting of the Imperial Institute at London, the question of Imperial Federation was discussed by a number of eminent statesmen and publicists—among others, Mr. R. G. Webster, M.P., made the following statemen:

"I quite agree with the preceding speaker, so far as I am able to judge, that the colonists are deeply interested in this question of Imperial Federation, but that they think still more of an Imperial trade union than they do of the advantages of paying for the defence of the Empire? (No;) That is my opinion, and I can only give it to you as I have found it. In India, in Canada, in the West Indies, and other parts of the Empire, I found, when people talked of this question, they talked more of an Imperial trade union than of having to pay a percentage or proportion for the defence of the Empire. Is it not natural? My friend Sir John Colomb, when he was in the House of Commons, was accustomed to urge us to have more marines, to which the colonies were to contribute pro rata. I have no doubt the marine is a valuable soldier, but I do know that the colonists are burning with an intense desire to have more of that force at their own expense. They doubtless take a deep interest in their own defence and the security of the empire. They have recently in many instances paid most willingly their quota to the construction of fortifications of the coaling station, to which the imperial government have supplied guns of the most modern and approved description. Hence, by the joint action of the late Government and the colonies, never were our coaling stations so well prepared for attack, and so defensible.

But I cannot see, and have never seen, that however advisable and desirable it may be to bind the mother country and the colonies together by a mutual system of intra-imperial defence and the consequent obligation to severally meet the expense of it, that that link and that link alone will federate the empire. It is like an ostrich burying his head in the sand and imagining he cannot be seen, for us to attempt to conceal from ourselves by means of eloquent sentences or long harangues that there are not other links which ought to bind us together besides that of mutual defence. (Hear, hear.) The first practical step is the calling together in London of an Imperial council, which should consist of certain ministers of the crown, the high commissioner of Canada and the agents general of South Africa and Australasia. Of course, the voting power would require some adjustment, and this would, no doubt, have to be the case till Australasia was a federal unit of the empire, and sent us a high commissioner and we equally sent one from South Africa. These delegates should change with the governments they represented—that it, there should be a liberal high commissioner when the liberal party was in office in Canada, and so on.

These gentlemen should hold the rank of privy councilor, and, being in touch with the governments of the various colonies the represented, would be able to speak with authority at an Imperial cabinet council. Any decision arrived at by this Imperial council—either in respect to imperial defence, a turner union of our tariffs, an assimilation of our laws, our coinage, our weights and measures, etc.,—could be reported by the responsible ministers to the Imperial parliament and to the colonial parliaments, and it would be left to these several parliaments to accept or reject such proposals as they deemed fit; but it would form a practical, a working bond of union, from which, as time went on, some system of representation of the colonies in the Imperial parliament might be involved. (Hear, hear.) It is in this way alone do I see a prospect of making a beginning with a system of Imperial Federation.

Willing to Extend Trade Relations, but will Not Sacrifice Their Nationality.

The annual meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association for the County of Prince Edward, was held in Picton on Saturday. There was a large attendance of representative men, and the utmost good feeling prevailed. The following officers were elected: President, A. H. Saylor; 1st vice-do., W. Bunter; 2nd do., Capt. J. E. Glenn; sec. treas., A. H. Baker. Resolutions were passed successively eulogistic of Sir John Abbott, Sir John Thompson, Hon. M. Bowell acting Premier, W. R. Meredith, M.P.P., and A. C. Miller, M.P. Resolutions were also passed expressing unalterable attachment to the crown and empire of Great Britain, favoring a subsidized fast steamship line across the Atlantic, and resenting the too one-sided reciprocity:—"Whilst willing and anxious to extend our trade with the United States and all other countries on fair and equitable terms, we are determined not to sacrifice our nationality and public duties at the bidding of any state to the injury and disrespect of the Mother Country, that has tended us through our infant years and protected us from assaults of hostile nations."

Why don't you try Carter's little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

It was stated the other day that the last of the survivors of the charge of Balaclava, living in Canada, had died in Toronto. Such is not the case. Mr. Collier, who resides in Guelph, is one of the famous six hundred, and he is worth several thousand dead men yet.—Brockville Times.

Ladies, while you are down town admiring the display of millinery, just stop a moment in front of John Lewis' window, and see the mantel on exhibition.

276 3t JNO. LEWIS' Hardware.

"What's in a name?" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

Belleville burglars are very foolish. One of this kind broke into the INTELLIGENCER office a few nights ago, and was rewarded with 20 cents in cash. We sympathize with our contemporary in the loss sustained, but would suggest that this burglar if caught should be locked up in a lunatic asylum for life.—Review.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Probably in March, more than any other month in the year, are the ravages of cold in the head and catarrh most severely felt. Do not neglect either for an instant, but apply Nasal Balm, a time-tried, never-failing cure. Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Try it. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price—50c. and $1 a bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Professor Fletcher, Dominion Entymologist, delivered an address before the Select Committee on Agriculture and Colonization at Ottawa, on Friday. He advised using the Bordeau mixture as a preventive of potato rot; six pounds of blue stone, or sulphate of copper, with four pounds of lime, dissolved in forty-five gallons of water. Sprinkle the solution over the foliage of the plant about once a fortnight. As excess of the mixture would do no harm.

A despaich from St. John, N.B., says: "Dr. John Hutchinson recently came here from Kingston, Ont., and opened an office. He presented certificates to the Medical College, and was permitted by them to register as a medical practitioner. The council, however, was suspicious and made inquiries, which resulted in the council taking action. Acting for them, Dr. Pugsley had papers issued citing Hutchinson to appear before the council on April 1st, to answer charges of serious misconduct and of having forged certificates." The News says Hutchinson is not known in Kingston.

SWEPT BY A CYCLONE.

A SWATH TWENTY MILES WIDE DOWN SOUTH.

It Cleans Out Towns, Kills Many People Injures Others—Houses Lifted Up And Blown Away—Many Families Homeless.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 25.—The path of the cyclone which entered Tennessee yesterday in a southwesterly direction from Mississippi appears to have been about twenty miles in width, although serious damage was confined to a much smaller area. The wires are down in all directions. There is no telegraphic communication with Nashville and intervening points, and little news is obtainable from places visited by the cyclone.

This city barely escaped. A heavy rain fell and a high wind blew at the time the cyclone raged, and it became as dark as night for 30 minutes. Heavy damage was done to trees and small outbuildings. A train from Birmingham, Ala., arrived late last night, and reports much damage between here and Corbville, 20 miles east. At 2.30 o'clock this morning the wire at Kelly, Miss., was tapped, and details telegraphed to show that the early reports were not exaggerated.

A despatch from Nashville, Tenn., says: Half of the state penitentiary, which covers 80 acres of ground, was torn to pieces by the cyclone, entailing an enormous loss.

The convicts, 500 in number, had just moved out of the north wall when the building collapsed.

Dresden, a suburban town, was obliterated by the storm and fire. The damage to Nashville property alone is over $100,000. The cyclone passed near Paris, Tenn., on the Cumberland Valley and destroyed property and life, but wires are down and nothing definite can be learned.

Another dispatch from Memphis says: Not a house escaped the storm's fury. Only a few are left standing and they are badly damaged. The house of Roland Cox was lifted up and blown away. The house of Robert Stevens is a heap of ruins. The residence of D. N. Harris, a wealthy planter, was wrecked and the houses of four of his tenants were blown away. Three houses belonged to S. Hudel were blown down. The dwelling house of W. C. Rogg, which faced north, was turned and now faces south.

A despatch from Indianapolis, Ind., says: A storm, which assumed the proportions of a cyclone, visited Indiana about 9 o'clock last night and left devastation and suffering in its track. In Indianapolis 40 houses were wrecked in one neighborhood in the northwestern portion. Many families were rendered temporarily homeless. The enormitude of the storm was not known until day dawned.

At Corydon, a suburb, many houses were wrecked and several of the smaller ones were carried away. Many of the residents passed the night in their cellars.

The storm was accompanied by a heavy fall of rain and a fantastic play of lightning. The cereline mills on the northwestern outskirts of the city, a three-story brick building, suffered much damage. Its walls were wrenched and its roof taken off. One corner fell with a big crash.

The Capital City Coffin Works lost its first story. Along Fall Creek dozens of giant forest trees were uprooted. Advices from all parts of the state indicate much property damaged and some persons killed. The loss, while not accurately known in the city, will amount to many thousands of dollars. No lives were lost in this city and only a few persons were injured, and those not seriously.

At Loogootee a three-story flouring mill was wrecked and part of the debris was thrown against the Central Hotel. The Catholic church and the City hotel were also badly damaged. The loss on the flouring mill will reach several thousand dollars.

At McCordsville the farmhouse of James McCord was blown to pieces and Mrs. McCord was fatally injured.

At Evansville a number of small buildings were blown down. A part of the Southern Indiana Hospital for Insane was blown down and one patient was injured. The depot building at the hospital was also demolished.

At Brazil the storm raged furiously. Outbuildings and fences were levelled to the earth and trees were carried great distances. Several coal mines were flooded. The loss will be many thousands.

Additional particulars from Alexandria say the tornado struck that city about 9.30, damaging residences, business houses, and destroying the Tippin Scott glass factory. The wind struck it at the south and crushed it down on the machinery and employes. The damage will reach $5000 to the factory alone. John Andler, jr., was instantly killed. Three hundred and fifty men are thrown out of employment until the factory can be rebuilt. Some of the injured men remained in the debris from the time of the storm till 8 o'clock this morning.

TARIFF REFORM.

Plans For Meeting the Deficiency in Revenue.

NEW YORK, March 25.—In connection with the report of the Tariff Reform Committee upon the best tariff reform bill for the Democratic Congress, the report adds:

The requirements of the Government to be met by the tariff are estimated to be $133,000,000 a year. To meet this demand the tariff here proposed will provide an income of $120,000,000 for the first year, which will steadily increase, and, in our opinion, will produce an average annual income of $165,000,000 during the first five years of its existence.

The tariff here proposed would leave a deficiency of revenue for the first year of $58,000,000, or, excluding arrears of pensions, $13,000,000. The question arises how this deficiency is to be met. It may be met in several different ways:

First—By short date Government bills to be paid out of the revenue of the next five years, which will certainly be sufficient for that purpose, because three-fourths of the deficiency will cease within two years.

Second—By a duty on sugar and perhaps on tea and coffee.

Third—By an income tax upon natural and artificial monopolies, such as railroads, telegraphs, telephones, gas works and banks.

ALEX. BUNTIN DEAD.

MONTREAL, March 25.—Alexander Buntin, the big paper manufacturer, died in Bath, England, yesterday. He was well known in Canada. He came out from Scotland about 50 years ago a poor boy, but soon made his mark in this country. He was 71 years of age at the time of his death. He was the senior partner in the firm of Buntin, Reid & Co. of this city. He leaves a family of three daughters and one son.

A Sad Death.

HAMILTON, March 25.—Derward Reid, a four-year-old son of J. S. Reid, of the firm of Robertson, Munro & Reid, was killed by a wagon loaded with hay Friday. He tried to pull a handful of hay from the passing load, fell under the wagon and his skull was crushed.

Palatable and Potent

The great objection to cod liver oil has been its nauseous taste. This has been entirely removed by the process of preparing "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," which is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the greatest creator of new blood in the world. It has cured thousands of consumptives by rebuilding their constitutions Everybody is talking about the wonderful power of this Emulsion. In big bottle 50c and $1, at all drug stores.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp disease—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufline, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and in at the same time most desirable to hair. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Some people make up their mind that in order to get a nice suit of clothes and have them fit properly, they must be especially made for them. No doubt a few years ago this was the case, but now the Oak Hall can put on your back as fine a fit in a suit or overcoat as any tailor in Belleville. Of course you must remember that Oak Hall sell a much better class of made up cloththan most stores do.

THAT PHARMACY ACT

MR. L. W. YEOMANS INTERVIEWED AS TO THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS.

The Bill is not to Unsettle Privileges of the Rural Dealers, Except so far as it Effects [Poisonous, Drugs of Secret Formula.

A reporter to day interviewed Mr. L. W. Yeomans, druggist, as to the proposed amendment of the Pharmacy Act.

Mr. Yeomans explained that the object of the proposed amendment was not to interfere with the trade in common drugs as were ordinarily kept in country stores, such as Epson salts, salt peter, etc., but to stop the sale of poisonous drugs in the form of compounds that would, in unexperienced hands, be dangerous to the public health. "The druggists," continued Mr. Yeomans, "are only asking what in all European countries is the common practice. It is a question whether it would be better to get at this in the way in which the druggists are at present advocating, or to have an act passed compelling all medicines of secret formula to be registered, thus enabling the provincial board of health or a public analyist to examine the preparations and regulate their sale in such a way as they might deem proper for the protection of the public.

"For example," said Mr. Yeomans, "take Brown's chlorodyne, which is a patent medicine; five drops of this is an ordinary dose. If the patient should take a teaspoonful, it would be almost instantaneous death. There are many other patent medicines which contain as deadly poisons. It is a question how far such drugs should be allowed in the hands of inexperienced tradesmen. The druggists do not ask for any further protection than would be in the public health's interests. It stands to reason that the trade should know better than any other class what is necessary in this matter to protect the public. My opinion is—and what I advocated at our convention last August—that every patent medicine of secret formula should be registered.

"I take issue with the druggist who says that the trade in consequence of their education, should be protected by law. Druggists only educate themselves for their own advantage, and if they cannot stand on their own merits let them go under. The fact of their education should give them a standing in the community which peddlers and hawkers could not command."

Mr. R. Templeton was also interviewed. Mr. Templeton expressed himself as opposed to the proposed amendment, which, he said, would prevent country stores from dealing in medicines of any kind. "I think the proposed changes go a step too far. It is not likely that the Ontario Government will take the matter into serious consideration."

CONSTERNATION ON THE FLATS.

People Remained up all Night Waiting For the Annual Flood.

About midnight last night the report was quickly circulated among the residents on the flats, that the ice in the river had broken away near the Grand Trunk iron bridge. The people who have the misfortune to live in the lower part of the city at once commenced to prepare for the flood which seemed inevitable. To what extent the ice had broken away could not be ascertained, but in order not to be caught unawares the people remained up all night to guard their property and protect their families. It was not until this morning that it was learned the ice during the night had forced a channel from the iron bridge to Burrell's dam, where it lodged. The cap of the dam was carried away. No further damage was done, although people along the river and in the lower districts are momentarily expecting the annual freshet. Under the influence of the mild weather the water in the river rose considerably to day. The ice in the river on an average is over two feet thick and if a sudden breaking up occurred under existing circumstances great damage would result.

At 2.30 this afternoon the ice opposite Brown's foundry took another move. The river is in a dangerous state.

The ice is being dynamited in the harbor.

A REDUCTION ASKED FOR.

The Executive Wish the Police Force and Salaries of City Officials Reduced.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held last evening the question of reducing the number of police officers was considered at some length. The majority of the members were unanimously in favor of a reduction being made. It was finally decided to recommend to the Police Commissioners that a reduction of two be made in the force.

The committee also discussed the question of a reduction in the salaries of the city officials. The matter will, no doubt, be brought before the meeting of the Council on Monday night and some action taken.

A LONG JOURNEY.

Mr. and Mrs. Maclean Arrive in the City With the Remains of Their Son.

Rev. M. W. and Mrs. Maclean arrived in the city at 1 p.m. to-day after their long journey across the continent, bringing with them the remains of their son George. At Toronto their train was late half an hour late. They were met at the depot there by Mrs. (Col.) Lazier and Rev. Mr. Macdonell. Mrs. Lazier accompanied them to Belleville where they were met at the depot by a number of friends. The remains were taken to the manse on George street, from which they will buried on Monday.

The Cow Was Found.

A short time since Magistrate McCready's efforts were asked upon for the return of his cattle left at Power's Hotel, Canifton. It is said that not less than five men were detailed to keep guard over the property, but when it came to the day of sale a cow was missing. The question arose—who stole the cow? With five men on guard there was no question but that she was stolen.

Yesterday the problem was solved when the missing cow turned up in the river.

Sun Life Assurance Co.

The annual meeting of the Sun Life was held at the head office of the Company in Montreal, on the 10th of this month.

We note that the statement there submitted has been referred to by all the leading financial journals of Canada, as one showing phenomenal growth in all the elements that tend to build up a great monetary institution.

The new business for the year 1892 was the largest ever transacted by any Canadian Company in one year.

The increase in the new business of the Sun Life, beyond the figures of 1891 exceeds the corresponding increase of all the other Canadian companies combined. But even more important than the wonderful growth in size, is the highly satisfactory and profitable nature of the business transacted.

Notwithstanding the fact that the company divided about $200,000.00 among its policy holders during the year, they still have a surplus of $244,928 72, according to the Dominion Government standard. The fact that the greater part of this amount has been accumulated from the operations of one year alone, cannot fail to be gratifying to the numerous friends and policy holders of the company in Belleville and elsewhere, as it indicates that the profit distributions of the past will not only be maintained but largely increased.

Life assurance in force Jan. 1, 1893	$23,901,046 64
Increase over previous year	4,464,084 80
New applications received in 1892	6,866,457 10
Increase over previous year	2,664,938 50
Cash income for the year	1,134,867 64
Increase over previous year	214,620 04
Assets at end of year	3,403 709 88
Increase over previous year	818,129 44
Surplus over all liabilities and stock	244,928 77
Death claims for the year	101,526 96
Decrease from 1891	16,537 72

It will be observed that the death claims were $16,537 72, less than they were the previous year, although the sums assured had increased by nearly $4,500,000 showing an exceedingly careful selection of lives, as the death rate of the company the previous year was very moderate for a company the age of the Sun Life.

We heartily congratulate Mr. Little, agent of the company here, and all connected with it on the above showing.

A SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Prof. Shepard's Elocution Class do Themselves Credit at Albert College.

A large house listened to the programme given last evening at Albert College by the students of Prof. Shepard's elocution class. The rendering of the selections did much credit to their instructor, and was well received by all. Miss Adams opened with an instrumental solo, followed by Mr. Garbut with "Balaklava." Then Miss Gilute held the audience with her excellent recital of the "Last Hymn." Mr. Stewart in Spartious, Miss Brintnell, with Monowaters, Mr. Burdett the Spanish Beggar, Mr. Clapp as Son of the Camp, did full justice to their selections; Mr. C. V. Lingham's delivery of the "Old Ace," and Miss Robinson's of "Archie Dean" was excellent, comic, and the tragical giving of "Kit Carson Ride" by Miss Lockorty, and "The Tragedy" by Mr. Willson, concluded the first part.

Miss Adams favored the audience with another solo. Heavy selections were then rendered in good style by Mr. E. E. Latta, "Battle of Fontenoy" Miss Bowers, "Mary's Night Ride," Mr. Condell, "Soldier's Sacrifice," Miss Moran, "Venetian Revenge," Mr. J. J. Sinclair, "Inkerman" and Miss Moodie, with her usual success with "He and She." Mr. Timmins gave in dialect Mark Twain's "A Critical Situation" which was warmly applauded. The literary part was brought to a close by Miss Taylor's comic recital of "The Auld Brown Teapot," given in her own pleasing way. After a quartette by Messrs. Emberson, Neal, Morrison, and Bean, "God Save the Queen," closed the pleasant evening.

BASEBALL IN ONTARIO.

Will Belleville Send Delegates to the General Meeting in Toronto?

The committee appointed at a meeting of Toronto players on Monday last has sent the following circular to all baseball clubs throughout Ontario, calling them to meet at Toronto on Monday, April 3rd:

We take pleasure in asking your club, or any club in your town, to send delegates to the said convention. After the association is formed, leagues can be organized throughout the country. A. G. Spalding & Co., have offered handsome pennants for competition. Kindly notify any club in your town and answer as soon as possible. We are, yours truly, J. J. Ward, President T. B. B. L., 1,247 Queen street west, Toronto; W. A. Porteous, Secretary T. B. B. L., 206 Shaw street, Toronto.

Circulars have been sent to the Alerts, of London, Windsor, Amherstburg, Wiehelm, Chatham, Tilsonburg, St. Thomas, Galt, Guelph, Hamilton, Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Belleville, Smith's Falls, Perth, Arnprior, Kingston, Ottawa and Orangeville, also to the Dukes, National's, Park Nine, Parkdale Dauntless, Stars, and other city clubs. In a number of cases the circulars are addressed "secretary," the committee not knowing the names, and they are anxious that those letters be called for.

The Curling Club.

A meeting of the curling club was held at the rink last night to wind up the business of the season. There was a fair attendance of the members. Mr. Jas. Clarke, President, occupied the chair. He referred to the past season as being one of the most successful in the history of the club. A large number of new members were received and much interest was taken in the sport. He hoped the same interest would be taken next year.

The Pitcairly medal which was offered for competition between the two year-old players, was not won by anyone, as there are still four who have to play. It was decided that if those who have not played could decide amongst themselves as to who should hold the medal, the club would allow them to do so. If this cannot be amicably arranged, the medal will be placed in the hands of the President.

Play between the Old Country vs. Canadians for the Shephard medal was allowed to lapse, but two rinks competing.

The President presented Mr. Frank Lewis with the pair of stone which he won in the "exile" competition.

Mr. Thos. McRae, Secretary-Treasurer, reported, showing a small balance on hand after all liabilities had been met.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the President and the Secretary-Treasurer for the able and efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties.

BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

A wholesale manufacturer's stock bought at 57c. on the dollar to be slaughtered. We have always got our argus eye open for these snaps, and now never in Canada has such a chance been offered to secure a suit so cheap, and other dealers should take advantage of it, as we are going to sell them away below wholesale prices. Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Children's	2 piece	suits	for	75c.	worth $3.00.
1,000	Boy's	3 "	"	"	$1.50	" 4.50.
1,500	Youth's	"	"	"	$2.50	" 5.00.
1,200	Men's	"	"	"	$2.75	" 8.00.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1 20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30,000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

AMUSEMENTS

LAURA SCHIRMER-MAPLESON OPERATIC CO.

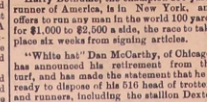

The extraordinary importance of the occasion as a social as well as a dramatic event will be readily appreciated. The performance will consist of a grand concert of the most popular operatic selections and ballads, and the entire act third of Gounod's immortal opera "Faust." Mme. Maplesson has sung the role of Marguerite over 200 times in Europe. She has a beautiful face and magnificent figure. Her range of voice embraces two and a half octaves. Her high notes are wonderfully brilliant, her low ones are full and sympathetic. She has won flattering plaudits in the old as well as in the new world. She was born to sing and act, and does both with as much simplicity and and ease as she performs the act of speaking.

MR. CHARLTON STILL ADVOCATING SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

But He Could Not Prevent Juries From Rendering Verdicts on the Sabbath—A Kick Against Inducing Immigration From the United States.

OTTAWA, March 23.—Yesterday was a fairly good working day, and although Mr. Charlton has lost a good deal of time in efforts to force his Sunday observance ideas into the Criminal Code and before the appointment of World's Fair Commissioners, still a number of Government bills have been passed, and on the whole satisfactory progress has been made, so that the prospect of prorogation taking place next Saturday remains good.

The bills respecting the inspection of petroleum and amending the act respecting land in the Northwest Territories were introduced and read a first time, but Mr. Foster explained with respect to the latter that it was not intended to press it this year.

The House went into committee on the bill amending the Criminal Code.

Mr. Charlton moved to repeal clause 729, which permits a court to receive a verdict from a jury on Sunday.

Mr. Davies thought the repeal of the clause might induce jurors to give hasty judgments so as to get through before midnight on Saturday and avoid being locked up over Sunday.

Mr. Charlton objected to any judicial proceedings of any kind taking place on Sunday.

Mr. Davies thought it most unfair to lock the jurymen up on Sunday and prevent their going to church.

Mr. Tisdale thought that the judges could be depended on to see the law carried out in a Christian spirit. He did not think it would further Sabbath observance to lock a jury up over Sunday when the verdict may be ready a few minutes after midnight.

After some further discussion the amendment was lost by a vote in committee of 24 for to 55 against.

Mr. McMullen offered an amendment that the verdict might be rendered, but no other judicial act performed.

Mr. Davis thought that the judge ought surely to be allowed to discharge a prisoner if he was found innocent, and the clerk of the court should record the judgment.

The amendment was lost and the committee rose and reported, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

The House went into committee on the resolution to provide for the salaries of two commissioners to the World's Fair.

Hon. Mr. Foster explained that what was wanted was that a member of the House or member of the Senate may be appointed.

Considerable discussion took place as to salaries being paid to members of Parliament, and the resolution was finally amended by striking out the word "services" and substituting "expenses" and giving power to appoint one or both commissioners from the members of the House.

Mr. Charlton moved an amendment to the effect that such payment of expenses be made conditional on the Canadian section of the fair being closed on Sundays.

The motion was declared out of order and the resolution was reported. Six o'clock.

After recess a number of private bills were passed, including the divorce bills of James Frediaux Doran, Annette Marion Goff and John Francis Schwaller.

The House went into committee on the railway subsidy resolutions and discussed them the whole evening.

The postoffice at Alexandria in Glengarry County was entered on Tuesday night and stamps to the value of $60 taken.

In the Committee on Agriculture this morning Mr. A. M. Burgess, Deputy Minister of the Interior, gave evidence as to the steps taken to promote emigration from the United States. Mr. Carpenter thought that it was a waste of money to bring back to Canada persons who had left Canada because they were not successful, who had not succeeded in the United States and who were not likely to be successful anywhere. Dr. Roome and Mr. McGregor also spoke against spending money for this purpose, and Mr. Macdonald (Assiniboia) said that these immigrants who had been brought into Canada from the United States had proved failures.

A resolution was passed recognizing the services of Professor Robertson in connection with the dairy interests of Canada and recommending his employment on the permanent staff of the Central Experimental Farm at a good salary.

Another resolution was passed recommending the appointment of a competent veterinary surgeon, whose duty it would be to look after the health of the live stock of the country, and to whom all communications could be addressed from persons who had reason to believe that their herds were in any way affected. This officer was to be invested with full authority, on the receipt of such communication, to take immediate and prompt measures to arrest and eradicate the disease.

Commander Gordon, R.N., nautical adviser to the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and commander of the fisheries protection fleet, died of consumption at his residence in Ottawa yesterday morning. He was only 42 years of age. He entered the service in 1863, and retired in 1873, was appointed deputy superintendent of the Meteorological Service under Professor Carpmael in 1880, and served until 1891, when the office was abolished and he was appointed nautical adviser to the Marine and Fisheries Department. He had charge of the expedition to Hudson's Bay going out by the Dominion Government in 1885-6-7, with a view to determining the length of the season of navigation in the Bay. His remains will be taken to Cookville, near Toronto, on Monday, and the funeral will probably take place on Tuesday.

Sheriff Sweetland was yesterday at Ottawa served with the writ of habeas corpus, issued at Toronto Thursday, in the case of John R. Arnold. The writ was returnable immediately and was sent back last evening, so that the case may come up today. Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINALS IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by worthless imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Gives Strength and Appetite.

DEAR SIRS,—Last year I was very thin and reducing fast, owing to the bad state of my blood and appetite. A friend of mine induced me to get a bottle of B.B.B., which I did. I obtained immediate perceptible relief from its use, and gained strength and appetite, and now weigh 193 pounds. M. T. MURPHY, Dorchester Bridge, Quebec, Que.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A TWO-CENT POSTAGE RATE AGAIN DISCUSSED.

Sir Adolphe Caron Does Not Feel Justified in Reducing the Cost of Sending Letters Just at Present—Motion to Have a Permanent Pension List.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 27.—The House met promptly at 3 o'clock Saturday when Hon. Mr. Patterson introduced his bill to amend the act respecting the Royal Military College and in doing so explained that the amendment required was only a very slight one with regard to the employment of professors.

In reply to Hon. Mr. Laurier, Hon. Mr. Foster said that he would announce on Monday whether the House would be asked this year to ratify the treaty with France.

On motion to go into supply Mr. Charlton made a long speech in favor of the adoption of a 2-cent postage rate. He reviewed the history of cheap postage in Great Britain and the United States, especially the latter. He showed that the reduction of revenue in the United States caused by the reduction of postage had been very brief, and argued that the same thing would occur in Canada if a two cent rate was adopted.

In conclusion he moved: "That this House is of the opinion that the domestic and American rate of postage, with due regard for this public interest, be reduced to two cents for letters of one ounce or less in weight."

Sir Adolphe Caron said that so soon as he became Postmaster-General he began to study the question of a reduction of the rate of postage, but the result had not justified his recommending a reduction at present. He claimed that considering the territory to be covered Canada had the best postal service in the world. In remote parts of the country we had tri-monthly and semi-monthly mails when in corresponding sections of the United States there was only a monthly mail. The reduction of postage in the United Kingdom was not brought about on the ground of the previous postage being too high, but by departmental rearrangement. In the United States the rate was reduced because the postal revenue was largely in excess of the expenditure. The surplus was over two millions. The result of the reduction of the rate had been to create a large deficit. In the first nine months this deficit was $3,079,000. The next year the deficit was $6,756,000. Judging from the result in other countries he estimated that the loss of revenue to Canada by the adoption of the two-cent rate would be about $950,000 a year. If any reduction in letter postage was made it would be necessary to at once re-impose the postage on newspapers and other printed matter now carried free.

As to the loss of revenue on letters posted at border postoffices in the United States he said that had been provided for by postal convention between Canada and the United States, and increased postage was charged on such letters.

After some remarks by Dr. Landerkin and Mr. Mills (Bothwell) Mr. Charlton's amendment was lost on division.

Col. Prior then moved an amendment to the effect that all members of the permanent force of Canada should be placed on the pension list. He said that the efficiency of the whole militia force depended in a very large degree on the permanent corps, and some provision should be made for the officers and men whose remuneration was not large in proportion to their services.

Sir Adolphe Caron said that nothing could conduce to the efficiency of the permanent corps better than to make provision for a pension and when he was Minister of Militia he had prepared a bill for this purpose, based on the Imperial Pension Act, but with somewhat smaller pensions. He thought it only right that the permanent corps should be pensioned as the mounted police were as it was rather late in the session to take the matter up, he hoped Col. Prior would renew his motion next year.

Hon. Mr. Patterson, who was not in the House when the motion was made said that he would bring the matter under the consideration of his colleagues.

The motion was then withdrawn and the House went into supply, taking up railway items until 6 o'clock, when the House adjourned until Monday.

Dropped Dead.

OTTAWA, March 27.—Michael Dolan, an old and esteemed employe of the House of Commons, who has been engaged as one of the night watchmen in the Parliament buildings since 1879, dropped dead at 7 o'clock last evening in the main lobby just as he was on his way to supper; cause apoplexy. Deceased was 63 years of age and leaves a wife and several children.

Commander Gordon's Funeral.

A service was held over the body of the late Commander Gordon Saturday by Rev. Mr. Mackey and the body was conveyed to the C.P.R. Station and left by the Toronto train to-night. The funeral will take place at Cooksville at 3 o'clock to-morrow.

Comfortably Settled.

Advices have been received from Sir John Thompson that he has got comfortably settled in Paris for his duties on the Behring Sea arbitration. His address is Hotel Dominici Rue Castiglione.

An Editor's Salary.

The Debates Committee of the House has recommended that the salary of Mr. J. C. Boyce, editor of The Official Debates, be increased to $1200 per annum. Mr. Boyce is a hard-working and painstaking officer and well deserves this recognition of his services.

The French Treaty.

There has been a good deal of talk about the corridors the last few days with reference to the ratification of the French Treaty at the present session of Parliament, and Hon. Mr. Laurier has been freely quoted as having said that, if an attempt was made to pass it this year, the session would be delayed three and perhaps four weeks.

On the other hand Hon. Mr. Foster stated in the House yesterday that he could not say until Monday whether or not the House would be asked to ratify a treaty this session. No doubt Mr. Foster will state to the House to-morrow the decision arrived at.

New Lake Line of Steamers.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The New York Ontario and Western Railway will make an important departure at the opening of navigation. It will establish a lake line of steamers between Oswego and Duluth and enter into active competition with other trunk lines between the sea coast and the Northwest. President T. P. Fowler says they expect to get all the traffic they can carry both ways.

Fined for Smuggling.

BUFFALO, March 27.—The Kingston brothers, charged with smuggling phenacetine and antipyrine from Canada, who were indicted by the United States grand jury at Utica, pleaded guilty. Edward was fined $350 and James $100.

AN ANARCHIST'S SHOES.

Disclose His Connection With Various Plots in Paris.

PARIS, March 27.—The local police in St. Michel, Department of the Aisne, have caught the Anarchist Mathieu, suspected of having been Ravachol's accomplice in causing the explosions of a year ago and having been implicated with him in the wrecking of the cafe Very in the Rue Magenta.

Mathieu had robbed a peasant's hut, near St. Michel, and the police searched for him without knowing of his identity with the notorious Anarchist. They found him hidden in a loft. When he was stripped for examination the police found in his shoes paper which showed that he was closely connected with the plots of the Anarchists in Paris.

A comparison of his appearance with the official description of Mathieu leaves no reason for doubt that he was the man for whom the Paris police have been looking ever since the arrest of his colleague Ravachol.

USED THE CLOTURE.

An Exciting Session in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, March 27. The House of Commons was in session until 5 o'clock Saturday morning considering the army estimates. Chairman Mellor was unequal to the demands made upon him, in consequence of the exceptional stubbornness of the Opposition. He was baited by Robert M. Hanbury, Conservative, for Preston, who in a bitter speech accused him of wrongful ruling. Shouts of "Withdraw" and "Apologize" elicited from Mr. Hanbury only the declaration that he would do neither. Repeated motions to report progress provoked Sir William Harcourt to exclaim hotly: "This is deliberate and barefaced obstruction, and I will fight you on it."

This challenge was received with a tremendous shout by the Liberals. Exciting scenes accompanied the applying of closure. The debate was one of the stormiest of the session.

AN INFAMOUS PLOT.

The Trial of Two Anarchists Brings an Exciting Scene.

PARIS, March 27.—The Anarchists Meyrules and Chappuliot were Saturday sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a fellow-Anarchist, Young Bisson, whom they suspected to be a police spy. A secret meeting of Anarchists decided on his execution, and the prisoners enticed him to a lonely spot, stabbed and strangled him and threw his body into St. Denis Canal. There was a dramatic scene in court when the chief witness, an Anarchist named Hugot, was testifying. Chappuliot rose, shook his fist and cried: "Traitor, you led me to this. You want to bring me to the scaffold." Hugot was terrified, evidently dreading the vengeance of other Anarchists. He tried to repudiate his own evidence and stammered praises of Chapuliot.

ROME GONE MAD.

A Religious Fanatic Throws a Stone at the King.

ROME, March 27.—King Humbert was returning from the Villa Borghese, where he had been spending a portion of the day, when a person having the general appearance of an Italian workingman threw a stone at the King, the missile almost striking the monarch.

The assailant was promptly taken in hand by the police and conveyed to prison. He has acknowledged since his arrest that his intention was to insult King Humbert because the King declined to be reconciled to the Pope. He asserted that he had been engaged in forming missions for the liberation of slaves in America and China. The police are trying to ascertain whether he had any accomplices.

Colonial Affairs.

LONDON, March 27.—At Westminster Abbey Saturday two Colonial Bishops were consecrated—Burns of Qu'Appelle and Perrin of British Columbia.

The Chronicle of Saturday says that the Ministry in Newfoundland must have strange ideas concerning constitutional government. Lord Ripon, Secretary of State for Colonial Affairs, must feel considerable difficulty in dealing with a colonial ministry which is at sixes and sevens, as Newfoundland seems to be at the present moment.

Michael Davitt names Blake as one on the Board of Arbitrators to settle the dispute over The Freeman's Journal.

New Canals.

OTTAWA, March 27.—The Railway Committee passed the act to incorporate the North American Canal Company. This is the scheme for building a canal from Lake Erie to Montreal. A clause was inserted in the bill providing that the company could not charge more than 10 cents per ton, the same as on the Government canals, for tolls. Between Lake St. Francis and Lake Champlain no price was fixed because there is no Government canal there now.

Canadian Acknowledgments.

BUFFALO, March 27.—Assemblyman Guenther's bill amending chapter No. 195 of the laws of 1848 has now become a law, and according to the provisions Canadian commissioners are given a new standing in this state.

Before the passage of this act, acknowledgments in Canada had to be taken before a mayor, provost, or chief magistrate, certified under their respective seals, or before the judge of any Court of Record, certified to under seal by the clerk of the court, or before any United States consul, consular agent or commercial agent or deputies of such office certified under seal.

The new law accepts an acknowledgment of a Canadian commissioner for taking affidavits, and a registrar of deeds or his deputy, but their authority to act has to be certified to by the county clerk or clerk of the court.

THE KANSAS WOMEN.

They Are Setting the Pace For Doubling the Voting Strength.

KANSAS CITY, March 27.—Women will play a very important part in the municipal elections all over Kansas, April 4.

Reports from different cities show that the registration, which closed last night, was remarkable for the heavy registration of women. In this city 3482 certificates had been granted to women and 8286 to men. The total registration in Topeka will exceed 10,000, fully 4000 being women. In Leavenworth 2354, Wichita 2464, Lawrence 1000, Fort Scott 1385, Emporia 833.

HARRIS MAY NOT HANG.

The Wife-Poisoner's Sentence May at Last Be Commuted.

NEW YORK, March 27.—In Recorder Smythe's decision denying a new trial to Harris he stated that some of the affidavits submitted by the defendant contained perjured facts and that testimony stated were not based on truth. District Attorney Nicholl is thinking of indicting some of these affidavit makers, as he says there can be no question that they committed perjury. Mr. Nicholl thinks Governor Flower will commute Harris' sentence.

In order to give a quietus to a hacking cough, take a dose of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spells render it necessary. This widely esteemed remedy also cures crick in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung an throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

AMERICAN IRISHMEN.

HERALD THEMSELVES AS GLADSTONE'S ALLIES.

Cable Messages Exchanged—Many Governors of States Forward Expressions of Good Will—One Sends a Cheque For $200.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A message was cabled to William E. Gladstone last night by the National Federation of America pledging him their most vigorous support in his efforts to carry through the Home Rule bill, and expressing alike the sentiments of the thousands who had gathered at the Academy of Music to endorse this action and the tens of thousands of Irishmen throughout America who are loyal to their Mother Land.

The message was as follows:

"We, the citizens of New York in mass meeting assembled, beg to tender you our heartfelt sympathy in your efforts to achieve for Ireland the long-sought-for measure of justice which we trust God will enable you to speedily carry to a successful termination, and we pledge you our vigorous and continued support through the struggle.

THOMAS ADDIS EMMETT.
MORGAN J. O'BRIEN.
JOHN BYRNE.

This was the key note of the great gathering of Irishmen at the Academy of Music last evening. The people listened to patriotic airs by the 69th Regiment Band and cheered enthusiastically when Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, the presiding officer, and Congressman Bourke Cockran came on the platform, followed by a number of other prominent men.

From the Governors of almost every State in the Union came messages of sympathy with the movement for the freedom of Ireland.

Governor Flower, in a letter enclosing a check for $200, said: My sympathies with the cause of Home Rule have often been expressed.

Mayor Gilroy, who was unable to be present, was among those who sent the warmest messages of faith in Ireland.

Archbishop Corrigan, also unable to be present, expressed through Manager Farley the heartfelt advocacy of the principles for the promulgation of which the meeting had been called.

The hall was comparatively bare of decoration. A banner surrounded by Irish and American flags, however, bearing the words "Now or Never—Now and Forever," formed an appropriate background to the stage.

A dispatch to President Emmett from Justin McCarthy evoked enthusiasm. It was as follows:

We learn with gratitude of the efforts of yourself and the federation to help forward the Irish movement. Effectually continue the work you did by timely assistance at the general election. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill will pass the Commons but only by the unremitting attendance of the Irish party. The movement needs the prompt and generous support of kinsmen and friends to defeat the desperate efforts of the wealthy and powerful enemies combined against Ireland. Greeting and success to your great meeting on behalf of the Irish party.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, MARCH 27.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—Some few weeks ago an article appeared in the Toronto World relative to the organization of an Eastern Football League, which was to include Kingston, Brockville, Tweed, and Belleville. Much as we would like to see this organization of such a league, yet one which meets with greater favor with us is the formation of a league in our city. We can see no reason why a league of six clubs could not be formed composed of the following teams: The city team, D. & D. Institute, O.B.C., B.B.C., High School, and Albert College. In order to create a greater interest amongst lovers of the pigskin, we would suggest that the association present each member of the winning team with a champion badge or medal. In the matter of expenses alone, a local league has a great advantage over one composed of teams which are many miles apart. It is to be hoped that the interested will take hold of this matter, and that a meeting for organization may be early called.

AN ADMIRER OF THE GAME.

Belleville, March 25, '93.

A High Honor.

Recently the Coal Trade Journal, of New York, the recognized organ of the coal trade on this continent, offered prizes for the best essay on "The suitable horse for the retail coal dealer," the paper being composed of 1,000 or 1,500 words. Mr. Thomas Elliott, of Brantford, was one of the contestants for the honors awarded, and a few days ago he received word that he had, in competition with the whole of the States and Canada, secured second place. A cheque for $20 accompanied the intimation.

Mr. Elliott was elected Supreme Grand President of the Sons of England at their recent G. L. meeting, held at Montreal. He has promised to attend the annual dinner of the Sons in this city on St. George's Day, Monday, April 24th.

SPORTING NEWS

Fox hunters have had poor success this season, there being too much snow, and too wet.

The horse races at Montreal are fixed for June 6th. Maud D., Wm. Dafoe's mare, has been entered in the three minute class. Out of nine starts Maud D. won brat place six times, third place twice and was unplaced once during the winter races.

Now is the time when the maple tree must submit to the annual bleeding, and the woods resound with the merry laugh of the sugar-makers, while the smoke of their camp fires towers above the trees.

It is proposed by the owners of the North King to have the boat make two trips to Chicago, on June the 1st and 15th, allowing excursionists five days to visit the World's Fair.

On Tuesday Mrs. Richard Murphy, of the Carrying Place, slipped and fell on the door step of her house, fracturing her hip bone. At the present time she lies in a very precarious condition. She is over eighty years of age.

At the ball in Mrs. Hinch's hotel at Sidney, on Friday night last, Miss Madden, a hotel keeper of the same place, while in an intoxicated condition, severely stabbed Peter Babeau. Mr. Madden has not since made his appearance in the village.—News.

The Toronto Mail has received a denial stating that the private character of Mrs. Shepherd, the alleged ex-nun, whom Belleville people will remember as having talked here for a few nights not long ago; but the paper mentioned refused to publish the matter.

A quiet wedding took place in Christ church, Thomasburg, on Wednesday, when Miss Christiana L. Earle, member of St. Paul's church choir, was married to Mr. Allan W. Hayes, of Brockville. The Rev. J. Fisher officiated and the bride was given away by her sister, Mrs. S. Hudson, of Roslin. After the nuptial ceremony the newly wedded couple left for Brockville.

Those who keep their blood in a pure and healthy condition need have no fear of any disease attacking them. It is the enfeebled, run down systems upon which disease fastens its fangs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have no equal as a blood builder, nerve tonic, and preventative of disease. Thousands of grateful people testify to the wonderful power of this remedy. Take no substitute or imitation; 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50. Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville, Ont.

Parliamentary news from Ottawa gives the information that Thomas P. Pearce and others are applying for letters patent to incorporate the Pearce Company, to operate saw mills and planing mills, and carry on the business of lumbermen generally, to operate flour mills, to manufacture woollen goods, to deal in all kinds of grain, to work and develop mines, with power to acquire, mortgage, sell, lease and otherwise dispose of real estate, and to carry on the business of general merchants and traders. The chief place of business is to be in the village of Marmora. The capital stock of the company is said to be $175,000.—Madoc Review.

BURNED WITH KEROSENE.

Grip Drove Kleray Mad and He Cremated Himself.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A weeping wife and four little children sat beside an iron box which contained the body of husband and father in the back room of 836 Myrtle ave, Williamsburg. Saturday it was the family of Upholsterer Joseph Kleray, whom the grip and a fear that his family would starve drove insane Friday afternoon and caused him in his delirium to saturate his body with kerosene oil and then meet a horrible death by burning.

Kleray, who was 35 years old, was a jolly, good-natured German, who, despite his hard luck during the past winter, were he and his wife were to bed many a night without a morsel of food passing their mouths during the day, was always in a happy frame of mind.

"Never mind, wifey," he would often say to his wife, "as long as the children have enough to eat, it's all right. We can stand it, but they can't. Business may boom before long."

Sometimes for days Kleray would sit at the store window waiting for trade which didn't come. Often he bemoaned his hard luck, but was in hopes of better days. Three years ago he had a bad attack of the grip. The disease never left him, and when he had a relapse on Monday his wife sent at once for Dr. A. Weber of Driggs avenue and south Second street. After an injection of morphine he seemingly improved, but his condition became worse yesterday, when at 4 in the afternoon, while delirious and during the temporary absence of his wife, who was out trying to get a doctor, he committed suicide by pouring oil from a can all over his night shirt and underclothing and setting fire to himself with a match.

The youngest child, Willie, aged 16 months, lay at the foot of the bed near where Kleray applied the match to himself. As a result of inhaling smoke the little boy lay in the arms of his maternal grandmother to-day gasping for breath. His little arms and legs were burned, and he will probably die.

Mrs. Kleray to-day is also in a precarious condition from burns received by her in her efforts to extinguish the flames which consumed her husband. She is excitable, and the shock to her nervous system was so great that for nearly an hour after her husband's death she was prostrated.

When the police arrived at the house and uncovered Kleray in the yard they found him charred beyond recognition. He was lying on his face, as he had fallen, and as he was turned over on his back he gave one gasp and expired. The body was lifted up and taken into the kitchen. Mrs. Kleray had one glance at the body and, with a shriek, fainted.

CASH PRIZE LEAGUE.

Changes in the Racing Rules—Secretary Egan's Salary.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The Governing Board of the National Cycling Association of America, which was organized in this city several weeks ago for the purpose of fostering racing for cash prizes, held a meeting Saturday.

The most important business transacted was the consideration of several changes in the racing rules. All the proposed changes were given consideration and the result will be made known in a few days.

The question of appointing a general manager, official referee and official handicapper then came up, but no action will be taken until the committee appointed can inquire about the various persons named for the position. The board decided to allow local organizations the right to appoint judges, timers, scorers and such minor officials necessary to conduct the races properly. But all these officials will be under the direction of the main organization.

A proposition was made that the National Association should assume control over road racing, a branch of the sport which is not recognized by the League of American Wheelmen. After considerable discussion it was finally decided not to take up the matter, as the Century Road Club of America has already assumed jurisdiction over such contests. A formal application was received from a Boston syndicate, said to have $50,000 behind them, for membership. Several letters were read from outside organizations asking for licenses to hold professional race meets on their tracks, in which racing men of the Association would be allowed to compete. The salary of Frank A. Egan, secretary and treasurer of the association, was fixed at $2,500 a year.

Crinoline has some friends in Court in England. A fashion writer says: "No one could possibly condemn as ungraceful the pretty gown worn in 1863 by the Duchess of Teck, with its multitude of little flounces reaching from waist to hem. The lace shoulder scarf seen in the recent portrait of the Princess Louise has already been revived in front of the smartest gowns of the season, while in the quaint little frock worn by Princess Beatrice, one sees a miniature edition of the crinoline.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

There is no reason why children should be allowed to suffer from loathsome scrofulous sores and glandular swellings, when such a pleasant, effective, and economical medicine as Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be procured of the nearest druggist. Be sure you get Ayer's.

WAITING THE GALLOWS.

THE SPRING ASSIZES PROLIFIC OF MURDER TRIALS.

Extraordinary Increase of Homicide in This Province—Atrocious Crimes That Have Made Leeds and Grenville Famous.

TORONTO, March 27.—Ever since that primeval time when Cain slew his brother Abel we have prayed—such of us at least as are Episcopalians—to be delivered from battle and murder and from sudden death. Yet we have read murder stories with avidity, and when the circumstances of the crime are such as to make it a celebrated case, every detail becomes of surpassing interest. Such tales never grow old, and the Long Point murder of Mary Burbank, brutal slaughter of his trusting companion, Freddie Benwell, the crime of Eugene Aram and other historic murders, away back to the days of the Borgias, still possess a lively interest for us, while if all of Poe's prose and verse go except one short story, after throwing everything else away, we should hesitate whether to sacrifice "The Gold-Bug" or "The Murders of the Rue Morgue." It is a natural tendency of the mind to show the keenest interest in the unusual, and it is no mere singular that we should become absorbed in a murderer's personality while being all remorseless as to his victim and that the name of "the youth who fired the Ephesian dome" should live on through history while that of the skilful architect who built it is forgotten.

In the half score of murder cases to be tried in Ontario during the next three or three weeks there promises to be enough entertaining information on the subject to satisfy the most morbid appetite. Some of the crimes for which the prisoners are to be tried this spring seem to have been of a particularly atrocious character. For instance the alleged passionless murder of J. J. Luckey, his wife, and daughter Mary, by their son and brother, John Luckey, at Newbliss, in the hope of gaining a small estate, was the most preposterous caricature in modern times of the unfortunated deed of him who thousands of years ago asked, "Am I my brother's keeper?" For this crime Luckey will be tried for his life at Brockville in a few days. Charles Shipman, who shot and killed John Fitzsimmons near Gananoque in a dispute over the possession of some property on Friday, will also be arraigned at the Brockville Court.

As the same time there may be on trial the prisoner charged with a deed paralleled by Lucrezia Borgia, old Mother Tolans and the rest of their infernal kind, who put out enemies out of the way with a delicacy of procedure no man could ever hope to rival, for a Government detective has gone to Kemptville to try to ascertain who poisoned Sandy Kennedy and his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Kennedy. However, if Leeds and Grenville produce the two most appalling murders of the season, it is not at the same time an admission of inferior civilization. Moreover, if a certain human vanity were not so anxiously masked it might appear that, like every other country, the province looks down there boastfully about them a certain irrepressible and outrageous pride in the fact that when they do kill, they kill handsomely. It is a question worth talking about and which commands a place on the first page of every Canadian newspaper.

Yet even Ontario is able to produce no less than six murder cases this spring, the Jennie Wouch case having been postponed until spring, and the indications are that at least half-a-dozen executions will be the outcome of the trials.

First on the list is Anderson Veney, the Amhurstburg barber, whose trial for the murder of his wife will commence at Sandwich on April 10. Veney some time ago decided to starve himself to death, but has now changed his mind and eats regularly, although suffering from his prolonged fast.

Brown and Wilson, the men who shot and fatally wounded Detective Harry Pinair of London, will also be tried shortly.

In the adjoining County of Elgin, which never yet has had a hanging, though its murders have probably outnumbered those of any other county of equal size in the Dominion, George E. Young will be tried for the murder of Fred Glover on the Oneida road, Southwold, in a dispute over the chasing of some turkeys by Glover's dog.

At Port Arthur James Rowe will be tried for deliberately shooting down his brother-in-law, Archie Cameli, as he was entering the door of his own house.

At Chatham William, Alexander, George and Lemuel Freeman (negroes) will be tried for the murder of Police Constable Rankin.

THE GANANOQUE TRAGEDY.

Mrs. Joles Says That the Shooting Was Intentional.

GANANOQUE, Ont., March 27.—Dr. Shaw, coroner, and a jury held an inquest on the body of John Fitzsimmons, who was shot Friday. The verdict was that the said John Fitzsimmons came to his death by reason of a wound caused by the discharge of a gun in the hands of Charles Shipman. Shipman will be sent to jail at Brockville this evening.

When here to-day Mrs. Joles talked freely of the shooting affair and some of her statements do not bear out the story told by her father yesterday. She said that her brother Thomas did not happen along accidentally with a gun, but went with the others and had no gun. When the row commenced her father sent Thomas to a house half a mile away for the gun and then he returned with it he was told by the father to shoot, but refused. Shipman then took the gun himself and fired twice, once through a window and again through a door.

Socialist Congress.

BRUSSELS, March 27.—Socialist delegates from Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, England, Switzerland, France and Italy at a meeting in this city have decided that the international Socialist Congress in Zurich shall begin on next August 6, and last for one week.

The Cyclone in the Mississippi Valley.

MEMPHIS, TENN., March 27.—Reports to ago done by Thursday's cyclone in the Mississippi Valley is enormous. The loss of life is not as great as at first reported, but the damage to property will reach $2,000,000. The death list at 10 o'clock last night footed up 18, while the list of injured will reach up in the hundreds. The majority of those killed and injured were negroes.

Restricting School Books.

WINNIPEG, March 27.—In future school teachers coming to this province from Ontario and Quebec will not be granted certificates till they have passed examination here. A large number of eastern teachers are now applying for certificates. This change in law was petitioned for by Manitoba Normal School students.

C. P. R. PUSH.

The Company Evidently Anticipates Free Entry of Canadian Lumber.

BUFFALO, March 27.—The old Buffalo and Fort Erie Bridge Company, which some years ago obtained the exclusive right to construct a bridge or tunnel across the river, has sub-let the right to the Canadian Pacific Railway. The C.P.R. will come into this country, crossing at the head of Rattlesnake Island, bridging the narrow channel between it and the Canadian shore and extending along almost the entire length of the island.

This will give the road thousands of feet of water frontage on the island. The route then will bridge the river at the end of the island and cross over to Tonawanda just south of the Buffalo city limits. A branch of the road follows the river along the American shore from Buffalo to Niagara Falls. The C.P.R. will then have one of the greatest water-fronts in the country. Besides the river front on this side, the island will afford an excellent site for lumber and coal yards, etc. The road will terminate in Buffalo near Main-street and the terrace.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than the dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A recalling of the record of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufline, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFLINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Their Name is Legion.

There is no lack of so called cures for the common ailment know as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Always True.

There is no statement made in the Oak Hall advertising that is not positively true in every respect. We never advertise anything unless we have it, and never make a statement that is not true. On Saturday last our cash sales were over double the corresponding day a year ago. The big run was on light overcoats and boys' suits. Our business is increasing very rapidly and we attribute our success principally to selling honest goods and doing strictly one price.

THE JOY OF CHRIST.

REV. C. O. JOHNSTON AT THE TABERNACLE CHURCH.

Able Discourses by the Noted Divine—Large Congregations Present at Both Services.

Rev. C. O. Johnston, of Kingston, a noted preacher of the Methodist Church, occupied the pulpit of the Tabernacle Church yesterday, both morning and evening. His discourses were of a high order and were listened to by large congregations. In the morning the rev. gentleman chose for his text the following Scripture passage: St. John xv:11—"These things have I spoken unto you that My joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full." What Christ did to His disciples He says to all of their successors. The words of the text He reiterates this morning. What is the joy of Christ? His joy when on earth was not in true friendship, for He had not the favor of men. It was not the joy of worldly position, for He was not exalted in what the world calls high positions. The early portion of His life was spent at the carpenter's bench. The joy of Christ was in His life. When He offers His joy to the world He offers His heart and His life. Christ's life is christianity. It is the only real life. His was the only genuine life, and the person who has not come to live for other men has not come into the possession of real life. The life of Jesus Christ was not merely a life of knowledge at the shrine of science. Christianity is not merely high morality. It was not merely to be honest. It means more than this. We should have a nature foreign to falsifying and being dishonest. The life of Christ was such. We can have such a life as Christ and have the joy which the text refers to. Christ had the joy of obedience. The child that is obedient and not rebellious is filled with happiness; it enjoys home life. The happy man is the obedient man. Obedience takes away responsibility if he performs his duties and all is not right. The noble 600 at the battle of Balaclava went forward at the word of command and did their duty. Although some one blundered it was not for them to reason. The responsibility was not upon them. If we wish to obtain joy we must obey God, in faith and works. When God tells us to believe we should not hesitate, but do as commanded and leave the result with Him. We are commanded to fight for God, and He will take the responsibility. Christ's was the joy of obedience when He drank the cup to its bitter dregs. We should be faithful to God's commandment. We are constantly asking what the result will be, without leaving it to God. We should be prepared to do all that God commands us, and then we will know the joy of Christ, when we obey without question. How much joy comes from our obedience that is forced. We fight not for a perishable honor. We fight for a kingdom and a crown that is incorruptible, and that fadeth not away. If we but obey that joy will be full, when God will lay His hands upon us and say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." It was perfect obedience that caused Christ to bear the cross, to have the mocked robe placed upon Him, and to be at last nailed to the cross between earth and heaven. The mob cursed Him, and said that He saved others but He could not save himself. He endured this from obedience—He was submissive. We can suffer anything if we do God's bidding. It was the joy of love's labor which we had. If we love that which we do, it is not work but glory—it is an enjoyment to do it. If it was a task to do God's work, it would be hard and not enjoyable. We should engage in His service with love, for it is love's labor. A soldier is proud of the country for which he fought and bled. A fireman is proud of rescuing some one from a burning building, and a sailor's pleasure is to save some person from a watery grave. The christian's joy at the end of life will be to know that he has done his duty. There should be enough of the joy of Christ within us to make us glad.

The evening subject was "Death from the telling of a secret." The subject was suggested from the experience of Samson, who told the secret of his strength to the woman Delilah, which resulted in making him weak as other men, and led finally to his death. The collections of yesterday were devoted to the temporal of the church, and must be very gratifying to Mr. Crossley, the pastor, as well as to his people. The handsome sum of $300 was contributed, which was the exact amount asked for by the pastor. This, with other available sums, will make a payment of $1500 this year on the indebtedness of the church, thus reducing it from $8000 to $6000. In the two years since Mr. Crossley became the pastor.

THE LAST SAD RITE.

All That Remains Sleep Beneath a Wilderness of Flowers.

The remains of Geo. Maclean were buried in the cemetery this afternoon. Service was held at the house. The bearers were: Messrs. E. Donald, T. Waterson, R. J. Bell, W. D. Chisholm, Rev. R. J. Craig, and Rev. T. Wilkins.

The remains were viewed by a large number of people at the manse. A profusion of flowers were sent by friends of the deceased. St. Andrew's Church members at the G.T.R., "Gates ajar," pillow of lilies from the employees of Bell & Bigger, pillow of lillies from Miss Maclean and John and Malcolm Maclean; wreaths from Mrs. Rathbun, Deseronto, A. Gillen, Lee Chu, Dr. and Mrs. Farley; anchors from Mrs. Tannahill, Mrs. Craig, T. McGinnis, Miss Ponton's Sunday School class and Mrs. W. Ponton. St. Andrew's church, cross by Mrs. Maclean's Bible class, cross from Mrs. J. P. Thompson; violets, from the Misses Bell; cross, Harry and Nellie Ponton; harp, Mrs. A. McGinnis; cut flowers, Mrs. S. S. Hanley, anchors from Mrs. Geo. Hops, calla lilies; Mrs. and Miss Newbery, Mrs. L. W. Yeoman, lilies and violets; Misses Thompson, carnations; Mrs. and Dr. Gibson, roses and carnations.

AMUSEMENTS

GRAND OPERA.

The sale of seats for the Mapleson Operatic Co., which will appear here on Wednesday evening, has been very large. This company is guaranteed to be the best that has ever appeared in this city. Miss Mapleson's name alone should draw a crowded house. They will open their Canadian tour in Ottawa to morrow night under the immediate patronage of His Excellency the Governor General.

THE G.T.R. CONCERT.

The entertainment which the G.T.R. employees will give on April 7th will be strictly first class. Sarah Lord Balley, who has been especially engaged for the concert, is undoubtedly the finest elocutionist in America, and, although this will be her third appearance here during the past two years, she will be welcomed back by her many friends and admirers in this city. Mrs. Jas. Grant will be heard for the first time. She has a well cultivated soprano voice, and besides the solo she will also a duet with Mr. J. Nevin Doyle. Miss Florence Mabel Glover, of Toronto, a young lady with a remarkably fine voice, will also appear.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

THE HOLLOWAY STREET METHODIST CHURCH MAY BE PROUD OF ITS CHOIR.

Rev. Dr. Talmage on Scandal—Rev. Dr. Griffin, of Woodstock, has no Patience With People Who Cry Annexation—The Kingston News Makes a Good Suggestion.

At Christ Church yesterday the Rector, Rev. S. Daw, preached both morning and evening. Rev. A. L. Geen was present at both services.

Rev. T. W. Jolliffe, Bowmanville, Grand Master of I.O.O.F., has received and accepted an invitation to King Street Methodist Church, Ingersoll.

St. John's Presbyterian church, Brockville, is found inadequate to accommodate the crowds who flock each Sunday to hear the pastor, Rev. C. J. Cameron.

The Most Rev. Dr. J. T. Lewis, Lord Bishop of Ontario, is expected at St. James' church, Tweed, during the month of April to administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation.

Rev. J. C. Robinson, of Nsgoya, Japan, in a letter dated Feb. 14, and received last week, says: "We are now having the most severe snow storm on record—over a foot on the ground now, and still falling."

At a meeting of the Young People's Association in connection with the Baptist church, the following were appointed delegates to the Provincial Young People's Baptist Union, which meets at Woodstock on Thursday and Friday of this week. J. Hitchen, J. Luscombe and Miss F. Hitchen.

Last night the series of mission services which Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, evangelists, have been holding in the Metropolitan church, Toronto, were brought to a close. Their labors have been abundantly fruitful, as was evidenced by the presence of 2,500 men at the afternoon service, and 3,000 of both sexes at night.

Rev. Mr. McFeli, of Picton, yesterday filled the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church. Both discourses were listened to by large congregations. In the morning the rev. gentleman preached from the following scripture text: James iv:17—"For what is life? It is even a vapor that appeareth for a little time and then vanishes away."

Rev. Dr. Griffin, formerly of Woodstock, in a sermon at Stratford last Sunday night, referred to the cry of political union. He had no patience with people who talked of annexing this God-fearing and moral people to the United States. If all earthly means failed to prevent such a calamity he felt that God would intervene to preserve the Canadian people.

It has been suggested by the Kingston News that slates be hung in the vestibules of certain churches to enable the young ladies who attend services there to register their names on entering. If this is adopted a large number of young men will no longer be compelled to wait outside until service is over, and it will also prevent congregations from being disturbed by some who have a practice of peeping through the doors while service is in progress.

Rev. Dr. Talmage lectured in Toronto recently on "The School for Scandal." In the course of his eloquent remarks he said, among many other good things which many people in Belleville may profitably take to heart: "If it were bad to damage a man's character, how much worse to ruin a woman's reputation! Many a good and virtuous woman has been whispered out of kindly associations and whispered into the grave."

Up to date Rev. Dr. Potts has received $610,000 in aid of the college confederation scheme. Of the amount promised $457,000 has actually been subscribed, leaving only about $53,000 to collect, and almost every post brings in part of the unpaid balance. It is believed that when the year's work is completed at the end of May all the $610,000 will be in hand. The other educational funds of the Methodist Church are all showing increased collections and donations over the previous year.

His Grace the Primate of England has announced that the next Lambeth conference will take place in 1897. The natural order would bring this gathering of the National church's episcopate together in 1898, but there being an historical circumstance connected with the year 1897 (the 1300th anniversary of the arrival of St. Augustine in Kent), the Archbishop has thought fit to alter the time, and the celebration will take place in the year named.

The music furnished by the West Belleville Methodist choir yesterday morning was inspiring and beautiful. The Holloway Street Church can honestly boast of one of the best choirs in Ontario, and under the direction of Prof. Canfield it has no superior in Belleville. Prof. Canfield sang a solo during the morning service in perfect voice. The male quartette, composed of Messrs. Geo. Grills, Geo. Pearce, Prof. Canfield and S Roughton would make a valuable acquisition to any choir. The sermons preached by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Edmison, B. D., are always appreciated, and if the rev. gentleman preaches such sermons as he did yesterday morning there is good reason why he should be appreciated.

Palm Sunday was celebrated in the usual manner at St. Michael's. At the high mass the ceremony of blessing the palms was performed by Rev. Father O'Brien, the celebrant. Monsignor Farrelly preached. In the evening Mr. Willie Firman sang "Lord Help Us," a very pretty solo by Phleps. It was Mr. Fairman's last night with the choir, who regret very much the departure for Chicago of their fellow chorister. He is a very fine singer and will be missed in musical circles of St. Michael's. This morning (Monday) Monsignor Farrelly celebrated the anniversary of his first mass, after forty-two years of labor in the vineyard of the Master. The INTELLIGENCER hopes he may live to celebrate another forty-second anniversary, believed and honored as he is now by all who know him.

The special meetings which have been held in Bridge Street Methodist church for four weeks still continue, and the Sunday services partake of that character. The pastor of the church is nothing if he is not intensely earnest. His zeal betrays itself constantly in his sermons, and yesterday's was full of anything more fervid than usual. His morning subject was "The christian's creed," which he found in Micah, vi. 8: "to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." The evening sermon was the oft repeated question, "Why am I not a Christian?" in which he met the excuses given by many for not leading christian lives. The special meetings will be continued every night this week.

THE MOIRA BOOMING.

RESIDENTS IN THE SOUTH END PREPARING FOR A FLOOD.

The River Open in Many Places—The Ice Never Before So Thick—People Driven From Their Homes—The Commissioners in a Dilemma.

Yesterday morning the ice in the river broke away at the upper bridge and piled itself up between the foot bridge and the lower bridge, causing the water to expand over its banks and inundate the back premises of property holders in the vicinity. The ice in some cases was two and three feet thick, something never before known on the river. The ice in the harbor is three or four feet thick, and from present indications there is no likelihood of its breaking up for some time. At two o'clock this morning the ice at Lazier's dam commenced to move down the river in one huge mass, bringing up at the Grand Trunk iron bridge. For some distance below Lazier's mills the river is flowing bank full. Near the Canifton crossing the property in the neighborhood is under two feet of water. The residents have been compelled to seek their upper rooms and in some cases have vacated their premises altogether. Residents living on the flats and as far up as Bridge and Cabinet streets have removed their furniture to the upper stories and are hourly expecting to see their property inundated or swept away by the force of the ice and water which now seems inevitable.

At 11:15 the ice broke away from Burrell's dam and lodged against the upper bridge.

A telephone from H. Corby's distillery says that the ice at that point does not show any signs of breaking up and is likely to last two weeks yet.

The water continued to rise all day. A sidewalk at noon had to be improvised in order to reach the foot bridge from Front street.

This afternoon an effort was made to release the ice at the lower bridge. Some 5 charges of dynamite were placed in the mass of ice, but although 3 of them exploded but little good was accomplished.

GONE TO THE SILENT FOREVER.

Three Societies Pay the Last Tribute of Respect to a Departed Brother.

The remains of James Johnston were buried yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the A.O.U.W., Sons of Scotland, and Ancient Order of Foresters. The Societies met in their respective lodge rooms at 1:30, and forming into a body, marched to the late residence of their late brother on the corner of Queen and John Streets. The service was conducted at the house by Chief Ranger G. Dulmage, on behalf of the Foresters. At St. Thomas' church the service was conducted by Rev. Canon Burke and Rev. F. C. Powell. The pall bearers were: A.O.U.W., R.D. Conger and N.M. Ostrom; Sons of Scotland, A.D. Robertson, A. Harris; Foresters, John E. Parks, G. Minaker. The societies marched in the following order to the top of Murney's hill, where they were met by carriages: Foresters, Sons of Scotland, A.O.U.W. The service at the grave was read by W.E. Vandervoort and S. Haight, on behalf of the A.O.U.W. The I.O.O.F. band was in attendance.

HIS 42ND ANNIVERSARY.

Mgr. Farrelly Celebrates an Important Event in his Career.

A Life Full of Activity in the Cause of Christianity—A Reporter Spends a Pleasant half Hour at the Presbytery.

Monsignor Farrelly this morning celebrated his 42nd anniversary mass in St. Michael's. A reporter to-day spent a pleasant half hour at the presbytery in conversation with the Monsignor, and gleaned some interesting facts in connection with a life which has seen many active years of work in the cause of christianity. The Monsignor was born in Ballieboro, Cavan County, Ireland, in 1827, and after receiving the rudiments of his education in his native town, settled in Kingston, Ont., at the age of eighteen. He finished his education at Regipolis College, Kingston, and was ordained to the priesthood by the late Bishop Phelan, on April 12th, 1851. After his ordination he remained in Kingston two years assisting in the Cathedral services. The following two years a half was spent in the mission of Hastings in Peterborough county, where the first presbytery was built by his efforts. Afterwards he was transferred to Lindsay, where he was instrumental in the erection of a beautiful brick church. Returning to Kingston some eleven years later, he was appointed Vicar-General by the late Bishop Horan. After remaining three years in the Limestone city he came to Belleville twenty two years ago, and has since labored here. Since coming to Belleville St. Michael's has been built, mainly through his efforts, at a cost of $50,000. Ten years ago he was created a domestic prelate to his Holiness Pope Leo XIII., which entitles him to wear the purple, and confers upon him the dignity of a Bishop without a See. This office also entitles him to "Right Rev." Monsignor is not privileged to wear the mitre, or use the ruler. The title is purely honorary, and is bestowed by the Holy See for meritorious work in the church.

IT COVERS A GOOD DEAL OF GROUND

—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And when you hear that it cures so many diseases, perhaps you think "it's too good to be true."

But it's only reasonable. As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer, nothing like the "Discovery" is known to medical science. The diseases that it cures come from a torpid liver, or from impure blood. For everything of this nature, it is the only guaranteed remedy. In Dyspepsia, Biliousness, all Bronchial, Throat and Lung affections; every form of Scrofula, even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages, and in the most stubborn Skin and Scalp Diseases—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The worse your Catarrh, the more you need Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors offer $500 cash for a case of Catarrh in the Head which they cannot cure.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," etc, etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

Were the men whom he had helped and guided going to turn against him openly—to give him in his wife's presence some other insult besides the tacit insult of their absence? He turned sharply around, with the feeling that if he was brought to bay the men would have a bad time of it. He certainly looked a formidable antagonist. The hair had fallen over his forehead, his brows were knotted, his eyes gleamed rather fiercely beneath them, his under lip was thrust out aggressively. 'As fierce as a lion,' said one of the observers, afterwards. But even while his eyes darted flame and fury at the men who had deserted him, his body kept its half protecting, half-deferential pose with respect to Lady Alice; and the hand that held her arm was studiously gentle in its touch.

Lady Alice turned round, amazed. There was a little crowd in the passage; the room was already half-full. Men and women too were there, and crowded in from behind. There must have been nearly fifty, when all were seen, and there were more men than women. But they did not sit down; they stood, they leaned against the walls; one or two mounted on the benches at the back and stood where they could get a good view of the proceedings. Caspar's scowl remaintd fixed, but it was a scowl of astonishment. He looked round for Maurice, whom he presently saw beckoning to him to take his usual place near the piano. He said a word to his wife, and brought her round with him towards his sister and his friend. The men still stood and crowded a little nearer to him as he reached his place. There was very little talking in the room, and the men's faces looked somewhat solemn: it was evidently a serious occasion.

'Is this—this—what usually goes on?' queried the puzzled Lady Alice.

'This? Oh no!' said Maurice to whom she had addressed herself, with a sudden happy laugh, and a perfectly beaming face. 'This is a demonstration. Here, Caspar, old man, you've got to stand here. Now, Gregson.'

Lady Alice accepted the chair offered to her, and Miss Brooke another. Caspar began to look perplexed, but a little relieved also, for his eye, in straying over the crowd, had recognized two or three faces as those of intimate friends who seemed to be mingling with the men, and he felt sure that they had no inimical purpose towards him. All that he could do was to look down and grasp his beard, as usual, while Jim Gregson, the man who had once spoken to Lesley so warmly of her father, being pushed forward by the crowd as their spokesman, addressed himself to Caspar.

'MR. BROOKE,

SIR,—We have made bold to change the order of the proceedings for this 'ere afternoon. Instead of beginning with the music, we just want to say a few words; and that's why we have come in all at once, so as to show that we are all of one mind. We think, sir, that this is a very suitable opportunity of presenting you with a mark of our—our gratitude and esteem. We have always found you a true friend to us, and an upright man that would never allow the weak to be trampled upon, nor the poor to be oppresed, and we wish to show that whatever the newspapers may say, sir, we have got heads upon our shoulders and know a good man when we see him.' This sentence was uttered with graat emphasis to an accompaniment of 'Hear, hear,' from the audience, and considerable stamping of feet, umbrellas and sticks. 'What we want to say, sir,' and M., Gregson became more and more embarrased when he came to this point, 'is that we respect you as a man and as a gentlemen, and that we take this opportunity of asking you to accept this small tribute of our feelings toward you and we wish to say that there's not a member of the club as has not contributed his mite towards it, as well as many poor neighbors in the Builds. It's a small thing to give, but that you will excuse on account of the shortuess of the notice, so to speak; the suggestion having been made amongst ourselves and by ourselves only three days ago. We beg you'll accept it as a token of respect, sir, from the whole of the Macclesfield Builds Working Men's Club, of which you was the founder, and we hope you'll continue many long years to be the president of.' And with a resounding emphasis on the proposition, Mr. Gregson finished his speech. A tremenduous salvo of applause followed his last word, and before it had died away a women was hastily dragged to the front, with a child—a blue eyed fairy of two or three years old—in her arms. The child held a brown paper parcel, who presented it with baby solemnity to Mr. Brooke, who kissed her as he took it from her hands. And then under covering of more defening applause, Mr. Brooke turned hurrieply to Maurice and, in a very unheroic manner—

'I say, I can't stand much more of this. I shall make a fool of myself directly.'

'Do; they'll like it, the beggars!' returned Maurice in high glee.

But he had more sympathy in his eyes than his words expressed, and the grip that he gave his friend's hand set the audience once more applauding enthusiastically. An audience of Londoners with whom a speaker is in touch is one of the most sympathetic and enthusiastic in the world.

While the applauded, the parcel was opened. It contained a morocco case, lined with dark blue satin—an unromantic and possaic expression of as truly high and noble feeling as ever found vont in more poetic ways—and on the velvet cushion lay—twelve silver spoons!

There was an odd little touch of pathos about it, and an outsider might, perhaps, have smiled at the way in which the British workman and his wife had chosen to manifest their faith in the man who had been in their eyes so wrongfully accused; but nobody present in that little assembly saw the humorous side of it at all, not even a young gentleman who was hastily making a sketch of it for the Graphic, for he blew his nose as vigorously as anybody else. And there was a good display of handkerchiefs and some troublesome coughing and choking in the course of the afternoon, which showed that the donors of the spoons did not look on the gift exactly in the light of a joke.

Mr. Brooke was a practised speaker; and when he opened his lips to reply, his sister dried her eyes and put down her handkerchief with a gratified smile as much as to say, 'Now we shall have a treat.' And she settled herself in her seat so as to watch the effect of his speech on Lady Alice, who had forgotten to wipe her tears away, and sat with eyelashes wet and cheeks slightly flushed, looking astoundingly young and pretty in the excitement of the moment. But Miss Brooke was doomed to disappointment. Caspar began once, twice, thrice—and broke down irrevocably. The only intelligeble words he got out were, 'My dear friends, I can't tell you how I thank you.' And that was quite true: he couldn't.

But there was all the more applause, and all the more kindly feeling for that failure of his to make as speech; and then one or two other men spoke of the good that Mr. Brooke had done in that neighborhood, and of the help that he had given them all in founding the club, and of the brave and encouraging words that he had given them, and so on; and the young artist for the Gtaphic sketched away faster and faster, and said to himself, 'My eye, there'll be a precious row if they try to hang him after this, whatever he's done.' But the sensation of the afternoon was yet to come.

'I can only say once more, my friends,' said Caspar, as the hour wore away, 'that I thank you for this expression of your confidence in me, and that I never had a prouder moment in your life than this, in my life this, in which you tell me of your own accord that you believe in my innocence of the crime attributed to me.'

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

NO REVISION OF THE VOTERS' LISTS THIS YEAR.

Civil Service Bill Withdrawn—Supplementary Estimates—A Discussion On Superannuation Brings Out Views That Are Liberal and Picayunish.

OTTAWA, March 2.—There will be no revision of the voters' lists this year. On Saturday Hon. Mr. Foster stated in the House that the Government did not intend to proceed this year with the bill amending the Electoral Franchise Act, and to-day he introduced a short bill which simply provides that the voters' lists shall not be revised this year.

In reply to Mr. Mills, Mr. Foster stated that negotiations were still going on between the Governments of Great Britain and Canada with reference to the French Treaty, but they had not yet reached a point where he could make a definite statement as to whether or not Parliament would be asked this session to ratify the treaty. He may be able to do so to-morrow or Wednesday, but he could not say anything more at present.

On the motion for the third reading of the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway Bill Col. Denison moved the following amendment, of which he had given notice: "That the said bill be amended by added the following as clause 6 thereto: That the portion of the said railway lying between Port Credit and Mimico shall be carried north of the rifle range, leased to the Government." It was lost and the bill was read a third time.

The bill to incorporate the North American Canal Co. was read a third time.

Hon. Mr. Foster moved the third reading of the resolution providing for the payment of the expenses of two commissioners to the World's Fair.

Mr. Charlton moved in amendment that the payment be conditional on the Canadian section being closed on Sunday.

The Speaker ruled the amendment out of order.

Mr. Charlton then gave notice that he would move his amendment on going into supply.

The resolution was read a third time, and a bill founded on it was introduced and read a first time.

Hon. Mr. Foster moved the second reading of the Civil Service Superannuation Act.

Mr. McMullen could not see any necessity for superannuation at all. Civil servants were paid well, and ought to insure their lives and take care of themselves like other people.

Hon. Mr. Foster reviewed the present Superannuation Act at some length, showing that it had not worked in the way expected for two reasons. First, the sum to be paid in had been reduced from 4 per cent., as it was in the original act, to 2 per cent., and that was not sufficient. Then a large number of old servants who had only paid for one or two years into the fund had been superannuated in 1872, and this had overtaxed the fund. He read a statement of those who had been superannuated each year and were still alive and drawing allowances, by which it appeared that some of the first batch of clerks superannuated 20 years ago were still on the list. The bill as proposed would be a great improvement on the old act.

Mr. Davies thought the present system had been far too expensive, and he doubted whether the present bill would prove much of an improvement. He suggested that after the bill was read a second time it should be allowed to stand until next year.

After some further discussion the House went into committee and discussed the details of the act up to 6 o'clock.

The supplementary estimates for 1893-'94, laid on the table this afternoon, amount to $1,501,825. The most noticeable item is that in the militia items for the defence of Esquimalt, B.C., as it shows that the Government has decided to contribute to imperial defences. The vote is for $105,000, as follows: Dominion contribution towards capital expenditure for works and buildings, $70,000; pay of a detachment of Royal Marine Artillery or Royal Engineers, $35,000.

Amongst the other votes are $25,000 for the purchase of manilla fibre for the manufacture of binder twine in Kingston Penitentiary and $3000 for plant for power to run binder twine machinery; $2000 to pay the sessional indemnities of the late D. W. Gordon and Armstrong to their legal representatives, and $1000 to pay sessional indemnity of Dr. Ferguson, who has been too ill to attend this year; $70,000 for the World's Fair; $36,000 to enable the Dairy Commissioner to purchase butter and cheese at experimental stations; $7000 for the purchase of land for a permanent camp at Sussex, N.B.; $17,212 for gratuities to officers of the active militia force who are to be placed on the retired list; $16,500 for the purchase of modern firearms; $80,000 for the ship channel between Montreal and Quebec.

The only votes for public buildings in Ontario are $10,000 for Brantford drill hall and $5000 for extending the electric light system in the Ottawa public buildings.

The following are the votes for harbors and rivers in Ontario: Colpoy's Bay, extension of public wharf, the municipality furnishing an equal amount, $600; Port Rowan, wharf under contract, to complete, $3300; Port Stanley, extension to piers and repairs, $12,000; Burlington Channel, new ferry scow, $1500; River St. Lawrence, above Brockville, removal of rock, $1200; Owen Sound, towards completion of channel, $5000; Belleville, local authorities having furnished $2000, re-vote $3000; Goderich harbor, additional amount required, $10,000; Hamilton, dredging, $6000; Midland, dredging, additional amount required, $2500; Cobourg, repairs to breakwaters, $1000; Beaverton, to pay contractor amount claimed for additional work due to extraordinary settlement, $560; Dyer's Bay, extension to wharf, $350; Nation River, north branch, for purchase of existing riparian rights and removal of dam, parties interested furnishing an equal amount, $2500.

Amongst the miscellaneous votes are $60,000 towards the expenses of determining the Alaska boundary, $6500 for determining the boundary of Passamaquoddy Bay, and $42,800 to pay the judgment in case of Barber v. the Queen, amount of award of Exchequer Court.

After recess discussion was resumed in Committee on Civil Service Superannuation, which was finally reported.

The following Government bills were read a third time:

Act to repeal certain sections of the Merchants' Shipping Act.

Act to amend the Inland Waters' Seamen's Act.

The remaining railway subsidies were then passed and resolutions reported.

Hon. Mr. Foster announced that as there was a general desire to have the session closed, he would withdraw the Civil Service bill.

On motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Charlton whined a little about not being allowed to reach the adjourned debate on the resolution to close the Canadian section of the World's Fair exhibition on Sunday.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that if Mr. Charlton had moved his resolution earlier in the session there would have been no trouble about its being reached. The matter then dropped.

Mr. Allen then read a long statement about the fisheries regulations on the lakes as relate to the use of pound nets, and after some discussion of the question the matter dropped and the House went into supply at 11.30, taking up the railway items.

It is likely the House will sit until 3 o'clock or later, as there will be an effort made to get through the main estimates at this sitting.

HOOTED AT HER.

A Newspaper Woman's Experiment With Crinoline in London.

LONDON, March 28.—The only full-fledged crinoline which has appeared in the streets of London was worn yesterday by a young woman on the staff of an evening paper. Her costume was not a burlesque, but a genuine old-style crinoline made as attractively as a modern costumer could build it. The young woman walked from the Embankment through Piccadilly, Regent-street, Bond-street and other fashionable West End thoroughfares, followed most of the time by a howling mob of street gamins.

Finally she took refuge in a bus, and the conductor promptly charged her double fare for the extra space occupied. It is now safe to say that the crinoline crisis in England has been passed safely. The Princess of Wales' refusal to approve full skirts has vetoed fashion's futile decree.

President of the French Senate.

PARIS, March 28.—The Senate yesterday elected Challemel-Lacour, the well-known statesman and writer, and Senator from Bouches-du-Rhone, President of the Senate in place of Jules Ferry, deceased. The election is very satisfactory to President Carnot.

Blondin Can't Stand It.

PARIS, March 28.—M. Blondin, sentenced March 21 to two years' imprisonment for having conducted the negotiations for the bribery of M. Baihaut by Charles de Lesseps, is suffering from incipient paralysis. His physicians says imprisonment would kill him, and urge that he be sent to an asylum.

Queen Victoria Abroad.

FLORENCE, March 28.—Queen Victoria has consented to receive Cardinal Bausa as representative of the Pope.

New Feature in Patent Laws.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A most important result of the decision of the Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Huber vs. Nelson is called to public attention by the chief officials of the patent office. In this Huber case the court decided that a foreign patent having lapsed by reason of non-payment of taxes, an American patent granted thereafter for the same invention is void. This action at the patent office destroys Edison's quadruple telegraph patent and also his three microphone patents, leaving the Bell Co. after January next to stand wholly on the Berliner patent.

Commander Gordon's Funeral.

COOKSVILLE, Ont., March 28.—The funeral of Capt. Gordon, R.N., took place here to-day. The body arrived here this afternoon on the C.P.R. train from Ottawa, accompanied by the two sons of deceased and Sir Melville Parker, his father-in-law. The cortage at once proceeded direct from the station to Springfield, where the interment took place. There was a large attendance, as deceased was widely known and respected. His death was not altogether unexpected, as he had been in very poor health for some time.

A Farmer Suicides.

THEDFORD, Ont., March 28.—George Welsh of the second concession of Bosanquet committed suicide Monday morning by hanging himself in his barn. Sickness and financial difficulties are said to have been the cause of the act.

Jeff Davis' Remains.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 28.—The remains of Jefferson Davis will be removed to Richmond on May 28.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

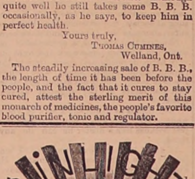

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cumines, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:
Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMINES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladona Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25c.

Roots and tubers should generally be fed with other and more nutrious foods.

In order to give a quietus to a hacking cough, take a dose of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spells render it necessary. This widely esteemed remedy also cures crick in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY MAR. 28

AN ECONOMICAL MOVE.

The City Council is moving in the direction of economy and should receive the credit due for such action. Ald. Walmsley brought first before the notice of the Council in an official capacity that we are blest with too many policemen. This is a fact that every citizen has long known, but the difficulty was to reach the force through the Council. The matter has been referred to a committee, who will no doubt report in accordance with public opinion, and that opinion the commissioners will do well to respect. A movement is also being made to reduce the official expenses. The system of collecting taxes by offering a rebate for early payment brings money to hand early, but is wrong, as it not only gives a premium to the person able to pay in advance but renders it necessary that the sum thus deducted from the amount levied for be made up from some other source. Taxes should be paid direct to the treasurer and any one in arrears should be made to pay the cost of collection.

Ald. Wills is moving towards a reduction in the number of wards, which is a step in the right direction. It would be well if the wards were entirely abolished, as difficulty arises constantly from the fact that aldermen become ward politicians, and not representatives of all the ratepayers, which is to a great degree the fault of the voter, who claims that his ward must be attended to at a cost to the city; and most aldermen are liable to look to their future prospects rather than to the city's interests, which would, of course, cease to be the case if the wards were abolished. Any motion in the direction of lessening this evil will be appreciated, as it is in the public interest.

WORLD'S FAIR.

How to Visit it Easily and Cheaply—Programme of the North King.

It is proposed by the owners of the North King to have that boat make two trips to Chicago, on June 1st and 15th, allowing excursionists five days to visit the World's Fair. On the way up sufficient time will be given to visit Niagara Falls and Detroit. The distance will occupy four and a half days each way, the boat arriving in Chicago on Tuesday morning and leaving on Saturday night.

The fare for the round trip, including board and lodging at Chicago, will be from $45 to $65, according to accommodation. A plan of the steamer can be seen at C. F. Gildersleeve's office, and if a sufficient number of names are enrolled by April 30 the trips will be taken; otherwise they will be cancelled. The number of passengers will be limited to the steamer's most comfortable sleeping capacity, namely, 150.

As June is the calmest month in the year, the voyage each way will be delightful, and in view of the uncertain extent and quality of the accommodation that will be available in Chicago, many Bellevillians will doubtless be glad to have the problem of passage and entertainment at once solved for them at a reasonable figure. A trip on the North King will be the nearest approach in America to one of "Cook's tours."

The Greatest Ye'.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Their Name is Legion.

There is no lack of so called cures for the common ailment know as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Handsome Features.

Sometimes unsightly blotches, pimples, or sallow opaque skin, destroys the attractiveness of handsome features. In all such cases Scott's Emulsion will build up the system and impart freshness and beauty.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

There is no reason why children should be allowed to suffer from loathsome scrofulous sores and glandular swellings, when such a pleasant, effective, and economical medicine as Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be procured of the nearest druggist. Be sure you get Ayer's.

Those who keep their blood in a pure and healthy condition need have no fear of any disease attacking them. It is the enfeebled, run down system upon which disease fastens its fangs. A BRAMPTON PHYSICIAN.

RAISES A SENSATION AND RUNS TO COVER.

Charged With Assaulting a Toronto Widow, Who Issued a Warrant For His Arrest. Although the Thinks He Only Meant to Tease Her.

TORONTO, March 28.—The sign of Drs. Hall & Robinson still adorns the facade of No. 11 1-2 Mainstreet, Brampton, but the patients who call to consult Dr. William Hall these days are told that he is absent from the town. The facts in connection with his sudden exit are of so sensational a character that the denizens of the pretty little burg have discussed nothing else for the past ten days. The overflowing of the Etobicoke Creek and the resultant submerging of the lower portion of the town last Saturday being regarded as an ordinary rivulet compared with the flood of scandal which has swept over and fairly deluged the place. Such a morsel has not been presented for the delectation of the gossip-mongers for a decade, and they are making the most of it.

The parties concerned are Dr. William Hall and Vera Anderson, widow of the late Will Anderson of the firm of G. R. Anderson & Co., the leading druggeds firm of the town.

Dr. Hall is a young man of 35 or 36 and went to Brampton from Burrie six or seven years ago. He has a brother residing in Toronto and his father is a well-known farmer of King. The Doctor is a well-built, fine looking man, and being a bachelor and of a jovial disposition soon built up a lucrative practice. Among his acquaintances was Mrs. Vera Anderson, daughter of a Georgetown shoemaker named Austin, who resided with her husband in a pretty villa on Elizabeth street. In April, 1890, Mrs. Anderson's husband died leaving her $4000 in cash, the proceeds of a life assurance policy and an interest in the firm computed to be worth $5000. Weeds became the widow, and being a good dresser after Time, that true physician, had healed the wounds inflicted by the Grisly King of Terrors, she became the target of many shafts from Cupid's bow. Dr. Hall was her choice, however, according to common repute, but there was nothing to show that the doctor's affection was anything but of a platonic character. About a year ago the widow removed to Toronto, taking up her residence at 128 D'Arcy-street, where, she states, Dr. Hall continued to visit her, presumably in his professional capacity.

On Thursday, March 16, Dr. Hall called upon Mrs. Anderson at her Toronto residence, and it was here that the Slough of Despond in which he now floundered had its genesis. What passed at the interview is shrouded in mystery, but the Doctor was made to realize that "the gods are mad" and of course meant to make instruments to scourge us." The neighbors were startled by screams for help, and on entering in found Mrs. Anderson in hysterics on the floor. The sequel occurred on Saturday, March 17, when McCarthy, Deakin, Kirkpatrick & Cassels, acting for Mrs. Anderson, swore out an information before Police Magistrate Denison charging Dr. Hall with attempted rape. The latter got wind of the fact that a warrant was out for his arrest and, instead of manfully standing his ground, fled to parts unknown and is now believed to be in the United States.

There is some talk of his returning next week, and from an interview with the "woman in the case," published below, it would appear that if he does mayhap past misunderstandings will be discussed pauitently and gravely and the meeting may be fraught with all the solemnity of a renewal of the vows of platonic love. Perhaps, however, Dr. Hall may have realized the truth of the adage that "he who takes an eel by the tail or a woman at her word soon realizes that he holds nothing," and if this be the case his return is very problematical. Meantime he has the sympathy of the whole town, who lament his hasty action in abandoning his home rather than face the unpleasant predicament in which his indiscreet action placed him. Nobody believes that the outcome would have been serious so far as he is concerned, and a determined effort will be made by his friends to induce him to return and stand his trial.

Mrs. Vera Anderson was seen at her residence, 128 D'Arcy-street, yesterday. Her home is decorated with paintings and art needle work executed by herself. A portrait of her late husband hangs in her parlor and is also the work of her own hands. She has a little boy of four years, and is an accomplished musician. Before her marriage, when she was Miss Austin, she sang at concerts frequently, and even within the last two years she has sung at socials, Scotch concerts and kindred entertainments in Toronto and elsewhere.

She said that she had a comfortable income, did her own housework and went out very little, devoting her spare time to the pursuit of the several muses with whom she is in favor. She is not strong and states that she faints at the slightest nervous shock.

"Dr. Hall is as handsome a man as you'd want to see," said she, "but he thinks that just because he's a doctor he can do anything.

"I knew him in Brampton and I considered him a perfect gentleman. He knew what I had been brought up a lady.

"I suppose the Doctor used to call quite frequently, once a week or so?" volunteered the reporter.

Mrs. Anderson almost blushed. ("Why what funny questions you ask a woman," she laughingly said.

"Did he take an interest in art and music?"

"Oh! yes I s'pose so; all persons of refinement do. I don't think he came to my house with any wrong intentions but he just touched me by accident or maybe it was just to tease me and you know I'm awfully nervous and I screamed. The neighbors came into the house, but I had fainted, so I don't know what the doctor said."

"Do you think the doctor meant anything wrong or that he was intoxicated?"

"Oh, no! he's just like all doctors, and he thought I'd like to take up with a man like him. Anyway, I was in an awful rage.

"Next day I went to Mr. McCarthy, my lawyer, for advice. I only wanted a letter of apology, but Mr. McCarthy took it right into his own hands and got out a warrant for attempted rape before 6 o'clock."

"The warrant was taken out without your consent, then?"

"Yes, and I won't see injustice done the doctor; if the case comes to court I'll say not have meant anything wrong."

"Is Mr. McCarthy still acting for you?"

"No."

Mrs. Anderson left for Brampton last evening.

AN ECONOMICAL MOVE.

A PROPOSITION TO REDUCE THE SALARIES OF CIVIC OFFICIALS.

The Matter Left in the Hands of a Committee—A Lengthy Discussion Upon the Subject.

At the Council last night a somewhat lengthy discussion took place upon the motion which was moved by Ald. Robinson, seconded by Ald. LaRoche, in reference to the amalgamation of certain civic offices and the reducing of the salaries paid to others. The motion was that a special committee be appointed to take into consideration the advisability of having taxes collected in future by the treasurer. Also that the committee be instructed to enquire whether or not a reduction can be made in the salary paid to the engineer of the fire engine, said reduction to be used in increasing the amount paid to the men of the fire department.

Also that the committee be further instructed to enquire into the feasibility of reducing the salaries of any or all of the officials in the employ of this corporation; also of amalgamating or abolishing offices now existing in connection with this corporation, said committee to report to this Council at its earliest convenience. The committee to be composed of the following aldermen: Lott, Lingham, Starling, Landenberger, Doyle, LaRoche, Robinson and Walmsley.

The mover spoke strongly in support of his motion, urging that a number of citizens were in favor of the proposals.

Ald. Walmsley moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Luscombe, that a general reduction of 10 per cent. be made in the salaries of the clerk, treasurer, assessor, street surveyor, solicitor and engineer and that a by law be prepared giving effect to this motion.

The mover said there was a deficiency which had to be met and the plan proposed would meet the deficiency. If this was not done the taxation would have to be raised. The 10 per cent. reduction would perhaps be only for this year. The officials were efficient and did their work well, and he had no fault to find with them.

Ald. Robinson said he could not support Ald. Walmsley, as he believed his own motion would be the better.

Ald. Diamond said the collector and treasurer could not be the same person, as the statute forbids it.

Ald. Landenberger—We should not cut the heads off the officials. The salaries could be cut down some. He would be in favor of a reduction of 5 per cent.

Ald. Starling could not see why the six officials should be taxed to pay the deficiency. It would, in his opinion, be more reasonable for the ratepayers to pay an extra mill. He would not support Ald. Walmsley's motion.

Ald Collins said he would vote against the motion and also the amendment. He was not in favor of either.

Ald. Ponton was not in favor of reducing the salaries of the city officials. They did their duties and were not over paid. The city was not in that state financially that it was necessary to do what Ald. Walmsley proposed. The officials had not merited the punishment. We should practice economy in measures.

Ald. LaRoche did not think that Ald. Robinson was asking for anything unreasonable, and the committee should be appointed and a report presented.

Ald. Wills was in favor of the committee being appointed, and when they reported it could be thoroughly discussed.

Ald Diamond moved an amendment to the amendment that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee.

Ald. Doyle, while in favor of being economical, would like to be just. He was in favor of the committee moved by Ald. Robinson being appointed.

Ald. Lingham thought the matter could be disposed of at the present meeting.

Ald. Robinson said there were cities in which the treasurer did collect the taxes. If, however, this could not be done, a bill could be passed by the Legislature amalgamating the offices. It would not cost more than $100 and this would mean a great saving.

After some further discussion a vote was taken. The amendment to the amendment proposed by Ald. Diamond was lost on the following division

YEAS—Collins, Diamond, Landenberger, Ponton, Spafford, Wensley, Wills—7.

NAYS—Doyle, Grills, LaRoche, Lingham, Lott, Luscombe, Robinson, Shevlin, Slater, Starling, Walmsley—11.

The amendment proposed by Ald. Walmsley was defeated on the following division:

YEAS—Lingham, Luscombe, Walmsley—3.

NAYS—Collins, Diamond, Doyle, Grills, Landenberger, LaRoche, Lott, Ponton, Robinson, Shevlin, Slater, Spafford, Starling, Wensley, Wills—15.

YEAS—Diamond, Doyle, Grills, Landenberger, LaRoche, Lott, Luscombe, Robinson, Shevlin, Starling, Wills—11.

NAYS—Collins, Lingham, Ponton, Slater, Spafford, Walmsley, Wensley—7.

FIRE NEAR NORTHPORT.

A Fine Residence Burned by a Curious Accident—Loss $4,000, Insurance $2,000.

NORTHPORT, March 28.—The large brick dwelling owned by Henry FOX, about one quarter of a mile from here, burned this morning. Mr. FOX and another man were at work in the upper story of the house putting in a partition, the fire being caused by a board falling and breaking a glass vessel filled with coal oil which was close by. The contents ran down on the coal stove below causing a fire immediately.

People from the town were soon on hand, but in vain. The fire was too far advanced. The men were able to work rapidly to save the furniture and contents within, but succeeded in saving very little.

Loss about $4,000. Insured in the Lancashire Co. for $2,200.

A special excursion will leave Montreal for North Galveston, Tex., April 17th '93. Remarkable Inducements are offered. For particulars apply to Mr. Geo. Cliff, Agt., Kingston, Ont.

CITY COUNCIL.

An Important Meeting Held Last Night—A Reduction in the Police Force Asked.

The City Council met last night, in regular session.

Present—Mayor Wallbridge, Ald. Robinson, Diamond, Slater, Walmsley, Luscombe, Shevlin, Collins, Ponton, Spafford, Lingham, Grills, Doyle, Wills, Lott, Landenberger, LaRoche, Starling and Wensley.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A number of accounts were presented, and some of them were ordered to be laid upon the table.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Executive Committee reported, recommending the payment of a number of accounts. It also recommended that the police commissioners be asked to reduce the police force by two men.

The joint committees of the Executive and the Market and City property, recommended that no change be made in the tariff of market fees. It also recommended that three blackboards with the tariff of fees printed on them be placed in the market building.

The Public Works Committee recommended that the tender of the Rathbun Company for the supplying to the city of planking for sidewalk purposes, at the rate of $15.50 per m., be accepted.

On motion the Council went into committee of the whole on reports, Ald. Luscombe in the chair.

The Executive Committee's report was adopted without discussion, as was also the Public Works Committee's report.

The joint committee's report re the market fees was amended slightly on motion of Ald. Fenton. It was decided to publish the tariff for one insertion in the weekly papers published in the city.

The committee rose and reported. On motion the report was received and adopted.

ENQUIRIES.

Ald. Slater asked if the sub committee which had been appointed to consider the sanitary condition of the city building had done anything?

Ald. Lingham said they were at work.

INTRODUCTION OF BY-LAWS.

Ald. Walmsley introduced a by-law to amend by-law No. 332, relating to the weighing of coal. The lessee of the market under the amendment will receive 5cts. for every half ton of coal weighed, and 10cts. for every ton weighed. The by law was passed through its various stages and numbered.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Ald. Wills: Take notice, that I will move at the next regular meeting of the Council, that the city street surveyor be empowered and authorised to take charge of the work necessary in repairing and renewing the city wells and pumps, and that the said city surveyor shall be under the immediate direction of the Water and Gas committee of this Council for such purpose.

Ald. Wills also gave notice, that at the next meeting of the Council he would move that the Public Works committee be directed to have the sidewalk on the north side of Hotel Street from Pinnacle Street to the Reformed Episcopal church lot straightened and widened, the hill cut away and properly protected, for the accommodation of the large traffic over the said street; and that the same be done during or before the month of November of this year.

Ald. Wills also gave the following notice of motion: Whereas, the city of Belleville is divided into seven wards and has accordingly, under the provisions of the Municipal Act, 21 members in its municipal council, and whereas the working of the said council has been found cumbersome with so large a representation, and whereas it is desirable to lessen the number of representatives in the said council and so to redistribute the wards of the said city that the same may be done in the most reasonable and least expensive way according to the provisions of the Municipal Act, or that the representation of the city may be had by the fixing of the number of members of the council and the election of the said council to be taken by the votes of the citizens at large irrespective of the ward system which at present exists.

Therefore he gave notice that he would move at the next regular sitting of the Council that a special committee of this Council have referred to them and be directed to report as to the number of electing and the number of municipal councillors to be elected to represent the citizens on this Municipal Council. And that such committee be composed of the Executive Committee of the Council and the chairmen of the other standing committees.

Ald. Luscombe gave notice that he will introduce a by law, closing up the north end of Frank street, immediately adjacent to the concession road.

Ald. Shevlin gave notice that at the next meeting of the Council he would move for a committee to open up George street, in Foster Ward.

Ald. Landenberger gave notice of a by-law that poll tax be collected.

Ald. Landenberger gave notice of a by-law to amend By-law No. 477, relating to the collection and the amount of taxes to be collected on dogs.

Council adjourned at 10 o'clock.

A FLOURISHING HERD.

Mr. Alex. Hume's Cattle and Pigs are Meeting With a Ready Sale.

Mr. Alex. Hume, the well known stock raiser of Burnbrae, Seymour, to-day sent the INTELLIGENCER the following stock notes:

Our dairy herd is in splendid milking form this winter. We are sending 2,500 lbs. per week to the Government creamery at Wellman's Corners, with twelve cows calved and six calves on whole milk, one due to calve in a few days, are feeding ensilage the third year, with good results. The usual comment from visitors is, "they are the finest dairy herd we have seen."

The gross receipts of the milk herd of 26 for 1892, including four 2-year olds and two 3-year old heifers, besides two families supplied with milk and cream, averaged $67.33 per head. We have sold the following sales, and are daily in receipt of enquiries for stock, viz. Ayrshire calves:—Two heifers and one bull, W. Dunk, Courtland; one bull, W.B. Cook, East Williamsburg; two heifers, Jas. Armstrong, Shawville, Que.; one bull, David Beatty, Chapman, Ont.; do. Chas. Rankle, Menie, Ont.; one 4 year old cow, Jas. Eillott, Mountain View. Grade calves—bull and heifer to T. J. Thompson, Springbrook; two heifers to J. Conlan, Madoc; bull and heifer, H. Robinson, Eldorado; heifer, D. Beatty, Chapman; 1 do. J. Morrison, Burnbrae; 1 do. J. McMullan, Eylstone; 1 bull, A. Milne, Campbellford; 1 do. R.S. Crews, Trenton. Yorkshire Pigs for breeding purposes—one sow S. Nix, Burnbrae; two sows M. Dunham, Wellman's Corners; two boars and sow, J. L. Newton, Chapman; one sow, S. Quackenbush, Havelock; sow T. Oddie, Burnbrae; boar D. Campbell, Norwood; boar and sow W. J. Stockdale, International bridge; sow J. H. Ellis; sow J. M. Hurley, Belleville; boar R.S. Crows, Trenton, sow A. Wellman, do. J. H. Douglas, Warkworth, do. C. Nix, Wellman's Corners. Our stock of pigs are the best we have yet had, and they have wintered well. We sold some barrows to ship which weighed 280 to 290 lbs. each at 7 months and a week old, though not forced. We have some choice young pigs of both sexes, farrowed the last of Dec. 1892 on hand, and also a few choice heifer calves.

GREAT SACRIFICE SALE
—OF—
BANKRUPT STOCK OF CLOTHING!

A wholesale manufacturer's stock bought at 57c. on the dollar to be slaughtered. We have always got our argus eye open for these snaps, and now never in Canada has such a chance been offered to secure a suit so cheap, and other dealers should take advantage of it, as we are going to sell them away below wholesale prices. Remember this is no humbug and will create the biggest sensation among clothing men Belleville has ever experienced. Read the list:—

1,000	Children's	2	piece	suits	for 75c.	worth $3.00.
1,000	Boy's	3	"	"	" $1.50	" 4.50.
1,500	Youth's			"	" $2.50	" 5.00.
1,200	Men's			"	" $2.75	" 8.00.

Stacks of men's and boy's knock-about hats for 20c. each. Sold all over for 50c. 3, 40c ties for 25c. Remember only 25c for the $1.20c worth; 2 pairs of socks 5c; braces 10c; in a word a stock of $30,000 at prices that have no parallel in Canada. Parents and heads of families should make their purchases from Gough, because he buys cheaper and sells cheaper than any man on earth, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not as represented. Patronize the man who puts down the prices and keeps them down. Remember we ask no favors, our benefit is your benefit.

MR. WILLIAM WALLBRIDGE TALKS TO A REPORTER ON PAST EVENTS.

All of What is Now the Business Section, at one Time Under Water—Taylor's Bill Reached by Means of Boats—A Lower Temperature Reduces the Danger of a Flood.

A lower temperature this morning removed, for the time being, the possibility of a flood. At 4:20 yesterday afternoon, the ice which had been jammed up against the lower bridge, was relieved in consequence of several charges of dynamite. After once getting full headway, the surplus ice was carried along with considerable force around Pilipen & Graham's saltery, where it can do little or no harm. The raising of South Coleman street, no doubt, prevented the plains from being flooded.

At 10:20 this morning the ice at Coleman's dam broke away, relieving the river between the dam and the upper bridge. The ice moved away slowly, doing no harm. One shot was put in the jam at Burrell's dam, but the ice was not dislodged. A telegram from Montreal authorized the Grand Trunk authorities here to protect their property at any cost. Accordingly a gang of men was put to work to relieve the ice which had piled itself up against the Grand Trunk iron bridge.

Mr. William Wallbridge, one of the oldest residents of Belleville, and who has lived in what has been commonly designated the "white house," on the corner of Front and Dundas street, for sixty-five years, in conversation with a reporter to-day said that he remembered his mother telling him that during a spring flood the entire valley in which the business part of Belleville is now located was completely inundated. "It must have been several years before I was born," continued Mr. Wallbridge, "such a thing as a flood in those days was an uncommon occurrence. On the occasion referred to by my late mother the water reached to the foot of Taylor's hill, which had to be reached by means of boats. It is only within comparatively recent years that freshets have come to be looked on as an almost annual event. The Moira was only a mere creek in Moyers' time, by which name it was then known. It was impossible for much ice to form. All this is changed. The land has been cleared up and the water drained into the Moira, added to which fast lumbermen have directed waters into its course for the purpose of bring down their timber and logs. I can remember when the water used to lie on the land as late as June and sometimes July. Within recent years I have seen as much as ten feet of water on the plains, while huge cakes of ice would be carried along the main streets, over fences and other obstacles without interruption. Both the upper and lower bridges have been carried away by the ice."

Some of the ice jammed against the iron bridge broke away at 2 p. m., and lodged on Burrell's dam.

"Advice is Cheap."

The City Surveyor found ample illustration of the above saying yesterday. "From early morn till dewy eve" he received from all classes and conditions of men an amount of advice that would have upset a man with a less level head. Everybody had had an experience with the ice, and from the past knew just what was going to happen, and the course the ice would take; others knew the key of the situation and where the blasts ought to be put in to move the ice, while others tendered suggestions as to how the dynamite ought to be placed, and hinted that he didn't know much about it.

A GROWING COUNTRY.

The Rapid Development of a Western Canadian Town.

A correspondent writes: "The town of Minnedosa, Man., in the year 1880 had one store and one or two houses. It now has two railways, two passenger trains daily, two elevators, a large roller grist mill, several large stores, large school, four churches, a newspaper, mayor, and aldermen. It is on the Little Saskatchewan river, with splendid but undeveloped water power, and is surrounded by a magnificent farming country. Many farmers have grown rich in ten or twelve years."

A NEW STEAM YACHT.

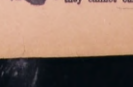

The Pretty Craft Which "Jack" Roblin is Building.

The steam yacht which Mr. "Jack" Roblin contracted to build for Mr. E. B. Burrell is nearing completion. The hull, which has been planked, caulked and painted, is a pretty model, which promises both speed and stability, the bow being fine on the water line, whilst the run is clean. In construction the craft is light, yet strong. Her keel is oak, 8 in. x 8 in., with keelsons 8 in. x 4 in.; frames of oak bent 1½ in. x 2½ in., 12 in. centres. The garboard strake is oak, 1¼ in. thick; sheer strake 1 in. thick, also of oak; planking of white cedar, 1 in. thick. All fastenings are galvanized screws, not a nail below the covering board. The decks are of black walnut and cedar—alternate strips. The dimensions of the yacht are: Length of keel, 28 feet; length over all, 35 ft.; length of water line, 29 ft. 6 in.; extreme beam, 7 ft.; draught of water 2 ft. 6 in. She will be driven by an engine of 10 h. p., vertical compound keel condenser. The boiler will be of steel, 34 in. diameter, 50 in. high, with 180 tubes 2½ and 1¼ in. each, and a speed of at least 10 miles per hour is expected. The entire design, it may be added, boiler excepted, is the work of Mr. Roblin, who will build another one of somewhat greater size when the vessel under notice has been completed.

ADELINE SERGEANT,

Author of "A True Friend," "etc., etc.

(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

'Of that, however, I will not speak. I wish only before we separate, to introduce you to my wife, who has never been here before, and whom I am sure you will welcome for my sake.'

There was a moment of astonishment. Every one knew something of the story of Caspar's married life, and was taken back by the appearance of his wife. But when Maurice Kenyon led the way by clapping his hands vigorously, someone took up the word, and cried, 'Three cheers for Mrs. Brooke.' And Lady Alice started at the new title, and thought that it sounded much better than the one by which she was usually known.

'Shall I say any more?' said Caspar, smiling as he stooped down to her. But suddenly she rose to her feet and put her hand within his arm. 'No,' she said, 'I am going to do it myself.'

The storm of clapping was renewed and died away when it was perceived that Lady Alice was about to speak. She was a little flushed, but perfectly self-possed, and her clear silvery voice could be heard in every corner of the room.

'I wish to thank you, too,' she said, 'for your kindness to my husband and myself. I hope I shall know more of his work here by and by, and in the meantime I can only tell you that you are right to trust him and believe in him—as I trust him and believe in him with all my heart and soul!'

She turned to him a little as she spoke, her face transfigured—the faith in her making itself manifest in her features and in gesture alike. There was not applause so much as a murmur of assent when she had done; and Caspar, laying hold of her hand, looked down at her with a new warmth of tenderness, and said half wonderingly,

'Why, Alice!'

'Do you think I could let them go without telling them what you are to me?' she said, with a kind of passion in her voice which reminded him of Lesley. But there was no time to say any more for every person in the room presented himself or herself to shake hands with Caspar and his wife, and to admire the spoons, which had been purchased only the night before.

'Very glad to see you amongst us, Mrs. Brooke, mum; and hope you'll come again,' was heard so often that Lady Alice was quite amazed by the warmth of the greeting. 'And the young lady too—where's she? she ought to have been here as well,' said one woman; to which Maurice Kenyon responded in a pleased growl—

'Yes, confound your blundering, so she ought: and so she would have been, if you hadn't nearly made such a blessed mull of the whole affair.'

He did not think that anybody heard him, and was rather taken back when Lady Alice smiled at him over her shoulder. 'What do you mean, Mr. Kenyon?' she said.

Maurice was on his good behaviour immediately. 'Oh, nothing, Lady Alice; only that Miss Brooke might have been here if we had only had a hint beforehand, and it is a pity she should have missed it.'

'A great pity,' said Lesley's mother; and she looked quite complacently at the twelve silver spoons, which she was guarding so jealously, as if she feared they would be taken away from her.

Outside the door when the assembly had reluctantly dispersed, after an improvised collation, given by Caspar, of hot drinks and plum cake, a little crowd of men and boys cheered the departing pair of the day so valiantly that Lady Alice was almost glad to find herself once more driving through the dusky London streets with he husband at her side. Miss Brooke and Maurice had elected to walk home.

'There's one thing,' said Caspar, rather later in the day, as a history of these experiences was unfolded to Lesley; 'we quite forgot to tell the good folks your mother's name and title. She was applauded to the echo as Mrs. Brooke.'

'Oh, you must never tell them,' said Lady Alice hastily. 'I do not want to be anything else, please—now.'

'I wish they had let one know beforehand,' said Maurice, 'they kept it a dead secret—even from me.'

'All the greater surprise for us,' said Mr. Brooke. Then he looked at Maurice for a moment, and smiled. But it was long before they mentioned to each other what both had thought and felt in the heart-breaking minute of suspense when they believed that Caspar was deserted in the hour of need.

'Well,' said Caspar Brooke at length, 'whatever may happen now'—and he made a pause which was fraught with graver meaning than he would have cared to put into words—'I can feel at any rate that I have had my say. And you, Alice—well, my dear, you will always have those silver spoons to look at! So we have not done badly after all.'

Like Sir Thomas Moore, he would have joked when going to the scaffold; but jokes under such circumstances have rather a ghastly sound in the ears of his family.

CHAPTER XL.

CAIN.

Maurice Kenyon took an early opportunity of asking Lady Alice whether she would recognize the man Smith if she saw him again.

'I think so. Why do you ask? You know I talked to him a good deal.'

'I have been very blind,' said Maurice seriously. 'I never thought until to-day of associating him in my mind with anyone else—someone whom I have seen twice during the past week. May I speak freely to you? You know that I am as anxious as the body can possibly be that this mystery should be cleared up. I wish to speak of Francis Trent, the brother of Oliver Trent, and the husband of the woman who makes this accusation against Mr. Brooke.'

Lady Alice recoiled. 'You cannot mean that John Smith had anything to do with him?'

'I have a strong belief that John Smith and Francis Trent are one and the same. To my shame may it be spoken, I did not recognize him either on Wednesday or Friday, when I paid him a visit. Ethel wished me to go when she heard that he was ill.' He said in a deprecating tone.

'I quite understand. You saw the man—Francis Trent—then?'

'Yes, and could not imagine where I had seen him before. I used to see him in the hospital. Lady Alice—If you saw him yourself—'

'I, Mr. Kenyon! What! see the man and woman who accuse my husband of murder! There was genuine horror in her tone. 'How could I speak to them?'

'It is just a chance,' said Maurice in a low voice. 'If he knew that you were the wife of the man who was accused—perhaps something would come of it.'

'What do you mean?'

'Lady Alice, pray do not build too much on what I am going to say. If Francis Trent and John Smith be the same, then my knowledge of John Smith's previous condition leads me to think it quite possible that Francis Trent who, in a fit of frenzy, committed the murder of which your husband is suspected.'

Lady Alice looked at him in silence. 'I don't see exactly,' she said, 'that I should be of much use.'

'Nor I—exactly,' said Maurice. 'But I see a vague chance; and I ask you for husband's sake—to try it.'

'Ah, you know that I cannot refuse you that,' she said quickly. And then she arranged with him where they should meet on the following afternoon in order to drive to the lodgings now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Trent. Whether this proceeding might not be stigmatized as 'tampering witnesses,' Maurice and Lady Alice neither knew nor cared. If Maurice had a doubt, he stifled it by telling himself that they were not going to visit the 'witness,' Mary Trent, but the sick man, John Smith in whom Lady Alice had been interested at the hospital.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE MEMBERS LOOK FOR PROROGATION ON SATURDAY.

Bill Introduced Providing For Branding Cheese so as to Prevent Any Skidoglery —The Members Are Making Preparations to Return to Their Homes.

OTTAWA, March 29.—There is scarcely any reasonable doubt now about the business of the House being closed up on Thursday night and prorogation taking place on Saturday. The invitations to seats on the floor of the Senate at prorogation were issued yesterday in the usual manner—without any one being named. The usual notices to members asking them to leave the keys of their desks and wardrobes behind them when they start for home are posted in the lobbies, and members who are leaving, and quite a number go tonight, pays a little attention to the notices as usual.

It is a singular fact that every year about 200 new keys have to be furnished for the desks and boxes in the Commons and press rooms to replace those taken away at the close of the previous session. Some of the members might have quite a fine collection of old iron at home as a memento of their visits to Ottawa.

On the meeting of the House this afternoon Hon. Mr. Foster moved that the House meet at 11 o'clock in the morning on Wednesday and Thursday which was agreed to.

Hon. Mr. Foster then, with the consent of the House, introduced a bill to provide for the marking or branding of cheese. He said that as the result of the conversation which took place in the House some time ago with respect to American cheese being exported as Canadian the Minister of Agriculture had asked Professor Robertson to look into the matter, and a bill had been prepared, which he wished to get printed, but which he may not be prepared to proceed with this year. The bill was introduced.

He asked from the Senate to incorporate the Dominion Live Stock Association was read a third time and passed.

The report of the Committee on Ways and Means was received and Hon. Mr. Foster introduced a bill founded thereon providing for a change in the duty on binder twine, etc.

On the first section Mr. Charlton talked for about two hours, going over again all the subject of the visit of the Canadian Ministers to Washington and trying to show that the Government was to blame for not getting reciprocity with the United States.

Mr. Davin called attention to the duty on books and also raised again his objection to the duties on agricultural implements and barbed wire.

After some further discussion the bill was read a first time.

The following acts were read a third time and passed:

Respecting grants of land to members of the militia force on active service in the Northwest in 1885.

To amend the Patent Act.

To confirm the sale of the Carleton, City of St. John branch railway.

Hon. Mr. Daly moved the second reading of the act to further amend the Dominion Lands Act, and the House was in committee on the bill when the Speaker left the chair at 6 o'clock.

A meeting of the Press Gallery was held this evening, Vice-President Magurn in the chair. Mr. W. J. Healy, secretary, was presented with a handsome ring as a token of appreciation by his confreres.

The following vote of thanks to the Minister of Public Works was also passed: "That the members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery of 1893 desire to express their thanks to the Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works, for the courtesy with which he received the suggestion that the lighting of the Press Gallery rooms should be improved and for the promptitude with which he instructed the officials to meet the views of the gallery in that respect."

At a Liberal caucus held this forenoon, Mr. Laurier announced to his followers in Parliament that he had decided to call a Dominion convention of his followers in the country to be held in Ottawa on June 20 next. It is understood that efforts were being made to get the meeting for Toronto or Montreal, but to-day Mr. Laurier thought Ottawa the most central point. The meeting will be held in the Dominion rink, which will accommodate over 4000 people.

DIFFICULT TO ARREST.

Two Wounded Indians At Pine Ridge Agency Well Guarded.

RAPID CITY, S.D., March 29.—The attempt to arrest and bring in the wounded Indians, Two Sticks and White-faced Horse, who are wanted for the killing of Reyes and his three companions at the Pine Ridge Agency, Beef Camp, has failed. Deputy-Marshal Matthieson, who went out from the agency to N-water's camp on Friday, was warned off. Later the Indian police sent to bring in the murderers were fired upon and it is clear that the offenders cannot be taken from the asylum without decisive steps. The whole Indian police force will probably be sent against the No. Water's camp. The trouble is apparently confined to this one band.

A Baptism Stopped by Fire.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 29.—The water in the tank in the Christian Church in which converts are dipped is heated by means of gasolene stoves under the tank. The stoves were lighted Sunday evening and the pastor, Rev. A. B. Moody, donned his baptismal robe and prepared to immerse the candidates. Just then the flames set fire to the floor and Mr. Moore's clothes were burned. He had to go home in his bathing suit.

Damaged by Floods.

WASHINGTON'S CROSSING, N.J., March 29.—The breaking of the great ice gorge in the Delaware River and the consequent subsiding of the water on the farm lands along the Delaware reveals damage that will require years to remedy. On the New Jersey side of the river orchards and vineyards are ruined. Many roads are in a bad condition and will have to be rebuilt. It is estimated the total loss from the freshet amounts to $1,000,000.

New York Times Sold.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The Tribune says: It is reported that the contract for the sale of The New York Times was drawn up and agreed to yesterday.

The present editor of The Times, Charles R. Miller, and the managing editor, George F. Spinney, are interested as proprietors in the company and are to be continued in their present places. It was in their interest, indeed, that the new company has been formed.

What Enterprise Does.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The packing firm of Swift & Co. yesterday increased its capital stock from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000. Thirty years ago the business consisted of a little butcher shop at Cape Cod, with one wagon.

HOWLED OUT OF PARIS.

Indignities to a German Newspaper Correspondent.

PARIS, March 29.—Otto Brandes, Paris correspondent of The Berliner Tageblatt, who was ordered from the country on the suspicion of having been the author of an article charging Ernest Carnot with receiving Panama money, went to the police bureau yesterday and gave notice that he would start for Germany at once.

His house in Asnieres, a suburb of Paris, had already been covered with insulting placards, and when he left it with Mrs. Brandes a crowd of men and boys began hooting and groaning at him. The crowd followed Mr. and Mrs. Brandes to their train without an effort from the police to drive them back.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Brandes' daughters left the house to meet their parents in the city. The young women were surrounded by 40 men and boys, were hustled about, and before they could get to the train were struck repeatedly with sticks and lumps of dirt. One of the daughters received a severe cut on the head and required the services of a physician before she could leave the city. The Government made no effort to protect the Brandes family from such abuses, but even allowed them to travel without the usual escort of gendarmes.

A CAREFUL SUICIDE.

A Retired Agnostic Schoolmaster Fills His Chest With Shot.

LAKEWOOD, N.J., March 29.—William Kinser, a retired schoolmaster about 60 years of age, living in Bethel, a small village two miles north of here, committed suicide by shooting himself in the breast with a shotgun.

Kinser was a confirmed agnostic, and is said by several of his neighbors to have been demented for some time, one of his daughters having caused him great sorrow.

He seemed in his usual mood after breakfast, and told his wife that he was going for a walk. He called on a nephew of his, John Estell, and borrowed the gun, saying he wanted to kill a hawk.

Kiaser must have hid the gun in the woods, as no one saw him with it when he came to the house for dinner. After dinner he said he was going to walk to Lakewood. This was the last seen of him alive, and it was not until dusk this evening that any apprehension was felt for his safety.

He had often threatened to kill himself, so his wife started out to hunt for him. After searching an hour she found him lying on his back dead in a clump of bushes.

He must have premeditated suicide for some time, as he built a bridge about the spot where he was to kill himself with a lot of brush dragged from an adjoining wood.

Entering this he had dug a hole in the ground, placed the stock of the gun in it and then sat down in front of the muzzle, holding the barrel with one hand and setting the gun off by pushing the trigger with a cane held in the other hand.

Kinser was a comparatively easy circumstances and leaves a widow and five children.

CANADIAN TRAINMEN.

The Order Elect Officers and Report Everything Lovely.

MONTREAL, March 29.—At the annual meeting of the U.S. and Canada Grand Masters and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of Canada, which was held here yesterday, the following officers were elected:

J. Riley, Toronto, chairman of conductors; M. Huskin, Stratford, secretary of conductors; W. Dunbar, York, chairman of trainmen; Q. Ironside, York, secretary of trainmen; joint committee, W. C. Waynh, Brockville, chairman; R. Irousides secretary.

The most harmonious relations exist between the orders and the G.T.R., all differences having been settled last year.

A SUIT OF THE BORDER.

A Butcher Recovers $400 Damages For False Imprisonment.

UTICA, N.Y., March 29.—A suit was commenced in the U.S. court yesterday, wherein DeWain Shipman, a butcher at the Thousand Islands, demanded damages against U.S. Collector G. H. Smith of Clayton and Deputy Collectors S. Breed, Slate and Oates for false imprisonment. Shipman had been arrested on the charge of smuggling meat into this country from Canada. He was imprisoned several days and finally discharged upon examination having proved that he chased and killed the lambs upon American islands.

This morning the attorney agreed upon a settlement and Judge Coxe, directed judgment against the defendant for $400. Shipman is a son of Charles Shipman, a notorious smuggler who shot and killed John Fitzsimmons near Lockport, Ont., last Friday.

ELGIN ASSIZES.

The Trial of George Young for Murder to be Proceeded with To-day.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., March 29.—The trial of George Young for murder is set down for Thursday.

The case of John Sullivan, against which a true bill for manslaughter was brought in at the Fall Assizes, was at the request of counsel this evening laid over for the Spring Sessions. Prisoner is charged with shooting his landlady, Miss Henderson, last autumn but the jury disagreed at the last court and he has since languished in prison cells waiting another trial.

A MATTER OF TASTE.

A U.S. Officer to Marry a Wealthy Chinese Girl.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—A Honolulu letter says: The engagement of Commander Whiting of the United States man-of-war Alliance to Miss Etta Ah Fong, daughter of Ah Fong, a wealthy Chinese merchant of Honolulu, is formally announced. The father of the prospective bride is very wealthy and entertains here in princely oriental style. The bride is one of a family of 13 children, is a beautiful and accomplished girl of 17, while the prospective groom is said to be 50 years of age.

Capron Won by 500 to 300.

TORONTO, March 29.—J. W. Capron of Galt and George Sutton, Toronto, met for the third time at billiards and the second time at the ball line game last night. Unlike the two preceding contests, the Galt man won yesterday's game rather handily as Sutton scarcely showed his true form any time during the evening and to his poor play, rather than his opponent's superior work, was due the result.

Honduras' President Reigns.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 29.—The steamship Alvarado arrived here from Honduras last night. She reports that President Leiva has resigned and ex-President Bogrone has assumed charge of the Government.

A Famous General Dead.

VIENNA, March 29.—Baron Guylia, whom Moltke once described as the best cavalry general in Europe, died last night.

The Niagara Central.

HAMILTON, March 29.—The city will vote on April 26 on a bylaw to grant a $125,000 bonus to the Niagara Central Railway.

A Plain Statement.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Price 25c.

An apple tree will pay better than any with the same attention.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladona Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25c.

Roots and tubers should generally be fed with other and more nutrious foods.

In order to prive a quietus to a hacking cough, take a dose of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener, if the spirit prompt it necessary This widely esteemed remedy also cures carick in the back, rheumatic complaints, kidney complaint, pains, etc. It is used inwardly and outwardly.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, causes difficulty in breath ing. Thereby gives relief to that oppressive tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and bu kiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and relieve them from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had frequent spasms and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, scalding pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least. These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

There can be no good crop without good seed; grapes do not come from thorns.

TOLERANCE IN CANADA.

THE EXAMPLE CITED BY PREMIER GLADSTONE.

When Deputations Ask Him to Give Up Home Rule on Account of Racial and Religious Difference, He Says Canada Proves Their Contention Wrong.

LONDON, March 29.—Mr. Gladstone was visited Tuesday by delegations from the Belfast Chamber of Commerce, the Belfast Harbor Commissioners and the Ulster Linen Merchants' Association, who addressed him in deputation on the question of the proposition to establish a separate legislature in Ireland, and represented that Irish interests would be greatly injured thereby, and that religious and racial differences would make successful Home Rule impossible.

Mr. Gladstone, in reply, discounted the importance of the fall in Irish securities which, he said, doubtless arose from the fact that the majority of the property-owning classes in Ireland were opposed to Home Rule. Mr. Gladstone disputed the allegation that historical jealousy existed between members of the Protestant sects in Ireland, and he denied that racial divisions would prevent unity under one local government.

Mr. Gladstone referred to the Dominion of Canada for an instance of the existence of racial divisions, infinitely sharper than in Ireland. There, said he, there had been similar gloomy prophecies, when a united autonomous system of government was proposed. But Canada, nevertheless, was contented and prosperous.

As to the charge that capital would be driven from Ireland by Home Rule, Mr. Gladstone said that so far from there being chronic want of money in Ireland when Home Rule would be established there, there would, he believed, be a plethora of money because the expenses of the Government were now enormously extravagant.

Mr. Gladstone subsequently received a deputation of London merchants and bankers who had come to represent the danger to financial interests involved in the Irish Home Rule scheme.

Mr. Gladstone said he was sadly sensitive that the Government was not in touch with the money classes, whose views were commonly opposed to national sentiment. They should remember, however, that the last period of the last Irish Parliament had been a period of marked financial progress and the proposed measure was, as a matter of fact, conservative and not revolutionary.

Aid For Home Rule.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The committee in charge of the Home Rule mass meeting Sunday night met this evening and counted up cash subscriptions and guarantees. It was found that the aggregate was about $14,000. It was decided to entrust the formation of a plan for raising $150,000, which is the amount to be raised if possible in this country, to nine trustees of the Irish federation.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

He Says the Senate of France is the Safeguard of the Country.

PARIS, March 29.—M. Challenet Lacour, newly elected as President of the Senate in place of M. Jules Ferry, deceased, took the chair yesterday as presiding officer. There was a large attendance and the introductory address of the new president was listened to with great interest. M. Lacour said:

France must ever find in the Senate the surest safeguard against the agitations reviewed from time to time by parties hoping to turn them to their own advantage. The Senate, mindful of the movements that are now occurring in the political and moral conditions of society, ought to support the Government in dealing with these conditions.

The outspoken advocacy of the Government was not unexpected, in view of the support given by the supporters of M. President Carnot to M. Challenet Lacour's candidacy.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY MARCH 29

HOW ENGLAND PROTECTS HERSELF.

Great Britain has made the nearest approach to free trade of any civilized country, in her customs tariff, and she is constantly referred to by tariff reformers as the great exemplar of freedom of commerce. And yet, although the mass of reading men have never reflected on the fact, England has quietly pursued the most effective means of protecting her greatest interest, namely her marine. Here are some of the particulars:

At the present time the British Post Office is under contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company to pay it £265,000 ($1,325,000) per annum for a fortnightly service to Shanghai. For a like service to Adelaide, in South Australia, the same company receives £85,000 ($425,000) premium. The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company receives £85,000 ($425,000) yearly for a fortnightly service to and from the West Indies. Both of these great lines are creations of the British Treasury. The present compensation, liberal though it seems, is parsimonious compared to the lavish subsidies paid to these companies in former years. The curtailments have been made, not in a spirit of retrenchment, but simply because the ships do not need so much as formerly in order to maintain themselves. Besides the payments to the lines named, £85,000 ($425,000) goes to the Orient Steam Navigation Company for a fortnightly service to Sydney, New Zealand. The Canadian Pacific steamships receive £60,000 ($300,000) a year, one-fourth of which is paid by Canada. The British India Steam Navigation Company receives £16,000 ($80,000) per annum for monthly trips from London to Zanzibar. Two lines making weekly trips to the Cape of Good Hope receive each £26,000 ($130,000). The British India Steam Navigation Company gets £7,500 ($37,500) a year for service to Ceylon and Mauritius.

These amounts are all definitely stated in the contract. Other lines and also some of those named above receive large subsidies in the form of high rates per mile and per pound for carrying mail matter, although the total yearly payments are not fixed in the contract. In addition are the Admiralty subventions paid to the owners of many of the vessels included in the lines specified. These are wholly independent of the post office subsidies, and are paid in consideration of the vessels being built so as to be available as armed cruisers, and on condition that they shall be held at the disposal of the Government.

Thus one form of protection, and the most efficient at that, has found favor with British statesmen of all parties, who unite in support of it, whilst the majority of them unite in condemning protection in other forms.

Montreal Markets.

From the Montreal Star of Wednesday we gather the following markets:

CHEESE.

The cheese market presents no new features. Values rule steady, ranging from 11½ to 12c as to quality. Stocks are about equal to local requirement. English markets are unchanged.

BUTTER.

There is a good steady local trade reported in butter, but under larger receipts prices are a shade easier, although not quotably changed. Outside figures are realized on choice parcels in small lots. We quote: Creamery 21c to 23c, Townships dairy, 21c to 22c, Morrisburg & Brockville 20c to 22c, Western dairies 19c to 21c, Western roll, new, 19c to 21c.

EGGS.

There is an increased enquiry for eggs for Easter wants, and prices are a shade stiffer, ranging from 13c to 14c. Receipts are improving, which will doubtless have an effect on values within a few days.

LIVE STOCK.

Trade generally throughout the week was slow. The offerings were large, but little demand, buyers preferring to wait for the Easter trade, resulting in a number of cattle left over, anticipating a brisk trade the coming week.

The supply of hogs was considerably larger than has been for some time past, and fell in value accordingly, nice lots closing at $6 60. Small stock of good quality find ready markets at fair prices. We quote the following as being fair values: Cattle, butchers' good, 3½ to 4½c; cattle, butchers' med., 2c to 3c; cattle, butchers' culls, 2½; sheep and lambs, 4½c to 4½c; hogs, 6½ to $6 60; calves, $3 to $12.

Between 800 and 900 head of cattle, 60 sheep and lambs, and a dozen or more calves were offered at the Eastern Abattoir market. A fairly brisk trade was done in cattle, but prices were rather low. From 4½c to 5½c per lb. was paid for extra Easter beeves, while common to good quality brought from 3½ to 4½c. The best calves were nearly all bought up before reaching the market. A few extra Easter calves brough. exceptionally high prices, and common to good sold from $4.00 to $10 00. Spring lambs brought from $3.50 to $6 according to size and quality. Fat hogs sold at from 6½ to 6¾ per lb.

DANGEROUS EXPERIMENT.

A U.S. Editor's Opinion on the California Parole Bill.

ROCHESTER, March 29.—The Herald editorially says:

California seems to have entered upon a new era in the management of prisons. The Governor has approved a parole bill, which applies to about a thousand convicts who have served over one year of their first terms in the state prisons of California. Details of this measure are not at hand. It may be assumed that the authorities do not intend immediately to liberate all these criminals, although that is the inference from the press despatch.

Probably the object of the bill is to authorize the parole of convicts, whose good behavior in prison leads to the belief that they will make proper use of their liberty. Some form of surveillance over the movements of paroled prisoners is presumably contemplated, although it is difficult to keep watch of a "crook" out of jail. It is hardly possible that a thousand criminals are to be turned loose at once, simply because Governor Markham has signed the bill.

California is in an especially unfortunate condition for the inauguration of a parole system. Its history is full of deeds of blood and violence and, although it has made rapid strides in the direction of law and order, its criminal class remains large and desperate. While larcenies and petty thieving may not prevail to the extent they do in the East, the general impression is that the higher grades of crime multiply on the Pacific Coast. A parole system is dangerous under such circumstances, for assuming that the liberated prisoners will in many instances reform, some cannot fail to return to their old ways and do great evil before they can be again arrested. A parole system is also open to objection in any State on the ground that scheming politicians may secure a parole for some powerful prisoner, when the Governor would not offend public sentiment by granting the offender a full pardon.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

George Epps of Ancaster Was Insane When He Hanged Himself.

HAMILTON, March 29.—Coroner Brandon of Ancaster held an inquest last night upon the death of George Epps, whose body was found hanging in a barn on his premises, three miles from Dundas. The inquest was held at Victoria School in Governor's road, Captain A. Leith being foreman of the jury.

The testimony of several witnesses went to show that deceased had been found hanging by a logging chain around his neck in his barn. Deceased was a quiet, industrious man, but poor.

Fifteen years ago he was a patient in the Hamilton Asylum, having inherited insanity through his father, who also committed suicide some years ago. He was of a quiet, melancholy disposition, and had on more than one occasion spoken of hanging himself.

He generally carried a razor. Epps was a married man of middle age. The jury returned this verdict: "That George Epps came to his death by his own hand while suffering from a fit of insanity."

Suing the Government.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 29.—Maxime Dupont of this city has instructed his attorneys to bring action against the Canadian Government for $100,000 damages for false arrest. He was arrested here on Jan. 3 accused of highway robbery in Canada, but it being proved that he had not left this city for four years, he was acquitted.

Choctaw Fight Reported.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 29.—It is reported here that a battle took place between Choctaw factions at Antler, I.T., yesterday and 20 men were killed.

EDUCATION IN ONTARIO.

HAMILTON LEADS IN EXHIBITS FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

An Elaborate Arrangement of the Fruits of Labor Among the Rising Generation—Not Two Per Cent. of the Contributions Can Be Used.

TORONTO, March 29.—Dr. S. P. May and his staff of assistants have been laboring night and day for the past few weeks in getting together the Ontario Educational Department's exhibit for the World's Fair. The great object has been to make the greatest display possible in the least possible space.

The specimens of writing, arithmetic, commercial work, etc., are neatly bound in volumes with the names of the school on the back of each book. The drawings are placed in covers intact so that the names of the schools and pupils can readily be ascertained. The larger specimens are mounted on maps and placed in winged frames, thus making a good exhibit of them.

The system adopted in arranging the exhibit is different from that used in any similar exhibit which Ontario has yet placed before the public. The arrangement is to show, first, the history and statues of the educational system, which is done by means of large diagrams, reports, etc. This is followed by the text books, which assist the teachers of the various departments in accomplishing their work.

The philosophical apparatus used in the schools is also exhibited. On account of the limited space it will be impossible to show the school furniture, maps, etc.

The school system is graded as follows: primary, intermediate and higher education, special schools and schools for defective classes.

The work sent in illustrates Kindergarten, Public schools, Separate schools, Normal and Model schools, High schools and Collegiate Institutes, Upper Canada College, School of Pedagogy and the colleges and universities.

The work from the Public Schools will illustrate the advantage of Ontario's school system. It is noticeable, particularly in one section, that the industrial designs which have been sent in for competition for silver medals offered by Warwick Bros. & Rutter, Copp, Clark & Co. and the Methodist Book Room, are far above the average and away beyond the most sanguine expectations of the Educational Department.

Among the collection from the Roman Catholic Separate schools, the De La Salle Institute makes a large display of work which is really excellent, and which reflects great credit on the Christian Brothers. The work from the schools in charge of the Sisters will also commare favorably with that sent from any of the public schools of the province.

Hamilton takes the lead in regard to the exhibits from the entire old province. It illustrates its system of education from the primary class of age up to those who take the commercial courses or are in attendance at the Collegiate Institutes. No trains have been spared to make the exhibit a first-class one. Photos of all the principal schools are neatly mounted on cards and look very handsome.

In order to illustrate the great value of the school buildings in Canada, Dr. May gives in the catalog the name of the principal, the number of assistants, the number of pupils and the cost of each building.

The work from the Art Schools exemplifies the views of the Educational Department regarding the encouragement of work of a class which is remunerative and also useful for other than ornamental purposes. There are illustrations of industrial designs for various departments of manufactures, drawings for lithography, specimens of carving in wood, and painting on china, baked examples of modelling in clay, plaster casts of modelling in clay, machine drawing, and other practical demonstrations of the commerce of Canada.

The Mechanics' Institutes send in some excellent work, illustrative of mechanical drawing. One example that is particularly worthy of mention is a model of a steamboat for navigating the new St. Lawrence Canals, which are to be completed in 1896. The model was designed and made by Mr. Thomas Brian and the drawings of hull and engine by Mr. John Dix, both members of the Garden Island Mechanics' Institute.

Dr. May has prepared several large charts illustrative of the progress of education in the public schools in the cities during the past several decades, which are of a highly interesting nature and which will be embodied in the catalog.

A collection of illustrations from the industrial departments of the Deaf and Dumb Institution of Belleville shows the result of the work of the pupils in the various departments. The arts department display from this institution, consisting of sketches in crayons and good work in oils and water colors, reflects great credit on the management, as does the neat and newsy little paper, which is set up and run off by the pupils.

The Asylum for the Blind at Brantford and the Agricultural College at Guelph have also sent in most creditable displays.

Taken altogether, the entire exhibit is one which will without doubt bring Ontario up to the front in regard to educational matters, and Dr. May is certain that she will reflect as much credit upon herself as she has done on all other occasions.

PLUTOCRAT MURDERED.

His Body Found at the Bottom of an Old Well.

UPPER MARLBORO', Md., March 29.—Southern Maryland is wildly excited by the murder of a white man. On Sunday last Francis M. Bowie, a millionaire in Lower Prince George's County, came to Marlboro' on business. Early on Sunday morning his horse was found in the stable yard with the saddle-cloth clotted with blood.

Search was made at once and about midway between here and the "Forest," Mr. Bowie's residence, there was found a pool of blood in the roadway. There were signs of a struggle and a track, as if a body had been dragged toward a group of abandoned cabins.

The track led to an old well and at the bottom of this was found the body of Mr. Bowie. His skull had been fractured by a blow from a club or sling shot, and his throat was cut. His gold watch and other jewelry and a large sum of money were missing. Late in the afternoon John Wesley Johnson, a colored man, was arrested on suspicion.

He made a desperate effort to escape. He will say nothing, but his clothing is spattered with blood. Detectives from Baltimore have been engaged to run down the murderers.

Winnipeg Wants Kribs.

WINNIPEG, March 29.—It is rumored here that a new Conservative daily paper will shortly be established in this city, under the management of Louis P. Kribs.

Proud of Canada.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 29.—The Canadian students of the University of Michigan have organized a Canadian Club, with the following officers: President, W. A. Brice, Kingston; vice-president, A. McIntyre, Winnipeg; secretary-treasurer, D. C. Shields, London; marshal, J. W. Reid, Windsor. Its objects are to revive memories of home and childhood and promote interest in that vigorous and ambitious young nation of wealth and vastness.

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desparate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why Does a Woman Look Older Sooner Than a Man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best on the market and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrapper, if you have the ends open. Write your addresses carefully.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufrine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Handsome Features.

Sometimes unsightly blotches, pimples, or sallow opaque skin, destroys the attractiveness of handsome features. In all such cases Scott's Emulsion will build up the system and impart freshness and beauty.

Special Mention.

SOME SYMPTOMS OF WORMS ARE:—Fever, colic, variable appetite, restlessness, weakness and convulsions. The unfailing remedy is Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

AS A PICK-ME-UP after excessive exertion or exposure, Hibbard's Red Iron and Wine is grateful and comforting.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the digestion, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the natural processes.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

There is no reason why children shou'd be allowed to suffer from loathsome scrofulous sores and glandular swellings, when such a pleasant, effective, and economical medicine as Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be procured of the nearest druggist. Be sure you get Ayer's.

Those who keep their blood in a pure and healthy condition need have no fear of any disease attacking them. It is the enfeebled, run down system upon which disease has its fangs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have no equal as a blood builder, nerve tonic, and preventative of disease. Thousands of grateful people testify to the wonderful power of this remedy. Take no substitute or imitation; 50c. a box or six boxes for $2 50. Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

South American Rhoumatic Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause, and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Warranted by L. W. Yeomans. 2533m

Curling Notes.

The cold snap of the past two days had the effect of making good ice at the curling rink, and in consequence the contest for the Pitceathly medal between two year old players was finished last night. The winner was Mr. Geo. Twining, his opponent being Ald. La Roche.

A match was also played between rinks representing the Canadians and the Old Country players. The former were victorious.

THE MOIRA ON A TEAR.

A MAGNIFICENT SIGHT WITNESSED BY HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE.

The South End Inundated—Residents forced to Vacate Their Houses—A Government Engineer on the Ground.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon, the ice which had remained intact between the upper bridge and Burrell's dam, was loosened by the discharge of several blasts of dynamite, which had been put in during the day. The ice had hardly started in its course down the river, when the men stationed at the Grand Trunk iron bridge were signalled from Lazier's mill that the jam had broken away above that point, and was moving down the river. For some days past a gang of men had been at work putting dynamite cartridges into the ice lodged against the bridge. Some fifteen charges were put in, which were discharged by pressing an electric button. While the Grand Trunk authorities here had received instructions from Montreal to protect their property at any cost, it was thought better not to send the ice off until the bridge was threatened by additional pressure from above. As soon as the signal was raised at Lazier's mill the explosives were discharged, which at once set the ice loose, and in an instant the huge mass was moving down the river with great velocity. The beauty and grandeur of such a sight is rare even in Belleville. Not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant on the river has the Moira been so heavily frozen. The only thing that prevented the jam from carrying everything before it and creating widespread destruction was the absence of any great volume of water. In some cases the ice was from two to three feet thick, while huge cakes stretched themselves half way across the river, and were not broken up until they had reached the lower bridge, where hundreds of people had gathered to witness a sight not soon forgotten. Immense blocks of ice were forced far into the air only to be carried onward and sucked back into the seething, chaotic mass as it twisted and contorted itself in its mad race. Huge pieces of timber were hurled along as if they were feathers and ground into splinters. At the lower bridge the water left its natural course and forced itself through C. Nosworthy's yard into Coleman street, carrying with it large cakes of ice and flooding back premises in the vicinity. On Everett street the flood surged through the sewer and backed into the street and yards. Just below C. & J. Weese's marble works the water leaped over the Coleman street embankment and flowed over the plains upon Brock street, carrying with it a large quantity of ice. With such a pressure behind the mass, the buildings near Phippen & Graham's ashery would have been carried away like so many match boxes, had it not been for the raising of the level on Coleman street. As it was, the property in that section was under two feet of water. On Water street the ice was piled up eight and ten feet high, while the water was covered over the flats as far west as Mary street. The commons off South Coleman street was covered with ice, which was forced as far as King street. Other than the flooding of the houses in the vicinity and the tearing down of several fences, no particular injury was done. Last night the residents in the neighborhood left their houses by means of boats. A reporter of the INTELLIGENCER assisted in taking out an old lady who was in a feeble state, and who will not likely recover from the effects of a severe chill.

On the east side of the river the jam tore off several boards from buildings along the water front, owned by R. Gibson, E. Harris and the Queen's Hotel. The water came through the Queen's Hotel gangway, and ran down Front street. Near No. 1 fire hall the ice bulged into Front street, one cake several feet square being jammed against the Commercial House. The sidewalk on Front Street was torn up in several places, while Wm. H. Carter's boat house was slightly damaged. A few cakes of ice were forced into Dundas street, but little or no damage was done. After the ice had spent its force the water subsided. There is no apprehension felt of further danger from the ice, which melted away rapidly to day under a warm sun.

Mr Ritchie Interviewed.

Mr. Thos. Ritchie stated to a reporter to-day that the elevation of South Coleman street was undoubtedly the salvation of the flats. "The river was deepened about two feet, while the roadway was raised four feet, making a difference of six feet. This had the effect of confining the water within the river bed until the ice was carried beyond Phippen & Graham's ashery, where it could do no harm. Had it not been for the raising of this road the water would have left its bounds below the lower bridge, while the ice would have been left to pile itself up near the bridge, forcing the water back and inundating the property along the river front."

A Government Engineer on the Situation.

On receipt of a telegram from the Harbor Commissioners, H. Corby, M.P., had Government engineer Howden sent to Belleville. Mr. Howden arrived last night, and in company with the Harbor Commissioners looked over the situation to day. Several simultaneous blasts of dynamite were put in the ice in the harbor, with a view to relieve the pressure. The gentlemen drove up the river, to see what could be done to prevent any further ice from coming down. One of the Commissioners stated to a reporter that the Engineer would probably recommend that piers be built on the river this side of Corbyville.

Notes.

The river is now clear of ice as far up as Canifton.

The old ferry slip at the foot of Dundas street was badly smashed up.

A portion of the sidewalk on Water street was carried to King street, some distance away.

Although a large quantity of ice was piled up against No. 1 fire station, no damage was done.

The footbridge gangway is under eighteen inches of water. A floating sidewalk was improvised to-day.

Men and boys were busy this morning gathering the drift wood which had been carried down with the ice.

A portion of the sidewalk on both sides of Front street near the Commercial House was shifted out of place.

A youth while trying to clear a drain on Coleman street fell into the water and received an involuntary bath.

Although the cellars along Front street were submerged, but little damage was sustained, as the merchants had removed their goods to places of safety.

In the cellar of the market building the water came within a few inches of submerging the furnaces. There was this morning about one foot of water in the cellar.

One cake of ice near the lower bridge, which was turned bottom upwards, had several stones on its reverse side, showing that the ice must have been frozen to the bottom of the river.

The ashery of Mr. S. Phippen, situated on the river's bank at the southern extremity of Coleman street, has withstood several ice shoves. A shed at the south end of the building was partially demolished.

On Front street, between No. 1 fire hall and Dundas street, large cakes of ice were piled, necessitating a road being cut through them. That portion of the street is also inundated.

FLOODS THAT HAVE BEEN.

MR. GEO. E. HENDERSON RECALLS INTERESTING REMINISCENCES.

The Cholera Scare in 1832—Vessels Prevented From Landing at the Mouth of a Cannon—Logs Floating Down the Foxboro Road.

"Talking of floods," remarked Geo. E. Henderson, Q.C., County Crown Attorney, to a reporter to-day: "I remember in the spring of 1844 or '45 having a barn carried away when I lived on the west side of Front street, nearly opposite the Commercial House, taking with it a valuable horse. The horse managed to break loose from its halter and got ashore below where Wm. Carter's boat house now stands, and which, in those days, was considered the substantial part of the town. During that year the ice swept everything before it, creating widespread destruction along the river front. One spring the water overflowed its banks for several miles above the village and I can distinctly remember seeing saw logs floating down the Foxboro road. That was the worst flood ever known in Belleville. In 1848 Belleville was again visited by a disastrous flood, which inundated the principal part of the town. The water flowed into Coleman street, carrying everything before it. A cottage next to the Windsor hotel, which I owned, was badly damaged and would have been carried away had it not been for the hotel. As it was the fence and barn were swept away. The plains were covered with ice as far as Murney's hill.

"Belleville has undergone some changes since those days," continued Mr. Henderson. "I can remember Nelson Reynolds, who was the sheriff of Ontario, shooting ducks in a pond where Dr. Sprague's house now stands. It was a treacherous spot, filled with quicksand. I remember, when a boy, being called upon to pull a boy out of the sand in which he was gradually sinking, while powerless to save himself. A cow belonging to my father got stuck in the sand one day and froze her feet. She had to be shot. The only sidewalk then was between the corner of Dundas and Front streets and the wharf. At one time the timber was got out to build a bridge across the river from Dundas street, but the project was never commenced. In 1832, my father had a quantity of timber got out, with which to build a house. The authorities took possession of it and built a hospital for cholera patients. The cholera scare created a panic in that year. A cannon was placed in position on the wharf to prevent vessels from landing. Men were stationed on Kingston and Trenton roads to prevent people from coming into the village."

HE BEAT HIS WIFE

NEW YORK, March 26.—Under the heading of "Should a Man Ever Beat His Wife," a curious correspondence has been going on in the Recorder, some woman admitting that they are beaten by their husbands and that they do not object to this display of marital authority. In yesterday's paper appears a letter signed "Belle M.," dated Toronto. This writer says: "I was married very young–not quite nineteen–and shortly after my marriage I told my husband a deliberate falsehood to hide a fault. He said nothing at the time, but that night he whipped me with a cane, which he had provided for the purpose, with great severity. I cried and sobbed, but he paid no attention until he had given me what he called a 'good whipping,' and it did me good. I felt that I had not only a husband who loved me, but a judge who would punish me, and although he has had occasion to chastise me twice since, I do not think there is a happier couple on the continent."

"Ye Old Folks" Concert.

Such was the title of an entertainment given in Holloway Street Methodist church last night, under the auspices of the choir. Before the programme, supper was served in the basement, the waiters being costumed—some of which were grotesque in design. After refreshments, those present repaired to the upper part of the church, where an excellent programme was given. Amongst those who contributed were Mr. Geo. Fax and Prof. Canfield.

District Intelligence.

A writ was issued on Saturday last by J. Y. Cruikshank, barrister, at the instance of H. Willoughby Laird, of this paper, against Mr. J. C. Hopkins, associate editor of the Toronto Empire, for $1,200 for breach of contract. A mortgage for $3,700 on the plant and stock of the Port Hope Times newspaper, in favor of Mr. Laird, was last June foreclosed, and at the bailiff's auction sale, Mr. Hopkins was present and purchased the property at $4,200. He afterwards failed to carry out his purchase, and the chattels had to be resold at a reduction. Action is now brought for the loss sustained by Mr. Hopkins' default, together with subsequent costs. The case will be tried at the spring assizes next month.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Ancient Order of United Workmen Pass Resolutions of Condolence.

The regular meeting of the Ancient Order of United Workmen was held last night. There was a large attendance; the membership has now reached over 200; a prominent Q. C. was initiated last night, and three applications were received. The following resolutions were passed:

Rev. W. M. Maclean:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—At the regular meeting of our Lodge, held on Tuesday evening, 28th inst., it was unanimously resolved that this Lodge, of which you are a member, desire to extend to yourself and Mrs. Maclean their warmest sympathy in the sad affliction lately visited on you, by the death of your esteemed son; and hope that the great Architect and Master Workman of the universe may give you strength to bear up under the same,—knowing and feeling as you must, that although his present removal seems hard, it is for his gain, and you have the bright hope of a happy reunion hereafter.

Yours fraternally in C. H. and P.,
W. E. VANDERVOORT, Master Workman. H. W. SMITH, Recorder.

Mrs. Jas. Johnston, Belleville,

DEAR MADAM,—It was with feelings of regret that we learned of the death of your esteemed husband, our brother Jas. Johnston, and at our lodge meeting last night it was resolved that we as a lodge, of whom he was, although only a new member, one whom we all learned to respect and love, beg to extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your sad bereavement, and trust that He who rules with an all-wise providence may grant you strength to bear up under same, and we can assure you that our brotherly love will forever be extended to those he left behind.

Yours very truly,
W. E. VANDERVOORT, Master Workman. H. W. SMITH, Recorder.

AMUSEMENTS

MAPLESON OPERA CO.

In presence of His Excellency the Governor-General and a large and fashionable audience, the Mapleson Opera Co. inaugurated their Canadian tour at the opera house last night with brilliant success. The chief interest was of course centered in Laura Schirmer Mapleson. Her voice is a pure soprano, sympathetic in quality and phenomenal in register. "Les Hirondelles," specially written for Madame Mapleson, showed her brilliant voice and great skill as a vocalist off to perfection. It is unnecessary to detail all the excellencies and beauties of Madame Mapleson's performance of Marguerite in the Faust. She was what Gounod, the composer, proclaimed her, "An ideal Marguerite, whose beauty charms you, whose voice thrills you and whose fate saddens you." The artists supporting Madame Mapleson are all excellent. The most successful of these was Signor Berthald-Barron, the tenor. Mademoiselle Thea Dorre possesses a rich contralto voice, which she uses with fine effect, and she did some excellent work, which was much appreciated. So did Signor Sartori, who sang the Torreador song in place of the "Ebrea" and won a legitimate encore. A special word of praise is due to Mr. Luckstone for the admirable manner in which he played the accompaniment.—Ottawa Free Press, March 28th.

SPORTING NEWS

With a more active interest in the excellent game of lawn tennis taken by the ladies of Belleville, the game promises to boom this year.

A special meeting of the Ontario Cricket Association will be held in Toronto next Monday night week to revise the constitution. It is suggested that the committee be composed of one member from every club in good standing in the association, and that the inter-provincial match, instead of being played in Toronto, be played alternately in cities and towns throughout Ontario.

AN EPISODE OF THE FLOOD.

An Italian Who Does not Take Kindly to Venetian Life.

One of the sons of sunny Italy who is sojourning in the city has had all he wants of ice and ice water to do him for some years. He had been on Taylor's hill peddling "verra nice oranges, banannas" and returning home near six o'clock found his home—the last house on the west side of Front street—surrounded by huge blocks of ice, the water a foot deep in the house and his wife and "chicks" up stairs in terror of their lives. To rush through the water and call to his wife was the work of a minute. The bystanders, not understanding Italian, could not tell what he was telling his spouse, but soon she appeared at an upper window with a child about three years old and dropped it into his arms. As fast as his legs and the current of water would let him, he ran through it, deposited child No. 1 on the sidewalk, returned to the house for another, and after landing it on terra firma, again waded the chilly water; this time he pushed open the door of his domicile, and with a hop, skip, and a jump was up stairs. In a minute or two he came out bearing a great bundle of (apparently) bed clothes, and behind him a woman pallid with fright, carrying a babe of a month or two old. The last seen of them, they were getting up on the hill, and making as good time as their "encumbrances" would permit, apparently resolved that any high land was preferable to living on the banks of a river that played such pranks as that of the Moira. If we are to have an "Italian quarter" here, it will never be so near to the water, so long as the present representative of the blue-sky land can warn his countrymen of its dangers.

THE WEAKEST SPOT in your whole system, perhaps, is the liver. If that doesn't do its work of purifying the blood, more troubles come from it than you can remember.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts upon this weak spot as nothing else can. It rouses it up to healthy, natural action. By thoroughly purifying the blood, it reaches, builds up, and invigorates every part of the system.

For all diseases that depend on the liver or the blood—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness; every form of Scrofula, even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages; and the most stubborn Skin and Scalp Diseases, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so unfailing and effective that it can be guaranteed.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

On these terms, it's an insult to your intelligence to have something else offered as "just as good."

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

It was only as a precaution that he took with him young Mr. Grierson, junior partner of the firm of solicitors to whom Caspar's defence was entrusted. Young Grierson was a friend as well as a lawyer, and it was always well to have a friend at hand. But really he hardly knew for what result he hoped.

The room to which Maurice Kenyon found himself, at Ethel's instance, had located Mr. and Mrs. Francis Trent were in Bernard street. They were plain, but appearantly clean and comfortable. Maurice said a word to the servant, and uncere-moniously put her aside, and walked straight into the room where he knew that Francis Trent was lying.

A thin spare woman, with a deadly pale face and black sunken eyes, rose from a seat beside the bed as they entered. Lady Alice knew, as if by instinct, that this was Mary Trent. She averted her eyes from the woman who had falsely accused her husband: she could not bear to look at her. But Mary Trent scarcely took her eyes off Lady Alice's face.

"Will you look here, Lady Alice, if you please?" said Maurice in his most professional tone. She turned towards the bed, and saw—yes, it was the face of the man whom she had known in the hospital: thinner, yellower, more haggard than ever, but still the face of the patient who used to watch her, as if her presence were a means of healing in itself.

"Yes," she said slowly, 'that is—John Smith.'

"His real name is Francis Trent," said Maurice. "Do you know this lady, Francis?"

The sick man nodded. There was a curiously vacant look upon his face, brightened only at times by gleams of vivid consciousness.

"Yes, yes, I know her. She lady that came to see me in hospital," he murmured feebly.

"Do you know who she is?"

"Why do you trouble him, sir?" said Mrs. Trent. "You see how ill he is, wouldn't it be better for him to be left in peace?"

She spoke with sedulous calmness; but there was a jar in her voice which did not sound quite natural. Maurice simply repeated his question and Francis simply shook his head.

"She is the wife of Caspar Brooke, the man who, you say, killed your brother Oliver.'

The sick man's eyes dilated, and fixed themselves uneasily on his wife. "I did not say it,' he answered, almost in a whisper, 'Mary said it—not I.'

"But you heard something, did you not?" said Maurice remorselessly.

"How should he hear anything,' said Mary Trent, 'and he asleep in his bed at the time? Or if not asleep, too ill and weak to notice anything. It's a shame to question him like that; and not legal, neither. You'll please leave us to ourselves, sir; or else I'll send for the doctor.'

"I'll indeed. But it would have been better for you as well as for others if the truth had been told from the beginning,' said Kenyon.

"It can't be helped now. Is there anything else I can do? You must have my statement taken down. And Mary, my girl, you will have to make your confession too.'

"Oh, Francis, Francis!' she moaned. 'Not against you, my dear—not against you.'

"Yes, against me,' said Francis steadily. 'And let us finish with the formalities as quickly as possible, doctor, as long as my head's clear. I killed my brother Oliver—that you must make known as soon as you can. Not for malice, poor chap, nor yet for money—though he had cheated me many a time—but because I was mad—mad. And I am mad now—mad though you do not know it—stark, staring mad!'

(To be Continued.)

Dangerous Counterfeits

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, beating such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Hop & Co.," Brockville, Ont.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and sure cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for cleanlogup the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Gives Strength and Appetite.

DEAR SIRS,—Last year I was very thin and reducing fast, owing to the bad state of my blood and appetite. A friend of mine induced me to get a bottle of B.B.B., which I did. I obtained immediate perceptible relief from it, have gained strength and appetite, and am now over 195 pounds.

The Power of Nature.

The healthy body throws off the germs of cholera, therefore wisdom counsels the use of Burdock Blood Bitters this spring, to purify the blood, to regulate the system and to fortify the body against cholera and other epidemics.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

FRANCO-CANADIAN TREATY NOT TO BE RATIFIED.

Mr. McCarthy Has Now No Opportunity To Bring Up His Dual Language Bill—It Is Pretty Well Settled That the House Will Prorogue On Saturday Next.

OTTAWA, March 30.—The first of the morning sessions of the House opened at 11 yesterday and lasted until 1, very nearly the whole time being passed in supply.

Hon. Mr. Foster stated in reply to Mr. Laurier's daily question about the French Treaty that the Government had this morning received a long despatch on the subject, which was being transcribed, and he may have something to say about it later.

Mr. McCarthy asked if the Government proposed to go on with the Northwest Territories Act on the order paper, and Hon. Mr. Foster replied that it was not yet finally decided whether or not the bill would be proceeded with. This is the act to which Mr. McCarthy is said to intend proposing an amendment with respect to dual language. It is not very likely the bill will be brought up.

While the militia items were under discussion Mr. Mulock once more brought to the attention of the House the case of Sergeant Slater of Toronto, which was fully ventilated and satisfactorily disposed of last session. He asked that the new Minister of militia should look into the matter, as in his opinion Sergeant Slater had not been well used by the department.

Col. Denison said that the charges mentioned by Mr. Mulock were directed against him. The man Slater was a drunkard, whose mind was weakened by the excessive use of intoxicating liquor. He reported almost every body with whom he came in contact. He reported Mr. Mulock to the House. He reported Mr. Bigelow to the Law Society, and he had reported the Postmaster General. It was unfair for members of the Opposition to be imposing upon the weak mind of this man.

Mr. Cockburn did not know whether it was because there was an affinity between cranks or not that Mr. Mulock had taken up this man's case.

Hon. Mr. Patterson said he would enquire into the whole correspondence.

On the item for Indian affairs, Mr. Mills referred to the overdrafts on Indian trust and other Indian funds. The Indian schools fund was withdrawn to the extent of $212,000, Indian land management, $581,000, and the Quebec Indian fund, $164,000. The last annual report of the department did not explain this matter. The three funds had been overdrawn to the extent of $956,491. He held that the monies were expended for other than the purposes for which they were intended. Altogether the funds now amounted to $850,000, while the overdrafts was nearly a million dollars.

Mr. Daly denied that the Indian annuities had been overdrawn. The overdrafts were in the Quebec fund, the school management fund and land management fund were reported upon by a sub-committee of council. It was proposed to reduce the interest from 4 to 3½ per cent on the three funds and in this way a saving of $9300 would be made annually at the 4th in the course of time would be done away with.

Mr. Foster admitted that the capital of the Indian land fund had been unpaid to make up deficiencies between the income from the fund and the amounts expended every year, but claimed that the money had been expended for the benefit of the Indians.

The House adjourned at 1 o'clock to meet at 3.

At the afternoon session the Indian Department estimates were concluded and the Customs and Inland Revenue estimates passed.

The evening session was also given up to supply.

When the House adjourned at 1.40 yesterday supply was all through, and Mr. Foster, in reply to Mr. Laurier, said there was nothing in the way of prorogation on Saturday.

The Government Northwest Bill will not come up this session and consequently Mr. McCarthy will have difficulty in raising the school question.

The Government will not ask for the ratification of the French treaty.

D'Alton McCarthy asked Mr. Foster, on going into supply this evening, if the Government would bring on their Northwest bill (now before the Senate) this session.

Mr. Foster promised an answer later on, but up to midnight no answer was given.

The Government bill in question is a simple and inoffensive one, but Mr. McCarthy had given notice that he would move when it came up to add clauses to it, giving to the Northwest provinces the right to regulate their own educational affairs irrespective of Dominion interference, and to abolish the dual language clause. Mr. McCarthy's idea was that if the Government brought on their bill he would content himself with amending it, if they did not bring it on, then he would be free to move a resolution to the same effect as a motion of want of confidence in the Government on going into supply. But the House up to midnight was still in supply and the prospect was that it would continue in supply until all the estimates, supplementary included, were passed.

Under these circumstances it was likely that Mr. McCarthy would not reach a point where he could raise the question. There was a struggle on Mr. McCarthy's part to get the question up, and the Government had to head him off. The Government doubtless were of opinion that Mr. McCarthy was seeking an unfair advantage at the tail of the session while he had, as a matter of fact, neglected to bring the question up earlier in the session when the opportunity was offered him.

Mr. Denison introduced a bill for Mr. McCarthy on Feb. 15, which also proposed the same amendments, and four weeks ago, when both Sir John Thompson and Mr. McCarthy were in the House, the Government cleared the paper in order to allow the bill to come up, but when the clerk called it, Mr. McCarthy asked that it be allowed to stand, and he thus avoided bringing up the question so that a fair discussion could be had.

Hon. Clarke Wallace is coming in for a great deal of brotherly praise just now from the various district Orange lodges. Last night the district lodges of Ottawa and Montreal each passed complimentary resolutions expressing confidence in the Grand Master and approving his course. To-day he received the following cabin message from the Ulster Conservative League:

BELFAST, March 28.

N. C. Wallace, Ottawa:

Ulster Conservative League tenders you their earnest thanks for your courageous support of Ulster Loyalists.

A momentary flurry was caused here about midday by the starting of a rumor that Sir John Thompson had been struck by paralysis in Paris. The rumor could not for some time be traced to any definite source, but was finally found to have originated, so far as known here, in a despatch from Toronto to the Montreal Witness. Enquiry quickly elicited that there was not the slightest foundation for the rumor, as cable messages dated to-day and signed by Sir John were received shortly after the rumor was started. A large number of enquiries as to the truth of the story were received from Montreal and Toronto, so the rumor must have been current in those cities.

There were a couple of presentations down in the lower flat to-night, one to Mr. Curran of a case of pipes, and another of a gold watch and chain to Mr. George Desjardins, now Clerk of the Quebec Legislature, by his former colleagues in the Dominion Commons.

D. A. ROBSON CASE.

No Evidence to Convict Him on the Charge of Forgery.

MILTON, March 30.—A. Robson was tried before Judge Snider yesterday on the charge of forging a note for $300, signed by John Dixon and Matilda Dixon, and sold by Robson to William McClelland, farmer of Trafalgar Township. The evidence was almost identical with that given at Robson's trial some time ago for forging a similar note which he sold to Robert J. Campbell of Trafalgar, and reported fully in The World.

The only new features of any consequence was the evidence of a writing expert, Connor O'Dea of Toronto, who was called on behalf of the Crown and swore that the signature John Dixon affixed to the note was a forgery, but that the signature of Matilda Dixon was in the same hand-writing as specimens exhibited in Court, which were admitted to be Mr. Dixon's.

The judge discharged the prisoner and said that the evidence was not strong enough to warrant a conviction. The defence was not called upon.

On the charge of obtaining money under false pretences on the Campbell note, Robson's counsel, Mr. Fullerton of Toronto, announced that the prisoner would, when arraigned, elect to be tried by a jury. Robson will be arraigned on this charge tomorrow and will be tried at the coming County Court sessions in July.

THE SHEPHARD CASE.

The Three Principals Fined $100 Each, and Have Paid It.

MONTREAL, March 30.—The trial of the two Shepherds and their manager, Hamilton, for conspiracy and fraud in connection with their famous employment agency had a very abrupt ending yesterday, when the trial came on before Judge Taschereau in the Court of Queen's Bench, this afternoon.

The prisoners changed their pleas of "not guilty" to "guilty," and asked for the mercy of the court.

The judge fined them $100 each, with the alternative of six months' in jail at hard labor. The fines were paid and the prisoners discharged.

There is a good deal of feeling over the result, as the sentence is not regarded as heavy enough.

IT MAY BE FALSE.

A Bottle Found Telling That the Narouic Has Gone to the Bottom.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A special to The Sun from Norfolk, Va., says: William Johnson, the winter watchman at Ocean View, Va., a summer resort near the mouth of Lynnhaven Bay, yesterday picked up on the beach at that place a champagne bottle with several corks tied about its neck.

In the bottle was a letter giving alleged information of the sinking of the White Star steamer Naronic. The letter was:

3.10 a.m., February 16, S.S. Naronic, White Star line, at sea.—To who picks this up: Report when you find this to our agents if not heard of before that our ship is fast sinking beneath the waves and it is such a storm that we can never live in the small boats.

One boat has already gone with her human cargo below. God let all of us live through this. We were struck by an iceberg in a blinding snow storm and floated two hours. Now it's 3.20 a.m. by my watch and the great ship is deck level with the sea. Report to the agents at Broadway, New York, M. Kersey & Co. Good-bye all. John Osler, cattleman.

A HERO DEAD.

William Potts, Who Shot the Rapids, Died from the Effects of a Cold.

BUFFALO, March 30.—William Potts, the hero of the Niagara Rapids, where Capt. Webb lost his life, was buried in Forest Lawn Cemetery yesterday. During a storm on the lakes a year ago Potts, with several other men, pulled to the rescue of some sailors who were on a wrecked schooner. The seamen were saved, but Potts caught a cold from which he never recovered. It terminated in a pulmonary ailment and ended his life last Saturday. In the spring of 1888 the feat of shooting the Whirlpool rapids became a fad for a few, several men who were not afraid to risk their lives. Potts was one of them. He built a cigar-shaped barrel boat and was the first to go through the rapids successfully. A month later he induced his sister-in-law to accompany him through the dangerous eddies, and the trip was looked upon as marvelous. The pair made a small fortune on the museum stage.

Discussing Dusky Diamonds.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Both the eastern and western coal sales agents held meetings in the Jersey Central Building yesterday. The chief topic under consideration by the eastern salesmen was the price. It was decided to make no change whatever at present.

The western sales agents discussed the subject of the allotment for the month of April, and after considering a proposition to make it 3,000,000 tons they adjourned without taking any definite action in the matter.

Fire in Minnesota.

WINNIPEG, March 30.—The residence of James Stewart, lawyer of Minneapolis, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $5000.

Bismarck Said To Be Dying.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Prince Bismarck, the famous "Iron Chancellor" of the German Empire, is very near death, according to a private cablegram received in this city last night. The information conveyed in the cablegram is apparently authentic in every respect.

The gentleman who received this alarming news, Dr. Dorn, was for many years an aide-de-camp on Count Von Moltke's staff.

Solicitor-General Maxwell.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—President Cleveland has tendered the office of Solicitor-General to Mr. Lawrence Maxwell of Cincinnati. Mr. Maxwell is a prominent lawyer of Ohio, but has not taken an active part in politics. Indeed so little has he had to do with it that this fact has caused comment among Ohioans who have heard of the tender to him.

A Horrible Fatality.

BERLIN, March 30.—The mining town of Eisenstein, near Bleiberg, is burning. Two churches and 63 houses have been destroyed and the fire still spreads. Fifteen persons are known to have died in the flames and several others are missing.

WONDER IN WELLAND.

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in his own vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery. I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the whole of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN, Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cummins, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:—Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes occasionally B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly, THOMAS CUMMINS, Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing sickness experienced in the chest. A Wonderful Cure.

Mr David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle, and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is perfect. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

The colder the winter the warmer our hearts should be.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of "Dyspepsia or Indigestion." One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills will cause pain or griping, and should be used when cathartic is required.

THE MENNONITES.

Russian barbarity has, strange as it may appear, been of much advantage to Canada, in that it is driving from the bounds of that great empire a class of people who possess many virtues, and who are adding a valuable element to our settlements in the North-West. The Mennonites were founded in Zurich, in 1525—as is stated by a contemporary—but subsequent persecution drove them abroad through the world. The main interest in the sect lies in their discipline. Separation from the world is their cardinal principle, and in this separation are involved not only abstinence from worldly vanities, but the refusal of civic duties, refusal to take an oath or wield the sword.

About twenty years ago large numbers of these people settled in Nebraska and Kansas, and about the same time a colony was formed in Manitoba. Their religious scruples as to service in the army might be attended with awkward consequences should Canada ever become involved in war, but they have virtues which flourish in peace, and far more than counterbalance the drawbacks above referred to. Their frugality, industry and integrity are beyond question, as has been happily shown by their career in Manitoba. The Government of Canada advanced the sum of $96,400 in 1874 for the settlement of a body of this people, refugees from Russia, in Manitoba, the security being the "Waterloo, Ont., Society." We believe that every cent of this amount, together with interest, has now been repaid—a gratifying example of a financial obligation being honorably fulfilled, even though the obligee was a government. Moreover, the Mennonites are well content with their new home in the Canadian Northwest, and are gradually inducing their brethren from the neighboring states of the American union to migrate northwards.

WATCH THEM.

Our independent contemporary the Toronto News remarks—and the counsel which it impliedly gives is well worth following: "The session of the Legislature which opens next week will be, in many ways, one of the most notable in the history of Ontario. It will mark the opening of the second century in the legislative history of the Province—it will probably be the last before a general election—it may be that the career of Mr. Mowat as a Provincial leader merely will end with it—and it will be the first in 20 years, with one exception, which has not been held, in part at least, while the Dominion Parliament was also sitting.

"This last is really the most important feature in connection with the coming meeting. Hitherto Provincial affairs have been overshadowed by greater events at Ottawa. This year such will not be the case. There will be nothing to distract public attention from the proceedings in the Legislature, and the result should be to make people much more fully informed in regard to Provincial affairs than they are now."

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than the constant dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandrufrine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandrufrine is quick and sure, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Handsome Features.

Sometimes unsightly blotches, pimples, or sallow opaque skin, destroys the attractiveness of handsome features. In all such cases Scott's Emulsion will build up the system and impart freshness and beauty.

Oxford has sent a cablegram acknowledging the receipt of the Harvard Yale crew's challenge, and expressing the hope that the proposed international race may be arranged. A letter which follows the cablegram will announce the conditions on which the Oxford crew will visit America.

Sanbury, the oarsman, after his arrival in San Francisco, was interviewed by the Call. The champion, in giving his views on sport, said that, with the exception of rowing and cricket, sport is dead in Australia. Fighters and footracers, he says, killed their own game by jobbery, but cricket and racing will never die.

Had Corbett consented to meet Mitchell at three or even six months, he might have gotten a purse as large as the two Australians headed for at New Orleans, but with a fight nine months away he will be lucky to get one of one-half that size; indeed, he will be lucky if he is allowed to fight at all, though, perhaps he would consider it luckier if he was not.

A Former Resident Gone "Home."

The death is announced at Brighton on the 29th inst. of Mr. Richard J. Pettigrew, for many years a resident of this city. Mr. Pettigrew was born in the county of Donegal, Ireland, and came to Canada about 40 years ago, most of which time he lived in Belleville. He was for nearly thirty years a member of Bridge Street Church, was a class leader, assistant superintendent and teacher in its Sunday school. He was for a large number of years employed in the store of the late Mr. E. Harrison, and more lately in that of the late Mr. Angus McFee. Owing to failing eyesight, he had to give up this latter position, and went to live some three years ago with his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, of Brighton. He was a good man, and universally esteemed for the singular purity of his life.

HE IS DEAF AND DUMB,

And Yet He Appeared as Counsel at Osgoode Hall.

The unusual spectacle of a deaf and dumb lawyer appearing with a case in court was witnessed to-day at Osgoode Hall. The lawyer was Duncan MacLellan, of Trenton.

Mr. MacLellan appeared in the Court of Appeal on behalf of the plaintiff in Lemesurier v. McCauley, an appeal from Trenton in an ejection suit that commenced in 1867.

The deaf and dumb disciple of the forum was assisted by Mr. Meredith, Q.C., and F. A. Hilton. As the case progressed Mr. MacLellan wrote out pointers for the two lawyers, who addressed the Court.

Judgment was reserved in his case.—Toronto News, 29th.

Troubles of Travelers

DETROIT, March 30.—A Canadian Pacific train load of 130 immigrants was stopped at Windsor last night by orders from Washington, and will be refused entrance to the United States until disinfected. They are quartered in cars, and are of the better class.

Several carloads were let across at Port Huron without inspection and were passed through Detroit with the exception of 40, who were caught.

Seal Fishery a Failure.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 30.—A cable from St. John's, Nfld., says the seal fishery this season is likely to be a total failure. The poor catch will have a terribly depressing effect on business in Newfoundland and will probably seriously cripple the rebuilding of the city of St. John's.

A Tree Fell on Him.

BOLTON, Ont., March 30.—Joseph McCort, a young farmer of Albion, and a brother of A. McCort, township treasurer, was instantly killed by a falling tree while engaged in getting out timber yesterday on his farm about three miles from here.

MONTY KERTLAND'S FATE

HIS FRIENDS HAVE NO CLUE TO HIS WHEREABOUTS.

The Auditors Have Not as Yet Finished Auditing the Books—Accountant Morrison Suspended Pending the Outcome of the Investigation.

TORONTO, March 30.—Street rumor had it yesterday afternoon that Monty Kertland, the missing cashier of the Imperial Loan & Investment Co., had defaulted. Various amounts were mentioned, some making the amount away up in the thousands. But this is probably an exaggeration, even if there is a shortage, which none of the directors as yet admit.

The latest sensation in the matter was the suspension of James B. Morrison, accountant of the company, by the president, Dr. Thorburn.

Mr. E. H. Kertland was seen last night with reference to the suspension. "Yes," he said, "we have suspended Mr. Morrison and have advertised for a new bookkeeper. It is probable that his dismissal will be permanent." When pressed for his reasons for discharging Morrison he could give no other answer than that his work was not satisfactory.

"We have no information with respect to my son's whereabouts and cannot say what any shortages until the expert now engaged has finished his examination of the books." Dr. Thorburn was also interviewed and stated that the matter had assumed so grave an aspect that it was considered wise to suspend Mr. Morrison, pending a thorough scrutiny of the books. As to the permanency of his dismissal Dr. Thorburn had no knowledge. "Of course," said he, "if Mr. Kertland says so, it is probably true."

Charles Dalton is one of the directors of the company. He was seen by a World reporter last night. "This is a special investigation of Mr. Morrison's books. The auditors will be through the books in a couple of days. The deposit book is the only one left to be examined, and its non-correspondence with the others will reveal the shortage, if any. Of course, if Mr. Kertland had not disappeared there would have been no examination of the accountant's books other than the annual one by the auditors."

OPENING OF NAVIGATION.

The Ice Thicker Than Any Previous Season for Fifty Years.

TORONTO, March 30.—Esplanade Constable Williams says that it will be mid-April before the ice breaks up and begins to make its way out of the lake. "The ice this year formed quickly and firmly, and is now as thick as ever it was. Two feet six inches is its average all over the bay, and some of the pieces cut in Block House Bay are three feet in thickness. The ice does not disappear so quickly this year, as there is an inner belt that is practically land locked. The piers at the eastern and western ends shut out the sea which accordingly fails to get its work in on the ice. The sun has more effect on the ice than rain, honey combing it, and making it soft.

"Talk about thick ice," said Constable Williams, warming to his subject, "I remember when the bay was surrounded by ice that the artillery used to practice out there, unlimbering their cannons and going through all the necessary manœuvres. I have seen them cutting out vessels in May. Man and boy, I have known this bay for 50 years and never in my experience have I known thicker and better ice than this year.

"You want to know about floaters? Well, during the past year we have had about 35, 10 more than the average number. Those that are drowned in the latter part of the season generally come to the top in the spring. The cold and ice have a preservative effect, and bodies coming up in the spring are not so badly decomposed as one might imagine. But when exposed to the air they decompose more rapidly than those drowned in summer. Of course, as you know, it is always the decomposition that brings them to the surface.

There is only one floater that we have not found this year and that is the body of Sam Burnan. Of course he may make his appearance when the ice breaks up, but if my surmise is true poor Sam's corpse is now tossing about the sport of wind and waves in the middle of the lake. The current most probably carried him through the western gap and that is the last of him. His body had ample time to rise before the ice formed. This has been an exceptional year. Nobody lost his life through the ice this season. The nearest approach to it was that ice boat accident when the six sports got so good a ducking. The reason of this absence of fatalities is that the ice formed thickly from the first and has remained so all along. There were no air holes to speak of and its the air holes that catch the unwary.

Fire In Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Ont., March 30.—A destructive fire occurred last night about 12 o'clock in rear of the residences on London, Harvey and Waterford streets. The fire was no doubt incendiary. It spread from Mr. McKee's barn to Mr. Walton's stable and shed owned by Mr. R. Latimer and from there to Mr. George McWilliams' barn and sheds. The hay and grain and some of the contents of the barns were destroyed, but all the animals and other contents were saved.

Mr. McWilliams' loss is about $200; insurance $300. Mr. Latimer had $200 insurance on his barn, but Mr. Walton will be a total loss on contents. Mr. McKee's loss will be covered by insurance.

BURNED TO DEATH.

While Trying to Save His Sister's House From Burning.

SEA ISLE, N.J., March 30.—Henry Clayswaine, assistant cashier of the Second National Bank, Washington, D.C., met with a horrible death near here yesterday. He was visiting his sisters at Townsend's Inlet, and yesterday assisted some farm hands in burning over a meadow.

The wind suddenly changed, and the fire was swept towards Mr. Swaine's sister's house. He worked hard to aid the laborers in turning the fire aside. The unusual exertion overcame him and he fell directly within the path of the fire. The flames swept over his body, burning it nearly to a crisp.

Entrance—$5 to nominate mare on May 15, 1893; $10 Nov. 1, 1893, when name, color and sex of colt must be given; $5 on March 1, 1894; $5 on Nov. 1, 1894, and $10 by starters on the day before the race. A distanced horse's money will go to first horse; but if only two start then money divided 70 and 30 per cent. If a mare proves barren or slips or has a dead foal or twins, or if the mare or foal dies before May 1, 1893, her nominator may substitute another mare and foal regardless of ownership or have his money refunded. No entry liable for more money than actually paid in. In entries the name, color and pedigree of mare must be given, also name of stallion bred to in 1892. Entries can be made by anyone living in Ontario, but they must become members of the association in 1894. Horsemen are requested to send for entry blanks and address nominations to J. C. Boyd, secretary, Simcoe, Ont.

Sad Accident in Montreal.

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desparate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

Special Mention.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.—Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Some symptoms of worms are:—Fever, colic, variable appetite, restlessness, weakness and convulsions. The unfailing remedy is Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

As a pick me up after excessive exertion or exposure, Milburn's Beef Iron and Wine is grateful and comforting.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all derangements of the liver. Only one pill a dose.

"For a long time I suffered with stomach and liver troubles, and could find no relief until I began to use Ayer's Pills. I took them regularly for a few months, and my health was completely restored."—D. W. Baine, New Berne, N. C.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

There is no reason why children should be allowed to suffer from loathsome scrofulous sores and glandular swellings, when such a pleasant, effective, and economical medicine as Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be procured of the nearest druggist. Be sure you get Ayer's.

Those who keep their blood in a pure and healthy condition need have no fear of any disease attacking them. It is the enfeebled, run down system upon which disease fastens its fangs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have no equal as a blood builder, nerve tonic, and preventative of disease. Thousands of grateful people testify to the wonderful power of this remedy. Take no substitute or imitation. 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50. Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville, Ont.

The young ladies' college and conservatory of music, located in Lieutenant Governor Kirkpatrick's late residence in Kingston, only now in its second term, has over forty pupils, and announces a summer session in music. Its full and capable staff is making it a very successful school. See advt.

"Clean up" should now be the watchword of every citizen who has his own, his family's, or his neighbor's health and comfort at heart. There are some terribly filthy spots about the town, and those who will not remove them, must in the general interest be compelled to remove them at any cost.

A Montreal paper says that in that city, a great number of cases are reported of a species of grippe. "The patient is seized with a violent cold, with symptoms resembling grip. Then the cold appears to settle around the ears and the patient gets quite deaf; in some cases blood discharges from the ear follow, the patient meanwhile suffering great pain." A few cases similar to this have occurred in this city.

Obituary.

REBECCA DIAMOND.

Rebecca Diamond, who passed peacefully away on the morning of the 29th inst., at the advanced age of almost 90 years, was born 31st March, 1803. In the state of New York, removed to South Fredericksburgh, County of Lennox at the age of about 14, and in the year 1819 was converted to God and united with the Methodist Church, of which she continued to be a consistant member till the day of her death. She was united in marriage to (the late) William F. Diamond in the year 1819. She had six children, four sons and two daughters, and she leaves but one surviving child, Mr. Irvine Diamond, with whom she has lived in Belleville since 1872. She celebrated the 66 h anniversary of her wedding with her late husband, who passed away 13th Feb., 1885. The venerable lady was in full possession of all her faculties to the end. Funeral will leave the residence of Mr. Irvine Diamond, Yeomans st., at 3 p.m. to-morrow.

Non-support of Family.

Wm. Thompson, better known as Wm. Sweet, was arrested last night on complaint of his wife, being charged with non support. In the police court this morning, Mrs. Thompson swore that in October last her husband left her to go and work in a shanty. She heard nothing of him, nether did she receive any money from him, until the 14th of the present month, when she met him on the street and he gave her $5. When asked by her if he intended to come and see his family (three children), he replied no. She has received nothing from him since. The unfortunate woman has supported herself and family by working at Graham's evaporating establishment. The accused was remanded until to morrow.

Curling Match.

A match was played yesterday afternoon at the rink, between rinks representing the Canadians and Old Country players. The ice was soft, and in consequence play was somewhat difficult. The Canadians obtained a lead of 8 shots before the Old Country rink scored. This majority they maintained to the finish of the game. The score and players were:

Canadians	Old Country
W. W. Pope,	Jas. G rdon,
C. Rogers,	Geo. Twist g,
E. H. LaRoche,	J Bonar

Another Pleasing Event.

John H. McCreary, of the 6th concession of Tyendinaga, was married last night to Miss Annie Pope, daughter of Mr. Samuel Pope, of the same township. The pleasant event took place at the residence of the bride's parents, and was witnessed by a large number of friends. Rev. T. H. McDonald was the officiating minister. Miss Maud McCreary assisted the bride, and Mr. Wm. Pope did honors for the groom. Many costly and handsome presents were received by the bride. We wish them every happiness.

Of General Interest.

A case was tried at Barrie Assizes of interest to the members of the A.O.U.W. throughout the province. It was an action brought by the widow of one Atchison Kerr to recover from the Order $2,000, the amount of insurance benefits. The defence was that Kerr gained admission to the order on false representations as to age. Warren Totten, Q.C., solicitor for the defendants, received a telegram from Barrie stating that the defendants had won, the jury finding for the order on all points.

Electric Railways.

Notice is given of application to the Ontario Legislature for the incorporation of a company to construct an electric or other railway from Strathroy to some other point on the Grand Trunk between Parkhill and Forest. A committee of Strathroy citizens has been formed to further the project, and it has been decided to raise a guarantee fund of $4,000 to meet preliminary expenses.

What about the project of an electric railway between Belleville and Trenton? "There's money in it."

In for It.

We are in for a big trade this spring at the Oak Hall. Everything is pointing that way. This March is not nearly so favorable for our business as last, yet we are away ahead in trade. Our little boys' trade is more than booming. If you will just notice the fine goods and low prices all through our stock, you will not wonder that the Oak Hall do the business.

This Morning's Storm.

To those who rely on "Old Probs," this morning's storm must have been a surprise party. The marked lunar halo of last night was the precursor of something, but every one has not to be out at night as our reporters have, so did not see it, therefore were unprepared for the wintry blasts that assailed them this morning.

Associate Examiners.

Amongst the gentlemen appointed as Associate Examiners for the High School leaving and University Matriculation examinations for this year, are Rev. Principal Dyer of Albert College, and Mr. E. F. Millburn, Belleville High School; also Mr. H. J. Crawford, Seaforth Collegiate Institute, formerly of Belleville High School.

Her Vagaries.

Whether it was the unannounced storm of this morning, or the quantity of ice in the river, or what, anyway the town clock has been on a "bender" all day. At ten o'clock it was five minutes faster than yesterday and at noon eight minutes.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

A Rare Treat.

Perhaps not once in a decade do Belleville audience have the pleasure of listening to such exquisite music as was heard last night. Exquisite is a strong enough epithet, but perhaps infinitely beautiful would suit the work of the Mapleson Opera Company better. The writer of this article was fortunate enough at one time to hear Madam Patti, and, in his humble opinion, Schirmer-Mapleson is in nearly every way as perfect. If there is a destinction, it may possibly be one of art and lengthened experience; in quality of tone, Madam Mapleson is at least the equal of the famous Diva. The support of Col. Mapleson's star was eminently happy. Not a single member of the cast lacked in thorough training and superior artistic temperament. A galaxy of stars they certainly were. Now the citizens of Belleville should be grateful to the progressive, energetic young manager of the Queen's Opera House, Mr. Fowler. His name will go not far in his indomitable spirit of progressiveness, we should not have had the rare treat of a grand opera by such distinctly eminent people. A painful evidence of poverty was, I am sorry to say, was shown by a few pseudo young gentlemen in the audience. Such people should be prevented from going to first class entertainments, and making themselves an abominable nuisance to lovers of music and painstaking artists.

A FORTUNATE AUDITOR.

ANOTHER SLIGHT SHOVE.

The Ice Moves Further Down the River—More Inconvenience Experienced From the Water.

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock the ice which was piled up in the river from the harbor to Cooper's mill commenced to move down, and it was thought by some that it would pass out into the bay. Such, however, proved not to be the case, as, after moving down for some distance, it again jammed up. In consequence of this the water was backed up and rose higher than at any time previous. The temporary sidewalk which was erected at the eastern entrance of the foot bridge was soon partially submerged, and pedestrians were compelled to walk to the lower bridge, if they wished to get upon Front street. The water also forced itself across Coleman street from Cabinet street to Bridge street west. Water flowed over the street to a depth of nearly a foot. Those residing in that vicinity had fortunately been prepared for the emergency, and thereby suffered nothing more than the inconvenience of being unable to get out. The water, however, receded considerably in about an hour. A large quantity of water also flowed over the southern portion of Coleman street, near the sahery. The cellars along Front street were flooded, but the damage done was slight.

The employees of Walker's foundry were to-day compelled to take a holiday, owing to water being in the premises.

Later.

At about 3 o'clock the ice again moved down and the river is now clear to the foot bridge. The water has also raised about 18 inches.

A FINE MILLINERY STORE.

Mr. Dulmage's Display of Fashionable Headgear.

The handsome millinery parlors of Mr. A. Dulmage, Front Street, were opened for the season to day. When a visit was paid to the establishment this morning by our representative, it was filled with a fashionable stock of hats, bonnets, etc. An experienced milliner having been engaged by Mr. Dulmage, her handiwork was apparent. All the goods displayed are of the latest designs, the hats and bonnets being neatly trimmed in accordance with the fashion of the day. Large hats seem to be quite prevalent, and are artistically decorated with ribbons, jets, etc., whilst various colors are used, they blend together in such a manner as to make the hats look extremely pretty, yet not gaudy. Ladies desiring these articles should look at the stock which is shown in this store.

In addition to the millinery department, Mr. Dulmage carries a large and well assorted stock of fur goods, which are manufactured upon the premises. Furs of all descriptions are made up into jackets, capes, caps, etc., of the latest patterns.

THE HORSE TRADE.

Heavy Purchases in This District for the U. S. Market.

It was learned to-day from Mr. Walter Fanning, who is the leading horse buyer here, that heavy purchases of horses have of late been made in this vicinity chiefly for the U. S. market. Within the past week, indeed, 54 animals—nearly all of a good class—have been shipped hence by Mr. Fanning to the following points: last week, 4 to St. Albans, Vermont, and 7 to Toronto. Yesterday—21 to Mount Upton, New York, and 22 to Delhi, Delaware county, New York. In all, 54 horses within a week, of which 47 to the United States. Verily the horse trade is booming.

MECHANIC'S INSTITUTE.

A Munificent Offer From Thos. Ritchie, Esq.

Those—and we hope they are many—who would regret to see the Mechanics' Institute go to the wall, will learn with pleasure that such contingency is likely to be averted through the liberality of Thomas Ritchie, Esq. At a meeting of the directors on Tuesday night, Mr. Ritchie, who was the originator and one of the founders of the Institution, stated that, in order to put it upon a stable basis and complete its equipment, he would give $500 towards a sum of $2,000 to be raised for this purpose and a proportionate amount towards the raising of $1,600, if that sum be subscribed at once. We trust that this appeal will not be in vain, but that our Institute, now one of the best in Ontario, will be established on a permanent basis.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family medicine. It is said to be the Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water into the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages 50c and $1.

"The Church of the Strangers."

The Rev. Dr. Deems' church in New York—"The Church of the Strangers"—has a world wide fame, and attracts strangers from every clime. Many of our readers have become more interested in it lately because the Rev. J. M. Hodson supplied its pulpit for several weeks, and now has been requested by the Board of Managers to take charge of the church during April and May. Mr. Hodson has been to New Orleans for two or three weeks and left there yesterday for New York to comply with the request of The Church of the Strangers.

A FOOT-HOLD for Consumption is what you are offering, if your blood is impure. Consumption is simply Lung Scrofula. A scrofulous condition, with a slight cough or cold, is all that is needs to develop it.

But just as it depends upon the blood for its origin, so it depends upon the blood for its cure. The surest remedy for Scrofula in every form, the most effective blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer that's known to medical science, is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

For Consumption in all its earlier stages, and for Weak Lungs, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung affections, that is the only remedy so unfailing that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

No matter how long you've had Catarrh, or how severe, Dr. Sage's Remedy will effect a permanent cure. $500 reward is offered by the proprietors of this medicine, for an incurable case of Catarrh.

BROOKE'S DAUGHTER.

BY
ADELINE SERGEANT,
Author of "A True Friend," etc., etc.
(By permission of John Lovell & Son, Montreal.)

And his dark eyes glared at them so strangely that Lady Alice cried out and had to be led into another room, for it was the light of madness indeed that shone from beneath his sunken brows.

It was while she sat alone for a minute or two while the gentlemen were talking in another room, that Mary Trent came creeping to her, with folded hands and furtive mien.

'Oh, my lady, my lady, forgive me,' she said, sobbing fretfully as she spoke. 'I thought but of my own—I did not think of you. Nor of Miss Lesley, though I did love her—yes, I did, and tried my best to save her from that wicked man. Mr. Brooke will tell you what I mean ma'am. And tell him, if you will be so good, that I was frightened into taking back the stories I had told him about Oliver—but they were all true. Everyone of 'em was true. And that I beg he'll forgive me; for a better and kinder gentleman I never seen, nor one that loved poor people more. And Miss Lesley was just like him—but it was my husband, and I thought he'd be changed for it, and what could I do?'

And then, while Lady Alice still hesitated between pity and a feeling of revolt at pity for a woman who had sworn falsely against her dearly beloved husband, Caspar Brooke, a cry was heard from the bedroom, and Mary turned and fled back to the scene of her duties—sad and painful duties indeed, sometimes, when the madman became violent, and likely enough to be very speedily terminated by death.

'What can I say to you?' said Lady Alice to Maurice Kenyon a day or two later. 'It was your acuteness that brought the matter to light. Now that that poor wretched man is hopelessly insane, we might never have learnt the truth. Is there any way in which I can thank you?' any way in which I can give you a reward?'

She looked steadily into his face and saw him change color.

'There is only one way, Lady Alice,' he stammered.

'You are not to call me Lady Alice; I like Mrs. Brooke, much better. Well?'

'I love your daughter,' said Maurice bluntly, 'and I believe she would love me if you would let her.'

'Let her!' said Mrs. Brooke, with a smile.

'She made you some promises before she came to London—'

'Ah, not to become engaged before the year was out. Tell her that I absolve her from that promise, and—and—ask her again.'

Maurice found that under these conditions Lesley's answer was all that could be desired.

CHAPTER XLI.

VALE!

'Now that Ethel has gone to the seaside, I can have you to myself a little while,' said Lady Alice to her daughter.

'Poor Ethel! But it is delightful to have you here, mamma; it is so home like and comfortable.'

'Ah, you will soon have to make a home for somebody else!'

Lesley grew red, but smiled. 'We won't think of that just yet,' she said, softly. 'Mamma, I want to speak to you on a very serious subject.'

'Well, my darling?'

'You won't be angry with me, will you? It is—about Mrs. Romaine.'

Lady Alice's brow clouded a little. 'Well Lesley?' she said.

'Mamma, I can't bear Mrs. Romaine myself. Neither can you. Neither can papa. And it is very unchristian of all of us, to say the least. Because——

'Neither can papa,' repeated Lady Alice, with raised brows. 'My dear child, Mrs. Romaine is a great friend of your father's. He told me only the other day that she used to come here very often—to see Aunt Sophy and yourself.'

'So she did,' said Lesley, lightly. 'But, of course, she can't very well come now—at least it would be awkward. Still I am sure that papa does not like her, for he looked quite pleased the other day when I told him that she was going to give up her house, and said in his short way—'So much the better.'

'Very slight evidence,' said Caspar Brooke's wife, smilingly.

'Well, never mind evidence, mammy dear. What I want to say is that I feel very sorry for Mrs. Romaine. You see she must be feeling very much alone in the world. Oliver, whom she really cared for, is dead, and Francis is out of his mind, and Francis' wife—with a little shudder—'cannot be anything to her—and then don't you think mamma, that when there has been one case of insanity in the family, she must be afraid of herself too?'

'Not necessarily. Francis Trent's insanity was the result of an accident.'

'Yes, but it is saddening for her all the same, and she must be terribly lonely in that house in Russell Square. I just wanted to know if I might go and call upon her?'

'You, dear. I thought you did not like her.'

'I don't,' said Lesley frankly, 'but I am sorry for her. Ethel asked me why I did not go. She thought that there must be something wrong, because Rosalind never came to see her after Oliver's death—never once. I believe that she has scarcely been out of the house—not at all since the funeral, and that is a month ago. I am not heard that she was ill, so I suppose that it is just what she is—miserable, poor thing.'

Lady Alice stroked her daughter's hair in silence for a minute or two. 'I think I had better go instead of you, Lesley. There is no reason why she should feel she cannot see us. She was not to blame for that accusation—though I heard she believed it. But I will see her first, and you can go afterwards if she is able to receive visitors.'

'That is very good of you, mamma—especially as you don't like her,' said Lesley. 'I can't help feeling thankful that Ethel will have nothing to do with that family now. And since Maurice told her a little more about poor Mr. Trent, I think she sees that she would not have been very happy.' She was silent for a little while, and then went on, trying to give an indifferent sound to her words:—'Captain Duchesne's people live near Eastbourne, he told me; and Ethel has gone to Seaford.'

'Not far off,' said Lady Alice, smiling a little, 'I hope that his sister Margaret will call on Ethel; I think they would like each other.'

And no more was said, for it was early as yet to wonder whether Mary Duchesne's adoration of Ethel was ultimately to meet with a return.

True to her new tastes, Lady Alice had had cards printed bearing the name of 'Mrs. Caspar Brooke.' She desired, she said, to be identified with her husband as much as possible; it was a great mistake to retain a mere courtesy title, as if she had interests and station remote from those of her husband. Caspar had sullenly opposed the change, but Lady Alice had stood firm. Indeed to her old friends she remained 'Lady Alice' to the end of the chapter; but to the outer world she was henceforth known as Mrs. Brooke.

She sent up one of her new cards when she called upon Mrs. Romaine. She paid this visit with considerable shrinking of heart. She had bitter memories connected with Mrs. Romaine. Since the day when she had been reconciled to her husband she had cast from her all suspicion of the past—cast it from her in much the same arbitrary and unreasoning manner as she had first embraced it. For, like most women, she was governed far more by her feelings and instincts than the laws of evidence. As Rosalind had once told her brother, Lady Alice had accidentally seen and intercepted a letter of hers to Caspar; and Lady Alice had rushed to the conclusion that it was part of a long continued correspondence and not a single communication.

Dangerous Counterfeits

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. All druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1.) by addressing Hor & Co., Brockville, Ont.
